2045. This proves that the deposition of one man is sufficient for proof of sight of the new moon of Ramazan provided the man is pious. Imam Abu Hanifa upholds this opinion.

2043. The Prophet used to count every day of Sha'ban to ascertain the first day of Ramazan.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ (رض) قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَتَحَفَّظُ مِنْ شَعْبَانَ مَالَا يَتَحَفَّظُ مِنْ غَيْرِهٖ ثُمَّ يَصُوْمُ لِرُؤْيَةِ رَمَضَانَ فَاِنْ غُمَّ عَلَيْهِ عَدَّ ثَلٰثِيْنَ يَوْمًا ثُمَّ صَامَ *

19. Ayesha reported that the Apostle of Allah used to remember Sha'ban besides which he did not remember so much. Then he kept fast of Ramazan as a result of its sight. If there is cloud over it, he counted thirty days and then fasted.

20. Abul Bukhari reported: We went out for visiting the House. When we got down at the valley of Nakhlah, we gathered to see the new moon. Some of the people said: It is of three nights; and some of the people said: It is of two nights. Then we met Ibn Abbas and said: Verily we have seen the new moon. Some of the people said: It is of three nights. And some of the people said: It is of two nights. He enquired: In which night have you seen it? We said: In such and such a night. He said: Verily the Apostle of Allah prolonged it for sight and it is of one night that you have seen. In a narration reported by him, he said: We were informed of the new moon of Ramazan while we were at Zate Erq. We sent a man to Ibn Abbas to ask him. Ibn Abbas said that the Apostle of Allah had said: Verily the Almighty Allah has extended it

2059. Rules of fasting

(a) Procedure of Fast. The fast begins from the appearance of the white colour in the eastern horizon before the early dawn till the setting of the sun. In other words, it is about an hour and a half before the sun-rise and extends up to sun-set. Before the beginning of fast, some light food or tiffin generally known as Sehri should be taken as there is blessing in it and as it enables a man to cope with the hardships of fast to some extent. There should be a gap of at least the time required for reading 50 short verses of the Quran between Sehri and the earliest time of Fajr prayer—34:42. In the beginning of Islam, there was Azan for Sehri but it now fell in to disuse—34:101. The duties of a Muslim is, however, to wake up others for Sehri—34:473w. Then the Niyyat should be taken for fast. It runs thus :—

نَوَيْتُ اَنْ اَصُوْمَ غَدًا مِّنْ شَهْرِ رَمَضَانَ الْمُبَارَكَ فَرْضَاللّٰكَ فَتَقَبَّلْ مِنِّيْ اِنَّكَ اَنْتَ السَّمِيْعُ الْعَلِيْمُ *

'I resolve to keep fast tomorrow in the month of blessed Ramazan, a binding duty for Thee ; O Allah, accept from me, verily Thou art the Hearing, the Knowing.'

Then immediately after the setting of the sun, the fast should be broken. This is generally known as Iftar. The sooner the Iftar is taken, the better for rewards. Fast should be broken generally with water and dates with the following invocation.

اَللّٰهُمَّ صُمْتُ لَكَ وَتَوَكَّلْتُ عَلٰى رِزْقِكَ وَاَفْطَرْتُ بِرَحْمَتِكَ يَا اَرْحَمَ الرّٰحِمِيْنَ *

'O Allah ! I have fasted for Thee, and I have relied on Thy provision and I have broken fast by Thy mercy, O Merciful of the merciful.'

(b) Sunnats in Fast. There are six duties in fast known as sunnats.

i. To partake of Sehri or pre-dawn tiffin.

ii. To break fast immediately after sun-set.

iii. To read Tarawih prayer at night.

2048. It appears from this that the sight of the new moon is a condition precedent to fasting, irrespective of the large or short size of the moon and that in case of differences of opinions, fasting should be resumed.

iv. To feed the poor and the hungry.

v. To increase the Quran-reading.

vi. To observe I'tikaf within the mosque during the last ten days of Ramazan.

21. Anas reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Take tiffin before dawn, [2050] because in this tiffin there is blessing. —Agreed.

عَنْ اَنَسٍ (رض) قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم تَسَحَّرُوْا فَاِنَّ فِى السَّحُوْرِ بَرَكَةً * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

22. Amr-b-Al As reported that the Apostle of Allah said : The difference between our fasting and the fasting of the people of the Book is pre-dawn tiffin. —Muslim.

عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ الْعَاصِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم فَصْلُ مَا بَيْنَ صِيَامِنَا وَصِيَامِ اَهْلِ الْكِتَابِ اَكْلَةُ السَّحَرِ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

23. Sahl reported that the Apostle of Allah said : People will continue in prosperity so long as they are quick in breaking fast. —Agreed.

عَنْ سَهْلٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا يَزَالُ النَّاسُ بِخَيْرٍ مَا عَجَّلُوا الْفِطْرَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

24. Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah said : When the night comes in from this side, and the day goes back from this side, and the sun sets in, a fasting man shall break fast. [2051] —Agreed.

عَنْ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِذَا اَقْبَلَ اللَّيْلُ مِنْ هٰهُنَا وَاَدْبَرَ النَّهَارُ مِنْ هٰهُنَا وَغَرَبَتِ الشَّمْسُ فَقَدْ اَفْطَرَ الصَّائِمُ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

25. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah prohibited Wisal in fast. A man asked him : O Ms. of Allah ! do you make Wisal ? [2052] He replied :

عَنْ اَبِىْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ نَهٰى رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم عَنِ الْوِصَالِ فِى الصَّوْمِ فَقَالَ لَهٗ رَجُلٌ اِنَّكَ تُوَاصِلُ يَا رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ قَالَ وَاَيُّكُمْ

2050. Sehri is pre-dawn tiffin and Sihr is the 6th part of the night.

2052. Wisal means fasting for 3 or more days without eating and drinking in the interval. Imams Abu Hanifa, Malek and Shafeyi held such fasting without break as Makruh (abominable). It is said to be Makruh Tahrima and the majority of the learned jurists are of this opinion.

مثلي اني ابيت يطعمني ربي ويسقيني

عن حفصة قالت قال رسول الله صلعم

عن سلمان بن عامر قال قال رسول
الله صلعم اذا افطر احدكم فليفطر على

ماء فانه طهور * (احمد والترمذي وابوداود وابن ماجة)

Who is he among you like me? Verily I pass my night while my Lord feeds me and gives me drink. —Agreed.

26. Hafsah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Whoever does not intend to fast before day-break, there is no fast for him. 2053 —Tirmizi, Abu Daud, Nisai.

27. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: When one of you hears the call to prayer while he has a cup in his hand, he shall not put it down till he satisfies his want from it. 2054 —Abu Daud.

28. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said: The Almighty Allah said: The dearest of My servants in My sight are quickest in breaking fast. —Tirmizi.

29. Salmah-b-A'mer reported that the Apostle of Allah said: When one of you breaks fast, let him break fast with date because it is a blessing; if he does not find it, let him break fast with water, because it is pure. —Ahmad, Tirmizi, Abu Daud, Ibn Majah.

2053. It is seen from this that niyyet or intention of fasting must be made at night and if it not so made, fasting is invalid. Imam Ahmad and Malek hold this opinion, while Imam Abu Hanifa says that niyyet must be made before mid-day. Imam Shafeyi extends the time up to sun-set.

2054. The cup was raised for drink for eating something. At this time, Azan was proclaimed. The duty of every Muslim at this time is that if he knows that the dawn is apparent, he should stop further eating and drinking for fasting, and if he is ignorant or sees no sign of clear dawn, he shall not stop drinking and eating which he badly requires. Some say that by proclamation here is meant the call for sun-set prayer. At that time fast should be broken after azan.

عَنْ اَنَسٍ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم يُفْطِرُ قَبْلَ اَنْ يُصَلِّيَ عَلٰى رُطَبَاتٍ فَاِنْ لَّمْ تَكُنْ رُطَبَاتٌ فَتَمَيْرَاتٌ فَاِنْ لَّمْ تَكُنْ تَمَيْرَاتٌ حَسَا حَسَوَاتٍ مِّنْ مَّاءٍ *

2056. Things which break fast

The following duties are Farz in fasts and breach of one of them shall make the fast null and void.

i. If some one sees the moon, or anybody reliable as a witness attests that he has seen it, it becomes compulsory on the former to keep fast.

ii. Niyyat of fast is Farz. In every night after Sehri tiffin, niyyat must be made in mind or uttered by the tongue for the following day's fast. According to some Imams, the time extends up to mid-day.

iii. Anything wilfully introduced unto the body from outside makes the fast void ; but if it is introduced out of forgetfulness or if anything goes unto the body as a result of involuntary action, fasting will not be void. Therefore smoking, wilful vomitting, wilful taking of medicine and acts of similar nature make the fas void, but if one takes in something as food or drink out of forgetfulness, or vomits a little quantity involuntarily, or somehow or other allows water to get in without any intention, he will not injure fast. Cleansing the mouth or teeth by gurgling or snipping water into nostrils does not break fast.

iv. Sexual intercourse during the hours of fasting is prohibited. If resumed, it will make the fast void but there is no prohibition at night. Kissing or embracing is however allowed. Masturbation or taking out semen renders the fast also void.

v. In many cases the Prophet held that one who does not resist from false talk and false action is not required to keep fast. Once he advised two men to break fast because they rendered it void by back-biting—1:152w. He said: Fast is meaningless if one speaks falsehood and is engaged in bad actions—4:20. The jurists did not take it as one of the rules which break fast, because it is difficult to judge a man by inward actions. The Prophet therefore made the Charity of Fitr compulsory as a protection of fast from vile discourse and vain talks—8:78.

In cases where a fast is rendered void, one is required to compensate it by fasting 60 consequitive days or in case of inability, to feed sixty poor men.

37. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Whoever does not give up false talk and action according to it, there is no need of Allah that he should give up his food and and drink. 2036a —Bukhari.

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَنْ لَّمْ يَدَعْ قَوْلَ الزُّوْرِ وَالْعَمَلَ بِهٖ فَلَيْسَ لِلّٰهِ حَاجَةٌ فِيْ اَنْ يَّدَعَ طَعَامَهٗ وَشَرَابَهٗ * (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

38. Ayesha reported that the Messenger of Allah used to kiss and embrace while he was fasting and he had the greatest control among you over his passions. 2037 —Agreed.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم يُقَبِّلُ وَيُبَاشِرُ وَهُوَ صَائِمٌ وَكَانَ اَمْلَكَكُمْ لِاِرْبِهٖ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

2036a. The object of fasting is to bring evil attributes under control. If this object is not attained, mere depriving oneself of food and drink is nothing.

عنها قالت كان رسول الله صلعم يدركه الفجر في رمضان وهو جنب من غير حلم فيغتسل ويصوم * (متفق عليه)

39. Same reported that the dawn overtook the Prophet in Ramazan while he was impure without emission. He then took bath and kept fast. 2058 —Agreed.

عن ابن عباس قال ان النبي صلعم احتجم وهو محرم واحتجم وهو صائم * (متفق عليه)

40. Ibn Abbas reported that the Prophet took cupping while he was a pilgrim, and he took cupping while he was fasting. 2059

عن ابي هريرة قال قال رسول الله صلعم من نسي وهو صائم فاكل او شرب فليتم صومه فانما اطعمه الله وسقاه * (متفق عليه)

41. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Whoever forgot while he was fasting and ate or drank, let him complete his fast because Allah fed him and gave him drink.

عنه قال بينما نحن جلوس عند النبي صلعم اذ جاءه رجل فقال يارسول الله هلكت قال مالك قال وقعت على امراتي وانا صائم فقال رسول الله صلعم هل تجد رقبة تعتقها قال لا قال فهل تستطيع ان تصوم شهرين متتابعين قال لا قال هل تجد اطعام ستين مسكينا

42. Same reported: While he was sitting near the Prophet when lo! a man came to him and enquired: O Ms. of Allah! I am undone! He asked: What is the matter with you? He replied: I cohabited with my wife while I was fasting. The Prophet enquired: Will you find a slave to free him? He replied: No. He asked: Are you able to fast for two consequitive months? 'No', said he. He enquired: Have you got means to feed sixty poor men? He said: No. He said: Sit down.

According to Hanifi Mazhab, these things are Makruh if there is fear of sexual intercourse.

2059. According to three Imams, cupping is allowed in fasting, while Imam Ahmad holds that fasting becomes void in case of cupping.

قَالَ لَا قَالَ اجْلِسْ وَمَكَثَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم

فَبَيْنَا نَحْنُ عَلَى ذٰلِكَ اُتِيَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم

بِعَرَقٍ فِيْهِ تَمْرٌ وَالْعَرَقُ الْمِكْتَلُ الضَّخْمُ

فَتَصَدَّقْ بِهِ فَقَالَ الرَّجُلُ اَعَلٰى اَفْقَرَ مِنِّي

Prophet tarried a little. While we were in that condition, one Araq wherein there were dates (and an Araq is a big bag) was brought to the Prophet. He asked: Where is the questioner? He replied: I. He said: Take this and give it in charity. The man said: To one poorer than myself, O Prophet of Allah? By Allah, there is no inhabitant of a house out of what is between its two sides (meaning two mountains) who is poorer than the inmates of my house. The Prophet laughed, till his canine teeth were seen. He said: Feed your family therewith. 2060 —Agreed.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم كَانَ يُقَبِّلُهَا

عَنْ اَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ اَنَّ رَجُلًا سَاَلَ النَّبِيَّ

لَهٗ شَيْخٌ وَاِذَا الَّذِي نَهَاهُ شَابٌّ۔ (اَبُوْدَاوٗدَ)

44. Abu Hurairah reported that a man 2061 asked the Prophet about physical embrace of a fasting man. He gave him permission. Another came to him and asked him but he prohibited him. The person whom he gave permission was an old man, and the person whom he prohibited was a youth. —Abu Daud.

2060. Araq is a bag of corns of nearly 15 seers..

2060a. This hadis is said to be weak according to the author of Mazahare-Hoq as to chuck lip or tongue in fasting is prohibited.

2062. This was optional fasting. Imams Abu Hanifa, Ahmad and others hold that vomitting makes the fasting void while Imam Shafeyi holds otherwise.

while he is fasting, there is no Qaza; and whoever vomits intentionally, let him perform Qaza. —Tirmizi, Abu Daud, Ibn Majah (Rare).

46. Ma'dan-b-Talha reported: Abu D arda'a informed him that the Prophet had vomitted and broken fast. He said: Then I met Saoban in the mosque of Damascus and said: Verily Abu Darda'a informed me that the Prophet had vomitted and then broken fast. He said: He has spoken the truth and I poured ablution water for him.

—Abu Daud, Tirmizi, Darimi.

47. A'mer-b-Rabiyah reported: I saw the Messenger of Allah without numbers using tooth stick while he was fasting [2063]

—Tirmizi, Abu Daud.

48. Anas reported that a man came to the Prophet and said: I complain of my eyes. Shall I use antimony while I am fasting? 'Yes' said he. [2064]

—Tirmizi.

49. Some one of the companions of the Prophet reported: I have indeed seen the Prophet at Arj [2065] to pour water over his head while he was fasting on account of thirst or heat.

2063. This hadis proves that teeth-cleansing is allowed in fasting.

2065. Arz is the name of a place between Mecca and Medina.

50. Shaddad-b-Aus reported that the Prophet came to a man at Baqi while he was taking cupping. He taught hold of my hand on the 18th Ramazan and said: The man taking cupping and the man giving it broke fast. 2066

2068. Bukhari narrated this hadis in Tarjamae-Bab. Tirmizi said that he heard Bukhari say that Abul Mutawwee, one of the narrators, is found only in this tradition.

2070. Traveller's Fast

The Quran says: Whoever among you is sick or upon a journey, (he shall fast) a like number of days—2:184Q. This shows that the traveller or the sick man is not absolutely exempted from the fast. He has been given the option either to fast in Ramazan or to break it. Some of the traditions support this Quranic verse. There are some traditions (85, 59, 63 and 64) which apparently show that a traveller shall break fast in journey. These traditions manifest the extremely hard circumstances under which the orders were issued. They do not mean that a traveller must compulsorily break fast but it is fair to break fast in cases of extreme difficulty in journey.

To define the limit of journey is very difficult. See note 1940 for details. In one case the Prophet is reported to have given injunction for fast where there was conveyance to take a man from a fixed place to a fixed placed within the hours of fasting—35:62. A traveller is compulsorily to fast if he comes to a place with the intention of permanently residing there.

Some of us were fasting and some were not. We alighted at a place on a hot-day, and those keeping fast fell down, and those who did not keep remained standing. They pitched their tents and watered their camels. The Prophet said: Those who did not keep fast went with the rewards to-day. —Agreed.

2075. Qaza Fast

He who does not keep fast without lawful excuse must fast an equal number of other days in the year. Such is the case with a traveller, a sick man, a menstruating or pregnant or suckling woman. In case of intentional breaking of fast in Ramazan without any lawful excuse, the fast of its one day is to be compensated by a fast of sixty consequitive days.

2079. Optional Fast

Besides the compulsory fast in Ramazan, every Muslim is allowed to keep voluntary fasts on any day he likes besides the I'd days and the three days of Tashriq (11th, 12th and 13th of Zil-Haj) provided his health and constitution allow him, and in case of husband and wife with mutual consent. These fasts should not be continuous without any break or always on fixed days. Friday shall not be specially chosen for optional fast. Generally three days' fast in a month has been recommended by the Prophet; and according to him, the best optional fast is on every alternate days. David used to keep such sort of fast. The Prophet used to pray: O Allah, keep me hungry for one day so that I may seek help from Thee and give me food on the following day, so that I may be thankful to Thee. The Prophet used to keep optional fasts on the following days: (i) Ashura'a day on the 10th Muharram; (ii) Ayyame-Biz i. e. on the 13th, 14th or 15th of every lunar month; (iii) first six days of Shawwal; (iv) on the 13 to 15th of Sha'ban, (v) 25th and 26th of Rajab (for Miraj); (vi) Monday and Thursday; and (viii) Thursday and Friday.

Voluntary fast may be broken at the request of a host, husband or wife, or in case of sudden ill-health. Fasting for a whole month is held to be Makruh as it makes the body incapable of doing any work.

71. Ayesha reported: The Messenger of Allah used to keep fast so much so that we would say "He will never break fast". And he used to break it so much so that we would say: 'He will never keep fast'. And I did never see the Messenger of Allah completing the fast of one month except Ramazan, and I did not see him to keep more fast in any month than in Sha'ban. In a narration, she said: He used to fast the entire Sha'ban, and he used to fast the Sha'ban but a little.

He enquired: How is the case of one who fasts a day and does not keep it for two days? He said: I would like that I would be given strength for that. Then the Prophet said: Three days in every month and one Ramazan to another—this is fasting for the whole year. 2287. The reason of discouragement is to oppose the notions of the Jews and the Christians who set apart particular days for divine worship.

2288. The Jews and the Christians observe a particular day for divine sermon, and for the rest six days they remain idle. This is strictly prohibited in Islam. Daily divine service is necessary for soul as daily food is necessary for the body. Man should call God always irrespective of days, and man should succour help from God whenever it is necessary. Therefore Islam unlike Christianity and Judaism inculcated divine worship every time.

2096. It shows that a fasting guest should invoke for blessing of the host for the invitation even though the guest cannot partake of the feast.

2097. It is wajeb on a fasting guest to break fast to partake of the feast of the host if there is fear that the host would be greatly dissatisfied with the refusal of the guest to accept food. Otherwise to break optional fast is only Mustahab. If, however, there is no pressure on the guest, or there is no other circumstance as above described, it is betterfor the guest to say: I am fasting.

According to Imam Shafeyi, it is not necessary to observe another day of fasting if an optional fast is broken. On the basis of this hadis, Imam Abu Hanifa holds that to fulfil the Qaza fast is wajeb.

2102. The Blessed Night

(a) The Blessed Night. The Quranic verse 2:185 says: The month of Ramazan is that in which the Quran was revealed, a guidance to men and clear proofs of guidance, and the distinction. The verse 44:3Q reads: Surely We revealed it in a blessed night. Therefore it appears that the Universal Book was first revealed in a blessed night of Ramazan. Which is this Blessed night in Ramazan? There are different reports in different traditions but it is almost unanimous that the Blessed Night occurs in one of the last ten nights of Ramazan and more probably in one of the five odd nights i. e. 21st, or 23rd, or 25th, or 27th, or 29th night. The popular opinion is, however, in favour of the 27th night of Ramazan but that is not absolutely certain. The traditions indicate that it is to be sought in one of the last ten nights and preferably in the last three odd nights. It was therefore the practice of the Holy Prophet and of his companions to make I'tikaf in the mosque for the whole time divine service during the last 10 days of Ramzan. See the next article for I'tikaf.

(b) Excellence of the Blessed Night. A high place is assigned to this night by the Holy Quran and Hadis. The Quran says: Consider the Grand Book. Surely We revealed it in a Blessed Night, surely We are ever-warning. Therein every wise affair is made distinct, a command from Us, surely We are to send gifts, a mercy from your Lord—44:2 to 6Q. In this verse, it has been mentioned that in the night, God's command with regard to every affair for the year to come is made open and clear, and mercy and forgiveness from God descend for those who want them. In the chapter 97, the Quran says: Surely We revealed it in the Grand Night. And what will make you comprehend what the the Grand Night is? The Grand Night is better than a thousand nights. The angels and the Spirit descend in it by permission of their Lord for every affair. Peace! it continues till the break of the dawn. The Quran says that the divine service of one night is equivalent to divine service for 83 years and 4 months. Therefore the whole night should be spent by those who seek good in praying, reading the Quran, invoking God's forgiveness and repenting with tears for the previous misdeeds and determining for future good works.

It was questioned to me whether it is in the last ten nights. Whoever secludes himself with me, let him do it in the last ten, because it was shown to me in these nights but then I forgot it though I saw myself (in dream) prostrating in water and dust at its dawn. SECTION 9

2109. Total Seclusion

I'tikaf literally means to stay in a place. Technically it signifies total seclusion from worldly duties and staying in a mosque for a certain number of days, specially in the last ten days in the month of Ramazan for whole-time divine service. The Holy Prophet used to observe I'tikaf in the mosque of Medina during the last days of Ramazan; and in the year in which he died he observed I'tikaf during the last 20 days of Ramazan. Hence I'tikaf is sunnat Mukkadah. Durre Mukhtar says that it is Sunnat Kefayah. During the time of I'tikaf, one is not allowed to do any worldly duties besides what is absolutely necessary, such as calls of nature or bath. He is, however, to take his food and drink within the mosque. There is difference of opinion whether fast is necessary in case of Itikaf in months other than in Ramzan. The general opinion is that it is necessary. The time of I'tikaf should begin from after the Fajr prayer orafter the Magrib prayer.

125. Ayesha reported that the Messonger of Allah used to seclude himself for the last ten (nights) of Ramazan till Allah took away his life. Afterwards his wives secluded themselves after him. —Agreed.

126. Ibn Abbas reported that the Messenger of Allah was the most generous of men with regard to wealth, and he was charitable to the extreme in Ramazan. Gabriel used to meet him in every night of Ramazan and the Prophet used to read the Quran before him. When Gabriel met him, he was more

2110a. These two things are allowed when necessity requires his coming out from the mosque.

2111. One of the pillars of the Prophet's mosque at Medina is known as the pillar of repentance. It was so named as Abu Lubabah Ansari committed a guilt for which he tied himself up with a pillar of the mosque for three days His repentance was afterwards accepted. Hence the pillar gained the name of repentance.

CHAPTER XXXVI

2112. Pilgrimage

(a) Pilgrimage. Haj has been ordained as one of the five fundamental articles of Islam in 9 A. H. It is the perfection of faith and true surrender to the Almighty. It introduced new meaning and added method and regularity. It is the symbol of the final stage in the spiritual development of men. Some religions introduced the theory of asceticism and absolute monkery and prescribed measures too rigid and hard. Christianity invented monkery. Hinduism introduced the system of Banaprasta wherein a Hindu is advised to go to jungles and exclusively devote himself to divine service. Islam abolished this idea of self-isolation as man is a social being. It prescribes rules and regulations of life which will lead to the perfect development of a man both in the material and spiritual world. It has, therefore, instead of taking the extreme rigour of life, introuced Haj and Jihad. The forces of matter are removed by Jihad and the forces of evil by Haj.

(b) Pilgrimage existed from before. Pilgrimage is not an institution introduced for the first time by the Holy Prophet. The origin of this institution is unknown and cannot be traced back in history. Mr. Muir says "Tradition represents the Ka'ba as from time immermorial the scene of pilgrimage from all quarters of Arabia,.....So extensive a homage must have had its beginning in an extremely remote age." The Holy Ka'ba was visited by the Semitic people. They used to circumbulate it in a naked state and worshipped innumerable idols that were instalted within the holy shrine. On this occasion, they used to hold fairs and bazars, and even pre-Islamic poets had their poetical duels therein. The Holy Prophet was greatly moved to see all these pagan practices linked with the oldest shrine of monotheism and so he revived the original spirit of pilgrimage as founded by the Patriarch Abraham, the spiritual leader of Judaism, Christianity and Islam and abolished the polytheistic nature of the Haj rituals.

(c) Chief objects of Haj.

(1) Hightest training for spiritual advancement. Haj affords the best training ground for absolute and complete surrender to the Divine Command. There the pilgrim forgets his own hearth and home, his comforts and amenities of life, his dear wives and children, his hard-earned wealth, his friends and relatives and everything he possesses, and in their stead takes up an arduous journey to a barren and unproductive land with a great risk of life, pangs of absence from near and dear ones, and take up a dress of two unsewn pieces of cloth bidding adieu to all physical comforts and luxuries. Do not these things afford a sufficient training for true self-surrender? Is it not a severance of all worldly counections to meet the Great High? For whom are all these things done? It is only for the sake of Allah. It is for this reason that the Holy Prophet said: A Haj compensates every sin of a man. Physical pilgrimage is a prelude to spiritual pilgrimage towards God and all cry in a body: We are present to Thee, O Lord, we are present to Thee.'

(ii) It fosters a brotherhood of mankind. Haj has got another object, namely, to foster a spirit of brotherly love and affection among the Muslims of different countries and climes. It is the highest manifestation of Islamic brotherhood and Islamic democracy. Nature dictates that brothers should have one common meeting ground for exchange of love and affection. Haj fulfils this object in the most effective way as it is an universal assemblage of the brethren-in-faith at the central place of monotheism represented by the Holy Ka'ba. Not only there is uniformity of religion among the pilgrims, but there are also unity of dress, unity of living and unity of feelings in Ihram. Dr. Laner says about it in his 'Religious systems of the world': "The demonstration of equality furnished on the occasion of Haj is so complete that it is well-nigh impossible to distinguish a servant from a master. The whole of humanity assumes one aspect and one attitude and thus the noblest sight of equality and brotherhood is witnessed in Haj. There is in this city a force which transcends the littleness and divisions of mankind." The Quran says: There is no blame on you in seeking bounty from your Lord—2:198Q. This bounty includes other advantages, namely, conference for the wel-fare of the community as a whole for the whole Muslim world. This has been expressly encourged by another verse in connection with the Haj: Help one another in goodness and piety, and do not help one another in sin and aggression—5:2Q. These have been corroborated by the following verses: Therein are advantages for men (in Haj)—22:28Q. Their affairs are by mutual consultation—(42:38Q). Thus a World Congress of the Muslims is contemplated among other objects by the institution of Haj in the central place of Mecca

(iii) Haj affords a practical example to believe in the divin. origin of all revealed books. It is universally admitted that the Ka'ba is an old shrine and the memories of the Patriarch Abraham and his struggle for pure monotheism are deeply associated with it. The Haj is a commemoration of the great sacrifice of Abraham and his triump. He banished his wife Hajra in the place where the Ka'ba stands now. She had a son born to her called Ismail. There being nobody by her side at the time of her delivery, she called for help but there was no help near by. Then she ran between Safa and Merwa seven times in search of fire but it was all in vain. When she returned to her baby, she found a well beneath the feet of Ismail which is now known as the famous Zem Zem well. Then Abraham and Ismail raised the God's house. Thereafter Abraham was orderd to sacrifice his most beloved son Ismail. Both father and son were found neady to obey the divine command and the father was about to sacrifice his son at the foot of a mountain near Mina when revelation came down: We have indeed proved your dream true, O Abraham. That great sacrificial spirit of Abraham and Ismail has been corroborated by the sacrifice of I'd-ul-Azha. Again when Abraham was taking his son for sacrifice he was thrice reminded by the devil of his filial affection for his son and thrice did he throw stones to drive it away. When a pilgrim does the duties of running between Safa and Merwa, throwing stones and other rituals of Haj, he is reminded of the fact that the entire institution of Haj existed from the time of Abraham as a commemoration of his acts and trials of life. This shows that the Prophet followed the religion of Islam existing at the time with the exception that he put the seal of perfection to this religion. The Quran says: My Lord guided me to the right, to a most right religion, the faith of Abraham, the upright one—

6:162Q. Haj is therefore a practical example that we should believe in the divine origin of all Prophets and of all revealed books. Is this catholic spirit found in any other religious system ?

(iv) Haj gives us opportunities for Mutual help. The Quran says: There is no blame on you for seeking bounty from your Lord--2:198Q. The Meccas who have got no land and property get provision annually from the pilgrims by selling their camels cows, goats and rams for the purpose of sacrifice. They have also other gains from other sources sufficient to supply their provision for at least a year. The poor and the needy get help from the rich and thus a spirit of benevolence is created. The Quran says: Feed the distressed one, the needy—22:28Q.

(d) Spiritual Significance of Haj rituals. Pilgrimage is performed in the sacred months of Shawwal, Zi'qad and the first 9 days of Zil-Haj. In these months, everyone stops his hand from foul things of every description. The Quran says: Whoever determines the performance of pilgrimage therein, there shall be no amorous speech, no abusing and no disputing in Haj—2:197Q. Leaving aside the petty jealousies and enmities of life, the pilgrim enters into a heavenly life wherein there is nothing but divine glory and divine grandeur. Haj teaches us complete submission to Divine Will because one, without sufficiently understanding the inner meanings of going round the Ka'ba, kissing the Black Stone, running between Safa and Merwa, and throwing stones at Zamrahs, does these things in blind submission to Divine order. Therefore God becomes pleased with His servant saying: 'Without seeking any reason of order, he obeyed Me'. If a servant goes to question the propriety of his master's order without obeying it then and there, the master is not surely very much pleased with him. The Quran says, therefore, about the motive behind the rituals: What ! do you make the giving of drink to the pilgrims and the visit of the sacred mosque like one who believes in Allah and the latter day and strives hard in Allah's way? —9:19Q. It is not righteousness that you turn your faces towards the east and the west but righteousness it is that one should believe in Allah etc—(2:177Q). These verses teach us that behind the rituals there is the grand object of the remembrance of Allah. It has been emphasised in another verse: And pilgrimage to the House is incumbent upon men for the sake of Aeeah—3:95Q.

Pilgrimage stands as a symbol as to how to prepare for the next world after cutting of all worldly connections and to have a sight of the Lord. The Ka'ba is the house of Allah and the surrounding hills are its walls. His grand Durbar is held at Arafat. No tree or even grass can be cut off from the neighbourhood of Allah's house and its court yard. The circumbulation round the Ka'ba and the running between Safa and Merwa are the pilgrim's efforts to get a clue to Allah. In order to meet Him, a pilgrim cuts off all connections from his world as if he is going to the next world to meet Him after death. As the wordly means are necessary for the journey, the good deeds are likewise necessary for the spiritual journey. The greater are the means, the greater are the comforts in journey. Likewise the greater are the good deeds, the greater are the com forts in the spiritual journey. After death the spiritual journey begins. Therefore a pilgrim puts the dress of death i. e. two unsewn pieces and cries : I am present to Thee, O God, I am present to Thee. The loud voices of all the pilgrims in such a way fill up the atmosphere with divine glory. In this journey, none is allowep to do any harm to any animal. The great hardships of the journey represent punishment in the grave. Then actually reaching the Ka'ba, the believer's heart is filled up with electricity of Divine Presence because he sees the House of Allah and circumbulates round it with the hope of getting a sight of His appearance. The stones and cover of the Imperial House are kissed. The kissing of the Black Stone represents the registration of names for the Great Interview in the black page of the stone. If gramaphone records can preserve the deeds of men, it is not impossible for the Black Stone to register the names of pilgrims, so that it may be opened on the Resurrection Day before the Divine presence. Being baffled there, the pilgrim goes to run between Safa and Merwa and looks often to the Imperial House in eager search for the Beloved. Then knowing that all will be allowed to see Him in the general court yard at Arafat, he runs towards the vast field which represents the great universal Assemblage of the people in the next world for accounts. There the interview will be granted after a review of the deeds. Arafat is therefore the highest manifestation of spiritual advancement.

Then in the field of Arafat, he lears that everybody is not granted interview on account of the deeds he has done. He then hastens to his world with the best training. He remains at Muzdalafah with the expectation of being called again for the Great Interview. Finding no response, he goes to Mina where he still waits and dedicates his dear animals and hard-earned wealth to please Allah. The devil comes in but he keeps the devil at a stone's throw by throwing stones. Then he goes again to visit the Ka'ba and hears this lesson : 'In order to realise God, do good deeds'.

All these things are lessons for higher spiritual experience which is achieved among the discordant elements of society. Then he is brought nearer and nearer to God.

(e) Compulsory Haj The following five conditions make Haj compulsory on a Muslim : (1) He shall be free and not slave, (2) he shall be a major person ; (3) he shall be sane, (4) he shall have a sound body and (5) he shall have ability to undertake a journey. All these things combined make a Haj compulsory on a person only once in his life. The Quran says : And pilgrimiage to the House is incumbent upon men for the sake of Allah, upon everyone who is able to undertake the journey to it—3:96Q. The fifth condition depends on two circumstances—safe journey and sufficient means for taking a journey to Mecca and to return home and for provision for the dependants during absence from home. The Quran lays down : And make provision, for the benefit of provision is God-fear—2:197Q. To take provision is true God-reliance (36:28). As soon as a man finds himself in the above conditions, haj becomes Farz on him ; and if after some time, he becomes ill or poor or loses one of the five conditions, he will not be exonerated from the sin of not making pilgrimiage in due time. He is free to absolve himself from the duty by performing it at any time during his life, and after his death his heirs may perform it on his behalf with the assets left by him and free him from the sin (36:7, 8, 23). A representative may make pilgrimiage on behalf of another person provided he performed his own pilgrimage previously (36:24). Haj is also Farz on a women provided her husband or one of her relatives within the prohibited degrees is available to accompany her to Mecca—36:29,9.

(f) Farz in Haj. The following are the Farz duties in Haj. If one of them is given up, Haj becomes void. (1) To observe Ibram, (2) to wait at Arafat, (3) to make Tawaf round the Ka'ba and (4) to observe the above duties in order.

(g) Wajeb in Haj. There are five wajeb in Haj. If anybody breaks one of these duties, he does not thereby render his Haj void but only invalid. He shall then have to make amends by the sacrifice of at least a goat. (1) To run between Safa and Merwa,

(2) To stay at Muzdalafah on the 10th night of Zil-Haj, (3) to throw stones at Jamrahs, (4) to shave or cut the hairs of the head and (5) to make Tawaf at the time of leaving the city of Mecca.

(h) Three procedures of Haj. Haj may be performed in either of the following three modes. These are known as (1) Hajje-Ifrad (2) Hajje-Qeran, and (3) Hajje-Tamattu.

(1) Hajje-Ifrad (حج افراد) is the best method of Haj. Therein, Ihram is made for Haj and it continues up to the day of Sacrifice. Then the pilgrim goes outside Mecca and makes Ihram again for Umrah.

(2) Hajje-Qeran (حج قران) is a pilgrimage in which Ihram for both Umrah and Haj is made at a time and it does not end till both are performed. For such a pilgrim, it is wajeb to sacrifice a goat. If he does not find it, he shall have to observe ten days of fasting, three days before Zil-Haj and seven days at home.

(3) Hajje-Tamattu (حج تمتع) In this Haj, Ihram is made first for Umrah and then for Haj during the days of Haj. There are therefore two distinct Ihrams in this pilgrimage. This is called pilgrimage of Tamattu' (enjoyment) because between the two Ihrams, one is allowed to enjoy everything like a non-pilgrim. The sacrifice of one goat is wajeb in this Haj, in default ten days fasting. In case a pilgrim takes the sacrificeal animal with him, he shall remain in Ihram in this haj till the day of Sacrifice.

(I) Rules before a pilgrim starts for pilgrimage. (1) He shall make Taubah (repentance). (2) He shall pay compensation to the injured and the oppressed. (3) His debts must be cleared. (4) He must leave sufficient means for the maintenance of his family during his absence. (5) He shall make wasiat (death instructions). (6) He must take lawful earnings for expense. (7) He shall do some charitable acts. (8) He shall embark on fast conveyance. (9) He shall take an honest and well-informed Muallim. (10) He shall seek blessings from, and pray for blessings on, his friends, relatives and members of his family. (11) He shall pray 2 rak'ats on the eve of his coming out of his house by reciting the first chapter and the chapter 'Infidels' in the first rak'at, and the first chapter and chapter 'Ikhlas' in the second.

(j) Merits of pilgrimage. A pilgrim is a guest of God when he goes to make pilgrimage—36:31. If he dies on the way, he gets the rewards of a Gazi—36:564w. If he seeks forgiveness for anybody, it is generally accepted—36:563w. Haj is practically Jihad and brings rewards of Jihad—36:10. An accepted haj has got no less a reward than Paradise—36:4. He who dies without performing Haj though it was incumbent upon him, dies a Jew or a Christian—36:17.

(k) General Procedure of Haj. Starting from home, a pilgrim shall enter into Ihram at least at Miqat. When reaching Mecca, he shall make Tawaf seven times and Sa'y between Safa and Merwa seven times. If the Ihram ends there, he shall shave or cut the hairs of his head. Then with a fresh Ihram on the 8th or 9th Zil-Haj, he shall start for Arafat and reach there for waiting at noon. In the evening of the same day, he will return to Muzdalafah and spend the night there. In the early dawn of 10th Zil-Haj, he shall start for Mina reaching there at noon and instantly proceed to throw stones at Jamrah Aqabah. Finishing there, he shall return to Mina and after shaving shall offer animals for sacrifice. On the 11th and 12th Zil-Haj, he will remain at Mina throwing seven stones in the afternoon of each day in the Jamrahs. Then he may remain at Mina on the 13th or return to Mecca on the 12th evening. After returning, he shall proceed to make Tawaf and Sa'y. When leaving, he shall make a final Tawaf.

1. Abu Hurairah reported: The Messenger of Allah delivered us sermon and said: O men! pilgrimage has certainly been made obligatory on you. So make pilgrimage. A man enquired: O Apostle of Allah! is it in every year? He remained silent till he (the man) repeated it thrice. Then he said: If I would have said 'Yes', it would have surely become obligatory and you would have had no option. Afterwards he said: Leave me till I leave you, because surely those who were before you.[2113] were destroyed on account of their frequent questions and their difference over their Prophets. So when I bid you anything, do it if you are able; and when I forbid you anything, leave it.

6. Same reported that the Prophet met a caravan at Raoha'a [2116] and enquired who the people were. They replied: Muslims. They asked: Who are you? He replied: Messenger of Allah. Then a woman raised up a boy before him and asked: Is there any pilgrimage for him? 'Yes' said he, said that it is obligatory only once in life. (iii) 'Leave me till I leave you' means—'leave me questioning till I give you the explanation of your query.'

2115. All minor sins are forgiven between two Umrahs.

8. Same reported that a man came to the Prophet and enquired: Verily my sister made a vow to make pilgrimage but she has died. 2119. Zul-Halifa is the name of a place which is only twelve miles off from Medina to the south. Najd means an elevated place, but it is now the high plateau between Mecca and Iraq. Qarn Manajel is the name of a place near Tayef. Yalamlam is the name of a chain of hills two stations off from Mecca to the south-west. These are fixed places where the vow of Ihram is taken. Whoever comes through these places for Haj or Umrah must take Ihram from those places and proceed towards Mecca. As for those who start from places nearer Mecca but not beyond the fixed places, they need not take Ihram to enter Mecca.

place of Ihram for the people of Medina is Zul Hulifah, and another place is Huzfah, and the place of Ihram for the people of Iraq is Zate-Erq, and the place for the people of Najd is Qarn, and the place for the inhabitants of Yemen is Yalamlam.

14. Anas reported that the Messenger of Allah made Umrah for four times each being in Zul-Qa'dah except that (Umrah) which was joined with Haj. The Umrah from Hudaibiyah was in Zul-Qa'dah, the Umrah in the following year was in Zul-Qa'dah, the Umrah from Je-erranah was where the booties of Hunain were divided in Zul-Qa'dah and the Umrah was with his Haj. 2120

2120. (i) The first Umrah of the Prophet took place on Monday, the first date of Zul-Qa'dah in 6 A. H. There were 1400 companions with the Prophet at that time. According to the terms of the Hudaibiyah treaty, he had to return then with the condition of making Umrah in the following year. In the following year, he performed the Qaza Umrah. The third Umrah took place in 8 A. H. after the conquest of Meeca. The Prophet started after night prayer and returned to Je-erranah(which is 18 miles off from Mecca). The fourth Umrah occurred after 9 A. H. when pilgrimage was made comu lsory It took place in the month of Zil-haj.

2121. (i) Tirmizi says that Hilal-b-Abdullah, one of the narrators, is not known and hence it is a rare tradition. (ii) The last sentence signifies that he who has got means to perform pilgrimage but still does not finish it is not within the fold of Islam. In other words, he is not a perfect Muslim. Such is the importance given to the institution of pilgrimage.

2122. Sarurah means to lead a life of celibacy and to give up the compulsory pilgrimage. He who leads the life of a bachelor is not a perfect Muslim. So also is the case of one who makes no pilgrimage.

2123. Imams Malek, Abu Hanifah and Ahmad hold that as soon as a Muslim attains maturity and has got means, pilgrimage becomes obligatory on him ; and if he does not perform it at that time, he remains in constant transgression till pilgrimage

20. Ibn Masud reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Make Haj and Umrah follow one after another because they both remove poverty [2124] and sins, just as a hammer removes rust of iron, gold and silver; and there is no reward for an accepted pilgrimage except Paradise. —Tirmizi, Nisai, Ahmad and Ibn Majah from Omar up to 'rust of iron.

21. Ibn Omar reported that a man came to the Prophet and asked: O Apostle of Allah! what makes the pilgrimage compulsory? He replied: Means and conveyance. [2125] —Tirmizi, Ibn Majah.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ اِلَى النَّبِيِّ صلعم فَقَالَ يَارَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ مَا يُوْجِبُ الْحَجَّ فَقَالَ الزَّادُ وَالرَّاحِلَةُ *

22. Same reported that a man asked the Apostle of Allah and said: What is (the description of) a pilgrim? He said: One dishevelled in hairs, giving out bad smell. Another got up and enquired: O Apostle of Allah! which (thing in) pilgrimage is best? He said: Loud respond to Labbaik and sacrifice of animal. Another stood up and is finished; and during this period his evidence cannot be taken. Imam Shafeyi says that the right to make pilgrimage exists up to the last day of one's life and there is no sin if it is performed in the mean time. If he loses his means after the Haj becomes obligatory on him, the duty does not cease. Therefore the earlier it is done, the better.

2124. This refers to Hajje-Qeran which has been explained in the head note. By performing this kind of pilgrimage, a man becomes wealthy both in the temporal and spiritual worlds.

2125. There are two conditions which make Haj compulsory—means sufficieut for the journe and provison for maintenance of one's family during his absence and the expeynses of conveyance. Imam Malek says that the latter condition is not necessary.

enquired : O Ms. of Allah ! what are (the things necessary for) the journey ? [2126] He said : Means and conveyance.

2125. This refers to the word 'Sabil' in the following verse of the Quran : (obligatory upon) one who has got the means of taking a journey to it—2:96 Q. Ibn Majah narrated only the first part of this tradition.

2127. This is the Mazhab of Imam Shafeyi and Ahmad. They hold that one who has not already performed pilgrimage can not perform it on behalf of another. Imams Malek and Abu Hanifa hold otherwise. They explain this tradition by saying that this was only recommended and not made obligatory. Abu Hanifah says also that this traditions is weak.

2128. Aqiq is a place opposite to Zate-Erq. These are the two places for the eastern people for taking Ihram.

2129. It appears from this that the more is the distance of the place of Ihram, the more are the rewards, and that it is lawful to make Ihram from any place beyond the fixed places. It is however Makruh to make Ihram before the sacred months. The above is the view of three Imams. Imam Shafeyi is reported to have said that Ihram beyond the fixed places is illegal.

2130. It occurs in 3: 96Q. 'The benefit of provision is piety' means that the best kind of piety consists in supplying oneself with both physical and spiritual food. If on of the two is neglected, it does not become perfect and a man cannot be called a perfecely pious man. The real pious man is he who strives hard both for bread and piety.

29. Ayesha reported : I asked : O Ms. of Allah ! is there any Jihad for women ? 'Yes' replied he, 'there is for them Jihad wherein there is no fighting- Haj and Umrah'. —Ibn Majah.

562w. Abu Omamah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Whomsoever an open necessity, or a tyrant king, or a confining disease does not prevent from making pilgrimage and who dies without making pilgrimage, let him die a Jew if he likes, or a Chirstian if he likes. 2131 —Darimi.

2131. In other words, if any Muslim is free to make pilgrimge and has got means of performing the same and is not prevented by any cause whatsoever, he must make Haj. If he does not, he will die a transgressor like a Jew or a Christian.

2132. Miqat, Ihram and Talbiyah

(a) Miqat: Ihram is observed from Miqat or the fixed places. There are different Miqats for the people of different countries. Pilgrims coming through or near these places are required to enter upon the state of Ihram from those places. The Miqats are the following :—

Zul Halifah—for pilgrims coming from the direction of Medina.

Zuhfah—for pilgrims coming from the direction of Syria and Egypt.

Qrn-al-Manazil—for pilgrims coming from the direction of Najd.

Yalamlam—for pilgrims coming from the direction of Yemen.

Za'te Erq—for pilgrims coming from the direction of Iraq.

Mecca—for the people of Mecca.

(b) Ihram: A pilgrim can enter into Ihram as soon as he starts from his home but as it is excessively hard on him to follow the rules of Ihram from a distant land he may travel in normal state till he reaches the Miqat where he is required compulsorily to enter into Ihram. The first thing for Ihram is to have a bath or at least ablution (36:39). Then two unsewn pieces of white cloth, one covering the lower portion and another the upper portion of the body are worn. Women may wear dress according to their habits. Then after performing two rak'ats of prayer, Niyyat shall be taken for Haj : "O Allah ! I make Niyyat for Hij and Umrah (or for Umrah or for Haj). So make them easy for me and accept them fromme." Talbiyah shall next be recited aloud. After that the following things become unlawful till the pilgrim gets out of Ihram:—

(1) To wear rich dresses, (2) to use scents, (3) to pair off nails, or shave, cut or pluck out hairs, (4) to have sexual intercourse or to play with wife sexually, (5) to marry, (6) to hunt a game except fish in sea, and (7) to have dispute, or quarrel or to do any other unlawful thing. The Quran says: So whoever determines to make pilgrimage, there shall be no amorous speech, no abusing and no disputing in Haj—2:197Q. In case of breach of any of these rules, sacrifice of an animal becomes wajeb. Ihram ends in Hajje Tamattu' after the first circumbulation round the Ka'ba and running between Safa and Merwa provided no sacrificial animal has been taken with a pilgrim; then Ihram for Haj will be taken in the days of Haj and it will end on the 10th Zil-Haj. In case of other kinds of Haj, Ihram will continue up to 10th of Zil-Haj. The Prophet in his Haj in 10 A.H. taught his followers the rules and regulations of Haj by practical examples.

(c) Talbiyah is to recite 'Labbaik' as recorded in tradition 36:33. To recite it is wajeb according to Imam Abu Hanifah and sunnat according to Imam Shafeyi. It shall be recited at the end of each prayer, in the morning and evening, at the time of meeting a caravan and of rising up and coming down.

32. Ayesha reported: I used to apply perfume to the Apostle of Allah for his Ihram before he made Ihram and for his coming out of Ihram before going round the House with a perfume wherein there was musk; as if I was smelling the fragrance of the perfume in the parting hairs of the Messenger of Allah while he was under Ihram.[2133] —Agreed.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كُنْتُ أُطَيِّبُ رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ صلعم لِإِحْرَامِهِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُحْرِمَ وَلِحِلِّهِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَطُوفَ بِالْبَيْتِ بِطِيبٍ فِيهِ مِسْكٌ كَأَنِّي أَنْظُرُ إِلَى وَبِيصِ الطِّيبِ فِي مَفَارِقِ رَسُولِ اللّٰهِ صلعم وَهُوَ مُحْرِمٌ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

33. Ibn Omar reported: I heard the Apostle of Allah proclaim with a loud voice with his head covered with saffron "Present to Thee,[2134] O Allah, present to Thee! Present to Thee! No partner for Thee! Present to Thee! Verily all praise and all beneficence are for Thee, and also kingdom. There's no partner for Thee, without making my exaggaration in these words. —Agreed.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ صلعم يُهِلُّ مُلَبِّدًا يَقُولُ لَبَّيْكَ اللّٰهُمَّ لَبَّيْكَ

2133. Imams Ahmad and Abu Hanifa said on the basis of this tradition that even if the affects of perfume remain after Ihram, there is no harm. Imams Shafeyi and Malek held it as Makruh.

2134. Talbih is the act of a man in Ihram for covering the hairs of his head with Saffron in order to keep the dust away.

34. Same reported that when the Prophet placed his leg in the stirrup and his camel took him up standing, he recited Labbaik near the mosque of Zul-Halifah. [2135] —Agreed.

35. Abu Sayeed-al-khodri reported: We came out with the Apostle of Allah for pilgrimage crying Labbaik loudly. —Muslim.

36. Anas reported: I was riding behind Abu Talha while they were all crying in a loud voice 'Haj and Umrah,' joining them together. —Bukhari.

37. Ayesha reported: We came out with the Apostle of Allah in the year of the Farewell Pilgrimage. There were some amongst us who made Ihram for Umrah, and there were some amongst us who made Ihram for Haj and Umrah, and there were some amongst us who made Ihram for Haj and the Prophet made Ihram for Haj. As for those who made Ihram for Umrah, it became lawful; and as for those who made Ihram for only Haj or joined Haj and Umrah together, it was not lawful till the day of sacrifice came to pass. —Agreed.

135. There are three different traditions on this subject. Imam Shafeyi holds on the basis of this tradition that Ihram begins without any prayer, while the other three Imams hold that, before Ibram, two rak'ats of prayer should be recited by a pilgrim.

2137. Farewell Pilgrimage

In 10 A. H., The Holy Prophet set out on pilgrimage to Mecca and waited at Arafat where nearly 124,000 persons were present from various parts of Arabia representing various tribes and clans. The whole atmosphere was surcharged with divine glory and the Prophet saw the full triump of his mission from all sides. The verse then came down: To-day I have perfected your religion for you and completed My favours on you—5:3 Q. The Prophet thus set the seal of perfection to Islam and delivered the ever memorable sermon in the field of Arafat which is a standing monument of Prophet's mission of prophethood for the guidance of mankind and its due accomplishment.

46. Jaber-b-Abdullah reported: The Apostle of Allah stayed at Medina for nine years without making pilgrimage. Then in the tenth year it was proclaimed among men that the Messenger of of Allah intended pilgrimage. Thereafter many men assembled at Medina and we came out with him, till we came to Zul-Halifah. There Asma'a, daughter of Umais, gave birth to Muhammad, son of Abu Bakr. She sent (news) to the Prophet: What shall I do? He said: Take bath and cover (private parts) with a rag and make Ihram. [2138] The Prophet then prayed in the mosque and next rode on Qaswa' (she-camel), till when it took him up to Baida'a, he made Ihram with the declaration of Tauhid, and with 'O Allah! Labbaik, Labbaik; there's no partner for Thee, Labbaik, verily all praise and help are for Thee; and the kingdom too, there is no partner for Thee. Jaber said: We did not intend but pilgrimage. We did not know Umrah, till we came to the House with him. He touched the corner and made seven rounds, three rounds by mild running and four by walking. Then he proceeded to the place of Abraham and recited: Take the place of Abraham as a praying place. He prayed two rak'ats and kept the Place between him and the House. [2139] In a narration: He recited in the two rak'ats: Say, He is Allah (112), and say, O you unbelievers! (109). Afterwards he returned to the corner, and then kissed it. He then came by the door to Safa. When he came near Safa, he read: Verily Safa and Marwah are of the signs of Allah. He began as Allah showed him how to begin with it. He began with Safa and ascended thereon till he saw the House. Then he turned his face towards the Ka'ba, declared the Unity of Allah and glorified Him and said: There is no god but Allah, He is one, there's no partner for Him, the kingdom is His, and all praise is His and He 2139. These two rak'ats of prayers at the place of Abraham are wajeb according to Abu Hanifa, and sunnat according to Shafeyi. In the first rak'at, the chapter Ikhlas and in the second the chapter 'Say, O you unbelievers', should be read though the latter, according to the general practice, should first be read.

He uttered a similar thing thrice. Then he got down and walked to Merwah, till his feet touched the bottom of the valley. Then he ran till he ascended and then walked till he came to Merwah. He did on Merwah just as he had done on Safa, till when the last of his rounds was on Marwah, he proclaimed while he was on Marwah and the people were behind him. He said: Had I knewn my affairs before as I know them after, I would not have driven sacrificial animals and made their Umrah. If there is any of you with whom there is no sacrificial animal, let him make it lawful and let him make it for Umrah. Soraqah-b-Malek got up and asked: O Ms. of Allah! is this for this year of ours or forever? The Prophet entered his fingers, one unto another and said: Umrah has entered unto Haj twice; no, rather forever and forever. [2140] And Ali came from Yemen with camels of the Prophet and said: What did you utter when you made pilgrimage compulsory? He said: I said: O Allah, I make Ihram just as Thy Prophet made. He said: There is sacrificing

The people, every one of them, made lawful and cut short (their hairs) except the Prophet and those with whom there were sacrificing animals. When there came the 8th day of Zil-Haj, they turned towards Mina and made Ihram for pilgrimage. The Prophet rode on. He prayed there Zuhr, Asr, Magrib, Isha and Fajr. Then he stayed for a while till the sun rose high. He then ordered for a tent of fur to be pitched at Namerah. The Prophet then made journey while the Quraish did not doubt that he would stay at Masharul Haram as the Quraish in the Days of ignorance used to do. Then the Messenger of Allah went on till he came to Arafat. He found a tent that had been pitched up for him at Namerah. He got down therein, till when the sun inclined towards the west, he ordered for his she-camel Qaswa which conveyed him. Then he came to the foot of the valley and addressed the people and said:

"Verily your lives and your properties are sacred to you like the sacredness of this day of yours in this month of yours in

Then he rode on Qaswa till he reached Masharul Haram. He then turned towards the Qiblah, invoked Him, glorified Him, recited Tahlil and declared His unity. He continued to stay (there) till it was very clear.

And as for those who united Pilgrimage and Umrah, they only circumbulated once. 214a—Agreed.

48. Abdullah-b-Omar reported that the Apostle of Allah in the Farewell Pilgraimage combined Umrah with the Haj. He led the sacrificial animal with him from Zul-Halaifah. He began and made Ihram for Umrah and then he made Ihram for Haj. The people also combined with the Prophet Umrah with Haj. So there were some among men who took sacrificial animals and some who did not. When the Prophet returned to Mecca, he said to the people: As for one among you who has taken a sacrificial anmial, verily nothing is unlawful for him which has been made unlawful for him, till he performs his pilgrimage; and whose among you has not taken a sacrificial animal, let him go round the House and Safa and Mrewah and let him cut (his hairs) and come out of Ihram. Afterwards let him make Ihram for Haj and let him take a sacrificial animal. Whoever does not find any sacrificial animal, let him keep fast for three days during the Haj, and seven when he returns to his family. Then he went round the House when he came to Mecca and kissed the Black Stone first.

Then he made three rounds by mild running and four by walking. He prayad two rak'ats when he finished his circumbulation of the House near the place (of Abraham). Then he greeted and went away. Then he came to Safa and went round Safa and Merwah for seven times and then he did not make anything lawful which was prohibited for him, till he performed his Haj and sacrificed his animal on the day of sacrifice. Then he hastened and went round the House and then made lawful every thing which he prohibited for himself, and he who led his sacrificial animal did like what the Aposthe of Allah had done among men. 2143 —Agreed

Ata'a said that he (Prophet) did not make it obligatory on them but he made them lawful for them. We enquired (being wondered) when there remained only 5 nights between us and Arafat. He ordered us to cohabit with our wives. We came to Arafat while the sexual organs urged to drop semen. Then the Prophet got up among us and said : You certainly know that I am the most fearful of Allah among you all, the most truthful among you all, and the most pious of you all. But for my sacrificial animal, I would have certainly made lawful as you are making lawful. Had I known out of my affairs what I came to know afterwards, I would not have driven the sacrificial animal. So make lawful. So we made lawful, heard and obeyed. Then Ali came from his work and said : With which thing have you made Ihram ? He said to him : With that with which the Prophet made Ihram. The Apostle of Allah said : Send sacrificial animal and stay in Ihram. Ali then sacrified an animal for him. Soraqah-b-Malek asked : O Apostle of Allah ! is this for this year of ours or for

May Allah admit him in the Fire ! He said : What ! do you not know that I ordered men with an affair but they are entertaining doubt ? Had I known out of my affairs what I came to know after, I would not have led a sacrificial animal with me, till I have purchased it and then made lawful as they made lawful. —Muslim.

2145. Entry into Mecca, Tawaf and Sa'y.

(a) Entry in to Mecca. The pilgrim shall after entry into Mecca recite fhe following invocation as soon as the Ka'ba falls in sight.

"There is no god but Allah ; Allah is greatest. O Allah ! Thou art Peace, and from Thee peace, and Thy abode is the abode of peace. Thou art Blessed, O Possessor of glory and honour. O Allah ! this is Thy house. Thou hast made it great and given it honour and respect. O Allah ! increase its greatness, and increase its honour and respect, and increase its awe, and who soever makes pilgrimage to it, increase his piety and honour. O Allah ! open for me Thy doors of mercy and admit me in Thy paradise, and give me refuge from the accursed devil.

لِيْ اَبْوَابَ رَحْمَتِكَ وَاَدْخِلْنِيْ جَنَّتَكَ
وَاَعِذْنِيْ مِنَ الشَّيْطَانِ الرَّجِيْمِ *

(b) Tawaf. It signifies circumbulation round the Ka'ba. The Quran says : And then go round the Ancient House—22:29 Q. It occupies the most important place in the devotional acts of Haj as it is the first act when a pilgrim arrives at Mecca and the last act when he leaves it. The former is called Tawaf-ul-Qudum (the Tawaf of arrival) and the tatter Tawaf al Wada (Tawaf of departure). There is another Tawaf called Tawaf az-Zeyarat (Tawaf of visit). It is done on the 10th Zil-Haj and included within the acts of Haj. It may also be performed on the final arrival at Mecca.

Tawaf begins from the Black Stone and ends up to it. Kissing the Black Stone, if possible, the pilgrim shall recite the following invocation :—

'O Allah ! with (due) faith and testifying Thy Book, and in fulfilment of Thy covenant, and in obedience to the way of Thy Prophet Muhammad (P. H.).'

اَللّٰهُمَّ اِيْمَانًا وَتَصْدِيْقًا بِكِتَابِكَ
وَوَفَاءً بِعَهْدِكَ وَاتِّبَاعًا لِسُنَّةِ نَبِيِّكَ
وَسَنَّةِ مُحَمَّدٍ صلعم

When the pilgrim reaches the door of the Ka'ba the following shall be read :—

"O Allah ! this house is Thy House, and this Sanctuary is Thy Sanctuary, and this security is Thy security and this House is a place of refuge to Thee from the fire."

اَللّٰهُمَّ هٰذَا الْبَيْتُ بَيْتُكَ وَهٰذَا
الْحَرَمُ حَرَمُكَ وَهٰذَا الْاَمْنُ اَمْنُكَ وَهٰذَا
مَقَامُ الْعَائِذِ بِكَ مِنَ النَّارِ

Then reaching the Rukn-Iraqi, the following invocation shall be read :—

"O Allah ! I seek refuge to Thee from doubt, polytheism, infidelity, hypocrisy, enmity, bad conduct and bad look in family, property and children."

اَللّٰهُمَّ اَعُوْذُبِكَ مِنَ الشَّكِّ وَالشِّرْكِ
وَالْكُفْرِ وَالنِّفَاقِ وَالشِّقَاقِ وَسُوْءِ الْاَخْلَاقِ
وَسُوْءِ الْمَنْظَرِ فِي الْاَهْلِ وَالْمَالِ وَالْوَلَدِ *

Then proceeding further, the following invocation may be recited :—

اَللّٰهُمَّ اَظِلَّنِي تَحْتَ عَرْشِكَ يَوْمَ لَا ظِلَّ اِلَّا ظِلُّ عَرْشِكَ اَللّٰهُمَّ اسْقِنِي بِكَاْسِ مُحَمَّدٍ صَلَعم شَرْبَةً لَا اَظْمَاءُ بَعْدَهَا اَبَدًا *

"O Allah ! give me shade under Thy shade on the day on which there will be no shade but the shade of Thy Throne. O Allah ! give me with the cup of Muhammad (P. H.) such a drink that will not thereafter leave any thirst."

Thereafter reaching the Rukn-Shami, the following invocation shall be read :—

اَللّٰهُمَّ اجْعَلْهُ حَجًّا مَبْرُورًا وَسَعْيًا مَشْكُورًا وَذَنْبًا مَغْفُورًا وَتِجَارَةً لَنْ تَبُورَ يَا عَزِيزُ يَا غَفُورُ اغْفِرْ وَارْحَمْ وَتَجَاوَزْ عَمَّا تَعْلَمُ اِنَّكَ اَنْتَ الْاَعَزُّ الْاَكْرَمُ *

"O Allah ! make it an accepted Haj, and an accepted effort of greatfulness, and a forgiven sin and a merchandise that is never destroyed. O Almighty ! O Forgiver ! forgive and show mercy and pardon what Thou knowest. Verily Thou art the Most Glorious, the Most Honourable."

Thereafter reaching the Rukn-Yamani, the following invocation shall be read :

اَللّٰهُمَّ اِنِّي اَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنَ الْكُفْرِ وَاَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنَ الْفَقْرِ وَمِنْ عَذَابِ الْقَبْرِ وَمِنْ فِتْنَةِ الْمَحْيَا وَالْمَمَاتِ وَاَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنَ الْخِزْيِ فِي الدُّنْيَا وَالْاٰخِرَةِ *

"O Allah ! I seek refuge to Thee from infidelity, and I seek refuge to Thee from poverty, and from the punishment of the grave, and from the calamities of life and death, and I seek refuge to Thee from disgrace of this world and the hereafter.

When going to finish the round near the Black Stone, the pilgrim shall read tne following:—

اَللّٰهُمَّ رَبَّنَا اٰتِنَا فِي الدُّنْيَا حَسَنَةً وَفِي الْاٰخِرَةِ حَسَنَةً وَّقِنَا بِرَحْمَتِكَ عَذَابَ الْقَبْرِ وَعَذَابَ النَّارِ *

O Allah, O our Lord, give us good in this world and good in the hereafter, and save us by Thy mercy from the punishment of grave and the punishment of the Fire.

There shall be at first three mild runnings (Raml) and then four walkings in Tawaf. The Black Stone shall be kissed if possible at the end of each round. Necessary but not frivolous talk is allowed in Tawaf. A pilgrim is allowed to make Tawaf on conveyance if he is ill. Women are permitted to go round the Ka'ba along with the males but they are prohibited from doing it and running between Safa and Merwah when they are in their monthly courses.

Then two rak'ats of prayer shall be offered in front of 'Maqame Ibrahim.'

(c) Sa'y. Afterwards the pilgrim shall run seven times between the mounts Safa and Merwah. The Quran says: Surely Safa and Merwah are among the signs appointed by Allah. So whoso makes Haj to the House or Umrah, there is no blame on him if he goes round them—2: 158 Q. When running, the following invocation has been recommended :—

"O Lord ! forgive and show mercy and pardon what Thou knowest. Verily Thou art the Most Glorious and the Most Honourable. O Allah ! give us good in this world and good in the hereafter and save us from the fire.

رَبِّ اغْفِرْ وَارْحَمْ وَتَجَاوَزْ عَمَّا تَعْلَمُ إِنَّكَ أَنْتَ الْأَعَزُّ الْأَكْرَمُ اَللّٰهُمَّ رَبَّنَا آتِنَا فِي الدُّنْيَا حَسَنَةً وَفِي الْآخِرَةِ حَسَنَةً وَقِنَا عَذَابَ النَّارِ *

If the Ihram terminates there, the hairs of the head shall be shaved or cut.

And when he came out of it (Mecca), he passed by Zi-at-Towa and passed the night there till (next) morning. He narrated : The Prophet used to do it. —Agreed

He said: If I do (it), it is because I heard the Prophet say: Verily to touch them both is expiation of minor sins. I heard him also say: Whoso goes round this House for a week and observes it, shall get as it were (the rewards of) the emancipation of a captive. And I heard him also say: No step is taken and no step is raised up but Allah puts off therewith one sin from him and writes for him therewith one reward.

2155. Waiting at Arafat and Muzdalifah.

(a) Arafat. Arafat is the name of a plain surrounded on three sides by mountains. It is so called because pilgrims go there to know God. It is said that Adam and Eve came to know each other here after they had lost Paradise and that Abraham was taught here by Gabriel the various devotional acts of pilgrimage. Then the pilgrims, starting from Mecca on the 8th Zil-Haj and staying the night at Mina or starting from Mecca on the 9th morning, reach Arafat at noon and perform Zuhr and Asr prayers together with two Aqamats and wait there till sun-set with divine praises and glorifications. This waiting is so important that if anybody does not attend Arafat from noon of the 9th Zil-Haj till before the appearance of the dawn of 10th Zil-Haj, his Haj wouldbe considered as void. There the Imam delivers sermon on the mount to the vast assembly declaring the common fatherhood of God and the universal brotherhood of men.

(b) Muzdalifah. Then preferably after sun-set, they hasten to Muzdalifah and reaching there they perform Magrib and Isha prayers together. The Quran says : Then come out from the place from which the people come out—2:199Q. This place is known in the Quran as 'Mash'ar Al-Haram (the Holy Monument) and sometimes in hadis as Al-Jam (the place of gathering). During the night at Muzdalifah, pilgrims ought to be engaged in divine glorifications. The Quran lays down: Then when you hasten from Arafat, remember Allah near the Holy Monument and remember Him as He has guided you though before that you have been of those who were misguided—2:198Q. Then after saying Fajr prayer at the early hours, the pilgrims start towards Mina on the 10th Zil-Haj reaching there the same day before noon.

80. Muhammad-bn-Abi Bakr Saqafi reported that he asked Anas-b-Malek while they were going at dawn from Mina to Arafat : How were you doing on this day with the Apostle of Allah ? He said : Of us, there was some one who uttered Labbaik and it was not denied to him ; and of us, there was some one who uttered Takbir and it was not denied to him. 2156

He was given the response: Verily I have forgiven them except the oppressors; and verily I shall compensate the oppressed therefrom. He said: O my Lord! if Thou wisheth, Thou bestoweth Paradise to the oppressed and forgiveth the oppressor. He was not given any response to it at night. When he waited at Muzdalifah up to morning, he repeated the invocation and he was given response to what he had implored. Then he Prophet laughed (or he said: he only smiled). Abu Bakr and Omar said to him: My father and mother be ransomed to thee! this is certainly an hour wherein you are not to laugh. What has made you laugh? May Allah make your teeth (always) laugh! 89. Hisham-b-Urwah reported from his father who said: Osamah-b-Zaid was asked: How did the Apostle of Allah travel when he returned from the Farewell Pilgrimage? He said: He rode on hastily; and when he found any open space, he ran. —Agreed

90 Ibn Abbas reported that he returned with the Prophet on the day of Arafat. The Prophet heard a loud noise from behind him and belabouring of camels. Then he hinted at them with his stick and said: O men! you should take to silence, and verily piety is not with the running. —Bukhari.

91. Same reported that Osamah -b-Zaid was riding behind the Prophet from Arafat to Muzdalifah. Thereafter Fazl rode behind him from Muzdalifah to Mina. Both of them reported: The Prophet continued to recite 'Labbaik,' till he threw stones at Jamrah Aqabah.

—Agreed.

92. Ibn Omar reported that the Prophet amalgamated Magrib and I'sha prayers at Muzdalifah, each of them with a single Aqamat without any Tasbih between these two, nor at the

93. Abdullah-b-Mas'ud reported: I did not see the Apostle of Allah say any prayer but in its appointed time except two prayers, the Magrib and I'sha prayers at Muzdalifah; and he prayed Fajr on that day before its appointed time. 2160 —Agreed.

94. Ibn 'Abbas reported: I was among the weaker ones of his family members 2161 whom the Prophet sent in advance during the night of Muzdalifah.

—Agreed.

95. Same reported from Fazl-b-Abbas who was riding behind the Prophet that he had said about the night at Arafat and the morning at Mazdalifah to the people when they were returning: 'March on with peace'. And he was (at that time) holding back his camel, until he entered Muhasser which is at Mina. He said: You should take the stones of Khazf for being thrown at Jamrah. And he said: The Apostle of Allah did not stop saying 'Labbaik' till he threw stones at Jamrah. —Muslim.

2164. Hajjaj-b-Yusuf was a notorious tyrant who killed as many as 128000 persons. He was governor of Abdul Malek and killed Abdullah-b-Zubair in the precincts of the Holy Ka'ba. None dared to say anything opposed to his ideas. This tradition should therefore be taken with utmost caution.

2165. Mina and throwing stones

Arriving at noon at Mina on the 10th Zil-Haj, the pilgrim shall proceed to throw stones which he has taken from a place near Muzdalifah. Then throwing seven stones at the last Jamrah called Jamrah Aqabah, he shall return to his camp. Takbir shall be recited at the time of each throwing. Thereafter animals shall be sacrificed. This right extends up to 12th Zil-Haj. On the 11th, 12th and 13th Zil-Haj which are known as the days of Tashriq, he will throw stones at three Jamrahs (places of stones) with seven stones at each Jamrah on each day. The three Jamrahs are called the first Jamrah, the middle Jamrah and the Jamrah Aqabah. If anybody remains at Mina on the 13th Zil-Haj, it is Wajeb on him to throw stones on that day. The pilgrim may however leave Mina on the 12th Zil-Haj in the afternoon. The Quran says: Whoso hastens in two days, there is no sin on him—2:203Q. On the 10th Zil-Haj or on any subsequent date, the pilgrim shall make Tawaf of the Ka'ba (one of the ingredients of Haj). If it is finished, and also the throwing of stones at Aqabah, the pilgrim gets out of Ihram and can live like a non-pilgrim; but if Tawaf remains due, he is prohibited from hunting and sexual intercourse though other things become lawful on the completion of stone-throwing at Aqabah and shaving of the hairs of the head.

2168. Sacrificial Animal (الهدي)

Hadyun is an animal that is taken by a pilgrim to be sacrificed within the precincts of the Ka'ba. The descriptions of such an animal have been given in the Quran in verses 2:196, 48:5Q. A goat or an ewe suffices one person, and a camel or a cow for seven persons. The Day of Sacrifice is the 10th Zil-Haj on which two rak'ats of Wajeb prayers are celebrated. The right to sacrifice an animal extends up to 12th Zil-Haj. Some portion of the meat of the sacrificed animal shall be distributed among the poor and the

[2172] It shows that except in case of extreme necessity, the sacrificial animals shall not be used for riding purposes.

120. Ibn Omar reported that he came to a man who kept his camel waiting for slaughtering it. He said: Let it stand at a distance in obedience to the practice of Muhammad. —Agreed

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّهُ أَتَى عَلَى رَجُلٍ قَدْ أَنَاخَ بَدَنَتَهُ يَنْحَرُهَا قَالَ ابْعَثْهَا قِيَامًا مُقَيَّدَةً سُنَّةَ مُحَمَّدٍ صلعم * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

121. Ali reported: The Apostle of Allah directed me to take care of his offering camels and to give in charity their meat, their skins and their hoofs and not to give anything of them to one who slaughters. He said: We shall give him from us. 2173 —Agreed

122. Jaber reported: We used not to eat the meat of our sacrificed camels beyond three days. Then the Apostle of Allah gave us permission (to do so) and said: Eat and store. So we ate and stored up (beyond 3 days). —Agreed

عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ كُنَّا لَا نَأْكُلُ مِنْ لُحُومِ بُدْنِنَا فَوْقَ ثَلَاثٍ فَرَخَّصَ لَنَا رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم فَقَالَ كُلُوا وَتَزَوَّدُوا فَأَكَلْنَا وَتَزَوَّدْنَا * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

123. Ibn Abbas reported : The Prophet sent among his sacrificial animals in the year of Hudaibiyyah a camel belonging to Abu Jahl. It had a silver lining on its head (and in a narration : a gold ring) enraging the polytheists therewith.

—Abu Daud

124. Najeyah-al-Khuzayi narrated : I asked the Prophet : O Ms. of Allah, how shall I act with what will be about perishing out of the sacrificial animals ? He said : Slaughter it and then sip its collar in its blood and then let it (meat) be left among men that they (poor peop le) eat it. [4]

He said : Five or six she camels were brought near the Prophet. Then they began to come near him to seek which of them he should begin with. He narrated : When their sides were turned down, he uttered with inaudible voice what I did not understand. I asked : What

2175. Shaving

Shaving the head or cutting its hairs is Wajeb on a pilgrim. The Quran says : Let them accomplish their needful acts of shaving and cleansing—22:29Q. You shall certainly enter the sacred mosque, if Allah pleases, in security, having their heads shaved and having their hairs cut—48:27 Q. Shaving takes place in case of Umrah immediately after the running between Safa and Merwah; and in case of Haj on the Day of Sacrifice after the throwing of stones at Aqabah. Women are exempted from shaving. It is enough if they shorten some hairs at the back.

The Prophet was not asked about anything done either before or after except that he said: Do, there is no harm. Agreed upon it. And in a narration of Muslim: A man came to him and said: I had shaved before I threw stones. He said: Throw stones and there is no harm. And another came to him and said: I had hastened to the House before I threw stones. He said: Throw stones and there is no harm. [2177]

2177. The following rules should be observed on the day of sacrifice. As soon as a pilgrim reaches Mina, he shall throw seven pebbles at Jamrah-al-Aqabah, sacrifice an animal of defined descriptions, shave the hairs of his head and then go round the Holy Ka'ba. This order is sunnat. Imams Shafeyi and Ahamd hold that any breach of this order is not illegal, but according to Imam Abu Hanifah and Malek, an animal is to be sacrificed in lieu of the breach of the rule.

2178. According to three Imams, if the throwing of pebbles is delayed up to sun-set, sacrifice of an animal becomes necessary. They mean by the word 'Amsaitu' the time between afternoon and sun-set. Imam Abu Hanifah holds, however, that the time of stone-throwing begins from dawn till night with this difference that before sun-rise and after sunset an animal is required to be sacrificed as expiation for delay without excuse.

138. Ali reported: A man came to him and asked: O Ms. of Allah! I had hastened (to Mecca) before I shaved. He said: Shave or shorten, there's no harm. Another came and said: I had sacrificed before I threw stones. He said: Throw and there's no harm. —Tirmizi.

I had run (between Safa and Marwah) before I went round (the House), or I did one thing last and another thing first. He was then saying: There is no harm except upon a person who, being an oppress or, damaged the honour of a Muslim. He is one who has committed sins and is undone. —Abu Daud.

2179. Khutbah and Days of Tashriq

Khutbah or sermon is Mustahab on the Day of Sacrifice or the day following at Mina. The Holy Prophet delivered sermon at Mina (36:151).

The days of Tashriq are known in the Quran as the numbered days. The Quran says: And glorify Allah during the numbered days—2:203Q. These are 11th, 12th and 13th of Zil-Haj. Pilgrims are detained at Mina up to the sun-set of the 13th Zil-Haj, but they may leave it in the evening of the 12th Zil-Haj. The Quran lays down: Whoso hastens in two days, there is no sin on him; and whoso makes delay, there no sin on him—2:203Q. During the days of [illegible] stones at the three Jamrahs.

140 Abu Bakrah reported : The Prophet gave sermon to us on the day of sacrifice. He said : Verily the time has come back like its form [2179a] on the day in which Allah created the heavens and the earth. A year consists of twelve months of which four are sacred—three follow one another : Zil Qa'dah, Zil-Haj and Muharram, and Rajab-Modar [2180] which is between Jumada and Sha'ban. He asked : Which month is this ? We said : Allah and His Apostle know best. He remained silent till we thought that he would name it soon other than with its own name. He asked : Is it not Zil-Haj ? We replied : Yes. He asked : Which city is this ? We replied : Allah and His Apostle know best. He remained silent till we thought that he would give it a name soon other than its own name. He asked : Is it not a city ? We replied : Yes. He asked : Which day is this ? We replied : Allah and His Apostle know best. He remained silent till we thought that 2179a. A year consists of twelve months beginning from Muharram and ending with Zul-Haj. The Quran says : Verily the number of months near Allah is twelve in the Book of Allah on the day wherein He created the heavens and the earth —9:36Q. The pre-Islamic Arabs used to observe thirteen months in a year and performed pilgrimage a little latter than the of month of Zil Haj. The Holy Prophet sanctioned it in the month of Zil Huj and abolished the previous practice.

2180. Rajab Moder is the month of Rajab which the tribe of Modar used to respect more than the other months.

he would soon give it a name other than its own name. He said: Is it not the Day of Sacrifice? We replied: Yes. He said: Verily your lives, and your properties, and your honours are sacred to you like the sacredness of this day of yours in this city of yours in this month of yours. You will soon meet your Lord and He will ask you of your actions. Behold! do not return to misguidance after me, some of you striking the necks of others. Behold! have I delivered my message? They all replied: Yes. He said: O Allah! bear witness and let those present convey it to those absent. How many to whom a message is conveyed are more careful than those who hear. —Agreed.

raising up his hands. Then he threw seven stones at the middle Jamrah, reciting Takbir at the time of each stone-throwing. Then he took to his left side, came to a plain and remained standing facing the Ka'ba. He invoked and raised up his hands and remained standing for long. Then he threw seven stones at Jamrah Aqabah at the foot of the valley reciting Takbir at the time of each throwing and did not stay near it. Then he went away saying : I saw the Prophet doing thus.

151. Amr-b-al Ahwas reported: I heard the Apostle of Allah ask at the Farewell pilgrimage: Which day is this? They replied: The day of the greatest pilgrimage. He said: Verily your lives and your properties and your honours are sacred to one another like the sacredness of this day of yours in this city of yours. Behold! no oppressor oppresses but against his own soul. Behold! no oppressor oppresses against his son, nor his son against his father. SECTION 10

2190. Things unlawful for a Muhrim.

(See note 2132 for details.)

156. Abdullah-b-Omar reported that a man asked the Prophet: What dress shall a Muhrim wear? He said: Neither put on shirts, nor turbans, nor long trousers, nor water-proofs, 2191 nor socks except in case of one who does not find sandals and wears socks 2191a; let him shorten them below his heels. Don't put on anything which is touched by saffron, nor a garment dyed with wars. 2192b —Agreed upon it. And Bukhari added in a narration: Nor a woman shall wear in Ihram a long veil 2192 nor shall she put on gloves.

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ اَنَّ رَجُلًا سَاَلَ رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَا يَلْبَسُ الْمُحْرِمُ مِنَ الثِّيَابِ فَقَالَ لَا تَلْبَسُوا الْقُمُصَ وَلَا الْعَمَائِمَ وَلَا السَّرَاوِيلَاتِ وَلَا الْبَرَانِسَ وَلَا الْخِفَافَ اِلَّا اَحَدٌ لَا يَجِدُ نَعْلَيْنِ فَلْيَلْبَسْ خُفَّيْنِ وَلْيَقْطَعْهُمَا اَسْفَلَ مِنَ الْكَعْبَيْنِ وَلَا تَلْبَسُوا مِنَ الثِّيَابِ شَيْئًا مَسَّهُ زَعْفَرَانٌ وَلَا وَرْسٌ مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ وَزَادَ الْبُخَارِيُّ فِي رِوَايَةٍ وَلَا تَنْتَقِبُ الْمَرْاَةُ الْمُحْرِمَةُ وَلَا تَلْبَسُ الْقُفَّازَيْنِ ۔

2189. The Mishkat says that its chain of narration is weak. There is another narration of Ahmad and Nisai from Ibn Abbas: He said: When he has thrown stones at Jamrah, everything except women becomes lawful for him.

2191b. Wars are yellow plants used for dyeing.

2192. Veil can be used only when it is put on in such a way that it does not touch the face.

157. Ibn Abbas reported : I heard the Apostle of Allah delivering sermon. He was saying : When a Muhrim does not find sandles, he may put on socks ; and when he does not find Ijar, 2192a he may put on trousers. Agreed

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَخْطُبُ وَهُوَ يَقُولُ اِذَا لَمْ يَجِدِ الْمُحْرِمُ نَعْلَيْنِ لَبِسَ خُفَّيْنِ وَاِذَا لَمْ يَجِدْ اِزَارًا لَبِسَ سَرَاوِيلَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

157a. Ya'la-b-Omayyah reported : We were near the Prophet at Je-errana when lo ! a Beduin Arab with a long garment came to him and he was dyed with Khuluq. 2193 He asked : O Apostle of Allah ! I am in Ihram for Umrah and this is upon me. He said : As for the perfume which is upon you, wash it off thrice ; 2194 and as for the long garment, put it off. Then do in your Umrah as you do in Haj —Agreed

عَنْ يَعْلَى ابْنِ اُمَيَّةَ قَالَ كُنَّا عِنْدَ النَّبِيِّ صلعم بِالْجِعِرَّانَةِ اِذْ جَاءَهُ رَجُلٌ اَعْرَابِيٌّ عَلَيْهِ جُبَّةٌ وَهُوَ مُتَضَمِّخٌ بِالْخَلُوقِ فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ اِنِّي اَحْرَمْتُ بِالْعُمْرَةِ وَهٰذِهِ عَلَيَّ فَقَالَ اَمَّا الطِّيبُ الَّذِي بِكَ فَاغْسِلْهُ ثَلٰثَ مَرَّاتٍ وَاَمَّا الْجُبَّةُ فَانْزِعْهَا ثُمَّ اصْنَعْ فِي عُمْرَتِكَ كَمَا تَصْنَعُ فِي حَجِّكَ (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

158. Osman reported that the Apostle of Allah said : No Muhrim shall marry or be married or seek for marriage. 2195 —Muslim.

عَنْ عُثْمَانَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا يَنْكِحُ الْمُحْرِمُ وَلَا يُنْكَحُ وَلَا يَخْطُبُ ـ (مُسْلِمٌ)

159. Ibn Abas reported that the Prophet had married Maimunah while he was a Muhrim. —Agreed

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم تَزَوَّجَ مَيْمُونَةَ وَهُوَ مُحْرِمٌ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

2192a. Ijar is a piece of garment which is like 'langi' in our country.

2193. Khuluq is a kind of scent made of saffron.

2194. If a pilgrim or Muhrim uses an unlawful thing in Ihram intentionally, to sacrifice an animal is Wajeb on him. If done through mistake, it is not Wajeb according to Imams Shafeyi and Ahmad, but Wajeb according to the two other Imams.

2195. Imam Shafeyi and the majority of the learned jurists are of opinion that the first two things are unlawful in Ihram, while the third is simply a pious wish without any illegality. Abu Hanifah regards the three things as lawful as the Prophet married Maimmah while he was in Ihram (36: 159).

160. Yezid-b-alA'sam reported from Maimunah: The Apostle of Allah married Maimunah while he was not a Muhrim [2196] —Muslim.

عَنْ يَزِيْدَ بْنِ الْاَصَمِّ عَنْ مَيْمُوْنَةَ اَنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم تَزَوَّجَهَا وَهُوَ حَلَالٌ ۔

(مُسْلِمٌ)

161. Abu Ayyub reported that the Prophet had used to wash his head while he was in Ihram [2197] —Agreed.

عَنْ اَبِيْ اَيُّوْبَ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم كَانَ يَغْسِلُ رَاْسَهٗ وَهُوَ مُحْرِمٌ *

(مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

162. Osman reported from the Prophet about a man when the latter complained of his eyes while he was in Ihram. He applied aloes to them. [2198] —Muslim.

عَنْ عُثْمَانَ حَدَّثَ عَنْ رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ صلعم فِي الرَّجُلِ اِذَا اشْتَكٰى عَيْنَيْهِ وَهُوَ مُحْرِمٌ ضَمَّدَهُمَا بِالصَّبِرِ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

163 Ibn Abbas reported: The Prophet took cupping while he was in Ihram. —Agreed.

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ اِحْتَجَمَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم وَهُوَ مُحْرِمٌ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

164. Ommul Hussain reported: I saw Osamah and Bilal when one of them was seizing the rein of the she-camel of the Prophet and another was raising his cloth for protecting him from heat, till he threw stones at Jamrah al-Aqabah [2199] —Muslim

عَنْ اُمِّ الْحُصَيْنِ قَالَتْ رَاَيْتُ اُسَامَةَ وَبِلَالًا وَاَحَدُهُمَا اٰخِذٌ بِخِطَامِ نَاقَةِ رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ صلعم وَالْاٰخَرُ رَافِعٌ ثَوْبَهٗ يَسْتُرُهٗ مِنَ الْحَرِّ حَتّٰى رَمٰى جَمْرَةَ الْعَقَبَةِ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

2197. It is lawful to wash the head of a Muhrim provided no hair falls down.

2198. If perfumed antimony is applied to the eyes by a Muhrim, charity becomes compulsory on him; and if there is excessive perfume, sacrifice of an animal is compulsory. If, however, plain antimony without any perfume is used, it will be no sin.

165. Ka'ab-b-Ujrah reported: The Prophet passed by him while he was at Hudaibiyyah before entering Mecca, and he was in Ihram. He was kindling fire under a kettle while lices were falling down upon his face. He asked: Do your lices trouble you? 'Yes' said he. He said: Shave your head and feed six poor men with one Farq (and one Farq is of three sa'as) [2200] or fast for three days or sacrifice a stout animal.

—Agreed

2204. Hunting in Ihram

Hunting games by a Muhrim is generally unlawful during the period of Ihram. This law is applicable also in case of an hunted animal being used as a food by a Muhrim. The Quran lays down: O you who believe! do not kill games while you are in Ihram—5:95Q. The Quran and Hadis, however, allow some excmptions: Lawful to you is the game of the sea and its food, a provision for you and for the travellers, and the game of the land is forbidden to you so long as you are in Ihram—5: 96Q. Killing of rats, crows and snakes are lawful. Order by a Muhrim for hunting or his hinting at a game or showing its place or doing anything to catch a game, is prohibited. In case a non-Muhrim hunts a game, it can be used as food by a Muhrim according to Imam Abn Hanifah and lawful as a present according to Imams Shafeyi and Ahmad. Regarding the sacrifice of animals without hunting, it is allowed for a Muhrim. If any rule as noted above is broken by a Muhrim, he shall compensate it as follows: 'Whoever among you shall kill it (game) intentionally, the compensation is the like of what he killed from the cattle, as two just persons from among you shall judge, as an offering to be brought to the Ka'ba, or the expiation is the feeding of the poor, or the equivalent of it in fasting, that he may taste the bad result of his deed—5: 95 Q'.

Thereafter he ate and they also ate. They became repentant. When they came to the Prophet, they enquired of him. He asked: Have you got anything therefrom? They replied: There is its (cooked) leg with us. The Prophet took it and ate it. Agreed upon it. And in a narration reported by them: When they came to the Apostle of Allah, he said: Is there anybody among you who ordered it to be attacked or who hinted at it? 'No' re plied they. He said: Then eat the remainder of its meat.

If any pilgrim does not attend Arafat from the noon of the 9th Zil-Haj to the dawn of the 10th, he shall lose Haj and there is no compensation on him. The Quran lays down: And if you are prevented, (send) whatever offering is easy to obtain and donot shave your heads until the offering reaches its destination, but whoever is sick or has an ailment of the head, he (should effect) a compensation by fasting or alms or sacrificing —2 : 196Q. SECTION 13

2212. The Sacred City of Mecca.

(a) Sanctity of Mecca. The sanctity of Mecca has been continuing from time immemorial. The Quran only added to its ancient glory and respect. It says: I am commanded only that I should serve the Lord of this city Who has made it sacred—27:91Q. The Prophet said: Allah made this city sacred since He created the heavens and the earth--36:192. The Prophet once addressed Mecca: By Allah, thou art certainly the chosen land of Allah and the dearest land of Allah in Allah's sight—36:201. It appears therefore that Mecca is the best land in the sight of Allah in the whole world. Abraham prayed for this city: 'O Lord! make this city secure. O our Lord! surely I have settled some of my offspring in an unproductive valley near Thy sacred House, our Lord, that they may keep up prayer. Therefore make the hearts of some people yearn towards them and provide them with fruits—14:35—37Q. Thus Mecca has been made sacred and secure. Towards fulfilment of this object, murder in this city or fight except by way of self-defence is prohibited. There is also a ban against the non-Muslims to enter this city—9:28Q. This city has also been made secure of non-Muslim aggression by the Quranic verses 14:35 and 95:3.

(b) The Holy Ka'ba and the Mosque al-Haram. The city of Mecca has thus got a great sanctity because it contains the Holy Ka'ba and Masjid al Haram within it. The Ka'ba stands in the centre of an open space like a parallelogram surrounded now by an all round building and minarets. This open space is the Masjid al-Haram (sacred Mosque). The Sacred Mosque contains the Ka'ba, Maqam Ibrahim and the Zemzem buildings. The Ka'ba is a small rectangular building of nearly 50 feet in height. It is also known as Baitul Ma'mur (a house of frequent visit —52:4Q), and Baitul Atiq (ancient house—22:29 Q). The Ka'ba is very ancient and said to have begun from Adam as a prototype of the Frequented House in heaven ; [see note 1641 (g) for details]. The Ka'ba is the Qibla of the whole Muslim world and all Muslims are bound to turn their faces towards it in their prayers. It will be destroyed with the end of the world by a Negro of Abyssinia—36:197.

(c) Prohibited things in al-Haram. Within the sacred enclosure of Masjid al-Haram and generally within the city of Mecca, the following things are unlawful: (1) To kill or fight except by way of self-defence. The Quran lays down : And do not fight with them in the Sacred Mosque until they fight with you in it, but if they fight with you, then slay them—2:191Q. (2) To hunt or kill a game or any animal except what is offered for sacrifice. (3) To cut plants and trees, to lop off their branches, to take grass and in short to do anything injurious to a life. (4) To carry arms at Mecca or to frighten anybody by any means. (5) To store up food-stuffs or to monopolise them.

This order was passed when the Prophet came out of Ihram.

2223. The Sacred City of Medina.

(a) Medina. Medina was formerly called Yathrib (pronounced as Yasrib) or Ta'bah. It was raised to the rank of an important city by the Prophet and hence it is called Madinat-un-Nabi or simply Medina. It was the centre of the activities of the Prophet and contains the Prophet's mosque with the mosuleum of the Holy Prophet in one of its corners. Its famous graveyard Jannatul-Baqiy is blessed with the tombs of the early martyrs of Islam. Three miles to its south is the famous mosque of Quba where the Prophet stayed for nearly 15 days before he first entered Medina.

(b) It is sacred. The city of Medina was made sacred. According to all the Imams except Imam Abu Hanifah, it is unlawful for pilgrims to cut its trees or to lop off their branches or to hunt and kill games, but these things are lawful according to Imam Abu Hanifah. The Holy Prophet commanded his followers to respect Medina and its inhabitants. He said that even its fruits, dates and dust are cures for diseases and that it will stand as an intercessor for him who keeps its honour, or dies therein, or bears its hardships and trials—36:206, 226. It is guarded always by angels and is safe from epidemics and Dajjal-36:217.

(c) A visit to Medina. The pilgrims should visit Medina after the performance of Haj and Umrah, because the Prophet said: Whoso makes pilgrimage and then visits my grave after my death is like one who visited me in my life-time — 36:574w. The prayer of a man in his house is one prayer ..... and his prayer in the mosque of mine is prayer by 50,000 times—34:158. When the city comes in sight to a pilgrim, the following invocation shall be read:

اَللّٰهُمَّ هٰذَا حَرَمُ رَسُوْلِكَ فَاجْعَلْهُ لِيْ وِقَايَةً مِّنَ النَّارِ وَاَمَانًا مِّنَ الْعَذَابِ وَسُوْءِ الْحِسَابِ

'O Allah! this is the sacred city of Thy Apostle. So make it a protection for me from the Fire and a security from punishment and the evils of account.'

On entering the city, the following shall be read:

رَبِّ اَدْخِلْنِيْ مُدْخَلَ صِدْقٍ وَّاَخْرِجْنِيْ مُخْرَجَ صِدْقٍ وَّاجْعَلْ لِّيْ مِنْ لَّدُنْكَ سُلْطَانًا نَّصِيْرًا

'O Lord! admit me to an admission of truth, and take me out to a place of truth, and appoint for me a great helper from Thee.'

Thereafter two rak'ats of prayer shall be read on entry into the Prophet's mosque. The pilgrims shall then visit the holy shrine and send blessings and greetings to the Apostle of Allah with a most sincere and grateful heart.

204. Ali reported: We did not write anything from the Apostle of Allah except the Quran and what is in this scripture (hadis). He reported that the Prophet said: Medina is sacred—what is between Air and Saur.[2224] Whoso introduces an innovation therein or gives shelter to an innovator, there is on him the curse of Allah and of angles and men together. No piety or good work will be accepted from him. The covenant of the Muslims is the same[2224a] and the most common man of them can run with it. So whoso breaks the trust of a Muslim, there is on him the curse of 2224a. The covenant is the same for all Muslims at Medina irrespective of status and position in society. If a humble servant protects a polytheist, nobody has got any right to kill the protected person. If anybody breaks this pledge by killing the protected polytheist, there is curse on him.

Whoso forms alliance with a people without the permission of his allies, [2225] there is on him the curse of Allah and of all angles and men together. No piety or good work will be accepted from him. —Agreed upon it. And in a narration reported by them: Whoso acknowledges other than his (real) father and befriends other than his (real) master, there is on him the curse of Allah and of all angels and men together. No piety or good work will be accepted from him.

205. Sa'ad reported that the Apostle of Allah said: I make unlawful within what is between the two corners of Medina to have its branches lopped off or to have its games killed. And he said: Medina is better for them had they known it. Nobody shall have it after being displeased with it but Allah will give it (Medina) in exchange someone who will be better than him, 2225. Wala means either alliance or friendship, or the right of a master over a freed slave. In the former case, it means that any Muslim making alliance or treaty with a people who are the enemies of his former ally without any sufficient reason is cursed. In the latter case, it means that if the freed slave dies without any heir, his properties will revert to his master who set him free from bondage.

Abraham was Thy servant, Thy dear friend and Thy Prophet, and verily I am Thy servant and Thy Prophet, and he prayed to Thee for Mecca and I pray to Thee for Medina just like what he prayed to Thee for Mecca and similar things therewith. CHAPTER XXXVII

2232. The Quran

(a) The Quran. The Holy Quran is the guide of the Muslims. It is the complete code of their every day life—economic, political, religious, social and moral. It is a revelation from the Almighty with the exact words as are now found embodied therein. The Quran lays down. And certainly it is a revelation from the Lord of the world. The Faithful Spirit has come down with it upon your heart that you may of the warners, in plain Arabic language—26:192-195Q. The verses of the Qurrn were uttered by the Holy Prophet to whose heart they were revealed by God through the Archangel Gabriel. The Quran is not the Hadis, because the former was revealed to the Prophet with words, while the Hadis was revealed to him in ideas.[1] The Quran was revealed not at a time but piecemeal in the course of the Prophet's apostolical career covering over twenty three years, thirteen years at Mecca and ten years at Medina. The first verse (97Q) was revealed in the Cave Hira at Mecca in Lailatul Kadr (Blessed Night) which is one of the last ten nights of Ramzan, and in the pure dialect of the Quraish which is chaste written Arabic. The Quran was arranged in to chapters by the Prophet himself. It contains 114 chapters, each chapter containing some sections called Ruku', and each Ruku' containing some verses. There are 30 parts, 114 chapters, 6616 verses, 77943 words and 338606 letters in the Holy Book. 86 chapters were revealed at Mecca while 28 chapters covering nearly one third of the Book were revealed at Medina.[1] The Meccan chapters are generally short and Medinian long. For convenience of reading, the Quran has been divided in to 30 equal parts with seven manzils for reading the whole Quran in at least seven days (35:89).

(b) Collection of the Quran in a book. No complete written copy of the Quran existed at the time of the Holy Prophet. It was not also possible as it was revealed during a course of 23 years. So during his time, it was kept in tablets of hearts, on parchments, papers, leaves and skins. After the holy demise, it was for the first time that the question of its collection in a book form was raised by Hazrat Omar before the first caliph Abu Bakr. At first, the aged Caliph was not willing to do what the Prophet had not done. Afterwards he thought the propriety of collection and undertook the onerous task. The copy thus prepared by Abu Bakr was with Omar's daughter Hafsah (Prophet's wife) after his death. The public had then no writtten copies. So Omar, during his Caliphate, ordered Zaid-b-Sabet, Abdullah-b-Zubair, Sa'd-b-alA's and Abdur Rahman to examine independent sources and to test the veracity of Hafsah's copy. Thus they prepared some copies which he distributed throughout the then Muslim world. These copies were exactly similar to the copy of Hafsah, and that text is now extant throughout the Muslim world. The purity of the Quran has thus been kept intact and it is now what it was 14 hundred years ago.

(c) The Quran is a miracle and an Universal Book. The Quran is the greateat wonder among the wonders of the world. It repeatedly challenged the people of the world to bring a chapter like it but they failed and the challenge remains unanswered up to this day. The Quran declares: And if you are in doubt as to that which We have revealed to Our servant, then produce a chapter like it and call on your helper besides Allah if you are truthful—2.23Q. Say: If men and Jinn should combine together to bring the like of this Quran, they cannot bring the like of it, though some of them help others. And certainly We have made distinct for men every kind of description but majority of men do not consent but denying—2:88Q. As the Quran was revealed, no credit is given therefore to the Prophet, but the fact remains that this book is second to none in the world according to the unanimous decision of the learned men in points of diction, style, rhetoric, thoughts and soundness of laws and regulations to shape the destinies of mankind. It is an epitome in itself. It is an universal book like the vast page of Nature. Worlds of nature are subject to laws. Nature is mute and does not explain the reason of such laws, while the Quran explains them and says that there is one God who is regulating the government of this universe with these laws with an object in view. The Quran is a perfect code of a human life. It is a Divine Light that dissipates darkness from all around. Man-made lights are insufficient to remove the all-pervading darkness and hence man-made laws are insufficent as a panacea for all problems of the world. By the divine Light of the Quran, all darkness is removed from the soil of mind just as by the sun all darkness of the universe is removed. It is therefore a solution of the world problems both temporal spiritural, and is thus an Universal Book for the guidance of mankind.

Mecca chapters in order of revelation: 96, 73, 74, 68, 1, 111, 81, 87, 92, 89, 93, 94, 103, 100, 108, 102, 107, 109, 105, 113, 114, 112, 53, 80, 97, 91, 85, 95, 106, 101, 75, 104, 77, 50, 90, 86, 54, 38, 7, 72, 36, 25, 35, 19, 20, 56, 26, 27, 28, 17, 10, 11, 12, 15, 6, 37, 31, 34, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 51, 88, 18, 16, 71, 14, 21, 23, 32, 52, 67, 69, 70, 78, 79, 82, 84, 30, 29, 83.

(d) Merits of the Quran-reading. The merits and rewards of the Quran reading are great. They vary according to the degree of attention and understanding that are applied to its reading. The object of reading is to remember Allah, to glorify Him, to remember His orders and prohibitions and to take lessons. It removes rust on soul just as bath removes dust on body. (37:382w). As constant watering and cultivation are necessary to make a ground soft and fit for the growth of crops, so constant intelligent reading is required to make the mind soft and to make it endowed with virtues and divine attributes. The greatest merit in the Quran-reading consists of its reading in prayer (37:580w) as by reading one letter in prayer, 25 merits are obtained; while by reading it outside prayer, ten merits are obtained. The Prophet said that the best man is he who has learnt the Quran and teaches it (37:1) and that there is envy for one whom Allah has given the Quran and who stands up by it (37 : 5). The angles also attend to the morning-reading of the Quran : 'And the morning Quran-reading is witnessed—17 :78Q'. That is corroborated by the traditions 8 and 9 of this section. The Quran will stand as an intercessor on the Resurrection Day—37:13. For one letter like Alif, there are at least ten rewards increasing many times. A true Hafez following the instructions of the Quran will intercede with success for ten persons out of his friends—37:31. Some other rewards have deen recorded in tradition 37:599w. To learn the Quran so far as it is necessary for daily prayers is compulsory and to commit it to memory is Farze Kefayah. Let it be, however, remembered that the Quran will be an opponent of one who reads it with an absent mind or careless fashion.

(e) Rules to be observed in Quran-reading.

(i) There are external and internal manners and rules which must be observed by every Quran reader. The following are the external rules : -

(1) He shall perform ablution and take bath if necessary. The Quran lays down : None shall touch the Quran except those who are pure—56:79Q.

(2) He shall sit facing the Holy Ka'ba.

(3) He shall read the Quran with a reverential attitude and shall not hold any talk or eat at the time of reading.

(4) He shall read slowly, distinctly and intelligently with his mind fixed always on meanings.

(5) He shall feign to weep at the time of reading the descriptions of punishment if tears do not come out.

(6) He shall start reading by reciting : I seek refuge to Thee from the accursed devil. In the name of Allah, the Most Merciful, the Most Compassionate.

(7) All others who are near the reader should simply hear his reading as the rewards of the hearers and the readers are equal. The Quran says : When the Quran is read, remain silent that you may be shown mercy (56 : 78Q).

(8) He shall read with a sweet and melodious voice.

(9) After the the end of the Quran-reading, the Opening chapter and the beginning of the Cow up to Muflehun shall be read.

(10) The Quran shall be finished at best within one year and at least within seven days. To go beyond this limit is abominable.

(ii) The following are the internal rules of Quran-reading:

(1) He shall read the Quran with a firm belief that it is the Word of God and that God is speaking with him and that an absent mind will be surely punished.

(2) He shall give much more attention to meanings than to the words uttered. The grasping of the inner meanings depends however on the degree of the purity of soul and mind. In other words, the pious and not necessarily the intelligent can truly understand the inner meanings. An educated man can understand the word 'fire' but a man with pure soul can know the real thing which is expressed by the word 'fire'. The pious catch the real thing while the learned catch only the names by which the things are made known to the outer world. If a man does not understand the reason of a verse of the Quran, he must believe in it. An ox does not know the reason of cultivation. It is only man who knows it. Likewise a man may not understand a Quranic verse, but still he should believe in its truth.

(3) He shall change the attitude of his mind according to the nature of the verses he reads. In case of the descriptions of punishment, he shall take a fearful attitude; and in case of the descriptions of Paradise a countenance of joy. Allah gives a hint in this verse: Had We revealed this Quran upon a mountain, you would have certainly seen it fearful, prostrated out of fear of Allah—59:20Q.

Then he remained silent and the horse also kept quiet. Again he read and the horse jumped up. Then he remained silent and the horse also kept quite. Again he read and the horse jumped up. Then he finished while his son Yahya was near it He feared lest it might attack him. When he detained it, he raised up his head towards heaven when lo! there was a canopy wherein there were as it were lights. When it was dawn, the Holy Prophet was informed and he said: Read, O son of Huzair? Read, O son of Huzair? He said: O Apostle of Allah! I fear lest it may tread upon Yahya who is near it. I went to him and raised up my head towards the heaven when lo! there was something like a canopy wherein there were as it were lights. I came out till I did not see it. He asked: And do you know what it is? He replied "No". He said: Those were the angels who came near to hear your voice. Had you read, they would have remained till

Then he said: shall I not teach you the most meritorious chapter of the Quran before you go out of the mosque? He took hold of my hand. Whenwe wished to come out, I said: O Apostle of Allah! you have said that you would teach me the most meritorious chapter of the Quran. He said: All praise is due to Allah, the Lord of the worlds, that is the seven

51a. Leainng against the Quran means to be careless in reading or to read with an absent mind.

The Quran has been revealed upon seven dialects. 2251b For every verse therein, there is an inner and an outer side ; and for every end, there is study.

2252. The Collection of the Quran

[see note 2232(b)]

74.Omar b-al Khattab reported: I heard Hisham-b-Hakim-b-Hezam reading the chapter Distinction (25Q) other than what I read it and what the Apostle of Allah read it over to me. I was about to hasten (attack) on him, but then I gave him time till he finished. Then I tied him with his cloth and came with him to the Apostle of Allah. I said : O Apostle of Allah ! I heard him reading the chapter Distinction other than what you read over to me. The Apostle of Allah said : Send him to read. Then he read as I had heard him read. The Prophet said : Thus it has been revealed. Then he asked me : Read. I read. He said : Thus it has been revealed : Verily this Quran has been revealed upon seven dialects. 2253 So read what appears easy therefrom.

عن عمر بن الخطاب قال سمعت هشام بن حكيم بن حزام يقرأ سورة الفرقان على غير ما اقرأها وكان رسول الله صلعم اقرانيها فكدت ان اعجل عليه ثم امهلته حتى انصرف ثم لببته برادئه فجئت به رسول الله صلعم فقلت يارسول الله اني سمعت هذا يقرأ سورة الفرقان على غير ما اقرأتنيها فقال رسول الله صلعم ارسله اقرأ فقرأ القراءة التي سمعته يقرأ فقال رسول الله صلعم هكذا انزلت ثم قال لي اقرأ فقرأت فقال هكذا انزلت ان هذا القران انزل على سبعة احرف فاقرءوا ما تيسر منه *

2251b. Express things are such as are intelligible to all, and secret things are such as only the true servants of Allah can understand and not the ordinary Muslims. The last sentence signifies that if a reader finishes a chapter, he must not stop until he reads some verses of the following chapter thus preserving a spirit of continuity.

75. Ibn Mas'ud reported: I heard a man reading (the Quran) and I heard the Prophet read it in a different way. I came with him to the Prophet and informed him. I noticed disgust upon his face. He said: Both of you are correct. Don't differ, and verily those who were before you differed and so they were destroyed.

—Bukhari.

76. Obai-b-Ka'ab reported: I was in the mosque and a man entered to pray and he read a reading which I disliked. Another got in and read a reading ther than that of his companion. When we finished the prayer, we went in a body to the Prophet. I said: This man read a reading which I disliked. Another man came and read a reading other than that of his companion. The Prophet ordered them both and so they read. He approaved their affairs. Disbelief then fell into my mind and not such when I was in the Days of Ignorance. When the Prophet saw what troubled me, he hit my chest and then I was perspiring and I was as it were looking towards Allah with a faint heart. He addressed me: O Obai! I was given to read the Quran over one dialect. I returned to Him to say: Make it easy for my followers. It was then returned to me for the second time saying. Read (it) with two dialects.

عَنْ أُبَيِّ بْنِ كَعْبٍ قَالَ كُنْتُ فِي الْمَسْجِدِ فَدَخَلَ رَجُلٌ يُصَلِّي فَقَرَأَ قِرَاءَةً أَنْكَرْتُهَا عَلَيْهِ ثُمَّ دَخَلَ آخَرُ فَقَرَأَ قِرَاءَةً سِوَى قِرَاءَةِ صَاحِبِهِ فَلَمَّا قَضَيْنَا الصَّلٰوةَ دَخَلْنَا جَمِيعًا عَلَى رَسُولِ اللّٰهِ صلعم فَقُلْتُ إِنَّ هٰذَا قَرَأَ قِرَاءَةً أَنْكَرْتُهَا عَلَيْهِ وَدَخَلَ آخَرُ فَقَرَأَ سِوَى قِرَاءَةِ صَاحِبِهِ فَأَمَرَهُمَا النَّبِيُّ صلعم فَقَرَأَا فَحَسَّنَ شَأْنَهُمَا فَسَقَطَ فِي نَفْسِي مِنَ التَّكْذِيبِ وَلَا إِذْ كُنْتُ فِي الْجَاهِلِيَّةِ فَلَمَّا رَأَى رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَا قَدْ غَشِيَنِي ضَرَبَ فِي صَدْرِي فَفِضْتُ عَرَقًا فَكَأَنَّمَا أَنْظُرُ إِلَى اللّٰهِ فَرَقًا فَقَالَ لِي يَا أُبَيُّ أُرْسِلَ إِلَيَّ أَنِ اقْرَإِ الْقُرْآنَ عَلَى حَرْفٍ فَرَدَدْتُ إِلَيْهِ أَنْ هَوِّنْ عَلَى أُمَّتِي فَرُدَّ إِلَيَّ الثَّانِيَةَ اقْرَإْهُ عَلَى حَرْفَيْنِ فَرَدَدْتُ

I returned to Him to say : Make it easy for my followers. It was then returned to me for the third time : Read it with seven dialects, and there is a seeking for you for every time that I sent you back, which you should seek from Me. I said : O Allah ! forgive my followers. O Allah ! forgive my followers. I made delay for the third for a day on which the entire creation will turn to me, including even Abraham (peace he on him).

—Muslim.

77. Ibn Abbas reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Gabriel read over(the Quran) to me in one dialect. I returned to Him and continued to seek for more from Him till it reached seven dialects. Ibn Shihab said: It reached me that as for those seven dialects, they are the (same) affair. They don't differ in lawful and unlawful things. —Agreed.

78. Obay-b-Ka'ab reported that the Apostle of Allah met Gabriel and asked : O Gabriel ! I have been raised up among an illiterate people amongst whom there are the weak, the old, the boys, the girls and men who did not read any book. He said : O Muhammad ! verily the Quran has been revealed upon seven dialects. Tirimzi narrated it. And in a narration reported by Ahmad and Abu Daud : He said : There is but

Gabriel said: Read the Quran upon one dialect. Michael said: 'Increase it'—till he reached up to seven dialects. And every dialect is a sufficient cure. [2253]

عَنْ عِمْرَانَ بْنِ حُصَيْنٍ أَنَّهُ مَرَّ عَلَى قَاصٍ يَقْرَأُ ثُمَّ يَسْأَلُ فَاسْتَرْجَعَ ثُمَّ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللهِ صلعم يَقُولُ مَنْ قَرَأَ الْقُرْآنَ فَلْيَسْأَلِ اللهَ بِهِ فَإِنَّهُ سَيَجِيءُ أَقْوَامٌ يَقْرَءُونَ الْقُرْآنَ يَسْأَلُونَ بِهِ النَّاسَ * (أَحْمَدُ وَالتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

79. Imran-b-Hussain reported that he passed by a story-teller who was reading and then begging alms. He recited Istirja'a and then said: I heard the Apostle of Allah say: Whoso reads the Quran, let him therewith beseech Allah. Verily there will soon appear peoples who will read the Quran to beg therewith of men. —Ahmad, Tirmizi

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللهِ لَا يَعْرِفُ فَصْلَ السُّورَةِ حَتَّى يَنْزِلَ عَلَيْهِ بِسْمِ اللهِ الرَّحْمٰنِ الرَّحِيمِ * (أَبُوْدَاوُدَ)

80. Ibn Abbas reported that the Apostle of Allah was not aware of the distinct character of a chapter till there came the revelation to him: 'In the [2254] name of Allah, the Most Compassionate, the Most Merciful'. —Abu Dzud.

2253. This hadis has been the subject of nearly forty interpretations and many brains were agitated to find out its true meaning. The majority hold, however, that these seven dialects are not seven different tongues but differences in the manner of reading and pronouncing certain words. For example, at the end of the first chapter (ضالين) is sometimes pronounced as Zwallin and sometimes as Dwallin. In this way, there are seven different pronunciations or readings according to different consonants. This was due to different readings of the same Arabic language among the various tribes of Arabia but the reading of the Quraish was the most chaste among them. To be still more clear, let us take further examples. 'Hatta' is pronounced by some tribes as 'Atta', Qul as Gul, Yasin as Asin etc. Elaborate discussions will be found in the Introduction to Maulana Md. Ali's translation of the Holy Quran.

2254. There was no sign of separation of the chapters in the Quran. When Bismillah was revealed, they were made separate by it.

81. Alqamah reported: We were at Hems. Ibn Mas'ud read the chapter Joseph (12Q). A man said: It was not thus revealed. Abdullah said: By Allah, I certainly read it during the Apostle of Allah. He said: You have done good! While he was talking with him lo! he perceived a smell of wine from him. He asked: Do you drink wine and falsify the Book? Afterwards he executed the ordained sentence on him.

82. Zaid-b-Sabet reported: Abu Bakr sent to me (a man) after the martyrdom of the warriors of Yamamah, when lo! Omer-b-al Khattab was near him. Abu Bakr said: Verily Omar came to me. He said: Martyrdoms are very frequent in the battle of Yamamah among those who committed the Quran to memory, and certainly I fear that if there is increase of martyrdoms among the readers of the Quran in different places, many things of the Quran will be lost, and verily I consider it (proper) that you should pass order for collection of the Quran. I said to Omar: How shall we do a thing which the Apostle of Allah did not do? Omar said: By Allah, this is good. Omar did not cease to repeat (it) to me, till Allah opened my breast for that, and I considered (proper) what Omar had considered. Zaid reported that Abu Bakr had said : Verily you are a wise young man. I must not disbelieve you as you used to write down the revelations for the Apostle of Allah. So search for the Quran and collect it. By Allah, if you had put me to the task of taking away a mountain from the mountains, it would not have been heavier to me than what you have ordered me for the collection of the Quran. I said : How shall you do a thing which the Apostle of Allah did not do ? He said : By Allah, this is good. Abu Bakr did uot cease to repeat (it) to me till Allah opened my breast for what He had opened the chests of Abu Bakr and Omar. Then I searched for the Quran collecting it from the date palms, white stones and breasts of men till I found out the last portion of the chapter 'Repentance (9 : 128-129Q)' with Abu Huzaimah al-Ansari. I did not find it with anyone besides him : 'Certainly, an apostle has come to you from among yourselves, till the end of The Immunity—9Q.' This compilation was with Abu Bakr till Allah took away his soul ; afterwards it was with Omar while he was alive and then it was with Hafsah, daughter of Omar. [2255] —Bukhari

83. Anas-b-Malek reported: Huzaifah-b-Yaman came to Osman while he was engaged in a fight with the Syrians for the conquest of Armenia and Azerbaijan along with the people of Iraq. Their difference in the Quran-reading frightened Huzaifah. Huzaifah said to Osman: O Commander of the Faithful! overtake this people before they differ about the Book like the difference of the Jews and the Christians. Then Osman sent for Hafsah saying: Send the compilation to us that we may copy it in to several compilations, and we shall thereafter return it to you. So Hafsah sent it to Osman. He ordered Zaid-b-Sabet, Abdullah b-Zubair, Sayeed-b-A's and Abdullah b-Hares-b-Hisham. They copied it into several scripts. Osman said to the party of the three Quraishites: When you and Zaid b-Sabet differ in anything of the Quran, write it in the dialect of the Quraish, because it was revealed in their dialect. They did accordingly till when they copied the compilation in to several scripts, Osman returned the compilation to Hafsah. He sent one copy out of what they had copied to every country, and passed order regarding what is besides it out of every compilation or script of the Quran to be burnt.

Ibn Shihab said: Kharejah-b-Zaid-b-Sabet informed me that he had heard Zaid-b Sabet say: I missed a verse from the Allies (33Q) at the time when we copied the compilation. I used to hear the Apostle of Allah read it. We searched it and found it with Khuzaimah-b-Sabet al Ansari:' 'Among the believers, there are men who are true to the covenant which they made with Allah (33 : 23Q).' So we introduced it in its chapter in the script. —Bukhari.

84. Ibn Abbas reported: I asked Osman: What has led you to incline towards 'The Booty 8Q' and that is from Masani, and towards 'The Immunity (6Q)' and that is from Meyin, and that you joined together, and that you did not write the line 'In the name of Allah, the Most Compassionate, the Most Merciful' and placed it within the seven long (chapters)? What has led you to that? Osman replied: The Apostle of Allah flourished at a time when numerous chapters were revealed to him. Whenever anything was revealed to him, he used to call those who used to write. He used to say: Place these verses in the chapter in which there is mention of such and such (verse). Whenever a verse was revealed to him, he used to say: Place this verse in the chapter in which there is mention of such and such. 'The Booties' was among the earlier chapters revealed at Medina, and 'The Immunity' was among the latter chapters of the Quran that were revealed, and its narration is similar to the narration of the latter. Then the Prophet died but he did not mention whether it belonged to it. On account of this, I joined them together and did not write the line "In the name of Allah, the Most Compassionate, the Most Merciful," and I placed it among the seven long chapters. —Ahmad, Tirmizi, Abu Daud.

الاية فى السورة التى يذكر فيها كذا وكذا وكانت الانفال من اوائل ما نزلت بالمدينة وكانت براءة من اخر القران نزولا وكانت قصتها شبيهة بقصتها فقبض رسول الله صلعم ولم يبين لنا انها منها فمن اجل ذلك قرنت بينهما ولم اكتب سطر بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم ووضعتها فى السبع الطول *

CHAPTER XXXVIII

SECTION I

2255. Invocations (الدعوات)

(a) Merits of invocation. The Holy Prophet said: Invocation is the marrow of divine service-38:9. Allah likes to be inplored and beseeched—14: 38 He who invokes will find the doors of mercy open for him-38:15. In invocation, there are com plete surrender and recognition ofone's own utter helplessness on the one hand and power in One, the Creator of heavens and earth. Wheu these things are fully recognised, the object of divine service is attainəd and hence is the importance of invocations. The Quran says: will you invoke others besides Allah, if you are truthful? Nay, Him you shall invoke that He may clear that for which you pray—6:40, Q. The Prophet said: Allah does not generally return a hand empty when it is raised up to heaven with an invocation—30: 19, 20.

Some contend that as there itis pre-destination of everything, no amount of invocation can revoke it and hence it is useless to invoke. predstination does not mean what it is popularly understood (see not 1542). The Almighty Allah says: When My servant asks you about Me, then certainly I am very near. I respond to the invocation of an invoker when he calls Me, so let them invoke Me and put faith in Me thatthey may find the right way-2: 186Q. Therefore when this has been the order for invocation from Divine knowledge, men should have no scruple to have recourse to invocations. The Prophet said: Nothing but invocation repels pre-destination - 38:11.

(b) Opportune moments for invocations. The following are the opportune moments for acceptance of invocations by the Almighty Allah; so these moments should not be neglected or lost without some sort of invocation:

(1) At the end of each obligatory prayer, (2) on Friday, (3) in the morning, (4) in the latter half of night, (5) in the month of Ramazan, (6) on the day of Arafat, (7) at the time of breaking fast, and (8 between Azan and Aqamat-34: 93.

(c) Invocations are accepted. Invocations as they are offered are generally accepted, and the hands raised up towards God in humble submission are not generally returned empty (38:20). The invocations of the following persons are granted without doubt:— The invocation of (1) an absentee for a man who is absent, (2) a fasting man, (3) one oppressed against his oppressor, (4) a just ruler, (5) parents for their children, (6) a traveller, (7) a pilgrim in the course of his journey, (8) a warrior fighting in the way of Allah, (9) one who is ill, (10) one who is overwhelmed with sorrow and grief—38:6, 18, 23 28, 26, 607w5, 34:94; 26:89. Invocations are not accepted from a person whose flesh has grown out of unlawful things and earnings, and from a person who seeks to commit sins therewith or to gain unlawful things, and from a person who is tired of invocations without response—38:5

(d) Rules of invocations. In beseeching Allah for anything, the following rules should be observed by a Muslim: (1) He shall invoke in opportune moments. (2) He shall raise up both of his hands confronting his face. (3) He shall invoke with sure conviction that it will be granted. (4) He shall invoke with a full attentive mind with absolute surrender to the Almighty for His help. (5) He shall repeatedly invoke like a boy before his father. (6) He shall seek forgiveness of God before invocation and read Tasbih, Tahlil, Tahmid and Salat.

(e) Some forms of invocation in the Quran :

'O our Lord ! grant us good in this world and good in the hereafter and save us from the chastisement of the fire'—2:201Q.

'O our Lord ! pour down patience upon us, and make our steps firm and assist us against the unbelieving people'—2:250Q.

'O our Lord ! do not overtake us if we forget and make mistakes. O our Lord ! do not lay on us a burden as Thou didst lay on those before us. O our Lord ! do not impose upon us that which we have not the strength to bear, and pardon us and grant us protection, and have mercy on us. Thou art our Master. So help us against the unbelieving people'—2:286Q.

'O our Lord ! we have been unjust to our souls. If Thou shouldst not forgive us, and have mercy on us, we shall certainly be of the losers—7:23Q.

Afterwards he said: Of these invocations, the most speedy in response is the invocation of a brother on the back of absence. —Baihaqi

2259. Remembrance of Allah (ذكرالله)

(a) Zikr of Allah. To remember Allah and His attributes is the object of all divine services. It is greater than all other divine services and is testified by the following verse: Verily prayer removes indecencies and unlawful things, and remembrance of Allah is greatest (29:45Q). The object of prayer is to remember Allah. The Quran says: Keep up prayer for My remembrance (Q). The object of the Quran-reading is to remember Allah after calling to mind His power and prowess, His glorifications and praise ete. The object of fasting is to make the body fit to remember Allah by curbing the rising passions. The object of pilgrimage is to remember Allah after coming to His symbolic house and the great assemblage of men before the Almighty. In short, Zikr of Allah is the object and it is obtained through various modes of worships, such as Prayer, Fasting, Haj, Zakat, Invocations, seeking Refuge etc.

(b) Direction and Excellence of Zikr. The Quran in many verses directs the people to remember Him. It says : Remember Me, and I shall remember you, and be thankful to Me and be not ungrateful 2:152Q. Remember Allah much that you may attain salvation — 62:10Q. Allah has praised those who remember Allah standing and sitting and lying on their sides and reflect on the creation— 2:190Q. There are traditions in this section which will go to show the excellence of those who remember Allah. Only one is here quoted. The Prophet asked his companions : Shall I not inform you of the best of your actions, and the purest of them near your Master, and the highest of them in your ranks, and the more efficacious for you than the expense ofgold and silver ? He said : Zikr of Allah—38:38. A remembering tongue is the best property—38:45. Allah is with one who remembers Him—38 : 51. Remembrance of Allah is a secret key to open the doors of Allah's mercy, and such a man is like one who is living among the dead.

(c) Modes of Zikr. Besides the modes of Zikr through the compulsory duties like Prayer, Fasting, Haj, Zakat and Quran-reading, there are other modes, such as Tasbih, Takbir, Tahlil, Tahmid, Taqdis, Istigfar, Taubah, Dowa and Tauhid. The Tauhid (لا اله الا الله) is the greatest formula of Zikr. Its value is greater than all other formulas. Secondly, Zikr should be made silently and submissively The Quran says : And remember your Lord within yourself submissively and fearing and in a voice not loud, in the morning and in the evening and be not of the heedless ones —7:205Q. It appears therefore that Zikr Khafi (silent Zikr) is better than Zikr Jali (loud Zikr).

(d) Stages of remembrance. There are four stages of remembering God in order of merit : (1) The first stage is that of a beginner. He moves his tongue with Zikr of Allah with an absent mind. He is still better, because the tongue which would have been otherwise occupied in frivolous talk is restrained from that. (2) The second stage is a little higher in rank-Such a man moves his tongue with Zikr sometimes with an attentive mind and sometimes with an absent mind. (3) The third stage is higher than the second. Such a pious man has got his mind and tongue always engaged in the Zikr of Allah, Tasbih, Tahlil etc. The Quran says of such persons : Those only are believers whose hearts become full of fear when Allah is mentioned and His communications are recited to them—8:2Q.

(4) The fourth is the highest stage. In this case, the Object of love (Allah) is seated in the throne of the mind of a pious divine. Nothing can gain excess to it. At that time, his words and ideas are drowned in the all-pervading Allah. He himself loses his ego and merges in to the Universal Self. Every other thing in the world is then drowned in the sea of forgetfulness. At that time, his hands become the hands of Allah with which he catches, his tongue becomes the tongue of Allah with which he talks and his legs become the legs of Allah with which he walks. Then he begins to see wonderful things and speak unseen things of the future. That is Fana Fillah and Baqa Billah. That is the soul that is at rest (Nafsul-Mutmainnah). Of such a soul, the Quran says: Those who believe and whose hearts are set at rest by the remembrance of Allah. Behold! by Allah's remembrance are the hearts set at rest—13:28Q.

30. Abu Hurairah and Abu Sayeed reported that the Apostle of Allah said: No people keep sitting by remembering Allah but the angels surround them, blessing encompasses them, peace descends on them and Allah speaks of them to those near Him. —Muslim

عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ وَأَبِي سَعِيدٍ قَالَا قَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم لَا يَقْعُدُ قَوْمٌ يَذْكُرُونَ اللهَ إِلَّا حَفَّتْهُمُ الْمَلَائِكَةُ وَغَشِيَتْهُمُ الرَّحْمَةُ وَنَزَلَتْ عَلَيْهِمُ السَّكِينَةُ وَذَكَرَهُمُ اللهُ فِيمَنْ عِنْدَهُ (مُسْلِم)

31. Abu Hurairah reported: The Apostle of Allah was walking on a road at Mecca. He passed by a mount called Jumdan. He said: Travel this Jumdan. 2260 Those who were

عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم يَسِيرُ فِي طَرِيقِ مَكَّةَ فَمَرَّ عَلَى جَبَلٍ يُقَالُ لَهُ جُمْدَانُ فَقَالَ سِيرُوا هَذَا

2260. Jumdan is a hill only one station off from Medina. When the Prophet reached this hill from Mecca, some persons became separate from him and proceeded to Medina in advance. Those persons have been termed here as 'Mufarrequn'. On being asked, the Prophet said that those were truly the isolated ones who went in advance for remembering Allah.

عن ابي موسى قال قال رسول اللهصلعم

الحي والميت * (متفق عليه)

32. Abu Musa reported that the Apostle of Allah said: The parable of one who remembers his Lord and one who does not remember, is as the parable of one alive and one dead [2261]

—Agreed

عن ابي هريرة قال قال رسول الله
صلعم يقول الله تعالى انا عند ظن عبدي
بي وانا معه اذا ذكرني فان ذكرني
في نفسه ذكرته في نفسي وان ذكرني
في ملاء ذكرته في ملاء خير منهم *
(متفق عليه)

33. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: The Almighty Allah says: I am near My servant when he thinks of Me and I am with him when he remembers Me. If he remembers Me within himself, I remember him within Myself; and if he remembers Me in an assembly, I remember him is an assembly better than theirs.

—Agreed

عن ابي ذر قال قال رسول الله
صلعم يقول الله تعالى من جاء بالحسنة
فله عشر امثالها وازيد ومن جاء بالسيئة
فجزاء سيئة سيئة مثلها او اغفر ومن تقرب
مني شبرا تقربت منه ذراعا ومن تقرب

34. Abu Zarr reported that the Apostle of Allah said: The Almighty Allah says: Whoso does a good deed, there is (reward) for him ten times like it and I add more; and whoso does an evil, the reward of an evil is an evil like it or I forgive; and whoso makes approach to Me of one span, I make approach to him of one cubit; and whoso makes approach to Me of one cubit, I make approach to him

2261. This refers to heart which becomes dead when no spiritual food is supplied to it. It cannot grow and thrive and give out better thoughts and ideas.

of one fathom, and whoso comes to Me walking, I come to him running; and whoso meets Me with an earth full of sins without setting up anything with Me, I come to him with forgiveness like that.

—Muslim

35. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Verily the Almighty Allah said: Whoso illtreats a friend of Mine, I indeed give him punishment with anencounter, and no servant of Mine can seek nearness to Me with a thing better than what I have made obligatory upon him; and no servant of Mine continues to seek nearness to Me with optional prayers until I love him. When I love him, I become his ear with which he hears, and his eye with which he sees, and his hand with which he holds, and his leg with which he walks, and if he begs of Me, I must give him, [2262] and if he seeks refuge to Me, I give him refuge. I have no greater hesitation for anything I do than My hesitation to take away the life of a believer who dislikes death; then I dislike his dislike but there is no escape from it.

36. Same reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Verily there are angles for Allah who roam about in the high ways in search of those who remember Allah. When they find a people remember Allah, they proclaim: Come to your needs. They surround them with their wings in the lowest heaven and then their Lord asks them with full knowledege bout them: What does My servants say? They say: They read Thy Tasbih, Thy Takbir and Thy Tahmid and Thy Tamjid. He says: Have they seen Me? They say: No, by Allah, they have not seen Thee. He says: How (will it be) if they see Me? They say: If they see Thee, they will become more devoted to Thy service and more devoted to Thy greatness and more devoted to Thy glorification. He says: For what do they implore? They say: They implore Thee for Paradise. He says: Have they seen it? They reply: No, O Lord, by Allah they have not seen it. He says: How (will it be) if they see it? They reply: If they see it, they will desire it more and seek it more and cherish more hope for it. He asks: From what do they take refuge? They say: From the fire. He asks: Have they seen it? They reply: No, O Lord, by Allah they have not seen it. He asks: How (will it be) if they see it? They reply: If they see it, they will hasten more in fleeing away from it and being fearful of it. He says: I bear witness to you that I have just pardoned them. An angel out of the angels says: Among them there is a man who does not belong to them. Verily he has come with a want. He says: They are friends. So their friend will will not be unfortunate. Bukhari narrated it.

In a narration of Muslim : He said: Verily there are angels for Allah who constantly roam in search of the assemblies of Zikr. When they find an assembly wherein there is Zikr, they sit with them and some of them surround others with their wings till they fill up what is between them and the nearest heaven. When they become separate, they ascend and climb up towards the heaven. Then Allah asks them while He is fully aware of their conditions: Whence have you come? They reply: We have come from near Thy servants on the earth who recite Thy Tasbih, and Thy Takbir and Thy Tahlil and Thy Tamjid and they are imploring from Thee. He asks: What are they imploring from Me? They say: They implore Thee for Thy Paradise. He asks:

Have they seen My Paradise? They reply: No, O Lord. He asks: How (will it be) if they see My Paradise? They say: They seek Thy protection. He asks: From which thing do they seek My protection? They reply: From Thy fire. He asks: Have they seen My fire? They reply: No. He asks: How (will it be) if they see My fire? They reply: They seek Thy forgiveness. He says: I have pardoned them, add I granted them what they asked, and I have given protection of what they sought protection. They say: O Lord! there is among them a man who is a great sinner. He was passing by when he sat with them. He says: And to him also I have extended My pardon. They are a people whose friend cannot be unfortunate.

37. Hanzalah-b-Rubai al-Osaidi reported: Abu Bakr met me and asked: O Hanzalah! how are you? I replied: Hanzalah is a hypocrite. He said: Glory be to Allah from what you speak. I said: We remain in presence of the Apostle of Allah who reminds us of the Fire and Paradise, as if we see them with our own eyes. When we come out from near the presence of the Apostle of Allah and mix with wives, children and properties,

I said : O Apostle of Allah ! we remain in your presence, while you remind us of the Fire and Paradise, as if we actually see (them) ; but when we go out of your presence and mix with wives, children and properties, we forget many things. The Apostle of Allah said : By One in whose hand there is my life, were you to remain for all the time as you remain in my presence and in the remembrance (of Allah), the angels would have certainly handshaked with you upon your beds and in your paths. The Prophet came out to a group of his companions and said : What has made you sit here ? They said : We have sat to remember Allah and and to praise Him according as He guided us to Islam and favoured us therewith. He said : By Allah, nothing but that thing has made you sit. Of these names, the word 'Allah' may be called His proper name and the others are His attributive names. The most important of His names are Allah, Rahman, Rahim and Gafur. There is difference of opinion regarding the greatest name of Allah among the jurists. According to them, it is one of the following: (1) الرحمن الرحيم العظيم * (2) بسم الله (3) الحي القيوم (4) مالك الملك (5) لااله الا الله الله الذي لا اله الا هو رب العرش

It has also been said that Ism Azam is that name of Allah which appears to an individual most appealling to move towards God. The latter seems to be in consonance with reason.

(b) Significance of the recitation of Allah's names. The Quran enjoins on us to recite the names of Allah in the following verse: Allah has got the best names; therefore invoke Him therewith and leave alone those who violate the sanctity of His names—7:180Q. This does not mean that these names shall be counted on a rosary which the Prophet never did, but the real significance is that these attributes contained in the names shall be followed by men. To this effect, the Prophet said: Imbue thyself with divine attributes. These names set up the ideal which we shall try to attain. For example, Allah is Rahman (the Most Compassionate) In showing mercy, He does not distinguish. He sends rain, sun-shine and other benefits of nature equally on all. Similar should be our mercy with all of His creatures. Such is the case with all other attributes. If we can attain to this great ideal, we shall reach perfection in the true sense of the term.

52. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Verily there are 99 names (one hundred but one) for Allah. Whoso counts them will enter Paradise. And in a narration: And He is odd and loves odd. —Agreed

عَنْ اَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِنَّ لِلّٰهِ تَعَالٰى تِسْعَةً وَّتِسْعِيْنَ اِسْمًا مِائَةً اِلَّا وَاحِدَةً مَنْ اَحْصَاهَا دَخَلَ الْجَنَّةَ وَفِيْ رِوَايَةٍ وَهُوَ وِتْرٌ يُحِبُّ الْوِتْرَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

54. Boraidah reported that the Apostle of Allah heard a man say: "O Allah! verily I beseech Thee as Thou art Allah. There is no deity but Thou, the One, Free from want, One who begets not, nor was begotten, and there is no equal like Him". He said: He has beseeched Allah with His greatest name. If He is implored with it, He gives; and if He is invoked with it, He responds. —Tirmizi, Abu Daud

عَنْ بُرَيْدَةَ اَنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم سَمِعَ رَجُلًا يَقُوْلُ اَللّٰهُمَّ اِنِّيْ اَسْاَلُكَ بِاَنَّكَ اَنْتَ اللّٰهُ لَا اِلٰهَ اِلَّا اَنْتَ الْاَحَدُ الصَّمَدُ الَّذِيْ لَمْ يَلِدْ وَلَمْ يُوْلَدْ وَلَمْ يَكُنْ لَّهٗ كُفُوًا اَحَدٌ فَقَالَ دَعَا اللّٰهَ بِاسْمِهِ الْاَعْظَمِ الَّذِيْ اِذَا سُئِلَ بِهٖ اَعْطٰى وَاِذَا دُعِيَ بِهٖ اَجَابَ * (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَاَبُوْدَاوٗدَ)

55. Anas reported: I was sitting with the Prophet within the mosque while a man was praying. He said: O Allah! verily I beseech Thee, for Thee is all praise, there is no deity but Thou, the Benign, the Bountiful, the Originator of heavens and earth; O One possessing glory and honour; O Ever-living, O Ever-subsisting; I beseech Thee. The Prophet said:

عَنْ اَنَسٍ قَالَ كُنْتُ جَالِسًا مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صلعم فِي الْمَسْجِدِ وَرَجُلٌ يُصَلِّيْ فَقَالَ اَللّٰهُمَّ اِنِّيْ اَسْاَلُكَ بِاَنَّ لَكَ الْحَمْدُ لَا اِلٰهَ اِلَّا اَنْتَ الْحَنَّانُ الْمَنَّانُ بَدِيْعُ السَّمٰوٰتِ وَالْاَرْضِ يَا ذَا الْجَلَالِ وَالْاِكْرَامِ يَا حَيُّ يَا قَيُّوْمُ اَسْاَلُكَ فَقَالَ النَّبِيُّ

صلعم دَعَا اللّٰهَ بِاسْمِهِ الْاَعْظَمِ الَّذِي اِذَا دُعِيَ بِهِ اَجَابَ وَاِذَا سُئِلَ بِهِ اَعْطٰى *
(اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَاَبُوْدَاوُد وَالنَّسَائِيُّ وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

He invoked Allah with His greatest name—that wherewith if He is called, He responds; and wherewith if He is beseeched, He gives.—Tirmizi, Abu Daud, Nisai, Ibn Majah

عَنْ اَسْمَاءَ بِنْتِ يَزِيْدَ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم قَالَ اِسْمُ اللّٰهِ الْاَعْظَمُ فِي هَاتَيْنِ الْاٰيَتَيْنِ وَاِلٰهُكُمْ اِلٰهٌ وَّاحِدٌ لَآ اِلٰهَ اِلَّا هُوَ الرَّحْمٰنُ الرَّحِيْمُ وَفَاتِحَةُ اٰلِ عِمْرَانَ الٓمّٓ اللّٰهُ لَآ اِلٰهَ اِلَّا هُوَ الْحَيُّ الْقَيُّوْمُ * (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَاَبُوْدَاوُد وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ وَالدَّارِمِيُّ)

Asma'-bint-Yezid reported that the Apostle of Allah said: The name of Allah is greatest in these two verses: "And your Lord is one God; there is no deity but He; the Most Compassionate, the Most Merciful"; and in the opening of the Family of Imran—"Alif, Lam, Mim; He is Allah; there is no deity but He, the Ever-living, the Ever-Subsisting"[2265] —Tirmizi Abu Daud, Ibn Majah, Darimi

Sa'ad reported: The Apostle of Allah said: The invocation of Zun-Nun,[2265a] when he invoked his Lord remaining in the belly of the fish, was 'There is no deity but Thou. Glory be to Thee; verily I am one of the oppressors'. No Muslim invokes therewith for anything but is responded to. —Ahmad, Tirmizi

عَنْ بُرَيْدَةَ قَالَ دَخَلْتُ مَعَ رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ صلعم الْمَسْجِدَ عِشَاءً فَاِذَا رَجُلٌ يَقْرَأُ

2265. These are verses of the Quran.

2265a. Zun-nun is the Prophet Jonah (Yunus). He has got a story behind him. He fell down from a boat and was devoured by a fish. He was within its belly for a time till the fish disgorged him in an island.

high. I asked: O Apostle of Allah! do you say this as a man of show? He said: Rather a penitent believer. He said: While Abu Musa al-Ashari' was reading, and raising up his voice, the Apostle of Allah began to hear his reading. Thereafter Abu Musa sat with invocation. He said: 'O Allah! verily I bear witness to Thee that Thou art Allah; there is no deity but Thou, the One, Free from want. He begets not, nor was He begotten; and there is none equal to Him. The Apostle of Allah said: Indeed he has implored Allah with such a name of His that if something is beseeched therewith, He gives and if some thing is invoked therewith, He responds. I asked: O Apostle of Allah! inform him what I heard from you. He said: Yes. Then informed him of the saying of the Apostle of Allah. He said to me: You are my true brother to-day. You have conveyed to me the tradition of the Apostle of Allah.

2266. Tasbih, Tahmid, Tahlil, Takbir

(a) Meanings:

Tasbih- to recite سبحان الله (Glory be to God).

Tahmid- to recite الحمد لله (All praise is due to God).

Tahlil- to recite لا اله الا الله (There is no god but Allah).

Takbir- to recite الله اكبر (Allah is Greatest).

Taqdis- to recite سبحان الملك القدوس (Glory be to the Holy king).

Hailulah- to recite لا حول ولا قوة الا بالله (There is no power, and no strength except through Allah).

(b) What do their recitations signify ? The greater is the realisation of the significance of each formula, the greater is the merit. Only verbal recitations unattended with the inner significance carry ittle value. Take for example الحمد لله (All praise is due to Allah). At the time of reciting it, one must realise that whatever he does, credit is due therefore to the Almighty Being and not to himself. A clock is not to be prised for its regular working, and An aerial plane is not to be praised for its flight. Praise for the clock and plane is due to their makers. Similarly man is a machine which speaks, hears, sees and does wonderful things by its brain. Praise for all his achievements is not due to the man-machine but to its Maker, because He had endowed man with all these powers. So there is nothing for man to boast of and to take pride in presence of his fellow creatures. When this is realised very deeply, a great spiritual efficacy is achieved. There is significance of other formulas in a similar way.

(c) Everything glorify Allah in its own way. The Quran supports this theory : Do you not see that Allah is He whom all those who are in the heavens and the earth do glorify, and the birds with expanded wings. He knows the prayer of each one and its glorification—24:41Q There are many other verses in the Quran to this effect. It is only the majority of men that donot glorify.

It will not injure you with whichever of them you begin. —Agreeed

SECTION 5.

2270. Repentance (توبة), forgiveness (استغفار) and seeking

(a) What are Taubah and Istigfar? Istigfar is to seek forgiveness to God for commissions and omissions whether specific or general, and Taubah is repentance which signifies the turning back penitently from a sin which has just been committed or which has chance of being committed in future. Man is not free from sin. Therefore Taubah is of utmost importance in the formation of a religious life. It has got three elements ; namely, to have knowledge that the act done is wrong, to be sincerly repentant for its commission and to be careful in future not to commit it again. Therefore Taubah takes its birth from the light of knowledge and faith. True turning back comes when a man knows that he has taken poison unawares. He tries then to disgorge what he has eaten for fear of life. In order to save soul, a greater repentance is neassary and a firmer determination not to have repetition of the foul thing that has hitherto been done. Hence a man of wisdom and faith can have the benefit of Tauabh. An gngel needs no Taubah because he knows no sin. The devil has got no need of Taubah because sins and virtues a re all equal to him. As man has got both angelic and devilish tendencies, he has got greater necessity of Taubah in order to purge off the impurities that gather on soul from time to time. By the tears of repentance, the soul must be washed. Repentance is therefore a remedy for taking away a misguided soul. Any boat man, recognising that he is going in a wrong direction, must at once turn to the proper way. Similar is the turning back of a sinner.

(b) Taubah is Wajeb. When no man is free from sin, Taubah is necessary and therefore binding on every Muslim. The Quran lays down : And turn to Allah, all of you, O believers, so that you may be successful - 24: 31Q. The Holy Prophet was sinless, yet he was formost is seeking forgiveness to his Lord. That was for attaining perfection. Taubah is therefore a spiritual excercise turning away the mind constantly from evil actions and evil thoughts. Some of the important circumstances under which Taubah becomes compulsory are the following.

(1) In case of an unbeliever. At the dawn of intellect, he must make Taubah from infidelity, idolatrous practices and superstitious beliefs. (2) In case of a Muslim. When a man is a Muslim by birth, he must make Taubah from all the evil practices of his parents at the dawn of knowledge and turn back to an intelligent understanding of the principles of religion in order that faith may be firmly rooted in the soil of mind. (3) In order to ensure a sincere turning, one must make Taubah even from all evil thoughts and turn back to good thoughts and good actions. This in turn will lead to the constant remembrance of God.

(c) Merits of Taubah. As has been said above, Aaubah has got an wonderful effect on the purity of soul. Ahe Almighty Allah lays down : Verily Allah loves those who repent—2.222Q. This is because a man is constantly reminded of God by means of Taubah. The wound on soul which falls therein on account of sin is healed by the fire of repentance: If it is not healed, the soul may receive further wounds by the ccmmission of further sins and in this way a complicated desires for soul will arise On the other hand, if the first wound is healed, soul is made fit for. the seat of the Almighty Allah. In case of sincere Taubah, the following results are obtained : (1) Mind forgets the recurrence of sins. (2) Mind becomes careful of committing future sins. (3) Such a man examines the previous omissions of compulsory duties from the dawn of intellect up to the day of repentance and tries to fulfil them. He prays the Qaza prayers in full, pays the unpaid Zakats on a rough account of all previous earnings, keeps fasts which were broken, returns the rights and dues of others which have been taken or used unjustly and takes pardon from those whose honour has been damaged by backbiting. or by other means This is true God-fear and Allah says of such a person : And whoso fears God, He will find a way out for him and will provide him from where he could not count (Q).

(a) Acceptance of Taubah. If there is sincere repentance for commission of any sin, Allah certainly accepts it. The Quran lays down : Verity Allah accepts repentance from His servants (Q). The following rules should however be observed at the of time of repentance. (1) He must be certain of receiving pardon from God. (2) He must firmly determine not to commit the same sin again. (3) He must be sincere in repentance as Allah directs : O you who believe ! make to Allah a sincere Taubah ; perchance your Lord will remove from you your evil and admit you in Paradise- 66:8Q. Such a repentance brings out tears from eyes, makes the outward look pale and keeps him always anxious and fearful of God. His condition becomes like that of a man who took poison unawares but for fear of death tries to disgorge out the last particle of it in the stomach. (4) He must remove the effects of the evil deed by immediate performance of good deed. Heat removes cold and likewise good deeds remove evil deeds. This si the natural law. The pious men lay down the following duties for such a man. (i) He must be fearful of the punishment of the next world for such a sin. (ii) He must pray two rak'ats of prayer.(iii) He must seek forgiveness at least 70 times to God and then read 'Glory be to Allah, the Great, and with His due praise.' (iv) He shall give alms to the poor. (v) He shall keep fast for a day. It must be remembered that mind plays the greatest part in repentance than the tongue. The Quran says: But whoever repents after his oppression and becomes good, certainly Allah will accept his repentance—5·39Q. So these are they whose evil deeds are changed for good, and whoso repents and does good, he turns to Allah a good turning —25:70Q.

Some exceptions. The following cases have been excepted from general pardon but Allah is above than what He framed. He forgives those whom He wishes and punishes those whom He wishes.

(1) Repentance of one who turns back to infidelity after repentance and remains therein up to his death. The Quran lays down: Surely those who disbelieve after their faith and then increase in disbelief, their repentance shall not be accepted—3:89Q. In shis sense, the Quran again says: Verily Allah does not forgive that anything should be associated with Him, and He forgives what is besides that.

(2) Taubah of a confirmed sinner at the time of death. The Quran secites: Verily repentance to Allah is only for those who commit sin in ignorance and then turn to Allah without loss of time; these it is whose repentance is accepted by Allah. And Allah is Knowing, Wise. And repentance is not for those who go on doing evil deeds until, when death comes to one of them, he says: Certainly I repent now, nor for those who die unbelievers—3: 17, 18Q.

(3) Taubah at the time when the sun rises from the west heralding the coming of the Hour.

It is said by some that the great sins are not forgiven. It is quite against the spirit of the Quranic and traditional teachings. It is opposed to the verse 4:48Q in which Allah says that He forgives what is besides Shirk. Of course the Quran says: If you give up the great sins of which you are prohibitted, We shall remove the evil deeds from you (4:31Q), but that does not mean that the great sins will not be forgiven. In support of this, Allah reminds us: O those who have been extravagant to their souls! don't be dispaired of Allah's mercy (Q). Verily Allah forgives all sins (Q).

(d) Causes of unwillingness for Taubah. The readers should learn that he who is not willing to repent for sins but repeatedly commits them has got his mind affected with a serious disease. This unwillingness arises for four rasons : (1) disbelief in the next world ; (2) to be grossly engaged in worldly happiness, (3) procrastination and delayi ng repentance and (4) to understand the mercy of God in a wrong way. If these things can be removed by a firm belief in the next world, by an eagerness to get the heavenly bliss and to avoid infernal punishment, by taking up good deeds promptly after sins and by weeping and seeking forgiveness to God, a true turn may come in one's life.

83. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said : By Allah, I seek pardon of Allah and return penitently to Him every day more than seventy times. —Bukhari.

Come near Me and to another Go far away He said: Measure the distance between these two. It was then found that this was nearer than half a cubit and so he was forgiven. Agreed.

95. Shaddad-b-Aus reported that the Apostle of Allah said: The best mode of seeking forgiveness is that you should say: O Allah! Thou art my Lord; there is no god but Thou. Thou hast created me and I am Thy servant, and I am upon Thy covenant and Thy promise. As far as I can, I seek refuge to Thee from the evils of what I have committed, and I return to Thee with Thy favour on me and return to The penitentl with my sin. So pardon me, andy nobody doth pardon sins except Thou. He said: Whoso reads it at day-time out of sincere faith in it and then dies that day before it is dusk, he becomes one of the inmates of Paradise; and whoso reads it at night with a sincere faith in it and then dies before it is dawn, he is one of the inmates of Paradise.

There is no refuge and no escape from Thee except to Thee; I believe in Thy Book which Thou hast revealed; and in Thy Prophet whom Thou hast sent. The Prophet said:

I have resigned myself to Thee-up to His saying—Thou hast revealed. She mentioned it to Ayesha. When he came, Ayesha informed him. He said : Then he came to us while we went to our beds. We were going to stand up when he said : Stick to your places. He advanced and sat between me and her till I perceived the coolness of his feet over my bosom. He said : Shall I not guide you to a better thing than what you seek for ? When you go to your bed, read Tasbih 33 times, Tahmid 33 times and Takbir 34 times. That is better for you both than a servant.

CHAPTER XXXIX

SECTION I

2290. Trials and Calamities

The Holy Prophet Muhammad (Peace be on him), being the last in the chain of the prophets that appeared to reclaim lost humanity and guide it to the path of Islam, left nothing which would occur from the time of his death up to the Resurrection about which he did not foretell—39 : 1. Time has proved how some of his prophecies were literally fulfilled and time will prove how the remaining ones will come out to be true. In this book, the prophecies which have been fulfilled and which await fulfilment will be narrated For example, the Holy Prophet said that the Muslims would conquer the Persian and Byzantine empires. It is well-known to every one who has a bit of knowledge in history how the Muslims conquered the empires of the Chosroes and the Cæsars during the Khilafat of the mighty Omar and how truly the prophecy of the Holy Prophet was thus fulfilled. If we turn the pages of history and the pages of the holy traditions, we would unhesitatingly come to the conclusion from the due occurrences of the events foretold by the holy illiterate Prophet that he was no less than a divine messenger, a chosen messenger from the Most High. Had he not been a true Apostle, a World-Prophet, and the last of the teachers and had he not been divinely inspired, this mighty and magnificent pronouncement attended with fulfilment after his death could not have been made within the given circle of human ingenuity and human knowledge. The vast book of nature, previous and future, was placed before him by Divine Wisdom, and thus he could learn the events and calamities that would come to pass from the time of his death up to the Day of Resurrection. If we can believe the traditions relating to the unseen events after his death, we can also naturally believe the traditions concerning the events that will occur before the Resurrection or the Doomsday. There will come an hour in which this world will meet with destruction with the destruction of all its natural phenomena such as the sun, moon, stars, rivers, etc. The Holy Prophet narrated the events and signs of this hour.

Contents : Calamities will be in quick succession - 39 : 2 ; Iman and trust will be weakest—39 : 3 ; there will be innovations ; the people will be devils ; the best course in trials is to remain attached to Jama'at and Imam even though the Imam oppresses—39 : 4 ; Iman will be weak and the world will be preferred to next world—39 : 5 ; in trials, seclusion is best—39 : 6 ; and everybody should mind his own business—39 : 7 ; and give up the affairs of the public 39 : 19 ; calamities will fall on Muslims—39 : 8 ; Muslims will be destroyed by the Quraish - 39 : 9 ; distance will be short and murders will prevail—39 : 10, 11 ; fight will continue among Muslims—39 : 15 ; true Islam will exist during the first 60 to 37 years after Prophet's death—39 : 16, 29 ; Dajjal will appear with bogus paradise and hell 39 : 17; famine, murder and death will prevail in Medina 39 : 18 ; treaties and trusts will be broken—39 : 19 ; Arabs will meet with calamities—39 : 25, 26 ; tongue will be bitter than swords in latter days—39 : 24 ; the dutiful men are the friends of the Prophet—39 : 25 ; two parties—believers and hypocrites - among the Muslims will encounter Dajjal 39 : 25 ; before the Hour, 30 false prophets will appear, one party of the Muslims will join with the polytheists against one party of the Muslims, and one party will worship idols—39 : 28 ; Prophet is the last prophet - 39 : 28 ; Muslims will follow in daily duties the Jews and the Christians 39 : 30.

1. Huzaifa reported : The Messenger of Allah took a stand among us in which he did not omit anything that will occur in that place of his up to the occurrence of the Hour but narrated it. Whoso got it to memory remembered it, and whoso did not remember it forgot it. These companions of mine learnt it, and there will occur someting therefrom which

عَنْ حُذَيْفَةَ قَالَ قَامَ فِينَا رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم مَقَامًا مَا تَرَكَ شَيْئًا يَكُونُ فِي مَقَامِهِ ذٰلِكَ إِلَى قِيَامِ السَّاعَةِ إِلَّا حَدَّثَ بِهِ حَفِظَهُ مَنْ حَفِظَهُ وَنَسِيَهُ مَنْ نَسِيَهُ قَدْ عَلِمَهُ أَصْحَابِي هٰؤُلَاءِ وَإِنَّهُ لَيَكُونُ مِنْهُ الشَّيْءُ قَدْ نَسِيتُهُ

I forgot. It was shown to me and then I remembered it just as a man remembers the face of a man when he remains absent from him, and when afterwards he sees him, he remembers him. —Agreed

فَأُرِيَهُ فَنَسِيتُهُ كَمَا يَذْكُرُ الرَّجُلُ وَجْهَ الرَّجُلِ إِذَا غَابَ عَنْهُ ثُمَّ إِذَا رَآهُ عَرَفَهُ (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

2. Same reported: I heard the Messenger of Allah say: Trials will be presented before hearts like wood after wood of a mat.[2291] Whichever heart drinks them, a black spot will be impressed therein; and whichever heart denies them, a white spot will be impressed therein, till they will produce two hearts; (one will be) white like a marble stone. No calamity will be able to injure it so long as the heavens and the earth exist. And another (heart) will be black, dirt-coloured like a water pot turned down. It will know no good, nor will deny evil except what will be given as drink from its passions.[2291a] —Muslim.

عَنْهُ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللهِ صلعم يَقُولُ تُعْرَضُ الْفِتَنُ عَلَى الْقُلُوبِ كَالْحَصِيرِ عُودًا عُودًا فَأَيُّ قَلْبٍ أُشْرِبَهَا نُكِتَتْ فِيهِ نُكْتَةٌ سَوْدَاءُ وَأَيُّ قَلْبٍ أَنْكَرَهَا نُكِتَتْ فِيهِ نُكْتَةٌ بَيْضَاءُ حَتَّى تَصِيرَ عَلَى قَلْبَيْنِ أَبْيَضَ مِثْلَ الصَّفَا فَلَا تَضُرُّهُ فِتْنَةٌ مَا دَامَتِ السَّمٰوٰتُ وَالْأَرْضُ وَالْآخَرُ أَسْوَدُ مُرْبَادًّا كَالْكُوزِ مُجَخِّيًا لَا يَعْرِفُ مَعْرُوفًا وَلَا يُنْكِرُ مُنْكَرًا إِلَّا مَا أُشْرِبَ مِنْ هَوَاهُ (مُسْلِمٌ)

3. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah narrated to us two traditions. I have seen one of the two[2292] and I have

عَنْهُ قَالَ حَدَّثَنَا رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم حَدِيثَيْنِ رَأَيْتُ أَحَدَهُمَا وَأَنَا أَنْتَظِرُ الْآخَرَ

2291. Just as a piece of wood follows another piece of wood in a mat or bed, calamities and trials also will appear one after another in quick succession.

2291a. Good actions imprint in the soul of a man such white spots as are transparent. Such kind of hearts cannot be perturbed at the advent of any calamity. On the other hand, the case of an impious heart is otherwise. It is subject to fear even of a needle.

2292. One event has taken place, while another has not yet come to pass.

been waiting for the other. [2293] He narrated to us that trust came down to the recess of the hearts of men and they afterwards learnt from the Quran and then they learnt from sunnat. And he narrated to us as regards its disappearance. He said: A man will sleep a sleep and then the trust will be taken out of his heart. Its mark will occur like the mark of a dot. Afterwards he will sleep a sleep and it will be taken out. Its marks will then remain like the mark of a blister, like (that of) a hot coal which you have placed upon your foot and then it has got mark. You see it swelling high with nothing therein. And the people will get up at morn to carry on trade, and there will be hardly any who will pay up the trust. It will be said: Verily there is a trust-worthy man in so and so; and it will be said to a man: How wise is he! how skilful is he! how decent is he, while in his heart there will be no faith to the weight of a mustard seed. [2294] —Agreed.

حَدَّثَنَا اَنَّ الْاَمَانَةَ نَزَلَتْ فِىْ جَذْرِ
قُلُوْبِ الرِّجَالِ ثُمَّ عَلِمُوْا مِنَ الْقُرْاٰنِ
ثُمَّ عَلِمُوْا مِنَ السُّنَّةِ وَحَدَّثَنَا عَنْ رَفْعِهَا
قَالَ يَنَامُ الرَّجُلُ النَّوْمَةَ فَتُقْبَضُ
الْاَمَانَةُ مِنْ قَلْبِهٖ فَيَظَلُّ اَثَرُهَا مِثْلَ
اَثَرِ الْوَكْتِ ثُمَّ يَنَامُ النَّوْمَةَ فَتُقْبَضُ
فَيَبْقٰى اَثَرُهَا مِثْلَ اَثَرِ الْمَجْلِ كَجَمْرٍ
دَحْرَجْتَهٗ عَلٰى رِجْلِكَ فَنَفِطَ فَتَرَاهُ
مُنْتَبِرًا وَلَيْسَ فِيْهِ شَىْءٌ وَيُصْبِحُ النَّاسُ
يَتَبَايَعُوْنَ وَلَا يَكَادُ اَحَدٌ يُؤَدِّى
الْاَمَانَةَ فَيُقَالُ اِنَّ فِىْ فُلَانٍ رَجُلًا
اَمِيْنًا وَيُقَالُ لِلرَّجُلِ مَا اَعْقَلَهٗ وَمَا
اَظْرَفَهٗ وَمَا اَجْلَدَهٗ وَمَا فِىْ قَلْبِهٖ
مِثْقَالُ حَبَّةِ مِّنْ خَرْدَلٍ مِنْ اِيْمَانٍ

2293. Here trust and faith have been meant. Faith will be taken gradually from the hearts of men and hence the people will be careless in obeying the Holy Quran and Hadis.

2294. People in latter times shall be treacherous, and no regard shall be attached to payment of trusts, and deception and deceit will be the order of the time. If fortunately a man is found with a grain of trust, he will be singled out and respected. Those who will have no faith and trust will be regarded by the people as intelligent and tacktful.

4. Same reported : The people were asking the Messenger of Allah of virtues, and I was asking him of evils fearing lest they should overtake me. I asked : O Ms. of Allah ! certainly we were in ignorance and corruption. Then Allah brought this good for us. Will there be corruption after this good ? 'Yes' replied he. I asked : Will there be good after that corruption ? 'Yes' replied he, 'there will be darkness therein'. I asked : What is darkness ?[2295] He said : A people who will introduce ways other than my ways and will have guidance other than my guidance. You will recognise some of them and deny (others). I asked : Will there be corruption after that good ? 'Yes' replied he, 'there will be those who will invite towards the doors of Hell. Whoso will respond to them towards them, they will throw him therein'. I asked : O Ms. of Allah ! give their description to us. He said : They will be of our people and they will speak with our tongues. I asked : What do you enjoin me if that reaches me ? He replied : You shall stick to the united body of 2295. Dakhan means vapour or cloud which signifies darkness. In latter times, there will prevail good mixed with evil and not absolute good. There will be no purity of intention and no true pious man. The so-called pious men will have mixed good and evil as they will have no strong faith in things unseen.

the Muslims and their leader I asked : If they have no united body and no leader ? He said : Then keep aloof entirely form those parties though you will be in the midst of the stem of a tree till death overtakes you while you will remain upon that (condition). Agreed upon it. And in a narration of Muslim, he said : There will be leaders after me who will neither lead according to my guidance, nor will they work according to my ways ; and there will soon rise up among them some men whose hearts will be the hearts of the devils in bodies of men. Huzaifah said : I asked : How shall I work, O Prophet of Allah, if I reach that ? He said : You shall hear and obey the ruler though your back is beaten and your property is taken. So hear and obey.

وَإِمَامَهُمْ قُلْتُ فَإِنْ لَمْ يَكُنْ لَهُمْ جَمَاعَةٌ وَلَا إِمَامٌ قَالَ فَاعْتَزِلْ تِلْكَ الْفِرَقَ كُلَّهَا وَلَوْ أَنْ تَعَضَّ بِأَصْلِ شَجَرَةٍ حَتَّى يُدْرِكَكَ الْمَوْتُ وَأَنْتَ عَلَى ذَلِكَ مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ لِمُسْلِمٍ قَالَ يَكُونُ بَعْدِي أُمَّةٌ لَا يَهْتَدُونَ بِهُدَايَ وَلَا يَسْتَنُّونَ بِسُنَّتِي وَسَيَقُومُ فِيهِمْ رِجَالٌ قُلُوبُهُمْ قُلُوبُ الشَّيَاطِينِ فِي جُثْمَانِ إِنْسٍ قَالَ حُذَيْفَةُ قُلْتُ كَيْفَ أَصْنَعُ يَا رَسُولَ اللهِ إِنْ أَدْرَكْتُ ذَلِكَ قَالَ تَسْمَعُ وَتُطِيعُ الْأَمِيرَ وَإِنْ ضُرِبَ ظَهْرُكَ وَأُخِذَ مَالُكَ فَاسْمَعْ وَأَطِعْ

5. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Hasten on with works in the midst of calamities like a part of the dark night. A man will get up a believer at morn and an unbeliever at dusk ; and a believer at dusk, and an unbeliever at morn.[2296] He will sell his religion in exchange of the frail goods of this world.

—Muslim.

عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ بَادِرُوا بِالْأَعْمَالِ فِتَنًا كَقِطَعِ اللَّيْلِ الْمُظْلِمِ يُصْبِحُ الرَّجُلُ مُؤْمِنًا وَيُمْسِي كَافِرًا وَيُمْسِي مُؤْمِنًا وَيُصْبِحُ كَافِرًا يَبِيعُ دِينَهُ بِعَرَضٍ مِنَ الدُّنْيَا (مُسْلِمٌ)

2296. It means that a man will get up in the morning and recognise a thing as unlawful which has been made unlawful by Allah and His Prophet, but in the evening he will regard the unlawful thing as lawful owing to laxity of belief.

6. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said : There will soon appear calamities in which one sitting will be better than one standing, and one standing will be better than one walking, and one walking will be better than one running.[2297] Whoso will seek to come near them, they will overtake him ; whoso will find a refuge or shelter, let him take refuge to it. Agreed upon it, and in a narration of Muslim, he said : Trials will come to pass in which one sleeping will be better than one awake, and one awake better than one standing, and one standing better than one running. So whoso will find a refuge or shelter, let him take refuge to it.

7. Abu Bakrah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Verily trials will soon come to pass. Behold ! again the trials will come to pass. Behold ! again the trials will come to pass. One sitting therein will be better than one walking, and one walking will be better than one running towards them. Behold ! when they will come to pass, let him who has got camel be attached to his camel, and let him who has got sheep be attached to

He said: He should take his sword and sharpen its edge upon a stone and let him gain victory if it is possible. O Allah! have I communicated (thrice)? A man asked: O Ms. of Allah! inform me in case I am disliked till I am carried to one of the mountains and then a man strikes me with his sword, or an arrow comes and kills me. He said: He will return with his sin and your sin, and he will be one of the inmates of the Fire.

8. Osamah-b-Zaid reported that the Holy prophet ascended a lofty place out of the lofty places of Medina and said: Do you see what I see? 'No' replied they. He said: Certainly I am seeing trials falling down in the midst of your houses like the shower of rain. —Agreed.

A Muslim who is in the hand of the enemy or lives in confinement or restraint and still adheres patiently to divine service, gets rewards equivalent to hijrat from one's own country for the sake of religion. Hazrat Abu Bakar ruled for 2 ys. 4 ms, Omar 10 ys. 6 ms., Osman 12 ys, Ali 4 ys. 9 ms. and Hasan 5 months. Had the prophet not been a messenger of Allah, he could not have foretold all these things.

He said : Then a colt will be born and it will not be used for riding till there comes the Hour.[2302] And in a narration, he said : There will be sunshine over darkness and unity over disintegration. I asked : O Ms. of Allah ! sunshine over darkness—what is it ? He replied : The hearts of men will not return to what they were upon.[2303] I asked : Will there be evil after this good ? 2302. It means that the Resurrection will be very near after the appearance of Dajjal. If a colt is born at the time of Dajjal, it will not be fit for riding at the time when the Resurrection will come to pass.

2303. Hudnah stands for peace and comfort, and dukhan for difficulties and troubles. Qaza means something which falls in eye. The underlying meaning is that there will be peace or negotiations of peace founded upon hypocrisy and distrust, and that there will be outward prosperity with internal troubles and dissensions just as dirt troubles the eye from within though nothing is seen from outside.

3304. In these trials, nobody will see what is right and nobody will hear what is just.

2905. Whoso will obey Dajjal will be put to his paradise which will be nothing but hell, and whoso will not obey him will be put to his hell which will be nothing but paradise.

A house will be equal to a servant (in value), so much so that a grave will be purchased in exchange of a servant. I said: Allah and his Apostle know best. He said. O Abu Zarr, keep patience. He asked: How will it be with you, O Abu Zarr, when there will prevail in Medina murder of which the blood will cover the stones of Zait?[2307] I said: Allah and his Apostle know best. He said: You will then go to one from whom you have come.[2308] I asked: Shall I put on lance? He said: You will then be a partner with the people. I asked: O Ms. of Allah! how shall I act? He said: If you fear that the brilliance of sword 2306. Hunger means famine and draught which will break out at Medina. Death signifies diseases of virulent type.

2307. Zait is a place near Medina. It is said that the battle of Imam Hussain with Yezid has been meant here. At that time, there was indiscriminate murders at Medina after the battle of Kerbala. When Yezid was going to attack Medina, he died on the way.

2408. It signifies that one should at that time follow the Holy Prophet from whom he has got his religion. Some say that at that time one should go to his relative or to his Imam.

He asked: What then do you enjoin me with? He replied: Take to what you know and leave what you know not, take to your own affairs and take care of the general public. And in a narration: Keep to thy house and hold thy tongue to thyself, and take what thou recogniseth, and give up what thou knoweth not, and mind thy own business, and give up the affairs of the public.[2310] —Tirmizi (correct).

2308a. It will be better to remain within houses at that time and not to fight. It is said that this prophecy has got reference to the battle of Hurrah that took place in 33 A. H.

2309. Husalah means fragment, sediment or refuse. Here the worst people have been meant by the word.

2310. In trials, mixing with the people is generally bad for a weak man of weak faith. Mixing in the society has, however, been recommended by the Holy Prophet in another tradition (1 : 76).

In this state of things, the man of faith should keep patience and keep aside the instruments of war. If anybody comes to fight with him without any provocation, he should be like Habil (Abel) who was murdered by his brother Qabil (Cain), son of Adam.

2312. Remain within the houses at that time in order to save faith.

2313. The son meant here is Habil (Abel).

of Allah described a trial and brought it near. I asked : O Ms. of Allah ! who will be the best of men therein ? battles); then the trial of comforts of which the vapour will arise from underneath the feet of a man from the people of my house. He will think that he comes from me but he will not be of me. Verily my friends are the pious. Thereafter, the people will gather (to swear allegiance) to a man like a hip bone upon a rib. Thereafter will arise the black trial which will leave none from this people but will slap him a slap. When it will be said that it (trial) has finished, it will be prolonged. Therein a man will get up a believer at morn and a disbeliever at dusk till the people will be divided into two camps—a camp of faith wherein there will be no hypocrisy and a camp of hypocrisy wherein there will be no faith. When that will occur, wait for Dajjal on that very day or on the following.[2316]

2316. It means that people will swear allegiance to a man who is not in any way fit for rule and leadership. It is said that these two camps indicate two towns. Imam Mehdi will remain at Jerusalem and Dajjal at another town. Shah Waliullah of Delhi wrote that the trial of Ahlas was the murder of Abdulla-b-Zubair in the precincts of the Holy Ka'ba, and the trial of comforts is the triump of Mukhtar over the people of Iraq. He claimed rivalry with Muhammad-h-Hanifah.

2317. Ibn Tibi says that it means rebellion at the time of Hazrats Osman, Ali and Muwayiah, and the battle of Kerbala in which Hazrat Imam Hossain was martyred.

27. Meqdad-b-Aswad reported : I heard the Ms. of Allah say : Verily the fortunate man will be certainly one who will escape from the turmoils ; verily the fortunate man will be certainly one who will escape from the turmoils ; verily the fortunate man will be certainly one who will escape from the turmoils, and also one who will be tried and then keep patience. 2217a. Woe to another means—woe to one who will remain near the calamities and will be tried by them but will not have patience.

2318. It is thus seen that there will be many men numbering thirty who will claim prophethood. This was the case with Musailamah, Mirza Golam Ahmad of Qadian and others. The Prophet distinctly stated here that he is the seal of the prophets and that there will be no prophet after him. How can the Qadians say, being Muslims, that Mirza Saheb is a prophet after our Prophet ?

29. Abdullah-b-Mas'ud reported from the Prophet who said: The mill of Islam will revolve for 35 or 36 or 37 (years). If they (Muslim) are destroyed, then there will be the way of those who met destruction; and if their religion be established for them, it will be established for them for seventy years. I asked: Is it (to be counted) from what remains or from what is past? He replied: From what is past.[2319] —Abu Daud

30. Abu Waqed-al-Laisi reported that when the Apostle of Allah came out for the battle of Hunain, he passed by a tree of the polytheists who had kept their arms hanging therewith. It was called a hanging tree. They enquired: O Ms. of Allah! make for us a hanging tree just as they have got a hanging tree. The Apostle of Allah said: Glory be to Allah from this just as the people of Moses said: Make for us a god just as they have got a god. By One in whose hand there stands my life, you will surely embark upon the practices of those who were before you. —Tirmizi.

2319. In hadis no. 39 : 17, it has been stated that the true Islam will live in the first thirty years. That takes us to the period of the short rule of Hazrat Hasan. Here the period is said to be 35 to 37 years. This period begins, according to the Prophet, from the beginning of Islam The Prophet preached Islam for 23 years. If this period is deducted from 37, there remains a period of 14 years which includes the rules of Hazrat Abu Bakr, Omar and a part of Osman. If this period is taken from the year of the flight, it covers nearly the rules of the four rightly-guided Caliphs. Hazrat Osman was murdered in 35 A. H., the Battle of Camel took place in 36 A. H. and the Battle of Siffin in 37 A. H.

21. Ibnul-Musayyeb reported : The first calamity came to pass, that is the murder of Osman, and then there remained nobody from the warriors of Badr. Next the second calamity came to pass, that is the Harrah[2320] and then there remained nobody of the people of Hudaibiyah. Next has come to pass the third calamity which will not be lifted up while there is provision with the people.

2321. Battles and events before the Hour.

The Holy Prophet foretold by the help of divine knowledge of all the major events including the great battles that would break out after his death and before the Doomsday. Some of the prophecies have been fulfilled and time will prove how the others will come out. Below are some of the prophecies contained in this section.

(1) The Persian and Byzantine empires will be conquered by the Muslims, and there will be no reappearance of these empires up to the Resurrection Day—31 : 38. The Muslims conquered Persia in 16 A. H., Armenia in 17 A. H., Syria and Iraq in 14 A. H., as a result of the battles of Qadessia and Yermuk ; Egypt in the hands of Amr-b-al A's in 17 A. H., and then Tripoli.

(2) The Muslims will conquer Jerusalem—39 : 41. It is well-known how Jerusalem was conquered by Hazrat Omar and how the inhabitants surrendered themselves before the Great Caliph.

2320. This is not a saying of the Prophet but of the narrator. The battle of Harrah took place in 63 A. H. between the people of Medinah and Yezid.

(3) Plague will break out in Arabia—39 : 41. It is a historical fact that after the conquest of Jerusalem, 70,000 Arabs died of plague within three days.

(4) After Hazrat Omar, revolution will begin and it will never cease 39 : 41. History bears testimony how revolution raised up its head at the time of Hazrat Osman who was himself killed in his very house in 35 A. H. by the revolutionaries while he was reading the Holy Quran. Thereafter there were fights between Hazrat Ali and Muwayiah known as the battles of the Camel and Siffin (37 A.H.) near Basrah. Talhah and Jubair were killed in this battle. The fourth Caliph Hazrat Ali got victory and he made Kufa his capital. Thereafter Hazrat Ali was killed in 40 A. H. After that Hazrat Hasan was declared Caliph, but he was soon murdered by poison. Thereafter in the famous battle of Kerbala, Hazrat Hossain was murdered. The horrors of this massacre recur every year in the annual mourning of Muharram. The martyrs spoken in 39 : 55 coming out of Ushar mosque near Basrah may be the martyrs of Kerbala. Then revolutions after revolutions took place and thus the Holy Prophecy was fulfilled.

(5) The Muslims will construct a very prosperous town on the bank of Euphretes (Bagdad) which will be connected by a bridge over the river and which will be destroyed by Banu Qantura (Tartars)—39 : 53. Bagdad was built by the Abbaside Caliph Al-Mansur and developed by the famous Harun al Rashid of the Arabian Nights. The Caliphs of the Abbaside dynasty ruled the vast Islamic kingdom till its capital Bagdad was ransacked by the Tartars in 656 A. H, and the-then Caliph Mu'tasim was killed.

(6) The Muslims will build a town known as Basrah—39 : 54. The town of Basrah was built at the time of the second Caliph.

(7) The Turks will be rulers and Muslims shall fight with them—39 : 33, 51. The Turks ruled vast kingdoms which have been reduced by the last great European war. The Turks also adopted the religion of Islam many centuries ago as they were charmed by its beauty.

(8) There will arise nearly thirty false Prophets—39 : 32. Some so-called prophets have passed away. Musilamah, the liar claimed prophethood and he was killed during the reign of Hazrat Abu Bakr. Recently Mirza Golam Ahmad of Qadian in the Punjab claimed prophethood and his followers are called the Ahmadis and Qadians.

(9) There will be earthquakes and sinking down of earth—39 : 32. Those who are well-informed know the terrible earthquakes of Quetta in 1935, of Bihar in 1934, of Anatolia in 1939, of Japan and of other places. Thousands died in debris and millions of acres of lands sank down.

(10) Religious learning will disppear. The modern education imparted to the Muslims and the various schemes that are now in the fertile brains of politicians prove the truth of the prophecy. There is hardly one in a thousand who is well-acquainted with religious principles and doctrines. For this reason, general irreligiousness prevails in the country.

(11) People will construct lofty buildings, though the Holy Prophet advised his followers not to raise their buildings high.

(12) There will be general prevalence of murders and revolutions—39 : 32.

(13) Wealth will increase to an enormous measure.

(14) The Arabs will fight with a race whose descriptions have been given—39 : 33.

(16) The Arabs will fight with the Khuzees and Kermenians in Persia and will be victorious—39 : 35.

(17) A man of Kahtan in Yemen will rule over Arabia with an iron hand—39 : 36.

(18) A man named Jahjah will become king over Arabia—3 : 37.

(1) The Muslims will fight with the Jews and become victorious—39 : 35.

(20) Jerusalem will be a most populous town to the detriment of the habitation of Medina—39 : 45.

(21) There will be earthquakes, stone-throwings from heaven and sinking down of earth at Basrah—39 : 54.

22) There will be a war between the Muslims and the Christians on one side and the enemies on the other, and the allies will be victorious - 49 : 49. Thereafter the allies will fight among themselves and the Muslims will be martyrs. Then a first class war will break out between the Muslims and 'Rum' (meaning Christians) in which almost everybody will be killed - 39 : 42, 43. Thereafter the Muslims will conquer Constantinople without arms—39 : 44 47. Then Dajjal will appear—39 : 44 These three great events will come to pass within seven years—39 : 47. Afterwards Jesus Christ will come down from heaven and establish the religion of Islam throughout the world – 39 : 42*

(23) A Negro will destroy the Ka'ba and take out the treasures—39 : 50.

(24) The sun will rise from the west—39 : 32.

32. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said : The Hour shall not come to pass till two big parties will fight ; a great war will occur between them . their claim will be the same[2322] till there will appear nearly thirty false Dajjals, every one of them will claim that he is the apostle of Allah ; till learning will become obsolete[2323] and earthquakes will increase and time will draw near and trials will appear and anxiety will increase (and it is murder); and till wealth will increase among you and become enormous ; till the owner of wealth will be searching for one fit for accepting zakat; till he will present it and he to whom

عن ابى هريرة ان رسول الله صلعم قال لا تقوم الساعة حتى تقتتل فئتان عظيمتان تكون بينهما مقتتلة عظيمة دعواهما واحدة وحتى يبعث دجالون كذابون قريب من ثلثين كلهم يزعم انه رسول الله حتى يقبض العلم ويكثر الزلازل ويتقارب الزمان ويظهر الفتن ويكثر الهرج وهو القتل وحتى يكثر فيكم المال فيفيض حتى يهم رب المال من يقبل صدقته وحتى يعرضه فيقول الذى يعرضه عليه لا ارب لى به

* Other events will be narrated in the next sections.

2322. Here some of the signs previous to the Doomsday have been foretold by the Holy Prophet. Some say that by the great war here is meant the fight between Hazrats Ali and Muawiyah.

2323. Learning signifies religious learning.

it will be presented will say, "I have no want for it"; till the people will construct lofty buildings; till a man will pass by the grave of a man and say 'Woe to me for his place'; and till the sun will rise from the west, and when it will rise and the people will see it, they will all believe and that will occur when faith of a soul will not benefit it as it did not believe before, nor did it acquire any good in its faith. And the Hour must come when two men have spread their clothes in front of them and they have not yet sold it, nor have they kept it folded; and the Hour must come when a man has gone with the milk of his milch camel but he has not yet drunk it, and the Hour must come when he will be constructing his fountain without taking any drink (as yet) therein; and the Hour must come when he has just raised up his morsel to his mouth but has not yet eaten it.[2334] —Agreed

عن جابر بن سمرة قال سمعت رسول الله صلعم يقول لتفتحن عصابة من المسلمين كنز ال كسرى الذى فى الابيض (مسلم)

39. Abu Hurairah reported that the Ms. of Allah said : Chosroe has been destroyed and no Chosroe will appear after him, and the Cæsar shall surely be destroyed and there will be no Cæsar after him, and the treasures of both will be surely divided in the way of Allah ; and he named the battle as deception.[2328] —Agreed.

عن ابى هريرة قال قال رسول الله صلعم هلك كسرى فلا يكون كسرى بعده و قيصر ليهلكن ثم لا يكون قيصر بعده و لتقسمن كنوزهما فى سبيل الله و سمى الحرب خدعة (متفق عليه)

40. Nafe'-b-Otbah reported that the Ms. of Allah said : You shall fight with the peninsula of Arabia and Allah shall give you victory over it, and after that with Persia, and Allah shall give you victory over it ; and after that you shall fight with Rome, and Allah shall give you victory over it ; after that you shall fight with Dajjal and Allah shall give you victory over him. —Muslim.

عن نافع بن عتبة قال قال رسول الله صلعم تغزون جزيرة العرب فيفتحها الله ثم فارس فيفتحها الله ثم تغزون الروم فيفتحها الله ثم تغزون الدجال فيفتحه الله (مسلم)

2327. It is a fact that the Muslims conquered Persia within a few years of this prophecy and brought vast treasures to Medina from the hidden forts of Persian king. Abyad is the name of a fort at Madain, the former capital of Persia.

2328. The battle is a deception means either that in the wars to be waged by the Romans and the Persians against the Muslims, they will use deception and play treachery with the Muslims, or that deception is allowed in battles and wars. If the former meaning is accepted it is seen that the Romans and the Persians broke treaties after treaties which they had contracted with the Muslims. The Muslims still conquered the two empires according to the prophecy of the Holy Prophet.

41. Auf-b-Malek reported: I came to the Prophet during the battle of Tabuk while he was in a camp of leather. He said: Count six things on the eve of the Hour: my death, then the conquest of Jerusalem, then the pestilence that will overtake you like the disease of cattle, then the excess of wealth, so much so that a man shall be given one hundred dinar, and he will become dissatisfied [2329], then revolution from which there will not be left a single house in Arabia but to which it shall not enter, then a treaty which shall occur between you and the Romans. But they shall play treachery and shall march against you under 80 banners, under each banner there shall be 12,000 soldiers. —Bukhari.

42. Abu Hurairah reported that the Ms. of Allah said: The Hour shall not occur till the Romans land down at A'maq or Dabeq; then an army from Medina who will be among the best men of the then world shall march against them. When they will draw themselves in ranks the Romans shall say: Let us have free hand regarding those who have fallen prisoners from amongst us; we shall fight with them. The Muslims 2329. Jerusalem was conquered by Hazrat Omar. After that there was widespread plague in Arabia which took away nearly 70,000 men within three days. The fifth trial was the murder of the third Caliph Hazrat Osman. Banul Asfar here means the Romans. The Muslims also fought with millions of Roman soldiers and and conquered the Byzantine empires.

They will then come out and leave that. When they will come to Syria, he will come out. 2331. This clearly shows that Jesus, son of Mary, will come again in the world to purge of the evils of the world and to kill Dajjal, the embodiment of evils. This shows that Jesus is alive in heaven. Had it not been the case, he cannot come if he had died, because the Quran says that a dead man cannot return again to this world. It is contended by Qadians that if the Prophet Muhammad is the last prophet, there cannot be any prophet after him and hence Jesus cannot come again. Jesus was a prophet before Muhammad, and though he will come again, he will not be considered as a new prophet.

Then he said: The enemies shall muster strong to fight with the Syrians, and the Muslims will also muster strong for them, that is the Romans. Then the Muslims will select a detachment for death (by fighting), so that they may not return but victorious. They will fight till night will interfere among them. Then they will return, and they (unbelievers) too, each one without being victorious; and the detachment will then flee away. The Muslims will again select a detachment for death (by fighting) so that they may not return but victorious. They will fight till the night will interfere between them. Then they will return, and they too, eachone without being victorious, and the detachment will then flee away. The Muslims will again select a detachment for 2332. 'Heritage shall no longer be divided' means that death on account of murders and fights will be so great that there will remain no sufficient number of heirs for the heritage to be divided. Consequent to the large number of deaths in battles there will be sorrow and grief for death of near and dear ones, and in case of even victory and acquisition of large booties, there will be no such rejoicings.

death, so that they may not return without being victorious. They will then fight till evening. Then they will return, and they too, each one without being victorious, and the detachment will then flee away. When the fourth day will come, the remaining soldeirs of Islam will rush upon them, and Allah will then ordain defeat upon them (unbelievers). They will fight a fight the like of which was not seen, so much so that if a bird will pass by their sides, it will not be able to cross them till it falls dead. [2333] The children of a father who were one hundred will then count themselves, but they will find none among them but one man. So which booty will be found pleasing, and which heritage will be divided ?[2334] They will be in this way when lo ! they will hear of a calamity which will be greater than that. Then a cry will come to them saying that Dajjal has appeared amongst their children in their absence. They will then throw off what will remain in their hands and advance. They will send ten horsemen as spies. The Apostle 2333. There will be so fierce fight between the Muslims and the unbelievers that the death rolls will be too great in the battle-field. If a bird flies over the dead-bodies in the field, it will not be able to cross them on account of the long distance of the fallen men and on account of bad smell comimg out of the dead bodies. It will then fall dead owing to extremely bad smell.

2334. The number of deaths will be so great in each family that there will be hardly any pleasure over the booty, and hardly any man to inherit the heritage.

44. Abu Hurairah reported that the Prophet said : Have you heard of a town of which one side is in land and one side is in sea? 'Yes' said they. He said : The Hour shall not occur till 70,000 of the children of Isaac [2335] shall fight with it. When they will come to it, they will land down, but they (Muslims) will not fight with arms, nor throw arrows. They will only say: There is no god but Allah and Allah is greatest, and then one of its sides will fall down. (Taur-b-Yezid the narrator said : I don't know except that he said about that which is in sea). They will recite for the second time : There is no god but Allah and Allah is greatest, and then another of its sides will fall down. Afterwards they will say for the third time : There is no god but Allah and Allah is greatest, and then it will be opened to them and they will enter it and acquire booties. While they will

This is the town which will be conquered not by arms but by the sheer force of Tahlil and Takbir. The children of Isaac here meant are the Muslims living in Syria (Mazhare Haq).

The populous habitation of Jerusalem will be the (cause of) destruction of Medina, and the destruction of Medina will be the (cause of) occurance of battles, and the occurance of battles will be the (cause of the) conquest of Constantinople, and the conquest of Constantinople will be the (cause of) coming out of Dajjal.[2336] —Abu Daud.

2337. This hadis and the previous hadis are contradictory with regard to time. The latter hadis is said to be more authentic. The former may be mistaken so far as 7 months is concerned. Abu Daud who narrates both the traditions upholds this as more correct.

You will then be given victory, gain booty and be safe. After that you will return till you will reach a pasturage of high lands. Then one of the Christians will hold up a cross and say "The Cross is victorious",[2338] while one of the Muslims will get angry and he will threaten him. At that time, Byzantium will be treachrous and collect an army for battle. Some added: Then the Muslims will be driven to their arms and will fight, and then Allah will honour that party with martyrdom —Abu Daud.

He said : You will drive them away thrice [2341] till you will meet them (again) in the peninsula of Arabia. As for the first onslaught, those who will flee from them will be saved. 2340. This shows that the kingdoms of Abyssinia and Turkey will last long and that the Arabs will be separated from the Turks. It also shows that so long as the Abyssinians and Turks do not interfere with the Arabs, the latter should not disturb them, but as soon as any of them falls upon the Arabs, the Arabs must fight with them.

2341. The Arabs will defeat the Turks three times.

2342. The narrator said that the meaning is exactly like what has been narrated, though words may slightly differ.

There is a bridge over the river Euphrates, and on both sides of the river the town stands. One of the gates of this town is called Basrah. The great Tartars destroyed the fair town and killed Caliph Mu'tasim Billah. He said : Who will assure me among you to pray two or four rak'ats in the mosque "Ushar"? He was saying that this was concerning Abu Hurairah . 2343b. Abu Daud said that this mosque stands by the side of the river which is the Tigris. The people started from Basrah to Mecca for pilgrimage when Abu Hurairah narrated this tradition. Ubullah is a village near the town of Basra and Abul Qasem is the Holy Prophet. It appears from this tradition that the mosque Ushar has got a superior position and prayer therein carries a great merit.

his family, his property, his life, his children and his neighbour. Fasting, prayer, Zakat and enjoining good and forbidding evil will compensate it. Omar said: I have not meant it. Verily I meant that which will rise up like the waves of the sea. I asked: What connection has it got with you, O Commander of the Faithful? Verily there is a closed door between you and it. He said: Will the door be broken or opened? I replied: No, rather it will be broken. [2343c] He said: It is then possible that it will not be closed up for ever. He (Shaqiq) narrated: We asked Huzaifah: Is Omar aware which door is this? 'Yes' said he, 'as he knows that after tomorrow, there will come night'. Verily I have narrated a tradition to him which is not tinged with falsehoods. He said: We feared to ask Huzaifah as to which door it is. So we asked Masruq: Ask him. He asked him and so he said: (It is) Omar.

2343c. The closed door is Omar as disclosed in the last sentence of this tradition. In other words, Omar will be the fit person to drive out trials and calamities and revolutions from entering within. After his death they will raise their venomous fangs to destroy the solidarity of the Islamic common-wealth. The door if opened may be shut up again, but if it is broken it cannot be shut up very soon. Breaking signifies therefore fighting. It is wonderful to see how this prophecy was fulfilled. The murders of the next Caliph Osman, and Hazrats Hasan and Hossain bear testimony to the truth of this prophecy.

2344. General signs of the Hour.

This section deals with the prophecies of the Holy Prophet regarding the general minor events leading to the Hour, while the next section deals with the greater signs just on the eve of the Hour.

(1) There will be prevalence of mass illiteracy, drinking of intoxicating liquors, fornication, warm reception of friends and cold treatment with parents, noise in mosques, and influence and leadership of the wicked in a society.

(2) The wicked will be feared for fear of their harms, and the most undeserving persons will be entrusted with works of trust and responsibility.

(3) There will arise singing girls who will sing with newly-invented musical instruments

(4) Females will greatly increase over the males, so much so that there will be nearly 50 females to be maintained by a male.

(5) Some people will arise with sayings of the Prophet which nobody had heard before.

(6) The people will not follow the companions of the Prophet who will be held in light estimation.

(7) *A fire will break out in Hedjaz and will spread far and wide.

(8) *A battle will break out and it will drive away the people of the east towards the west.

(9) *The river Euphrates will disclose enormous heaps of gold for which 99 p. c. of the people present will be killed in mutual fights.

(10) Arabia will be turned into artifical meadows and rivers.

(11) Locusts will altogether disappear.

(12) A beast will appear which will talk with the people, a rod will talk with its owner and a man's buttock will disclose the deeds of a wife in her husband's absence.

* See note 2346 for fulfilment of this prophecy.

(13) A man named Muhammad-b-Abdullah called Al-Mehdi coming from the family of Hazrat Hasan will rule over the land and fill it up with justice. He will fly from Medina to Mecca to avoid the charge of Khalifate but he will be given allegiance before the Ka'ba. Then he will defeat an army at Baida'a to be sent against him from Syria. There the Syrian and Iraq devotees will swear allegiance to him. He will defeat an army of the Kalb tribe and will advance up to Khorasan and Transoxania. There Hares Harras and his commander Mansur will help him, and he will return from Khorasan with black flags. He will rule for seven years and then die.

58. Anas reported. I heard the Apostle of Allah say: It is of the conditions of the Hour that the learning will be raised up, illiteracy will be prevalent, and fornication will increase, and the drink of intoxicants will increase, and the males will decrease and the females will increase till one man will be supporter of fifty women. And in a narration: Learning will decrease and illiteracy will be general.

61. Same reported that the Apostle of Allah said : The Hour shall not come to pass till wealth increases and becomes enormous, till a man takes out zakat of his wealth but will find none fit to accept therefrom, till the land of the Arabs becomes gardens and rivers. Muslim narrated it. And in his another narration, he said : (till) the habitations extend up to Ihab (or Yahab).

62. Jaber repoted that the Ms. of Allah said : In latter times, there will arise a Caliph who will distribute wealth but will not count it. And in a narration, he said : There will be a Caliph in the latter (generations) of my followers who will scatter wealth a scattering and will not count it a counting.

The murderer will come and say : I killed for this, and the severer (of blood-tie) will come and say : I have severed blood connection for this, and the thief will come and say : my hand has been cut off for this. It is said by the author of Mazhare Hoq that this fire already appeared near the town of Medina. In 650 A. H. it appeared on Friday in the last month of Jamadi and continued up to sunday, the 27th Rajab. Its rays were seen even from Busrah, Damascus and Yamamah. It melted away the stones but did not touch the trees. When it stopped, the fiire of battles broke out at Bagdad and other countries in the world. Bagdad was then completely ransacked by the Tartars. The people fled towards Egypt to save their lives.

Afterwards, he placed his hand on my head and said : O Ibn Hawalah ! when you will see the rule coming down to the Holyland (Jerusalem), earthquakes, troubles and major events shall be near, and the Hour shall come nearer to men than this hand of mine upon your head. 3247a —Mishkat 3247a. This tradition proves that Jerusalem will remain in possession of the non-Muslims for some time till it is conquered by the Muslims on the eve of the Hour. The first part of the tradition draws our attention to weakness of our power and strength, and to rely upon God in all of our mundane affairs. The Quran says : He who relies on God, He is sufficient for him (65 : 3 Q).

He was Muhammad, son of Hasan Askari. The man from the tribe of Kalb will be fighting against the Mehdi. This hadis is said to be more correct than 35 : 79, because in the latter the narrator has got doubt about the number of years.

2352. Greater signs before the Hour

(a) This section deals with the prophecies of the Holy Prophet relating to the greater signs that will occur on the eve of the Hour. The events will come to pass at that time as follows.

(I) A great war between the Arabs on one side and the Romans and Syrians on another side will break out, and it will continue for six or seven years till the Arabs will conquer Constantinople.

(2) During the continuance of the war, a wide-spread famine and drought will appear which will last for three days. In the third year, there will fall not a drop of rain and as a result most of the animals, beasts and people will be destroyed.

(3) When the Muslims will be engaged in dividing booties after the conquest of Constantinople, they will hear the appearance of Dajjal. He will appear in the last year of the great war.

(4) Before or after him, a beast will appear from between the mounts Safa and Merwah at Mecca. It will talk with the people and show some miracles.

(5) Then Jesus Christ who is alive in heaven will descend from heaven and will kill Dajjal with his own hand.

(6) During Jesus's magnificient reign, two most powerful tribes from Transoxania named Gog and Magog will appear and carry murders and pillage wherever they would go. They would pass by the lake of Tiberias and drink the whole of its water. They will then march on till they will reach the mount Khamar in Jerusalem. After general human massacres, they will try to murder those who are in heaven. Then Jesus and his companions will pray for human good. God will then send insects to destroy them. They will be thus killed to a man and their corpses will be taken away by birds.

(7) Then there will be profuse rain for days together and consequently the earth will assume the most luxuriant fertility.

(8) Thereafter a wind blowing from Syria will kill all the believers and Muslims, while the unbelievers will not be touched.

(9) There will be three earth sinkings, one in the east, one in the west and one in Arabia.

(10) A fire from Yemen will drive away the people towards the shall then suddenly come with the blowing of

(b) Dajjal. It appears from many traditions and specially from tradition 39 : 102 that Dajjal was living or at least born at the time of the Holy Prophet. He will not die till he will be killed by Jesus. In the mean time, he has been kept in strong iron chains. The Holy Prophet has given his physical descriptions. He will be squaint of right eye, floating of the left eye, curly and coarse haired, having biting teeth, big and fat so much so that there will be a distance of 70 cubits between his two eyes. His father will be long statured with long nose like a beak, and his mother will be fat and long of two hands—39 : 120. His march will be speediest. He will arise from Khorasan mounting upon a white ass, and will travel all the lands within 40 days (or 40 years) carrying murders, pillage and devastations whereever he will go. He will be followed by 70,000 Jews of Ispahan with hoods or black head dresses. Mecca and Medina will be safe from his pillage as they will be guarded by angels. Landing at the foot of the mount Uhud near Medina, he will march towards Syria. There as elsewhere he will show many miracles. At the time when he will be giving life and death of a young man to strike belief in him that he is God, suddenly Jesus Christ will come down and will kill him at a land which is a town in Syria. Dajjal will have with him a mountain of provisions and a river of water. He will have some show of miracles. He will give life and death, bring back some shapes like dead fathers and relatives, bring treasures from hidden places and show some other miracles which will take away the faith of the majority of weak believers. Between his forehead, there will be written the word كافر (unbeliever).

84. Huzaifah-b-Osaid al Gefari reported : The Holy Prophet suddenly came to us while we were talking. He asked : What do you talk about ? They replied : We are talking about the Hour. He said : It will never come to pass till you see ten signs previous to it. He then mentioned the drought, and Dajjal, and the beast, and the rising of the sun from its place of setting, and the descent of Jesus, son of Mary, and Gog and Magog, and three earth-sinkings—one earth-sinking in the east, one earth-sinking in the west one earth-sinking in the Peninsula of Arabia, and the last of that will be a fire which will break out from Yemen and which will drive the people to their place of gathering. And in a narration: A fire shall come out from a side of Aden which shall drive away the people to the place of gathering. And in a narration: And in the tenth (sign), there will be a tempest which shall blow off the people to the sea.[2353] —Muslim.

عن حذيفة بن اسيد الغفاري قال اطلع النبي صلعم علينا ونحن نتذاكر فقال ما تذكرون قالوا نذكر الساعة قال انها لن تقوم حتى تروا قبلها عشر ايات فذكر الدخان والدجال والدابة وطلوع الشمس من مغربها ونزول

85. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Hasten to do good actions before six things: drought, Dajjal, beast of the earth, rising of the sun from its place of setting, the affairs of the public, and the special trial of somebody among you.[2354] —Muslim.

عن ابى هريرة قال قال رسول الله صلعم بادروا بالاعمال ستا الدخان والدجال ودابة الارض وطلوع الشمس من مغربها وامر العامة وخويصة احدكم (مسلم)

2353 The word "Dukhan" occurs in the Quran in the following verse: Therefore keep waiting for the day when the heaven shall bring a great drought -44 :10Q Dukhan means here drought or famine. Literally it means vapour or cloud. About the beast of the earth, it will come out from between Safa and Marwah. The Quran has got corroboration about this beast: And We will take out for them a beast from out of the earth (Quran). Some theologians say that it will come out with the staff of Moses and ring of Solaiman and that it will be 160 cubits long. It will run faster than anybody else. It will strike with its staff and make impression of مومن (believer) on the forehead of a believer and كافر (unbeliever) on the forehead of an unbeliever. Gog and Magog will be the two tribes whose remote ascendant was Noah. They will be non-Arabs. Regarding the fire from Yemen, it will be the last of these signs.

2354. This means death which is nothing but a great upheaval in one's life.

86. Abdullah-b-Amr reported: I heard the Messenger of Allah say: Verily the first of the signs that will come out will be the rising of the sun from its place of setting and the coming out of the beast to the people at forenoon, and whichever of these two comes to pass before its companion, the other will be near its footstep.

He said: It goes on till it prostrates beneath the Throne. It asks permission and it is then granted to it. It is near that it will prostrate but it will not be accepted from it, and that it will ask permission but it will not be granted to it, and it will be ordered: Return from where you have come. Whoso will reach him among you, let him fall down in that which he will see as fire, because it will be sweet pleasant water. Agreed upon it and Muslim added : Dajjal will be defective in eye with coarse hairs upon him, and there will be written between his eyes "unbeliever" which every believer, literate or illiterate, will read.

(as for) the day which will be like one year, will the prayer of one day be sufficient for us therein ? He replied : So, measure for it a measure. (a) We asked : O Ms. of Allah ! and what will be his speed in the world ? He said : Like (that of) the cloud which the wind drives away. on the mounts for as long a period as possible, and their udder will be large and their flanks full. Then he will come to a people and call them (to call him God). They will return his word to him and he will return from them. They will get up in the morning penniless with nothing of their properties in their hands. He will pass by a place in ruins and call it: Take out thy treasures, and then its treasures will follow him like the kings of bees. Then he will call a fat youngman and strike him with sword and cut him into two pieces like a shot at a target. Then he (Dajjal will call him and he (youngman) will come forward smiling while his face will be shining. He will be in that (state) when lo! Allah will send the Messiah, son of Mary. He will come down near the white tower to the east of Damascus between two red clothes, placing his hands upon the wings of two angels. When he will nod his head, it (pespiration) will drop down, and when he will raise it up, there will fall down from him drops like silver, like pearls. It will not be lawful for an unbeliever who will feel air of his breath but to die, and his breath will reach where his look will reach. He (Christ) will then search for him (Dajjal) till he will overtake him at the door of Lud, (b) and then he will kill him. Afterwards, there will come to Jesus a people whom Allah saved from him, and he will pass his hand over their faces and he will inform them of their ranks in Paradise. He will be in that (state) when lo! Allah will reveal to Jesus: Verily I have brought out some servants of Mine with whom none has got power to fight. So take My servants to Tur for protection. And Allah will send Gog and Magog, and they will come forth from every lofty place (21: 96Q). Their first batch will pass by the lake of Tiberias and drink what will be therein. Their last batch will pass and say: There was once water in this. Then they will march on till they will come to the mount of Khamar (and it is a mountain of Jerusalem) and say: We have killed those who are in the world. Now let us come to kill those who are in heaven. So they will shoot their arrows towards heaven, and Allah will return their arrows covered with blood. The Prophet of Allah and his companions will remain confined till the head of an ox will value to someone of them more than one hundred gold coins of to-day to someone of you. (c) Then Jesus, the Prophet of Allah, and his companions will pray (for their destruction). Allah will then send insects

He will fill it up with their stinking fats and corpses. Then Jesus, the Prophet of Allah, and his companions will turn towards Allah, and Allah will send birds like the necks of Bactarian camels. They will carry them and throw them where Allah will like. And in a narration : These (birds) will throw them at Nahbal (d) and the Muslims will fire their guns, arrows and cartridges for seven years. After that, Allah will send rain from which no house of clay, or stone, or straw will be left concealed. It will pour in till it will leave us like a filled-up tank. Then the earth will be ordered : Grow thy fruits and return thy fertility. At that time, a section will eat pomegranates and take shade under their refuges, and blessing will be given to the things sent till one teat-milk of camels will be sufficient for a congregation of men, and one teat-milk of cattle will be certainly sufficient for a tribe of the people, and one teat-milk of goats will be certainly sufficient for a party of men. 96. Abu Sayeed-al-Khodri reported that the Ms. of Allah said: Dajjal will come out. Then one of the believers will turn towards him, and many garrisons, garrisons of Dajjal, will meet him and will ask him: where do you intend (to go)? He will reply: I intend to go to this (Dajjal) who has come out. They will ask him: Do you not believe in our lord? He will reply. Nothing is concealed from our Lord. They will say: Kill him. Some of them will say to others: Has not your lord prohibited you to kill anybody in his absence? Then they will go with him to Dajjal. When the believer will see him, he will exclaim: O people! this is Dajjal of whom the Apostle of Allah had mentioned. He (Prophet) said: Dajjal will pass order regarding him

Some say that it is a village in Jerusalem, and some say that it is a villag in Palestine. (c) The food-stuff will run short and there will be practically nothing to save life. and he will be placed upon his belly and he (Dajjal) will say : Overtake him and behead him. Then his back and his belly will be beaten wide. He will ask : Will you not still believe in him ? He will reply : Thou art Anti-Christ, the great liar. Then order will be passed about him and he will be sawed with a saw from the middle of his head till he will be severed between his legs. After that, Dajjal will walk between the two pieces and say to him "Stand up". He will then stand up erect. Afterwards he will ask him : Will you believe in me ? He will reply : I have got nothing but further light about you. Then he will proclaim : O you people ! verily he will not be able to do (anything) with anybody among the people after me. Then Dajjal will overtake him to slaughter him. He will place a knife between his neck and throat but will find no way for it. Then he will catch hold of his hands and legs and throw him off. The people will think that he has thrown him unto the fire, while he will be thrown in to the garden. Then the Messenger of Allah said : He will be the greatest of man as a martyr near the Lord of the worlds. 2357

97. Omme-Sharik reported that the Apostle of Allah said : The people will certainly flee away from Dajjal till they will take shelter to the mountains. Omme Sharik said : I asked : O Ms. of Allah ! where will be the Arabs at that time ? He said : They will be few. 2357a —Muslim.

A man will come out to him, and he will be the best of persons, and he will say : I bear witness that thou art Dajjal of whom the Messenger of Allah gave us information. Dajjal will say : Inform me that if I can kill this man and bring him again back to life, you will whether doubt about the affair. "No" they will reply. When he finished his prayer, he sat upon the pulpit smiling and said : Let every man remain in his seat. Then he said : Do you know why I have called you together ? They replied : Allah and his Messenger know best. He said : By Allah, I have not called you together for hope or for fear, but I have called you together as Tamim ad-Dari was a Christian, and he came and accepted Islam, and he narrated to me a tradition which agreed with what I had communicated to you about Dajjal, the anti-Christ. He informed me that he had embarked upon a sea-boat with thirty men of Lakhm and Zojam. Then waves played with them for a month in the sea and threw them off to an island when the sun was about to set in. They sat in a small side-boat and entered the island. A beast of profuse coarse hairs met them. They did not know how long will be its front from its back owing to excessive hairs. They asked: Woe to thee! what art thou? It replied: I am a spy. Go to this man in the monastery as he is eager enough to have your information. He said: When it named a man for us, we fled away from it lest it might be the devil. Then we hurriedly went on till we entered the monastery, when lo! there was therein a biggest man whom we did never see before regarding constitution. He was severely tied up with his hand tied to his neck, and what was between his knees and joints was tied up with iron. We asked: Woe to thee! what art thou? He said: You have power to get my information. Inform me who you are. They replied: We are a people from Arabia. We embarked upon a order will be passed to me to come out. I shall then come out and travel in the world. I shall leave no village at which I shall not land within 40 nights except Mecca and Taibah which will be forbidden to me. Whenever I shall wish to enter one of the two, an angel with sword in his hand will encounter with me and prevent me therefrom. There will be angels on every side of it to guard it. The Apostle of Allah said while he struck his pulpit with his staff: This is Taibah, this is Taibah, this is Taibah meaning Medina. Behold! did I not tell you? 'Yes' said the people. After that, I was by the side of a man, curly-haired, squaint of right eye as if his eye was a floating grape, having similarity with Ibn Qatan whom I have seen among the people, having placed his hands upon the shoulders of two men in going round the House. 109. Asma'a-bn-Yezid reported. The Apostle of Allah was in my house. He mentioned about Dajjal. He said: Verily there will pass three years before him. In one year, the heaven will withhold one third of its rain and the earth one-third of its herbs; and in the second (year), the heaven will withhold two-thirds of its rain and the earth two-thirds of its herbs; and in the third (year), the heaven will withhold the whole of its rain and the earth the whole of its herbs. There will remain nothing having hoofs and biting teeth from the beasts except that it will be destroyed. The greatest of his trials will be that he will come to an Arab and say: Inform me that if I can bring your camel back to life, you will whether know that I am your Lord. He will reply: Yes. Then he will make a figure for him like his camel which will be as beautiful as possible in udder and the biggest in hump. He said: Then a man whose brother was dead and whose father was dead will come and he will say: Inform me that if I can

She said : Then the Ms. of Allah came out on his call of nature and then he returned while the people were in dread and anxiety on account of what he had informed them. She said : Then he took hold of the two sides of the door and said : What troubles you, O Asma'a ? I replied O Ms of Allah ! you have emptied our minds for the remembrance of Allah. He said : If he comes out while I am alive, I shall be his disputant ; and if not, verily my Lord is my successor upon every believer. I said : O Ms of Allah ! by Allah we shall grind our flour but we do not prepare bread till we are hungry. How will it be with the believers at that time ? He replied : What suffices the inmates of heaven from Tasbih and Taqdis will suffice them. —Mishkat.

2358. Ibn Sayyad

It is not definitely known why Ibn Sayyad , a man coming from a Jewish family of medina, was given so prominence that a section for him in the holy traditions has been devoted. He was not a historical figure like the false Prophet Musailama, nor was he an embodiment of evils in order to get the contemptible epithet of Dajjal as he is said to have accepted Islam in latter times, joined some battles of the Prophet and made pilgrimage. The nick name of Ibn Sayyad was Saf. He was well-trained in the art of sorcery and foretelling. At that time in Arabia, a good foreteller was sometimes called a prophet. He himself asked the Holy Prophet on many occasions to believe him as a prophet. This probably led the companions Jaber-b-Abdullah and Ibn Omar to entertain some belief that Ibn Sayyad was Dajjal. This was more so because the descriptions of Dajjal and of his parents greatly coincided with Ibn Sayyad and his parents. The companions are right in this sense that the Holy Prophet sometimes called false prophets and misguided leaders as Dajjals—39 : 28. But he never definitely said that Ibn Sayyad was Dajjal who will be destroyed by Jesus. That Ibn Sayyad was not Dajjal of the Hour is belied by the following facts. Tradition 39 : 102 denies it and Ibn Sayyad himself denied it in 39 : 115. Dajjal will not enter Mecca and Medina but Ibn Sayyad lived at Medina and went to Mecca. He died a natural death long before Jesus Christ's second advent. It can be surmised that as Ibn Sayyad had some evils of real Dajjal in him, the Muslims were warned not to approach him.

111. Abdullah-b-Omar reported that Omar-b-al-Khattab went with the Messenger of Allah with a company of his companions towards Ibn Sayyad till they found him playing with the children in the residence of Banu Magala, and at that time Ibn Sayyad reached the neighbourhood of maturity but not discretiontill the Ms. of Allah struck his back with his hand. Afterwards he asked : Do you bear witness that I am the Apostle of Allah ? Then he looked towards him and said : I bear witness that you are the Apostle of the illiterates. Afterwards Ibn Sayyad said : Do you bear witness that I am the Apostle of Allah ? Then the Messenger of Allah left it and afterwards said : I believe in Allah and in His Messenger. After that, he said to Ibn Sayyad : What do you see ? He replied : A truthful man and a liar have come to me. The Ms. of Allah said : Affair has become mixed over you.

The Ms. of Allah said : Verily I kept concealed for you a secret name. He kept concealed for him "The day when the heaven will bring a great drought—44 . 10Q " He said : It is smoke He said Be off, you will never surpass your power. Omar asked O Ms. of Allah ! do you order me about him that I may strike his neck ? The Ms. of Allah said · If he is he (Dajjal), you have no power over him, and if he is not he, there's no good in his murder. Ibn Omar said · Then the Ms. of Allah and Obai-b-Ka'ab al Ansari went after that intending a date tree wherein there was Ibn Sayyad. The Ms. of Allah began to conceal himself at the roots of the date tree and he was playing trick to hear something from Ibn Sayyad before he could see him, and Ibn Sayyad was lying on his bed in a street for him wherein there was inaudible sound. The mother of Ibn Sayyad saw the Prophet concealed at the root of the date tree and said : O Sa'f (and it was his name) ! he is Muhammad ! Then Ibn Sayyad stopped. The Holy Prophet said : If you had left him, it would have been good. Abdulla-b-Omar Said : Then the Apostle of Allah stood among men, praised Allah with what is due to Him and then he mentioned about Dajjal. He said : Verily I warn you of him. And

112. Abu Sayeed al-Khodri repoted that the Ms. of Allah, Abu Bakr, and Omar met him meaning Ibn Sayyad in a certain lane of Medina. The Holy Prophet asked him : Do you bear witness that I am the Apostle of Allah ? He asked : Do you bear witness that I am the Apostle of Allah ? The Holy Prophet replied : I believed in Allah and in His angles, and in His books and in His messengers. What do you see ? He (Ibn Sayyad) said : I see the Throne upon water. Then the Ms. of Allah said : You see the throne of the devil upon the sea. He asked : And whatelse do you see ? He said : I see two truthful men and one liar or two liars and one truthful man. Then the Messenger of Allah said : He has got a mixed thing ; so leave him . [2359] —Muslim.

114. Nafe' reported that Ibn Omar met Ibn Sayyad in a certain lane of Medina and asked him a question which enraged him. He was so infuriated (with rage) that it filled up the entire body. Then Ibn Omar went to Hafsah while it (news) had already reached her. She said to him: May Allah have mercy on you. What did you want from Ibn Sayyad? Do you not know that the Apostle of Allah said: Verily he will come out with rage which will be enkindled? —Mus'im.

Have you not heard the Ms. of Allah say that there will be no son born to him? But there is a son born to me. Has he not said that he will be a polytheist? But I am a Muslim. Has he not said that he will neither enter Medina, nor Mecca? But I have come from Medina intending to go to Mecca. Afterwards he said to me at the end of his talk: Behold! I know certainly his birth-place and his abode and his whereabouts, and I know his father and his mother. He said: Then he cast me in doubt. I said to him: Fie to thee for the remaining day. Abu Bakrah said: We heard of the birth of a son among the Jews at Medina. Then I and Jubair-b-Awam went till we went to his parents, when lo! the descriptions of the Ms. of Allah were in them both. The Ms. of Allah said : If he is he (Dajjal), you are not his murderer. Verily his murderer will be Jesus, son of Mary ; and if he is not he, it is not for you to kill a man out of the covenanted people. The Ms. of Allah did not cease to fear that he was Dajjal.

2361. Abul Qasem was the Holy Prophet. He was so called because of his eldest son so named.

CHAPTER XL

2362. Descent of Jesus (P.H.)

The second advent of Jesus Christ (Peace be on him) is a truth and finds corroboration from the authentic traditions reported by no less authorities than Bukhari and Muslim. The rightly-guided Calips, the companions of the Prophet, the pious Imams and jurists of Islam have all admitted this fact. Not the least controversy or even a semblance of controversy was raised by them about it. This is therefore an Ijma which is binding upon the Muslims The Christians also believe the second advent of Jesus as truth. Recently a section [1] of the people has belied it by disbelieving the traditions and giving almost a new individual interpretation not supported by any standard tafsirs.

1. The Qadians or the followers of Mirza Golam Ahmad of Qadian (the Punjab) believe that Jesus Christ will not come again as he died a natural death and was buried at Srinagar in Kashmere (see note 1723, P.686 of Muhammad Ali's translation of the Quran). The Christians believe that Jesus Christ died on the Cross but he reappeared again in flesh and blood and lives in heaven. The Quran says that Jesus was not crucified and killed but he was raised up to heaven. The traditions say that he will reappear again to reclaim the lost humanity from the evil path. The Quran says : And their saying : Surely we have killed the Messiah, Jesus son of Mary, the apostle of Allah, and they did not kill him, nor did they crucify him but it was made dubious to them (4 : 157Q). I will take you and raise you up to Me and clear you of those who disbelieve - 3 : 54Q. These verses do not deny Jesus being nailed on the Cross, but they negative his having expired on the Cross. There was no eye witness of his death but it was only a supposition that he died as a result of nailing. Time only will proof this assertion of the Quran. Again the Qadians prove his natural death by interpreting the word توفتنه in verse 5: 117 as death. This is their conclusive proof. The verse runs thus : فلما توفيتنى كنت انت الرقيب عليهم which has been translated as "When Thou didst cause me to die, Thou wert the watcher over them." Does the word توفى always mean death from which there is no rise ? The Quran says: And He it is who takes your souls at night - 6: 60Q. This dose not surely mean death. Again the Quran says : Allah takes the souls at the time of their death and those (souls) that die not during their sleep .....He sends the others back till an appointed time --39 : 42Q. The Quran says : They did not certainly kill him, but Allah raised him up to Him and Allah is Mighty, Wise - 4 : 158Q. This shows that Allah raised him up to heaven. Here the word وفى was not used to mean death. This is very clear from the next verse which leaves no room for doubt that Jesus has not died. The vers runs thus : And there will be no follower of the Book but will

When Dajjal representing the embodiment of evils will let flow his poisonous teachings attended with general oppressions and sham miracles, Jesus will come down from heaven placing his two palms upon the wings of angels and descend in the white minaret to the east of Damascus. He will pray behind Imam Mehdi thereby showing that he will establish the Shariat of the Holy Prophet of Arabia. He will destroy the Cross which represents the crucification of Jesus Christ because it is a gross misrepresentation. He will establish the kingdom of God on earth in which there will remain no mutual hatred, jealousy, enmity and rancour. The world will be filled up for a time with the melodious names of Allah. He will be nearly of square size, red, extremely beautiful, having hanging hairs. He will take wife and issues will be born to him. He will search for Dajjal and find him out at Lud, a town in Syria, and he will kill him there with his own hand. Thereafter almost all including the Jews and Christians will accept Islam thus proving the truth of the Quranic verse: He it is who sent His Apostle with guidance and true religion in order that He may cause it to prevail over all other religions (9 : 33Q). During his khilafat, two mighty tribes known as Gog and Magog will appear from the hilly countries between Turkisthan and Transoxania and will devastate the land carrying pillage and murders. Through the invocation of Jesus, they will be destroyed. Then there will be heavy shower of rain which will enrich the world with food stuffs and vegetables. Thereafter a pleasant wind will carry all the believers to death leaving the unbelievers to suffer. After this Jesus will die and he will be buried at the Prophet's sepulchre just by the side of his tomb.

certainly believe in him (Jesus) before his (Jesus's) death.—4 : 159Q. There can be no other meaning. This interpretation is supported by tradition 40 : 1 reported by Bukhari and Muslim. Surely Prophet's interpretation is correct. Therefore the Jews who have not believed him before will believe Jesus before Jesus's death after his second advent. If he comes at the second time, he must in that case be alive, because if a man dies once, he cannot ordinarily come back in this world. The Quran says : He withholds that (soul) on which he has passed the decree of death. If Jesus suffered death 2000 years ago, he cannot come to reconvert the Jews. It has been contended by the Ahmadis (a section of the Qadians) that as the Holy Prophet is the last of the prophets, Prophet Jesus cannot come again and that Jesus would in that case be the last of the prophets. In other words, Jesus will not reappear in this world. If this assertion is assumed to be correct, it would falsify all the authentic traditions and the verses of the Quran as aforesaid. As Jesus Christ appeared in the world before the Holy Prophet, his second advent is not considered as the advent of a new prophet.

1. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger Allah said : By One in whose hand there is my life, it is certainly near that the son of Mary will bring down to you justice and administration ; he will destroy the Cross, kill the swines and replace Jizya. The wealth will increase, so much so that nobody will accept it, so much so that one prostration will be better than the world and what will be therein. Afterwards Abu Hurairah said : Read if you like : And verily there will be none from among the people of the book who will not believe in him before his death (4 : 159Q) [3363]-the verse.

عن ابى هريرة قال قال رسول الله صلعم والذى نفسى بيده ليوشكن ان ينزل فيكم ابن مريم حكماً عدلاً فيكسر الصليب ويقتل الخنزير ويضع الجزية ويفيض المال حتى لا يقبله احد حتى تكون السجدة الواحدة خيراً من الدنيا وما فيها ثم يقول ابو هريرة فاقرءوا ان شئتم وان من أهل الكتب الا ليؤمنن به قبل موته الا ية (متفق عليه)

2. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said : The son of Mary will certainly come down doing administration and justice. He must break the Cross, kill the swines establish Jizya, and leave the young she-camels and there will be no riding over them, and mutual enmity, hatred and malice will certainly disappear. He must call towards wealth but 3363. This has got two interpretations according to standard tafsirs. One is the interpretation of Abu Hurairah as recorded in this tradition ; namely, the Jews and the Christians will all believe in Jesus Christ after his reappearance in the world and before Jesus's death. This proves that Jesus will come again and that he was lifted up and is not dead. The second interpretation put by some commentators along with the first one is that there will be none among the Jews and Christians who will not believe in the Holy Prophet Muhammad (or some say Allah) before the death of that Christian or Jew. But it will be of no use as signs of the next world will be coming in at the advent of death.

3. Jaber reported that the Messenger of Allah said : A party of my followers will not cease to fight for truth with victory up to the Resurrection Day. He said : Then Jesus, son of Mary, will come down. Their ruler will say : Come ! pray for us. 'No' he will say, 'verily some of you are rulers over others on account of Divine honour upon this people. —Muslim.

642w. Abdullah-b-Amr reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Jesus, son of Mary, will come down to the world. He will marry and there will be his issue, and he will live for forty five years and then die. He will be buried with me in my grave. Then I and Jesus, son of Mary, will stand up in one grave between Abu Bakr and Omar. —Ibnul Juozi.

2364. Death is a miniature Hour

This world goes on with the sun, moon, stars and other created things of nature working uniformly throughout the whole universe without any change or alteration. But there will occur an 2363a. He is said to be Imam Mehdi behind whom Jesus will pray. Jesus will show by this example that he is a follower of Muhammad.

Hour wherein there will suddenly come to pass mighty changes of this world. The sun, moon and the innumerable stars will vanish away, the mountains will be crumbled to pieces, the seas and the oceans will dry up and the whole heaven and earth will be turned upside down. This will be the Greatest Hour (الساعة) when the end of the world will come to give rise to another world. Similarly there is an hour in miniature in everybody's life which is fraught with the greatest calamity. That is the hour at death-bed. At that time, the eyes are taken out, the veins are snatched away the backbone is crushed and the whole physical frame are put to agonies which no human language can express. If there is a wound in the body, the whole body suffers endless pain. Imagine the condition of the body when the entire bodily limbs will be snatched away one by one. This is the turning hour of a man from one stage to another, from a life of flesh to a life of spirit. It has therefore been rightly called that death is an Hour in one's life.

4. Shu'bah reported from Qatadah from Anas who said that the Messenger of Allah had said : I and the Hour have been raised up like these two (fingers). 2365 —Agreed.

عن شعبة عن قتادة عن انس قال قال رسول الله صلعم بعثت انا والساعة كهاتين (متفق عليه)

5. Jaber reported : I heard the Holy Prophet say one month before he died : you ask me about the Hour. Verily its knowledge is near Allah, and I swear by God that there will be no soul breathing in the world and completing one hundred years which will be alive at that time. 2366

عن جابر قال سمعت النبى صلعم يقول قبل ان يموت بشهر تسئلونى عن الساعة وانما علمها عند الله واقسم بالله ما على الارض من نفس منفوسة يأتى عليها مائة سنة وهى حية يومئذ (مسلم)

2365. As there is little difference between the middle and the ring fingers in length, there will similarly be no large gap between the death of the Prophet and the coming of the Resurrection. It will be very near.

2366. Nobody who will live one hundred years after that time will see the Hour. It will come long after the lapse of 100 years. It may mean also that the last of the Prophet's companions will die after a lapse of 100 years. It is said that Anas and Salman were the last of the companions who died.

6. Abu Sayeed reported from the Prophet who said : There will not come one hundred years, while there will remain in the world a single soul breathing to-day. —Muslim.

عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صلعم قَالَ لَا يَأْتِي مِائَةُ سَنَةٍ عَلَى الْأَرْضِ نَفْسٌ مَنْفُوسَةٌ الْيَوْمَ (مسلم)

7. Ayesha reported that some of the desert Arabs came to the Holy Prophet and asked him about the Hour. He was looking at the younger one among them and saying : If he lives, old age will not overtake him till your hour overtakes you. —Agreed.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رِجَالٌ مِنَ الْأَعْرَابِ يَأْتُونَ النَّبِيَّ صلعم فَيَسْأَلُونَهُ عَنِ السَّاعَةِ فَكَانَ يَنْظُرُ إِلَى أَصْغَرِهِمْ فَيَقُولُ إِنْ يَعِشْ هٰذَا لَا يُدْرِكْهُ الْهَرَمُ حَتَّى تَقُومَ عَلَيْكُمْ سَاعَتُكُمْ (متفق عليه)

8. Mustaored-b-Shaddad reported from the Prophet who said : I have been sent in the (first) breath of the Hour, but I surpassed it as this surpassed this ; and he pointed out with his fingers-the ring and the middle fingers. —Tirmizi.

9. Sayeed-b-Abi waqqas reported from the Holy Prophet who said : Certainly I wish that my people should not become dishonoured before their Lord by being made to wait for half a day. It was questioned to Sa'ad : And how long is half a day ? He said : Five hundred years. 2366a

2367. The Wicked shall meet the Hour

During Jesus's second ministry, the whole world will accept the true Islam, and thus the following prophecy of the Quran will be fulfilled : It is He who sent His Apostle with guidance and the true religion that He may make it prevail over all the religions. And Allah is enough as a witness—48 : 28Q. After Jesus, a pleasant wind will continue to blow over the world and it will take away the life of everyone who will have an atom of faith in him leaving those untouched who will have no good in them. Thus the wicked will be singled out. They will continue to worship idols and commit all devilish acts for a short time when suddenly they will meet the Hour.

I used certainly to think when Allah revealed "It is He who sent His Apostle with guidance and the true religion in order that He may make it prevail over all other religions, though the polytheists dislike (61 : 9Q)" that that has ended. He said : That will occur so long as Allah pleases. After that, Allah will send a pleasant wind. Then everyone who will have faith in his heart to the weight of a mustard seed will die and he who will have no good in him will remain. They will go back to the religion of their forefathers. —Muslim.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللهِ صلعم يَقُولُ لَا يَذْهَبُ اللَّيْلُ وَالنَّهَارُ حَتَّى يُعْبَدَ اللَّاتُ وَالْعُزَّى فَقُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللهِ إِنْ كُنْتُ لَأَظُنُّ حِينَ أَنْزَلَ اللهُ هُوَ الَّذِي أَرْسَلَ رَسُولَهُ بِالْهُدَى وَدِينِ الْحَقِّ لِيُظْهِرَهُ عَلَى الدِّينِ كُلِّهِ وَلَوْ كَرِهَ الْمُشْرِكُونَ أَنْ ذَلِكَ تَامًّا قَالَ إِنَّهُ سَيَكُونُ مِنْ ذَلِكَ مَا شَاءَ اللهُ ثُمَّ يَبْعَثُ اللهُ رِيحًا طَيِّبَةً فَتَوَفَّى كُلَّ مَنْ كَانَ فِي قَلْبِهِ مِثْقَالُ حَبَّةِ خَرْدَلٍ مِنْ إِيمَانٍ فَيَبْقَى مَنْ لَا خَيْرَ فِيهِ فَيَرْجِعُونَ إِلَى دِينِ آبَائِهِمْ (مُسْلِمٌ)

14. Abdullah-b-Amr reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Dajjal shall come out and live for forty, (I don't know whether forty days or months or years) Then Allah will send Jesus, son of Mary, as if he is Urwah-b-Mas'ud. He will search him and will destroy him, and he

Therein there was an idol called Khalasah which was worshipped by the Dausees and other tribes. The Holy Prophet sent Jaber-b-Abdullah to destroy the false Ka'ba. It was therefore destroyed. In latter times, the women of the tribe will worship this idol and revolve round it.

Nobody on the face of the world who will have good (or faith) in his heart to the weight of a mustard seed will remain except that it will kill him, till if one of you enter in the heart of a mountain, it will enter it for him till it takes his life. He said: Then the sinners among the people will remain in the indiscrimination of birds and the ferocity of beasts, not knowing good and not denying evils. The devil will come to them in figure and say: Don't you feel shame? They will ask: What do you order us? He will direct them to worship idols, and they will remain upon that. Their provision will be ample, their living pleasant. Then there will be blowing in trumpet. Nobody will hear it except that he will lower one side of shoulder and raise up another. [2369a] The first who will hear it will be a man who will be repairing the fountain of his camel and will fall in swoon, and the people also will fall in swoon. Afterwards Allah will send a rain 2369. Jesus will live seven years after the murder of Dajjal. In 39 : 642w, it was said that Jesus will live for 45 years in the world. He lived already 33 years at the time of his first ministry. It appears therefore that he will live for 12 years after his second advent. Some say that he will live only for 7 years for the second time.

Keep them waiting ; they will be taken account. It will be said : Take out those who will be sent to the fire. It will be asked . How many out of how many ? It will be replied : 999 out of every thousand . SECTION 4

2370. The Hour and the Trumpet

The signs previous to the Hour (الساعة) have been described in detail in the previous chapter. What will be the major events when the actual Hour will come to pass ? There are graphic descriptions of these events in the Holy Quran. From this, it appears that the Hour will be the turning point for the creation of another world which "no eye hath seen, no ear hath heard and no heart hath conceived." It can therefore be better imagined than described what a horrible picture the Hour will assume when the existing order of things of this world and the normal working of its natural phenomena will cease.

The advent of the Hour will be heralded firstly by the rising of the sun from its place of setting, and secondly by the blowing of the Trumpet (الصور). There will be two blowings of the Trumpet ; and between these two, there will be an interval of forty years. At the first blowing, the world with all its natural phenomena will be destroyed and there will remain nothing but the Almighty, and at the second blowing there will come to pass the Great Resurrection (قيامة) bringing all the creatures of the world for accounts of actions done in this world. At the first blowing, the events that will occur have been described by the Quran as follows. So when the stars are made to disappear, and when the heaven is rent asunder, and when the mountains are carried away as dust, and when the Apostles are made to reach their appointed time, to what day is the doom fixed ?—77 : 8-12Q. And they say : When will this promise come to pass if you are truthful ? They will not wait but a single cry which will overtake them, while they will be contending with one another. They shall not be able to make a request, nor shall they return to their families—36 : 48-50Q. And when the Trumpet will be blown with a single blast, and the earth and the mountains are borne away and crashed with a single crashing, on that day shall the events come to pass and the heavens shall cleave asunder—69 : 13Q. When the earth shall be shaken with a shaking and the mountains shall be made to crumble with a crumbling, so that they shall be as scattered dust—56 : 4-6Q. When the Trumpet shall be sounded, then at that time shall be a difficult day for the unbelievers, anything but easy—74 : 8Q. When the sight becomes confused, and the moon becomes eclipsed, and the sun and the moon are brought together, man shall say on that day : Whither to fly to ? by no means ! there shall be no place of refuge—75 : 7-11Q. When the stars are made to disappear, when heaven is rent asunder, and when the mountains are carried away as dust—77 : 8Q. The day on which man shall be scattered as loosened wools—101 : 4Q. And the Trumpet shall be blown, so all those that are in the heavens and all those that are in the earth shall fall in swoon except such as Allah pleases – 39 : 68Q.

In short, everything of this world will disappear by the first blowing except the Almighty Allah.

15. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : There will be forty between the two blowings. (They

Then Allah will send water from heaven, and then they will grow as vegetables grow. He said : There will remain nothing of a man which will not perish except one bone and it is the root of tail, and out of it the creation will be formed on the Resurrection Day. 2371 Agreed upon it. And in a narration of Muslim, he said : As for every son of Adam, earth will devour him except that out of which he was created, and therein he will be formed.

18. Abdullah-b-Mas'ud reported that a learned man of the Jews came to the Prophet and said : O Muhammad ! verily Allah will hold the heavens on the Resurrection Day upon one finger, and the worlds upon one finger, and the mountains and the trees upon one finger, and water and earth upon one finger, and the rest of the creation upon one finger. Afterwards He will toss them and say : I am the King, I am Allah. Then the Messenger of Allah laughed out of satisfaction of what the learned man had said by way of corroboration of him. Then he read : And they have not honoured Allah with the honour due to Him, and the whole earth shall be in His grip on the Resurrection Day and the heavens will be rolled up in His right hand. Glory be to Him and exalted is He from what they set up (with Him)—39 : 67Q.

21. Abu Sayeed al-Khodri reported that the Messenger of Allah said : How can I enjoy when the holder of the Trumpet has got hold of it (by mouth) and turned his ear for listening and lowered his forehead waiting the time he will be ordered for blowing ? 2374. The Resurrection (القيامة)

(a) Different Names. The Resurrection is spoken of under various names the most important of which is given below :—The day of Resurrection (اليوم القيامة) occurring seventy times in the Quran, the day of requital (يوم الدين), the next world (يوم الاخرة) occurring over one hundred times, the day of trial (يوم الحساب) occurring five times. The Hour (الساعة) occurring 40 times in the Quran does not properly apply to the Day of Resurrection as it is the hour of Destruction (Doomsday), while the Resurrection is the hour of Construction. With the first blowing of the Trumpet, the Hour of Destruction will come to pass, and then after a lapse of forty years in Barzakh the Resurrection will take place with the blowing of the second Trumpet. There are other names of the Resurrection signifying its peculiar characteristics, some of which are given below :—The day of grief (يوم الحسرة), the day of repentance (يوم الندامة), the day of judgment (يوم المحاسبة), the day of separation (يوم الفصل), the day of congregation (يوم الحشر), the day of manifestation of defects (يوم التغابن), the day of shaking (يوم الزلزلة), the great event (الواقعة), the striking calamity (القارعة), the overwhelming calamity (الغاشية), the great truth (الحاقة), the day of meeting (يوم التلاق), the promised day (يوم الوعيد), the witnessed day (يوم المشهود). [1] The objects of these names is nothing but to draw our attention to the serious nature of the Judgment Day.

(b) New order of things in the Next world. There will be complete destruction of the old order of things in this world, and out of the destruction will come a new order of things with new creations of those who were living in this world from the beginning to the end. There will be resurrection not only of men but of angels, ginn, beasts, birds and everything that existed in this world. (6 : 38Q). The Holy Quran says : We have ordained death among you and none can prevent Us that We may change your attributes and make you grow into what you know not (56 : 58Q). Again it says : On the day when the earth will be changed into a different earth and the heavens as well (14 : 48Q). From these verses, it is clear that the old order of things will change yielding place to new. Just as a child in the womb of a mother lives in a state which is quite different from the wordly order of things, so also we shall enter into new order of things in the next world when we shall leave the womb of this world. As the child in embryo cannot conceive of this world residing in its mother's womb, we cannot also conceive of the next living in this world of ours. In order to give an idea, the Quran gives below the altered state of things in the next world in the following verses arising out of the destruction of the things of this world : Then it shall be blown again, when lo ! they shall stand up awaiting. And the earth shall shine with the light of its Lord, and the book shall be laid down, and the prophets and the witnesses shall be brought up (39 : 69). And the whole earth shall be in His grip on the Resurrection Day and the heavens will be rolled up in His right hand (39 : 67Q). And the Trumpet shall be blown when lo ! from their graves, they shall hasten on to their Lord. They shall say : O woe to us ! who has raised us from our sleeping-place ? .. .. .. .There shall be nought but a single cry when lo ! they shall be all brought before us (36 : 51Q). The day on which the Trumpet shall be blown, so that you shall all come forth in hosts, and the heaven shall be opened, so that it shall be all openings (78 : 19Q). The earth will be red-white plain without treess, plants, mountains, and rivers. The sun will shine just above the head from a little distance—41 : 17. The people will rise up naked, barefooted and uncircumcised—41 : 12. There will be no place for concealment and no shade except the shade of the Throne of the Almighty which the righteous only shall enjoy. There will be no sin or bloodshed or evil-doing as everybody will be engaged in the thoughts of his salvation. The Quran says : For every man out of them there will be an affair on that day which will keep him engaged (80 : 37Q). The first to rise from his grave will be the Prophet Muhammad (P.H.), and then the other prophets and pious men will follow him.

1. There are other names for which see page 441 of Ihya of Imam Gazzali. (Vol. 4).

(c) The altered state of things is scientific. That there will come a next world where accounts of this world will be taken is a self-evident truth. It comes out of a belief in the scientific principle of The Law of Evolution. What was man at first ? He was not even a being to be mentioned ? Then from a drop of water, there was blood ; and out of that there grew a body. It enterd into a different creation when life was infused in it. All these things took place in the mother's womb. Therein the child knew not the things of this world, nor conceived of them. Then he was ushered into a different world of ours where he was placed under complete changed conditions of things. Then he began to live and thrive till he left his worn-out physical frame to enter into another world—the world of grave technically called Barzakh. This period as has been said is just like the period of a child in mother's womb. Then with the Resurrection, he will enter a new world just like his previous coming out to this world from his mother's womb. After the period of Resurrection is over, he will enter another life and thus he will go no with an ever-increasing process of purification and progress. This Islamic theory of eternal progress, a higher order of human life, is quite scientific and reasonable. Just as this universe has grown out of chaos and a nebulous mass into a present state of systems of stars and their families, it will give place to a higher order of things which our present sense organs cannot conceive as the child in womb cannot conceive of the condition of this world. For example, it is said that in Paradise there shall be no hunger, thirst and call of nature. The Quran says : Surely it is for you that you shall not be hungry therein, nor bare of clothing, and that you shall not be thirsty therein, nor shall you feel the heat of the sun—20 : 118Q. If these things appear to be impossible, think of the condition of the child in the womb. It had no calls of nature, no hunger and thirst. Similar will be the condition of things. So on the Resurrection Day, it might be that man will get new form of skins and new increased power of sense organs to receive the consequences of deeds. If there is something which appears unreasonable in the sight of the present sense organs out of the descriptions of punishments and rewards on this day, it cannot be rejected. It is certain that the pious will enter a happy phase of life owing to their good deeds in this world and the wicked will be made to compensate their loss by being detained in the reformatory school of Hell.

(d) Doubt in the Resurrection is meaningless. To entertain doubt in the next world is to recognise limit to human power of understanding. This is nothing but foolishness on the part of man. Has He not created man out of nothing ? Has He not infused life in mother's womb to a dead figure ? Then how is it impossible for Him to bring something again on the Resurrection Day out of nothing ? It is to this fact that the Quran reminds us by saying : And they say : what ! when we shall have become bones and decayed particles, shall we then be indeed raised up to a new creation ? Do they not consider that Allah who created the heavens and the earth is able to create their likes—17 : 98Q. If you wonder, then wonderful is their saying—What ! when we become dust, shall we then be in a new creation ?—13 : 5Q. In case of no next world for rewards of the virtuous and punishment of the sinners, the sufferings of the pious in this world and the enjoyments of the sinners cannot at all be explained. Why do vices go unpunished in this world ? It is because of the next world where punishment for vices will be meted out in full.

(e) Resurrection physical or spiritual. Much intellectual blood is being spent on the question whether man will rise with body or without body. The old theory of dogmatic religion upholds the doctrine of only physical resurrection, while the new school of thought inclines to adopt only the spiritual resurrection. We cannot definitely answer either of the two questions as our vision of comprehension does not extend so far. The Quran and Hadis give us some clue by upholding the doctrine of spiritual resurrection combined with a physique made out of the good and evil deeds of a man. To admit either of the two doctrines is to limit divine power. Why not then think of the physical and spiritual resurrection combined, quite different from the physique and spirit of this world. Even the old earth and the old heaven will pass away. If there occur a change in such natural phenomena, it is also quite possible that there might be a change of the constitution and physique according to virtuous and evil deeds of an individual. The Quran says : We may change your attributes and make you grow into what you know not. And you know the first growth. Why do you not then mind ?—56 : 58Q. Everything secret or open will be brought to light in a magnified form, and there will be no secrets in nature. The Quran says : Certainly thou wert heedless of it but now We have removed from thee thy veil, so thy sight to-day is sharp—50 : 22Q.—See note 1532.

(f) The Day is very fearful. All the prophets and all the revealed books warn the serious and horrible nature of the Judgment Day. Prophets as many as two lacs came down to warn the people of this day, and revelation of so may books nearly 200 in number came down with the same purpose. There are graphic descriptions of the serious nature of the day in the chapters Hud (11), Waqiah (56), Mursalat (77), An-Naba (78) and Al-Takbir (81). The Holy Prophet said that these chapters of the Quran made his hairs grey. It will be a day of the greatest congregation of men, birds, and beasts of past and present ages, from the beginning of the world up to the end to take their trial (6 : 38Q). There will be so much perspiration of the people that the earth will be filled up with it and it will flow like torrents. The flow will then rise up overtaking some up to ankles, some-up to waist, some up to breast, some up to ear-tips, and some will be about to be drowned according to their respective duties. Men will be looking up towards heaven for forty years. Thirst will fry them, and bellies will be burnt with hunger. On that day, everyman will see his actions presented to him. Hands and feet will assume the roll of the tongue. The Quran says : What will make you realise what the Judgment Day is ? And what will make you realise what the Judgment Day is ?—The day on which no soul shall control anything for a soul, and the command on that day shall be Allah's—82 : 17Q. They ask : When will be the Day of Judgment ? It will be the day on which they shall be tried at the fire—51 : 13Q. In short, the various names given to the Judgment Day signify the serious nature of the day to which we must pay due care and attention.

2376a. The three classes will be the riders, the walkers on foot and those that will walk on their faces (41 : 15). The first class will be those who will be hopeful of Allah's mercy on the strength of His verse "There's no fear for them, nor will they grieve". The second class will be lower in position and will be those that will be fearful of the fire of Hell, and the third class will be those that will walk on their faces and whose constant companion will be the fire wherever they will move. Among the riders, the highest position will be that of the prophets and the martyrs, and the rest will have companions on the backs of camels according to their respective ranks.

4. Ibn Abbas reported from the Prophet who said : Verily you will be gathered together barefooted, naked, uncircumcised. Then he read : We shall reproduce him as We created him first, a promise on Us, verily We shall certainly do (Q). And the first man who will be clothed on the Resurrection Day will be Abraham, and verily some of my companions will be overtaken towards the left hand side. I shall then exclaim : O my dear companions ! O my dear companions ! He will say : Verily they continued to retreat on their foot-steps since thou hast left them. Then I shall say just as the pious man [2377] said : And I was a witness over them as long as I was among them, upto His saying 'the Mighty, the Wise'.

In other words, when those companions of the Prophet who turned retrogades after the death of the Prophet will be selected for Hell, the Holy Prophet will seek forgiveness for them as Jesus Christ will seek forgiveness for his companions as stated in the verses below. When Allah will say : O Jesus, son of Mary ! did you say to men-take me and my mother for two gods besides Allah ? He will reply : Glory be to Thee, it did not befit me that I should say what I had no right (to say). If I had said it, Thou indeed wouldst have known it. Thou knowest what is in my mind, but I do not know what is in Thy mind. Surely Thou art the knower of unseen things. 15. Same reported that the Apostle of Allah said: People will be gathered together on the Resurrection Day in three divisions, the footmen being one division, the riders one division and those (who will walk) on their faces one division. It was questioned: O Ms. of Allah! and how will they walk upon their faces? He said: Verily He who causes them to walk upon their feet is powerful to cause them walk upon their faces. Behold! they will certainly guard with their faces every lofty place and thorn. —Tirmizi.

2381a. There will be three classes of men. The first class will be the pious men, the second class will be lower in rank than the first class owing to their commission of sins and the third class will have enormous sins. The second class will walk and run but the loads of sins on their backs will retard their progress. They will wish to sell their gardens in exchange of an insignificant thing of a camel because they will not be able to reap any benefit from the gardens of Paradise till there will remain a single camel (an embodiment of sins) on their backs.

Then a proclaimer will proclaim and say: Where are those who used to change the r sides from their beds? They will stand up while they will be few and will enter Paradise without account. [2381b] After that, the remaining people will be ordered towards account.

2381b. These people will be those who said morning and night prayers in time after sacrificing their comforts of bed. Some say that these will be those who used to read Tahajjad prayers. The Quran defined the people as follows: Only those believe in Our communications who, when they are remainded of them, fall down in prostration and celebrate the prasie of their Lord, and are not proud. Their sides draw away from their beds, they call upon their Lord in fear and in hope and they spend out of what We have given them (32 : 15-16Q).

2382. Trial & Judgment

(a) Questions by Lord On the Judgment day, angels will come down from heaven with huge and gigantic figures (69 : 17Q). They will take hold of the forelocks of the guilty and take them to the place of trial before the Lord. Before questions are put, the beam of the Throne will shine forth as the Quran says : And the earth will shine with the beam of its Lord (39 : 69Q). At that time, everybody will understand that the Almighty has arrived there for taking accounts of deeds. The angels will stand in rows (78 : 38Q). The Almighty will then ask the Apostles : What is your answer ? They will reply : We have no knowledge. Verily Thou art the great knower of secrets (Q). They will be stupified with fear at this question. Prophet Noah will be called and asked : Did you convey My message ? 'Yes' he will reply. He will ask his people : Did he convey to you ? They will reply : Warner did not certainly come to us. Then Jesus will be asked : What ! did you say to the people—Take me and my mother for two gods besides Allah ? (5 : 116Q . Thus every prophet will be called individually as to his deeds. God will say to angel Gabriel : O Gabriel ! bring the Fire to me. Gabriel will at once obey the command Then Allah will ask : O fire ! say - who is thy creator ? Whereupon everybody will become almost dead with fear and they will all kneel down before their Lord. It is to this that the Quran says : And you will see every people kneeling down. Every people shall be called to its book (45 : 28Q). The transgressors and the oppressors will raise loud cries and shrieks, and everybody among the truthful will say "Myself, myself". When they will remain in that state, the Fire will spread out its heat for the second time and the people will be filled up with renewed fear and awe. At the third time, the people will fall flat upon their faces, father will flee away from his son, brother from his brother and husband from his wife (70 : 10Q). Then the people will be presented one by one before the Lord for trial. The Almighty will ask a man : O so and so ! did I not give superiority to thee, strength to thee, marriage to thee and make subservient to thee horses and camels ? He will reply 'Yes' He will again ask : Did you think that you would ever meet Me ? He will say "No". He will say : Now I will forget thee as thou didst forget Me (41 : 23). Then He will address : Did I not give you gift of youth ? Which act did you do therein ?

Did I not prolong your age ? Which action did you do therein ? Did I not give you provision ? Wherefrom did you acquire it and wherein did you spend it ? Then He will say : Sufficient is thy soul to-day as a reckoner (17 : 14Q) and the honourable scribes as witnesses. His mouth will then be sealed and his limbs will be addressed : Speak. His limb will then disclose his ins and outs (41 : 22). This will be the case of the sinners and hypocrites. The Almighty will address a pious man : Did you do such and such things' ? 'Yes' he will reply. He will say : I concealed your sins in the world and hence I grant you forgiveness. It is to this that the Prophet said : Whoso conceals the faults of his brother, Allah will conceal his faults on the Resurrection Day (41 : 19). The sinner will see the Fire by his right side and by his left. Prophet therefore said : Guard this fire with (the alms of) even a piece of date ; if you do not find it, with a sympathetic word (41 : 19). There will be none left who will not be asked these four things—his age, in what way he spent it ; his actions, with what object he did them ; his body, how he had worn it out ; and his wealth, wherefrom he acquired it and how he spent it. All these questions will be put to him in presence of all the creatures from the beginning of the world up to its end.

(b) The Book of Deeds. Then the Book of Deeds will be placed in his hands, such a book as had omitted nothing, small or great from being written. The Quran says : And the Book shall be placed, then you will see the guilty fearing from what is in it, and will say : Ah ! woe to us ! what a book is this ? It has not omitted small and great one but numbers them all. And they shall find what they had done, and your Lord does not deal unjustly with any man (18 : 49Q.) And We made everyman's actions to cling to his neck, and We will bring forth to him on the Resurrection Day a book which he will find wide open (17 : 13Q.) Whoever has done an atom's weight of good shall see it, and whoever has done an atom's weight of evil shall see it (99 : 7Q). [1] The Almighty Allah will then ask : Read thy book, thy own soul is a reckoner against thee this day (17 : 14Q). The virtuous will receive it by the right hand and the sinner by the left and the unbelievers by the back (69 : 19Q). What is this Book of deeds ? Is it a book of pages written with pen and ink ? No, it is the book of soul on which impressions or effects of actions have been deeply imprinted. Do we see the writings in ink of the songs and dances in gramaphone records ? The soul-recording of deeds is also the same. Is preservation of deeds impossible ? If a man can preserve his actions in ether for radio talks and in gramaphone records for reproduction, is it not possible for his Creator to reproduce his deeds on the Resurrection Day from the record of soul ? Therefore it has been said : Thy own soul is sufficient against thee as a recokner this day.[1] The terms 'Book' of deeds', 'Balance', 'Fountain' etc. have been used to convey clear ideas to human beings of the Day of Resurrection. As a result of the presentation of the Book of deeds, seventy thousands (and some say more) of the followers of the Prophet will go to paradise without account, and 999 out of every thousand from the Gog and Magog tribes will enter Hell. For the sinner in general, the Lord will pass order to the angels : Lay hold on him, then put a chain on him, then thrust him into a chain the length of which is seventy cubits (69 : 30Q). At this time, the heavens and earth will weep for him at his disaster.

(c) The Balance (الميزان) After those that will enter paradise without account and those that will enter the Fire, there will remain a class of too numerous people who mixed good with evils and thus committed both virtues and sins. The virtues and sins of only these people will be weighed in the Balance. The Quran says : We will not set up a balance for them (unbelievers) on the Day of Resurrection (18 : 103Q). The first class will be the people who spent their nights by standing in prayer and whom neither the commodities of this world, nor its riches could have diverted from the remembrance of Allah (24 : 37Q). The second class will be the polytheists and unbelievers-those that set up partnership with God and disbelieved the Prophets and the simple articles of religion. The trial at the Balance will be very severe and there will be none left who will not be overwhelmed with fear, bewilderment and crushing anxieties. The Holy Prophet said that on three occasions nobody will remember anything - when actions will be weighed in the Balance, when the Book of deeds will be given and near the Path (41 : 27). If virtues outweigh, the man will be fortunate and will enter Paradise, if sins outweigh, the man will be unfortunate and enter Hell. It is to this fact that the Quran says : Then as for one whose measure (of good deeds) is heavy, he shall have a pleasant life, and as for one whose measure is light, his abode shall be the abyss. And what will make you know what is it?—A burning fire (101 : 6Q).

(d) Significance of the Balance. The significance of "the Book of deeds" is equally applicable to the instrument of measurment called 'The Balance'. This Balance is required in the world for measuring things of weight and space by a pair of scales by some other instruments. Fixed weight is placed in one scale to find out the certain measure of a thing as to whether it falls short or outweighs the fixed standard, and decision is arrived at accordingly, and the result is written down in an account book with ink and pen. The Book of deeds as has been said above is nothing but soul, and the writing is nothing but impression of the effect of an action. Virtues and vices are measured in the Balance of Shariat which has got fixed rules and regulations. If the force of virtue is greater than that of vice, the former prevails and the latter is effaced from the soil of soul, and if the force of vice is greater, it prevails and the force of virtue is effaced from the soil of soul. In this way, the balance remains in the soil of soul in every action of a man. Indeed action has got no weight in space but has got effect like force of electricity or steam. Out of a certan measure of matters, there comes out energy of electricity. Similarly out of a certain measure of good and evil, there remains a force which makes an impression on soul. If good prevails, it makes the spiritual growth of a man possible and if evil prevails, it has got a retrogading effect on that growth. The Quran therefore reminds us of this rule: And as for those whose balances are heavy, these are successful, and as for those whose balances are light, these are they who caused damage to their souls—23 : 102Q. Thus spiritual deterioration is caused by the neglect of the Balance of Shariat injunctions and prohibitions. Again the Quran says: We sent our apostles with clear arguments, and sent down with them the Book and the Balance that men may conduct themselves with equity (57 : 25Q). This shows that the Balance is with everybody and that everybody is to do actions according to a fixed order of things. How should we measure our deeds in the world? It is by taking daily weight of our actions after judging them with the fixed rules of Shariat. Hazrat Omar said "Take account of yourself before account is taken of you, and measure it with the Balance of Shariat." This accounting is nothing but to be sincerely repentant for the sins hitherto committed and for the omissions of the obligatory duties. It is to return the right of the oppressed-even a seed for a seed wrongly taken, to seek pardon from one whose right has been taken, and who has been injured unjustly by tongue, hand or evil conjectures. If such a sinner dies without repentance as aforesaid, he will meet them near the Balance on the Resurrection Day claiming their rights and saying "You have rebuked me, you have oppressed me, you have laughed at me out of vanity, you have backbited me, you have badly treated me as a neighbour, as a servant, as a poor man, you have not nursed me in my sickness, you saw me hungry but still you did not give me food, you saw me thirsty but still you did not give me drink, you saw me naked but still you did not give me cloth, you did not repel oppression on me though you had power to do so etc." At that time, Allah will proclaim : To-day every soul will be recompensed for what he did. There's no oppression to-day (Q)." And thus the verse will come out to be true : And don't think Allah heedless of what the oppressors do (14 : 42Q). He whose rights were infringed will get the virtues of the wrong-doer to the extent of the injury done, and if the virtues fall short of compensation, the sins of the wronged will fall on the wrong-doer. Thus the wrong-doer will be bereft of virtues and become empty handed when virtues will be urgently required. He will be truly poor. It is to this poverty that the Prophet draws our attention. At that time, the so-called virtuous wrong-doer will quarrel. The Quran says to this effect : You are mortal and they are also mortal, then you will quarrel on the Resurrection Day before your Lord (Q). So great is the importance laid down by the Prophet on the duties towards fellow-beings. [1]

(e) The Great Path (الصراط). After the measurement is over, the people will be driven towards the Great Path which runs over a bridge extended over the back of the Hell-fire. The bridge is sharper than knife and thinner than hair. There will be the fire of which the flames will be rising high just below the bridge and there will be thorny plants raising their heads above in the fire. Only those who were steadfast to the straight path of Islam will be able to cross it safe by virtue of their good deeds, and those who went astray and made their backs heavy will slip down unto Hell at the first step they will take on the Path. The Path will be enveloped in darkness and only those that will have light of good deeds will be able to pass it, some in the twinkling of an eye, some like the passing of air, some galloping, some walking, some crawling and falling down. This will occur according to the light of good deeds.

The slogan of the Prophets would be 'O Lord, give security, give security,' (رب سلم سلم). He will exclaim : O woe to me ! would that I were dust ! (78 : 40Q). The Holy Prophet will be the first to cross the Path with his pious followers. None would speak except one to whom the Beneficient God permits (78 : 38 Q). Nothing but pious deeds will be true friends at the great crisis. What is the significance of the Path ? Are these things impossible ? At the very outset, it must be said that everything is possible with the Almighty Allah. He has got power to creat a Path as aforesaid and to save the virtuous from this crisis by His infinite wisdom. We must confess that our conception cannot go so high as to catch the true implication of the Path, bridge and other things just as a child in womb cannot grasp the things of this world. Thirdly, this way of narrating things as to the true picture of this great crisis appears very clear to men, while it would have been quite unintelligible if any spiritual significance would have been attached to it. The Path over the bridge therefore stands for a great crisis - what awaits for our trial before we actually enter Paradise. It also clearly shows that our pious and good deeds and the intercession (وسليه) of our Prophet will be the true saviours in that great calamity. Truly the Quran says : And whatever of good you send on before-hand for yourselves, you will find it with Allah ; that is best and greatest in reward (73 : 20 Q).

18. Ayesha reported that the Holy Prophet said : There is nobody whose account will be taken on the Resurrection Day but will be destroyed. I asked : Has not Allah said : Soon there will be easy account (84 : 8 Q) ? He said : That is certainly a general remark, but he whose account will strictly be taken will perish.

Then He will say : Do you deny anything in it ? Have My scribes, the protectors, oppressed you ? 'No, O Lord' he will reply. He will ask : Have you any excuse ? 'No, my Lord' he will reply. He will say : Yes, there is reward for you near Me, and there will be no oppression on you to-day. Then a line therein will be found out : I bear witness that there is no deity but Allah and that Muhammad is His servant and Messenger. He will say : Take your measure. He will say : O Lord ! what is this line with these scrolls ! He will say : You will not be oppressed. Then the scrolls will be placed in one scale, and the line in another scale. The scrolls will be light and the line will be

Will you remember your wives on the Resurrection Day? The Apostle of Allah said: Behold! in three places, none will remember any body, near the Balance till he will know whether his balance will be light or heavy, and near the Record (of deeds) till it will be called—Come, read your record, till he will know where his record will fall, whether in his right hand or in his left from behind his back; and near the Path when it will be placed between the two backs of Hell.

I have covenanted slaves who take me as false, commit treachery with me, and disobey me; and I rebuke and beat them. How shall I treat them? The Messenger of Allah said: When the Resurrection Day will come, account will be taken of what they committed trachery with you and disobeyed you and took you as false, and of your punishment to them. If your punishment to them be proportionate to their sins, it will be equal, neither for you, nor against you; and if your punishment to them be less than their sins, there will be addition to you; and if your punishment to them be more than their sins, the addition will be taken from you for them. The man turned to a side and began to lament and weep. Then the Ms. of Allah said: Do you not read the verse of the Almighty Allah?—We will keep just Balances for the Resurrection Day. So no soul will be oppressed with anything though it be to the weight of a mustard seed. We shall bring it and sufficient are We as Reckoners. The man said: O Ms. of Allah! I find for me and these (slaves) nothing better than to part with them. I bear witness to thee that all of them are just free. —Tirmizi.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ فَقَعَدَ بَيْنَ يَدَيْ رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ صَلَّى اللّٰهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ يَا رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ اِنَّ لِيْ مَمْلُوْكِيْنَ يَكْذِبُوْنَنِيْ وَيَخُوْنُوْنَنِيْ وَيَعْصُوْنَنِيْ وَاَشْتِمُهُمْ وَاَضْرِبُهُمْ فَكَيْفَ اَنَا مِنْهُمْ فَقَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صَلَّى اللّٰهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ اِذَا كَانَ يَوْمُ الْقِيٰمَةِ يُحْسَبُ

2385a. It means that inspite of great many sins that a Muslim might have committed in the world, he will go to Paradise provided he had firm faith in Allah and in the prophethood of Muhammad. This will weigh heavy on the scale.

2386. Intercession & Fountain

(a) Intercession is an act of Divine grace. Intercerssion is not the same as the doctrine of Atonement. Islam recognises no intermediary between the worshipper and God who is equally approachable to all alike irrespective of caste, creed and social position.

Abraham who will say : I am not (fit) for it, but you should go to Moses, because he is one with whom Allah talked. So they will come to Moses. He will say : I am not for this, but you should go to Jesus because he is the Spirit of Allah and His word. So they will come to Jesus. He will say : I am not for it, but you should go to Muhammad. So they will come to me. I shall say: I am (fit) for it. Then I shall seek permission of my Lord and it will be granted to me. He will inspire in me such kinds of glorifications with which I shall glorify Him that they have not been presented to me at present so that I may glorify Him with those glorifications. I shall be long in prostration for Him. It will be said : O Muhammad, raise up your head, and say and it will be heard, and seek and it will be given, and intercede and it will be accepted. I shall say : O Lord ! my followers, my followers. It will be said : Go and take out those in whose heart there was faith to the weight of wheat. Then I shall go and do accordingly. Afterwards I shall return and glorify Him with those glorifications. Then I shall make prolonged prostration for Him. It will be said : O Muhammad ! raise up your head and say, it will be heard ; and

لَأُخْرِجَنَّ مِنْهَا مَنْ قَالَ لَا إِلٰهَ إِلَّا اللّٰهُ

(مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

35. Abu Hurairah reported from the Prophet who said: The most fortunate of the people for my intercession on the Resurrection Day will be those who uttered "There is no deity but Allah" out of sincere faith from his heart or soul. —Bukhari.

عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صلعم قَالَ أَسْعَدُ النَّاسِ بِشَفَاعَتِي يَوْمَ الْقِيٰمَةِ مَنْ قَالَ لَا إِلٰهَ إِلَّا اللّٰهُ خَالِصًا مِنْ قَلْبِهِ أَوْ نَفْسِهِ (البخاري)

36. Same reported that meat was taken to the Holy Prophet and the hand was raised to it as it pleased him. Then he puffed a breath therein and then said: I shall be the leader of men on the Resurrection Day, the day on which men will stand up for the Lord of the worlds. The sun will come very near and bring to the people anxiety and grief which they will not be able to bear. People will say: Will you not find out one who will intercede for you to your Lord? So they will come to Adam, and he narrated the narration of intercession. And he said: I shall go and come beneath the Throne. I shall then fall down in prostration for my Lord. Afterwards He will open for me something out of His hymns and the best of

عَنْهُ قَالَ أُتِيَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم بِلَحْمٍ فَرُفِعَ إِلَيْهِ الذِّرَاعُ وَكَانَتْ تُعْجِبُهُ فَنَهَسَ مِنْهَا نَهْسَةً ثُمَّ قَالَ أَنَا سَيِّدُ النَّاسِ يَوْمَ الْقِيٰمَةِ يَوْمَ يَقُومُ النَّاسُ لِرَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ وَتَدْنُو الشَّمْسُ فَيَبْلُغُ النَّاسَ مِنَ الْغَمِّ وَالْكَرْبِ مَا لَا يُطِيقُونَ فَيَقُولُ النَّاسُ أَلَا تَنْظُرُونَ مَنْ يَشْفَعُ لَكُمْ إِلَى رَبِّكُمْ فَيَأْتُونَ آدَمَ وَذَكَرَ حَدِيثَ الشَّفَاعَةِ وَقَالَ فَأَنْطَلِقُ فَآتِي تَحْتَ الْعَرْشِ فَأَقَعُ سَاجِدًا لِرَبِّي ثُمَّ يَفْتَحُ اللّٰهُ عَلَيَّ مِنْ مَحَامِدِهِ وَحُسْنِ

2390. This is in accordance with tradition I: 22 where it has been said that anyone uttering sincerely "There is no deity but Allah" will enter Paradise though after some punishment. It appears therefore that inspite of belief in a prophet that appeared at a particular time, a man can enter Paradise if he sincerely believed in his life-time that there is only one God for worship and nothing else.

glorifications over Him which He did not open for anybody before me. He will say afterwards : O Muhammad ! raise up your head, seek and it will be given, intercede and it will be accepted. Then I shall raise up my head and say : O Lord ! my followers. O Lord ! my followers. O Lord ! my followers. It will be said : O Muhammad ! I shall admit those of your followers who will have no account to render through the right hand door out of the doors of Paradise. They will share with the people regarding what is besides that out of the doors. Then he said : By One in whose hand there is my life, verily the distance between two bolts (of doors out of the bolts of Paradise is as the distance between Mecca and Hajar. 2390a

37. Huzaifah reported about the tradition of intercession reported from the Apostle of Allah who said : And trust and blood-tie will be sent, and they will stand up on two sides of the Path, right and left. 2391

—Muslim.

38. Abdullah-b-Amr-b-'s reported that the Holy Prophet recited the saying of the Almighty Allah about Abraham :

الثناء عليه شيئا لم يفتحه لاحد قبلي
ثم قال يا محمد ارفع راسك سل تعطه
واشفع تشفع فارفع راسي فاقول امتي
يا رب امتي يا رب امتي يا رب فيقال

2390a. Hajar is a town in Bahrain. The distance of doors in Paradise was said in this way to give an idea of Paradise to the minds of the people.

2391. Here the importance of fulfilling trusts and trusted properties and keeping good relations with relatives and blood-connections has been given. These two things will be impediments at the crossing over the hell to enter into Paradise.

My Lord! verily they misguided many people. So whoso follows me, he is certainly of me (14 : 36Q); and Jesus said. If Thou giveth them punishment, verily they are Thy servants 5:118Q) Then he raised up his hands and said "O Allah! my followers, my followers", and he wept. The Almighty Allah said: O Gabriel! go to Muhammad (and your Lord knows best, and ask him what makes him weep. Then Gabriel came to him and asked him. The Prophet informed him of what he had said. Then Allah will say to Gabriel: Go to Muhammad and say: Verily We shall soon please you regarding your followers and We shall not do injustice to you. —Muslim.

39. Abu Sayeed al-khodri reported that some people asked: O Ms. of Allah! shall we see our Lord on the Resurrection Day? The Apostle of Allah said: Yes. Do you feel trouble in seeing the sun at noon open with no cloud with it, and do you feel trouble in seeing the moon open in the full moon-lit night with no cloud over it? They replied: No, O Prophet of Allah. He said: You will not feel trouble to have sight of Allah on the Resurrection Day except as you feel trouble to have sight of one of these two. When the Resurrection Day

He will ask : What are you looking at ? Every people is following what they used to worship. They said : O our Lord ! ومخدوش مرسل ومكدوش في نار

جهنم حتى اذا خلص المؤمنون من النار

فوالذي نفسي بيده ما من احد منكم

باشد مناشدة في الحق قد تبين لكم من

المؤمنين لله يوم القيمة لاخوانهم الذين

في النار يقولون ربنا كانوا يصومون معنا

ويصلون ويحجون فيقال لهم اخرجوا

من عرفتم فيحرم صورهم على النار

فيخرجون خلقا كثيرا ثم يقولون ربنا

ما بقي فيها احد ممن امرتنا به فيقول

ارجعوا فمن وجدتم في قلبه مثقال دينار

من خير فاخرجوه فيخرجون خلقا كثيرا ثم

يقول ارجعوا فمن وجدتم في قلبه
مثقال نصف دينار من خير فاخرجوه
فيخرجون خلقا كثيرا ثم يقول رجعوا فمن
وجدتم في قلبه مثقال ذرة من خير
فاخرجوه فيخرجون خلقا كثيرا ثم يقولون
ربنا لم نذر فيها خيرا فيقول الله شفعت
الملئكة وشفع النبيون وشفع المؤمنون
ولم يبق الا ارحم الراحمين فيقبض
قبضة من النار فيخرج منها قوما لم
يعملوا خيرا قط قد عادوا حمما فيلقيهم
في نهر في افواه الجنة يقال له نهر
الحيوة فيخرجون كما تخرج الحبة في
حميل السيل فيخرجون كاللولوء في
رقابهم الخواتم فيقول اهل الجنة هؤلاء
عتقاء الرحمن ادخلهم الجنة بغير عمل
عملوه ولا خير قدموه فيقال لهم لكم
ما رايتم ومثله معه (متفق عليه)

many creations. Then He will say: Return and take out whomsoever you find in his heart of good to the weight of half a dinar. So they will take out many creations. Then He will say: Return and take out whomsoever you find in his heart of good to the weight of an atom. So they will take out many creations. Then they will say: O our Lord! we left no good therein. Then Allah will say: The angels interceded and the prophets interceded and the believers interceded, and nobody is left except the Most Gracious of the generous. He will then take a hold of the fire and take out therefrom a people who never did any good. They were reduced like ashes. He will throw them in a river by the doors of Paradise called "the river of life", and they will come out (fresh) just as a seed comes out of the rubbish of a flowing current. They will come out like pearls with seals on their necks. The inmates of Paradise will say: These are those freed by the Merciful. He admitted them in Paradise without any deed which they performed and without any good which they sent in advance. It will then be said to them: For you what you see and with it the like of it. —Agreed.

40. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said : When the inmates of Paradise will enter Paradise and the inmates of the fire the fire, the Almighty Allah will say . Take out whomsoever had got in his heart faith to the weight of a mustard seed. They will take out while they have been burnt and reduced to ashes. They will be thrown in the river of life and will grow just as a seed grows in the refuge of a torrent. You have never seen that it comes out yellow, creeping. —Ayr ed.

41. Abu Hurairah reported that the people asked : O Ms. of Allah ! shall we see our Lord on the Resurrection Day ? He narrated the import of the tradition reported by Abu Sayeed except the disclosing of leg. He said : The Path will be thrown between the backs of Hell, and I shall be the first of the apostles who will cross it with their followers, and none except the apostles will speak at that time, and the speech of the apostles at that time will be : O Allah ! give security, give security. And there will be piercing thorns in Hell like the thorns of Sa'dan whose extent of mischief none will know except Allah. They will overtake the people in proportion to their deeds. Of them, there will be some who will be tormented owing to his action, and of them there will be some who will be torn to pieces and then get salvation till when Allah will finish his decision regarding servants and He will wish to take out of the fire those whom He will wish to take out from those who used to attest "There is no deity but Allah", He will order the angels to take out those who used to worship Allah. So they will take them out and they will know them because of the effects of prostrations. Allah has made unlawful over the fire that it should devour the effects of prostrations. The fire will devour everyman except the effects of prostrations. They will be taken out of the fire while they have been burnt. Water of life will then be poured over them, and they will grow just as a seed in the refuge of water-current grows. And there willremain a man between Paradise and the Fire, and he will be the last of the inmates of the Fire who will be entitled to enter Paradise. He will be turning his face towards the fire and say "O Lord ! turn away my face from the fire, its air has poisoned me and its flame has burnt me. He (God) will say : If I do that, it is perhaps you will seek more than that. He will reply : No, by Thy greatness. He will give Allah what He will like of promise and assurance. Then Allah will turn his face from the fire. When he will turn it towards Paradise and see its grandeur, he will remain silent as long as Allah will wish to make him silent. Then he will say : O Lord ! take me near the door of Paradise. The Almighty Allah will say : Have you not given promises and assurances not to seek except what you have sought ? He will say : O Lord ! I am not the most unfortunate of Thy creations.

He will say: If I give that, it is perhaps you will seek another. He will reply: No, by Thy greatness. I will not ask Thee be sides that. He will then give his Lord promise and assurance. He will then take him near the door of Paradise. When he will reach its door and see its fineries and what is therein of its pleasures and enjoyments, he will remain mute so long as Allah will wish to keep him mute. He will say: O Lord! admit me in Paradise. The Almighty and Blessed Allah will say: Woe to thee, O son of Adam. What has led thee to commit breach of trust? Hast thou not given promises and assurances that thou wouldst not seek besides what has been given to thee. He will say O: Lord! make me not the most unfortunate of Thy creations. He will not cease to call till Allah will laugh at him. When He will laugh, He will give permision to enter Paradise. He will say: Cherish hope. Then he will cherish hope till when his hope will be cut short, the Almighty Allah will say: Hope for such and such thing. He will come forward that his Lord might remind him of it, till when hopes will come to an end in his sight Allah will say: That is for thee and with it the like of it. And in a narration of Abu Sayeed, the Almighty Allah will say: That is for thee and ten times like it. —Agreed

42. Ibn Mas'ud reported that the Messenger of Allah said : The last of those who will enter Paradise will be a man who will once walk and once fall down and the fire will once make him black. When he will cross it, he will look towards it and say : Blessed is He who saved me from thee. Allah has certainly given me a thing which He has not given to any body from the former and the latter generations. Then a tree will be raised up for him and he will say : O Lord ! take me to this tree that I may remain under its shade and drink its water. Allah will say : O son of Adam ! it may be that if I grant it to thee, thou wilt ask Me other things. He will reply : No, my Lord. He will give Him promise that he will not ask him other things. And his Lord will give him excuse because he will see for which he will have no patience. Then He will take him near it and he will enjoy its shade and drink its water. Afterwards a tree which will be better than the former will be raised up for him. He will say : O Lord ! take me near this tree that I may drink its water and enjoy its shade. I shall not ask Thee other things. He will say : O son of Adam ! have you not given Me promise

They asked : Why did you laugh, O Apostle of Allah ? He said : On account of the laugh of the Lord of the worlds when he will say : Dost Thou make humour with me while Thou art the Lord of the worlds ? He will say : Certainly I do not laugh at you but I am powerful over what I wish. Muslim narrated it. And there is his another narration like it from Abu Sayeed except that he did not mention, "He will ask : O son of Adam ! what thing from Me will satisfy you-up to the last of the tradition." He added therein . And Allah will remind him : Ask such and such thing ; till when the hopes will come to an end in his sight, the Almighty Allah will say : It is for thee and ten times like it. He will say : Nobody has been given like what I have been given.

They will enter Paradise but they will be named 'inmates of Hell'. Bukhari narrated it, and in a narration : A people from my followers will be taken out from the fire owing to my intercession. 46. Abu Zarr reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Verily I know for certain the last of the inmates of Paradise to enter Paradise, and the last of the inmates of the fire to come out therefrom—a man who will be brought on the Resurrection Day and it will be said : Present his minor sins to him and throw off his great sins from him. Then the minor sins will be placed before him and he will be questioned : You have done such and such on such and such a day, and you have done such and such on such and such a day. He will reply : Yes. It will not be possible for him to deny while he would be fearful of his great sins to be presented before him. He will be said : There is one virtue for thee in place of each sin. He will say : O Lord ! I have done many things which I do not see here. I saw indeed the Apostle of Allah laughing till his front teeth were exposed. —Muslim.

One of them will be much perturbed and say : O Lord ! I was hoping that, when Thou hast taken me therefrom, Thou wouldst not return me therein. He said : Then Allah will save him therefrom. —Muslim.

48. Abu Sayeed reported that the Apostle of Allah said : The believers will be relieved from the fire but they will be detained over a bridge between Paradise and fire. Oppressions of some upon others which prevailed in the world between them will be narrated, till when they will be washed and purified, they will be directed to enter Paradise. By One in whose hand there is the life of Muhammad, one of them will certainly be entitled to his abode in Paradise better than his abode which existed for him in the world. —Bukhari.

49. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Nobody will enter Paradise but will be shown his place in the fire that he may increase thanks in case he committed sins, and none will enter the fire but will be shown his place in Paradise that he may be grieved in case he committed virtues. —Bukhari.

death will be brought till it will be placed between Paradise and the fire and will be slaughtered. Afterwards a proclaimer will proclaim : O inmates of Paradise! there's no death. 51. Saoban reported from the Prophet who said : My Fountain will extend from Aden to Omman Balqa'a. Its water will be intensely whiter than milk and sweeter than honey, and its pillars more numerous than the numerous stars in the firmament. Whoso will take a sip of drink therefrom will never get thirsty after it. The first of men who will come to it for drink will be the poor Refugees, dishevelled in hairs, unclean in dress, those that were not sought in marriage by the women of affluence and for whom walls were not opened.

He said : You are not a portion out of 1000,00 portions of those who will come to me to the Fountain for drink. It was questioned : How many will you be at that time ? He replied : Seven hundreds or eight hundreds.

Abu Bakr said: Increase for us, O Apostle of Allah. He said: And thus (by increase). Then he spread his palms and joined them.[2399] Abu Bakr said: Increase for us, O Ms. of Allah! He said: And thus. Omar said: Leave us, O Abu Bakr. Abu Bakr said: And what is against thee that Allah will not admit us all in Paradise? (شرح السنة)

2399. This means that Allah will admit Muslims without account in Paradise and without numbers. The difference between Abu Bakr and Omar was this. Omar thought that if the number was fixed, people would stand idle without work and thus a great mischief would be done. He left it therefore at the mercy of the Lord. The Prophet approved Omar in his statement.

2400. Paradise and Hell

(a) Meaning of Jannat (الجنة). Jann primarily means to cover. Hence Jannat means a place that is covered, i.e , covered by the shade of trees and plants. The place that is covered by trees and plants is called a garden, whence Jannat came to mean a garden. The Quran says : Its fruits are perpetual and its shade—13 : 35Q. Paradise in Arabic is Ferdous which is the highest heaven. Paradise has been used here in the general sense. In Islam, a garden with a garden house with all its articles of pleasures and enjoyments has been taken to be the symbol for rewards of the virtuous.

(b) Paradise and Hell are facts which every religion in the world recognises in some form or other for rewards of the virtuous and punishments of the sinners. Who is there to deny that there are no rewards for the virtuous and no chastisements for the sinners ? If these are facts, Paradise and Hell consequ ntly cannot but be truths. The Christian, Jewish and Islamic notions of Paradise and Hell are almost the same ; while the Hindu notion stands wide apart, because it does not recognise a next world where actions of men in this world will be judged, and rewards and punishments will be meted out. Does not a good seed produce good fruits and a bad seed bad fruits ? Similarly seeds of good works sown in this world will yield good fruits in the next, and and seeds of bad works bad. If the existence of Paradise and Hell in a future world is denied, rewards for good actions and punishments for sins cannot at all be explained. Majority of men engaged in the grossest vices and corruptions are seen to go unpunished in this world, and majority of pious men unrewarded. This leads to the truth of Paradise and Hell in the next world for full rewards and punishments.

(c) True significance of Paradise and Hell. Rewards and punishments will be meted out in a way that is not within the limited power of conception and wisdom of men. The Quran says : Nobody knows what is hidden for them of what will refresh the eyes, a reward for what they did—32 : 17Q. The Holy Prophet said at the very beginning of this section : Allah said : I have prepared for My righteous servants what no eye hath seen, and no ear hath heard, and no heart of man hath conceived—42 : 1. In other words, external sense organs of a man cannot give an idea of the blessings of Paradise and punishments of Hell. Words cannot reveal their real nature. As a child in the womb of a mother cannot conceive of the things of this open world, a man of this world also cannot conceive of the heavenly bliss and infernal chastisement. The child sees the hidden realities of this world when he is born. Similarly man will see everything when he will be ushered into another existence in another world where the hidden realities will be brought to perfect light. The Quran says to this effect : On the day when the hidden things shall be made manifest—86 : 9Q. Verily you were unmindful of this and then We removed your screen from you—50 : 22Q.

(d) Symbolical descriptions of Paradise and Hell. Paradise and Hell have been described in the Quran and Hadis with concrete and material things of this world. What is the reason of such kinds of descriptions if their real nature is inconceivable ? It is only to give an idea to human mind about intensity of pleasure in Paradise and severity of punishment in Hell. Human mind can best judge if things are explained in their own way of conceptions of enjoyments and punishments. Again there are the literate and the illiterate, the poor and the rich. Physical descriptions have been given only to bring home to all classes of people the conceptions of Paradise and Hell in a more tangible and vivid form. What does an average man want in this world for enjoyment ? He must have a garden with a garden house in it decorated with fountains, artificial canals, springs, flowers and perfumes. He must enjoy in the house the sweet company of singers and beautiful damsels decked with gold, pearls and jewels. Every pleasure-loving solvent man is preparing such a garden and a garden-house with all the parapharnelia of best enjoyments. Hence garden (جنة) has been taken as the symbol or example for expression of heavenly enjoyments. As against it, there is the fire (نار) as the symbol of punishments. Perhaps there is no greater thing to express horrors of punishment than the fire. But for such kinds of descriptions, Paradise and Hell would have ended only in ideas. That these physical desrciptions are only symbols is said by the Holy Quran itself. It says : A likeness of Paradise which the righteous have been promised, there flow beneath rivers, its fruits are perpetual and its shade—13 : 35Q.

A parable of Paradise which the righteous have been promised, therein are rivers of water that does not alter and rivers of milk the taste whereof does not change etc.—47 : 15Q. In these verses, these things have been spoken of as mere parables and examples. All the descriptions that have been given of Paradise and Hell in this and in the following sections should be taken metaphorically But they must be taken very seriously in order to grasp a graphic idea of heavenly enjoyments and infernal punishments.

(e) Enjoyments and punishments intensely greater in the Next World. The heavenly enjoyment and infernal chastisement will be intensely greater in the next world just as a child in the world feels greater heat and cold than it did in its mother's womb. The Quran says : The punishment of the hereafter is greater, had they known it !—39 : 26Q. Those who believe and do good, they shall have a reward never to be cut off—95 · 6Q. And the ever-abiding good works is better with your Lord in reward and better in yielding fruits—19 . 76Q. How will the feelings of pangs and pleasure become greater ? Snakes are feared not because of their bodies but because of the dangerous effect of poison that is in them This poison of this world is lowest in its effect and degree, while it will be highest in the hereafter. Take away the poison from the physical snake. Cannot a man be sufficiently punished with this extract of poison and not with the bodily snake ? If it is possible which we see daily in our midst, punishment and enjoyment may be given without physical forms and in a more intensive degree. Again soul is greater than body Poison brings death of the body while evil actions bring eternal damnation of soul. Therefore effects of evil actions are more severe than the poison itself. The snake itself is not bad but its injurious effect is. It is feared because of its poison. Similarly bad action should be feared because of its punishment at the end in a greater degree. Is not heart-burning greater than the burning of a physical organ ? Are not the pangs of remorse greater than the pangs of a wound. Similar is the case with pleasures. In short, the Almighty Allah has got ample power to increase the degree of the agencies of punishment and pleasure in the next world.

(f) Hell and Paradise geographical ? Are they located in particular places ? This also baffles our conception. The verse runs thus : And hasten to forgiveness from your Lord and to Paradise the extent of which is as the heavens and the earth—3 : 132Q The Holy Prophet was asked : Where does Hell exist if Paradise extends over the heavens and the earth ? He replied : Where is the night when the day comes ? This shows that Paradise and Hell are mere conditions of soul. That is also corroborated by the following verse : What will make you understand what the Hell is ? It is the kindled fire of Allah which rises above the hearts—104 : 6Q. Mental tortures and heart burnings on one hand and mental pleasures and enjoyments on the other are conditions of mind which come one after another just as the day comes over a man after night.

(g) Duration of punishment in Hell. There is a popular belief that there is eternal damnation in hell. This is entirely a wrong conception not supported by the Quran and Hadis except in the case of those who did not at all believe in existence of God, and only in one God. Even in that case also, God has got power to save him If a man is disloyal to the Crown, he meets with death. Similarly if a man does not owe allegiance to the Highest king, he meets with spiritual death. He will be thus punished eternally. That will be the case of one who had not the slightest of an atom of faith of Allah in him. As, however, the King has got prerogative of forgiveness even in case of a capital sentence, God also has got the prerogative of forgiving such persons, but that is above the ordinary law, and hence the Quran and Hadis dealing with laws eternally condemn the polytheists except,of course, with the reservation of God's power and mercy. Speaking of unbelievers, the Quran says : They shall not come forth from the fire —2 : 167Q. And they shall have a lasting punishment—5 : 37Q. So as to those who are unhappy, they shall be in the fire, for them there shall be sighing and groaning in it, abiding therein so long as the heavens and earth last except as thy Lord pleases—11 : 106Q. With regard to others who had the slightest faith in their heart in this world, Allah will save them after long long sufferings in Hell. Hell in the general case is a reformatory place of detention for the sinners To explain it more fully, it may be said that as soon as a sin is committed, a black spot falls on soul. Thus with the commission of many sins, black spots continue to fall till the whole region of soul is covered with deep layer of impurities. Only those that will have clean souls will enter Paradise (26 : 89Q.) Thus these impurities must be removed in order to make oneself fit to enter Paradise. If the fire of disasters and calamities remove these impurities in this world, it is well and good. If not, they will be removed in the next world by the intensely hot fire of Hell. How long will this process of purification go on ? That will be in proportion to sins an individual committed in this world. The greater the sins, the longer will be the time required for purification. After this purification becomes complete and reaches the time when it is deemed fit for Paradise, the soul will be taken out gradually from the depth of fire till it will be taken near the door of Paradise. There it will be further washed and then it will be allowed to enter Paradise. Hell is therefore nothing but a means of purification to make the soul fit to enter Paradise, and punishment is only a remedial measure.

(h) Continued spiritual progress. When the soul will enter Paradise e. i. when it will have the state of its normal condition as it had before attainment of maturity of a man, it will continue to develop spiritually starting with purity. Those who entered Paradise without going to the ordeal of fire of the next world but through the ordeal of fire of this world will continue to develop spiritually higher and higher. No inclination of evil will be felt and there will be breath of only Tasbih, Tahmid and Tahil as natural as breath of a man in this world—42 : 9. The verse also runs : We will root out whatever of rancour is in their hearts, (they shall be) as brethern—15 : 47Q. They shall hear therein no vain discourse except peace—19 : 62Q. Mind will strive for further and further spiritual progress upto a limit known only to God just as there is a desire in us to rise higher and higher in the world. This is clear from the following verse : O our Lord ! make for us our light perfect and grant us protection—66 : 8Q. The life in Paradise is therefore a new life of advancement without falling back and the joys are the spiritual joys of advancement—42 : 12, 46. The souls will rise higher and higher to attain perfection in divine attributes in Paradise. For example, kindness is an attribute in Allah. In showing kindness Allah makes no distinction, so much so that it extends over the regions of heaven and earth. When the kindness of a man will reach that stage, it might be called to have attained perfection. When all the attributes will attain perfection in this way in a man, soul will enter into another phase. It will become fit to be brought to Divine Company. Those who attained some amount of perfection in this world will have little difficulty in having blessings of the Blessed Companionship. It was only the Holy Prophet who attained perfection in all the attributes of a man in this world, and hence he went direct to "the Blessed Companionship on High" (رفيق الاعلى) This is the glorified rank (مقام محمود) which Allah promised for the Holy prophet in 17 : 79Q. The above fact indicates that Islam adopts the theory of constant evolution and progress unless progress is arrested for the time being by commission of sins.

(i) Picture of Hell drawn in concrete things for easy human conception. There is the intensely hot fire in Hell having rising flames. This fire was burnt for one thousand years and then it became red. Again it was burnt for another thousand years and it then became white, and again it was burnt for another thousand years and then it became black. In this state, it is now in a process of burning—42 : 61. There are 70,000 valleys in Hell, in each valley 70,000 hillocks, and in each hillock 70,000 snakes and 70,000 scorpoins - 42 : 659w. There is one valley called جب الحزن from which the Hell itself seeks refuge seventy times each day. Those who worked for show and fame will enter there. The Hell has been made so deep that if a stone is thrown from the top, it will take 70 years without reaching the bottom—42 : 17. The depth in Hell for each sinner will be in proportion to his sins. The fire of this world is the flame of the fire of Hell washed seventy times before it was brought into this world—42 : 53. There are pus, impure blood and other impurities in Hell to such an extent that if a drop therefrom would have come to this world, all its inmates would have died out of its stenchy smell—42 : 70. There are seven stages (popularly called doors) of Hell These are :—(جهنم) Hell, (ذات الهلب, flaming fire—70 : 15Q, (حطمة) crushing disaster—104 : 4Q, (سعير) burning fire—4 : 55Q, (سقر) scorching fire—74 : 26Q, (جحيم) fierce fire—26 : 91Q, and (هاوية) abyss of fire –10 : 6Q. These stages or depths are for different kinds of sinners and the greatest transgressor will rise up stage by stage from the lowest hell till he will be taken out of the fire.

The inmates of fire will have there food of fire, dress of fire, drink of fire, beddings of fire and coats of heated tar with heavy chains. They shall not taste therein cool, nor drink, but boiling & intensly cold water—78 : 22Q. Fire will boil in bellies like the boiling of water in a couldron. Their entrails will burst out, flesh will melt away, bones will be stripped of flesh and skins will be burnt. Whenever their skins will be thoroughly burnt, other skins will be given to them, so that they may taste the punishment 4 : 56Q. They will neither be in a state of life, nor of death—87 : 12Q, and they will be there for long long years - 78 : 21Q. The man who will receive the slightest punishment in Hell will wear a pair of shoes of fire which will boil the brain like the boiling of water in a cauldron - 42 : 55. The inmates will remain being drowned within impure liquids and pus. Those who did not pay Zakat will be stung continually by snakes and scorpoins, and their treasures will be heated and their backs shall be branded with them—9 : 35Q. When the tears of the inmates of Hell will come to an end, blood will continue to come out of their eyes.

(j) Some pictures of Paradise as can be easily conceived by man. The foundation of Paradise is of silver and gold, its earth of musk, its dust of camphor, its plants of saffron, its rain of perfume. It has a tree at its farthest limit called "the farthest Lot-tree" (سدرةالمنتهى) beyond which there is no power of man to proceed. This tree is so big that a rider can ride under its shade for hundred years—42 : 4 There are rivers of honey, milk and water—47 : 15Q. There are also pleasure gardens in Paradise beneath which these rivers flow, and plants of fruits of various kinds in the gardens. These plants will bear fruits perpetually—9 : 72Q. There are reserved fountains from which the inmates of Paradise will have drink. There are eight stages of Paradise popularly called doors. They are Adn (عدن, Khuld (خلد), Nayeem (النعيم), Mawa (ماوى), Darus Salam (دار السلام), Darul Qarar (دار القرار), Muqamah (المقامة), and Ferdous (الفردوس). Ferdous is the highest heaven. The Holy Prophet said that any one who seeks to enter Paradise should seek Ferdous as it is the best of Paradises (23 : 1,8). Prayer, Fasting, Zakat and Zihad will each have separate doors (ranks) out of these doors. The inmates of Paradise will have their raised couches and thrones of jewels and rubies in tents of pearls facing the rivers surrounded on all sides by equisitely beautiful boys and pure-eyed virgin girls. They are like hidden pearls which nobody has ever touched. Each inmate will have four gardens, two of silver and two of gold. He will have his sustence therein morning and evening (19 : 62Q). Whenever they shall be given fruits, they shall say : This is what was given to us before—2) : 25Q. Eachone will have seventy pure-eyed virgins with whom he will continually enjoy. His righteous wives in the world and his children will be with him in Paradise—1) : 8Q. Inspite of prolonged intercourse, no child shall be born—52 : 21Q. The inmates will continue always to be young men of nearly 32 years and will never get old. They will not die, nor will they suffer any illness. They will be beardless and hairless and will have no sleep or calls of nature. They will not die or meet with disappointment. Toil shall not afflict them therein, nor shall they be ever ejected from it -15 : 48Q. They shall see therein neither sun, nor intense cold—76 : 13Q. They will not feel any inclination to do evil, but they will be desirous of pleasures more and more. They will have therein whatever they will desire, but there is more with God. Their cry in Paradise will be "Glory to Thee, O Allah" and their greetings in it shall be 'Peace,' and the last of their praise shall be "All praise is for Allah, the Lord of the worlds"—10 : 10Q .*

1. Abu Hurairah reported that the aposlte of Allah said : The Almighty Allah said : I have prepared for My righteous servants which no eye hath seen, and no ear hath heard, and no heart of man hath conceived. And read if you like : So no soul knows what is hidden for them which will refresh the eyes (32 : 17Q). —Agreed.

2402. Ferdous is the highest garden in rank and position as it is nearest the Throne. The Quran says: These are they who are the heirs, who shall inherit Ferdous; they shall abide therein—23 : 12Q. The Prophet said in 23 : 1,8 that Ferdous is the best of the gardens. 2407. Abu Ishaq-b-Ibrahim said about this Hadis: When the believer will desire for a child in Paradise, it will be born within one hour but he will not wish for it. Ibn Majah narrated the fourth portion and Darimi the last. In 42 : 23, two wives for an inmate of Paradise have been spoken of, while there is mention of 72 wives for him. The apparent contradition is due to the fact that the two spoken of in the former tradition out of 72 will be so beautiful that their marrow of bones will be seen even though they wear dresses after dresses. The remaning 70 will not be like these two.

39. Abu Hurairah reported that the Holy prophet was narrating a tradition while there was a man of the inmates of the desert near him : Verily a man of the inmates of Paradise will seek permission of his Lord about cultivation. He will ask him "Have you not got what you desired" ? He will reply : Yes, but I like to cultivate. Then he will spread (seed) and soon its growth and its erection and its reaping will take place. It will be like mountains The Almighty Allah will say : Off, O son of Adam ! because nothing will satisfy you. The desert Arab said : By Allah, you will not find him but a Quraish or a Helper because they are the owners of cultivation. As for us, we are not the owners of cultivation. Then the Apostle of Allah laughed. —Bukhari.

40. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Paradise and the Fire quarrelled with each other. The Fire said : I have been given the boastful and the powerful tyrants. Paradise said : What is the matter with me that none but the weak of men and the innocent and the careless (of wordly affairs) will enter in me ? The Almighty Allah said to Paradise : Verily thou art My mercy, I shall show mercy with thee upon those whom I like of My servants.

مِنْ عِبَادِي وَقَالَ لِلنَّارِ إِنَّمَا أَنْتِ عَذَابِي

أُعَذِّبُ بِكِ مَنْ أَشَاءُ مِنْ عِبَادِي وَلِكُلِّ

وَاحِدٍ مِنْكُمَا مِلْؤُهَا فَأَمَّا النَّارُ فَلَا تَمْتَلِئُ

حَتَّى يَضَعَ اللَّهُ رِجْلَهُ تَقُولُ قَطْ قَطْ فَهُنَالِكَ

تَمْتَلِئُ وَيُزْوَى بَعْضُهَا إِلَى بَعْضٍ فَلَا

يَظْلِمُ اللَّهُ مِنْ خَلْقِهِ أَحَدًا وَأَمَّا الْجَنَّةُ

فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ يُنْشِئُ لَهَا خَلْقًا (متفق عليه)

And He said to the Fire: Verily thou art My punishment. I shall punish with thee those whom I like of My servants, but each one of you both shall be filled up with them. As for the Fire, it will not be filled up [2408a] till Allah will place His leg. It will say: Sufficient, sufficient, sufficient. At that time it will be filled up, and some parts of it will be brought close to others. Allah will not oppress anybody out of His creation. As for Paradise, Allah will certainly give it a creation.

He said afterwards : O Gabriel ! go and look to it He went and looked to it and then returned and said : O Lord ! by Thy grace, I indeed feared that nobody will enter it. He said : When Allah created the fire, He said : O Gabriel ! go and look to it. He went and looked to it. Then he came and said : O Lord ! by Thy grace, nobody will hear of it but enter it. Then He surroun ded it with temptations and said afterwards to Gabriel : O Gabriel ! go and look to it. He went and looked to it and said : O Lord ! by Thy grace, I feared that nobody will remain but enter it.

She will greet him and he will return the greeting and ask her : Who art thou ? SECTION 2

2409. Vision of Allah

(a Vision of Allah. Vision of Allah in the next world is a sure thing. The learned jurists of Islam are all unanimous on this point. The believers will surely see Him often in Paradise according to their respective advancement in the spiritual world. The unbelievers will see Him once at the time of trial and soon there will fall down screen making them a thousand times repentant. The more a soul is bright and shining, the more it will have the Blessed Company, but there will be none who can have a greater rank than the Prophet Muhammad for the Blessed Companionship as he reached the highest summit of moral and spiritual greatness. For this reason, the Quran reserved for him the highest rank (مقام محمود). The question is whether a man can have a vision of Allah in this world There is a great controversy on this point among the jurists and even among the companions. Ibn Mas'ud, Ayesha and others held that a divine vision in this world is an impossible thing, while Ibn Abbas held that it did occur in the case of the Holy Prophet at the time of the Blessed Night when he went to heaven at Divine Call. Ibn Mas'ud and Ayesha maintained that he saw Gabriel in his true colour at that time with his 600 wings and huge figure and not the Almighty Allah. The following verses go to support their view : "It is not for any mortal that Allah should speak to him except by revelation, or from behind a veil, or by sending a messenger and revealing by His permission what He pleases —42 : 51Q. And the Quran says : Nay, they will be surely screened away from their Lord (83 : 15Q). Visions cannot overtake Him, but He overtakes visions— (6 : 104Q) The last verse shows that external eye-organ is not sufficient to have sight of the Divine face. It is only the inner spiritual eye that can have His vision. But the inner eye does not become perfect in this world so as to catch His glimse. In support, it may be cited that when Moses wanted to have Divine glimpse, Allah said : You can not see Me (7 : 143Q). He revealed Himself at that time before Moses behind a veil. The Holy Prophet himself did not claim to have vision of Allah in naked form. When it was questioned to him, he replied : He is light, how can I see Him ? This amounts to virtual denial. Who can be a greater authority in this respect than the Prophet himself ?

2408b. This refers to the Quranic verse : For them there will be what they will desire therein, but there is more with Us (50 : 35Q). For those who do good, there is good and more (10 : 29Q). This addition has been interpreted as the Light of Allah.

(b) Spiritual significance of Divine Vision. As the Quran says that vision cannot comprehend Him, it appears that external eye-sight cannot see Him Eye sight is limited but Allah is unlimited. Eye depends on light for its sight, but Allah is not dependant on anything The object of sight is something in space and form but Allah is above space and form. Hence it has been rightly said by the Quran that external vision cannot see Him. What is then the thing which will see Him in the next world? It is the bright and shining soul that will see Him. He who has given sight to ear is competent also to give sight to soul. The Quran therefore says: He will indeed be successful who purifies it, and he will indeed fail who pollutes it—91 : 9Q. Soul is unseen, so also Allah is unseen. Soul is without form and space, so also Allah. Soul is a thing from Allah (17 . 85Q), and it will return to Him. So though there is nothing to compare with Allah, soul resembles His attributes. Soul has got therefore the potentiality of seeing Him if placed under proper guidance, just as a tiny seed contains potentialities of growing to a big tree. When will it become fit to see Him? The soul remains normal in infant stage. It becomes brighter and brighter as each good deed is done. Brightness becomes rapid if it is daily washed by the constant remembrance of Allah. Then when the soul shakes off this material frame along with material temptations, it becomes fit to have vision of Allah. Few have got that lot. Generally men are prone to pollute soul by commission of sins. These impurities as said in the previous section if not removed by the fire of calamities and disasters in this world will be removed by the fire of Hell in the next world. Then it will be taken to Paradise where it will be fit to have Divine vision. In this world, there are screens to have that vision in addition to the screen of impurities on soul. They are screens of physical frame, physical needs and evil propensities, and hence Divine vision in this world is not possible, however highly developed the soul is.

(c) Divine vision is the greatest gift. Of all the gifts in Paradise, divine vision is the greatest and the most delightful. The Quran says: They have therein what they desire but with Us is more yet (50 : 35Q). This addition is nothing but vision of Allah according to the commentators. Again the Quran says: Pleasure of Allah is the greatest; that is the mighty achievement (9 : 72Q). What is the reason for it? An eye feels delight to see a beautiful thing in this world. Allah is the most beautiful. Therefore the eye will feel the greatest delight in the Divine Vision. Again, the ear has been created to hear, eye to see and wisdom to understand. Wisdom is certainly greater than eye or ear, as it differentiates a man from a beast. Therefore the pleasure that is gained by wisdom is certainly greater than that gained by eye or ear. There are also different pleasures in different kinds of wisdom. As God is greatest, to have knowledge of Him brings also the greatest amount of pleasure. Here knowledge is however inferior to actual vision. Hence Divine vision will bring in Paradise the greatest pleasure. It is seen that any pleasure enjoyed for long loses its freshness and buoyancy, but Allah will reveal Himself before the inmates of Paradise in new form of intensified beauty at every time. This then will be the greatest gift in Paradise. It would appear ridiculous to a spiritually-degraded man, but one spiritully-advanced cannot deny this fact. A child cannot, for example, conceive of any pleasure in sexual intercourse but a grown-up man can. Similar is the case with the pleasure of Divine Vision.

(d) How to achieve the Divine Sight. Obedience to the rules of Shariat laid down by the Quran and Hadis will lead to a thirst for knowledge of the Divine Being. To seek that knowledge is called Ma'arfat. That will lead to divine love One who does not know a thing is not expected to love that thing. Similarly one who does not know of God and His wonderful works in nature and His unbounded mercy and gifts, is not expected to love God. This divine knowledge (معرفة) leads to Divine Love, and Divine Love in its turn leads to Divine Vision, and Divine Vision leads to Divine Companionship the highest spiritual goal. He who is not in search of divine knowledge will not get the blessing of divine vision. There is difference in the intensity of obedience to shariat rules of divine knowledge and divine love in different individuals It is why there will be difference in intensity of pleasure in divine vision. The greater the love, the clearer the vision and the greater the pleasure. The greater the falling back, the remoter the vision and the greater the remorse.

(e) Ultimate object of human life is meeting with Allah. The Quran supports the view. It says : O man ! you must strive to attain to your Lord a hard striving until you meet Him - 84 : 6. We leave those who hope not for meeting with Us in their inordinacy, blindly wandering on 10 : 11Q. Therefore whoever hopes to meet his Lord, he should do good deeds and not join any one in the service of his Lord—18 : 110Q. This meeting will take place only in Paradise when the soul will be highly developed. It is for this reason that the saint Rabiya prayed : O Lord, if I worship Thee to avoid the fire, make it lawful for me ; if I worship Thee for Paradise, make it unlawful for me. If I worship Thee to meet Thee, grant it to me.

44 Jarir b Abdullah reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Certainly you will soon see your Lord face to face. And in a narration, he said : We were seated near the Apostle of Allah. He looked towards the moon in the full moon-lit night and said : Verily you will soon see your Lord as you see this moon. You will not be given trouble to see Him. It you have stength that you will not be overcome over prayer before the rising of the sun and its setting, do. Then he read : And glorify with the praise of your Lord before the rising of the sun and before its setting.

45. Sohaib reported from the holy Prophet who said : When the inmates of Paradise will enter Paradise, the Almighty Allah will say : You are wishing for a thing which I may increase for you. They will say : Hast Thou not made our faces shining ? Hast Thou not admitted us in Paradise and saved us from the Fire ? He said : Then the screen will be lifted up and they will see the face of the Almighty Allah. Nothing will be more pleasing to them than the look towards their Lord. Then he recited :

Then he read : Faces shall at that time be bright, looking towards their Lord— 75 : 22Q. —Ahmad, Tirmizi.

47. Abu Razin al-Uqaili reported : I asked : O Ms. of Allah ! will everybody of us see on the Resurrection Day his Lord in His open form ? 'Yes', he replied. I asked : And what is the sign of that in His creation ? He said : O Abu Razin ! is it not that everyone of you sees the moon in the full moon-lit night in its naked form ? He said : Yes. He said : Verily it is a creation of the creations of Allah, and Allah is the Most Exalted and the Mightiest. —Abu Daud.

And in a narration of Tirmizi*, he said : Muhammad saw his Lord. Ekramah said : I asked : Has not Allah said : Visions comprehend Him not, but He comprehends visions ? He said : Woe to thee ! that is when He shines with His light which is His own light. And he saw his Lord twice. [2410a]

Ka'ab said : Verily the Almighty Allah divided His sight and His talk between Muhammad and Moses. He talked with Moses twice and Muhammad saw Him twice. Masruq reported : I went to Ayesha and asked : Did Muhammad see his Lord ? She said : You have talked about a thing for which my hairs stand on end. I said : Talk slowly. He has made the confusion great. But he saw Gabriel. He did not see him in his form but twice, once near the farthest lot-tree and once in his best form with six hundred wings covering the horizon. Tirmizi narrated it. And the two sheikhs narrated with addition and difference. And in their narration, he said : I asked Ayesha : Where is His saying—Then he drew near, then he drew nearer. So he was of the measure of two bows or closer still—(53 : 89Q) ? He said: The Apostle of Allah saw Gabriel in velvet dress filling up what was between heaven and earth. And it was narrated by him and Bukhari about His verse "And he saw of the greater signs of his Lord." He said: He saw green velvet which closed up the horizon of heaven.

They will raise up their heads when lo! the Lord will be nearing them from above them. He will say: Peace be on you, O inmates of Paradise. He said: And that is the verse of the Almighty: Peace, a greeting from the Merciful Lord (36: 58Q). He said: He will look towards them and they will look towards Him. They will not turn their look towards anything of their gifts so long as they will be looking towards Him, till He will be screened away from them and His light will remain.

Malek said : The people will be looking towards Allah on the Resurrection Day with their eyes. The description and significance of Hell have been given in note 2400. Hence it is omitted here for fear of repetition.

55. Nu'man-b-Bashir reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Verily the easiest of the inmates of fire in punishment will be one who will have a pair of shoes and laces of fire. His brain will boil up on their account as the kettle boils up. Nobody will be seen to suffer the heavier punishment than him, but he will be the easiest of them in punishment. —Agreed.

57. Anas reported that the Messenger of Allah said : The most luxurious man among the dwellers of the earth will be brought on the Resurrection Day from the inmates of the Fire. He will be dyed a dyeing in the fire and then he will be said : O son of Adam ! have you ever seen good ? Has any plesure-loving man ever passed by you ? He will say : No, by Allah, O Lord. Then the greatest of the people in distress in the world will be brought out of the inmates of Paradise and will be dyed a dyeing in Paradise. It will be said to him : O son of Adam ! have you ever seen any disaster, and have any calamity

They will remember that they used to mix the choking foods in the world with drink. So they will seek drink. Then hot drink will be lifted up before them with iron brands. When they will be taken near their faces, they will fry their faces; when they will enter their bellies, they will cut what will be in their bellies, and they will say: Call the guards of Hell. They will say: Did not your apostles come to you with clear proofs? 'Yes' they will reply. They will say: Call. And the call of the polytheists will be but towards misguidance. He said: They 2414. Beginning of Creation.

Very little is known about the beginning of creation and its details except what has been narrated by the religious scriptures, specially the Quran. As it is a matter for antiquarian interest and critical research, we are averse to put such matters in a plain book like this. It is a well-known fact that there was the Almighty Allah when there was nothing and there will be Allah when there will remain nothing. He is the first and the last, the open and the secret(57 : 3Q . Then there was vast expanse of water and water, and God's throne was upon water (11 : 7Q). Water indeed is the basis of every creation having life The Quran says : And We have made of water everything living—21 : 30Q. He created the heavens and the earth in six days (7 : 54Q). The heavens and the earth were at first closed up, but then Allah opened them, placed great mountains in the earth lest the earth might be convulged (21 : 30Q). The Quran says : What ! do you indeed disbelieve in Him who created the earth in two days ? And He made in it mountains above its surface, and He put blessings therein, and made therein its food in four days. Then He directed himself to the heaven and is was a vapour. So He said to it and the earth : Come both, willingly or unwillingly. They both said : We come willingly. So He ordained them seven heavens in two days and revealed in every heaven its affair. We adorned the lower heaven with brilliant stars—41 : 9-12Q. The law of gravitation and the law of sex are understood from the above verse, because earth and heaven were joined together, and they will attract one another up to a fixed term. Allah is He who created seven heavens, and the earth the like of them—65 : 12Q. Then He created angels who are made of light and wings—36 : 1Q and then Jinn made of fire (15 : 27Q). The devil is of the kind of Jinn—18 : 50Q. Then He created man from clay (6 : 20Q), and breathed into him Divine Spirit from the Lord—32 : 9Q.

2415. Prophets

(a) Prophets and their number. There is no fixed number of prophets in the Quran who came with divine messages to preach to mankind, but it appears from its verses that their number was legion. It says : And certainly We raised in every nation an Apostle saying—Serve Allah and shun the devil –16 : 53Q. And for every people, there was a guide–13 : 7Q. It is why the Prophet said that the number of prophets approximately amounts to 124000 to 200000. India then had at least one prophet, Persia one, China one, Egypt one, etc. Did the Quran mention the names of all the prophets ? The Quran itself says : We sent apostles before you, there are some of them that We have mentioned to you, and there are others whom We have not mentioned to you—40 : 78Q. The Quran mentioned only some of the great prophets. They are only 25 in number and are the following :—Adam, Noah, Hud, Saleh, Luqman, Abraham, Isaac, Ishmael, Lot, Jacob (Is'rail), Joseph, Moses, Aron, David, Solomon. Elisha, Elias, Job, John (Yahya), Jonah, Joshua, Zul-Qarnain, Idris, Jesus and Muhammad (Peace upon all of them). It appsars therefore that besides these 25, the Muslims cannot say that Krishna, Buddha, Zoroaster, Confucious and other religious luminaries of the world were not prophets. Not only that, it is an article of faith with the Muslims to believe in all the religious personalities of the world.

(2). Revealed Books and their number. As is the case with the prophets, so is also with revaled books. Their number is legion or too numerous, because whenever a prophet appeared in the world, he got revelations from the Most High to guide mankind without borrowing his teachings from his predecessors or contemporaries. Those revelations were known as "al-Kitab" or simply book whether those were written or not. The Quran says : And certainly We sent apostles before you, and gave them wives and children, and it was not in the power of an apostle to bring a sign except by Allah's permission ; for every term, there was a book. Allah makes to pass away and establishes what He pleases, and with Him is the mother of the Book–13 : 31Q. Certainly We sent Our apostles with clear arguments and sent down with them a book–57 : 25Q. It appears therefore from the above verses that for a certain fixed time, there was a revealed book which taught the then people ; and when the term ended, the book also went away from existence. But the mother or source of all the revealed books is from the Almighty Allah. Hence there is similarity in teachings of all revaled books and religious prophets so far as the fundamental principles are concerned. Those books are also called Suhuf as in the cases of Moses and Abraham—(80 : 13Q ; 98 : 2Q). They are also known as Zabur as in 26 : 196Q ;

55 : 43Q ; 4 : 163Q. In this way, each prophet had one revealed book and thus the number of revealed books were as many as 124000 to 200000. Were they all in written form ? The art of writing was not then known. People remembered the revelations as was done by their prophet. And when the prophet died and the people were no more, the revelations also ended except some which were handed down to posterity with additions and interpolations. This was done by Divine Wisdom for good of the people as is seen in the verse 15 : 38Q recited above. The Quran again says : Whatever revelation We abrogate or cause to be forgotton, We bring one better than it or like it—2 : 106Q. Thus the loss of previous revelations was for the good of the people, as the Divine Rule is that the latter revelations were better than the previous revelations owing to their being brought near perfection. The Quran mentioned only four books that have been preserved more or less in writing i. e. the Zabur (Psalms) revealed to David, the Torah revealed to Moses, the Injil (Gospel) revealed to Jesus, and the Quran revealed to Muhammad. The followers of the above three books besides the Quran is popularly called 'Ahli Kitab' or literally the people of the book. Many revealed books have not been mentioned in the Quran. Nevertheless, we cannot say that they were not revealed. We cannot therefore say that the Gita, the Zendavesta and other religious scriptures were not revelations. Indeed Islam allows a prophet for every nation and consequently a religious scripture for every prophet.

(c). Faith in previous prophets and revealed books. That there was a prophet for every nation wi h a revealed book is an article of faith with the Muslims. If they do not believe in them, they are outside the category of Islam. The Quran teaches : Say, we believe in Allah, and in that which has been revealed to us, and in that which was revealed to Abraham and Ismail, and Isaac and Jacob and the tribes, and in that which was given to Moses and Jesus, and in that which was given to the prophets from their Lord ; we do not make any distinction between any of them, and to Him do we submit—2 : 136Q. They all believe in Allah and His angels, and His books and His apostles—2 : 285Q. Thus respect for all the religious personalities of the world and for all the religious books mentioned by the Quran or not is not only an argument but also an article of faith with the Muslims. What a great inter-religious good-will and co-operation has been brought about by that great harbinger of peace - the Prophet Muhammad.

Thus an universal brotherhood of prophets, an universal brotherhood of religions and an universal brotherhood of religious books thereby ensuring permanent peace between contending rival religions have been established 14 hundred years ago by the illiterate Prophet, a thing which is a marvel to the modern civilized world.

(d) Prophet Muhammad and the Quran. What is the distinction between the previous prophets and prophet Muhammad and between the previous revealed books and the Quran ? The distinction lies in the fact that the previous prophets were all national or sectional prophets, and the previous revealed books were consequently all national or sectional suited for one nation or for one class of people. Prophet Muhammad was a World Prophet, and the Quran is consequently an Universal Book unto all mankind teaching a World Religion for all the people of the globe. The Gita may be called a revealed book for the people of India, Zindavesta for the people of Persia, the Torah for the Jews, and the Gospel "for the lost sheep of Israil,"[1] and so is the case with all other religious books. Noah was sent to his people (7 : 59Q), so Hud (7 : 65Q), Saleh (7 : 73Q), Shuaib (7 : 85Q), Moses (14 : 5Q), and Jesus (3 : 48Q).[2] These prophets did not also claim the universal character of their teachings. It was only the Prophet Muhammad who claimed so and who was sent for all the people of the globe. The Quran says : O people ! I am the Prophet of Allah to all of you—7 : 158Q. God says : We have not sent thee but as a mercy to the whole universe—21 : 107Q. Surely We have sent thee forthe whole of mankind—34 : 29Q. Thus Muhammad is a World Prophet and the Quran is an Universal Book. Prophet preached therefore a World Religion of common fatherhood of God and universal brotherhood of men comprising in itself all the teachings of the previous revealed books and the previous prophets. This was done by Divine Wisdom to weld humanity into one compact whole, to remove prejudices created by geographical, social and other artficial barriers, to correct the arrogance of national and racial distinction and above all to guide the entire mankind to the true path of salvation by removing the mischievous idea of Divine Favouritism. Secondly, Muhammad is the last in the link of

1. Mathew—15 : 26.

2. Jesus Christ said : I have yet many things to say unto you, but you cannot hear them now. How beit when he, the spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth-John—16 : 12, 13. St. Paul said : Our learning is not complete, but the time of the complete learning is coming (Vide Corinthian XIII-9-11).

prophets and the Quran is the latest of the revelations. All the prophets from Adam down to Muhammad came to preach the same religion—the religion of self-immolation or self-surrender to the Almighty (called in Arabic Islam). Thus the same religion continued to grow and grow till it reached perfection at the hand of the World-Prophet Muhammad. The Quran says therefore : To day I have perfected your religion for you, and made My blessings perfect for you and chosen for you Islam as a religion—5 : 3Q. Thus the prophets formed one common brotherhood to develop the only religion of Islam under guidance of one God. Muhammad is therefore the last of the prophets and the Quran is the perfect manifestation of Divine laws and will. This is strictly in consonance with the theory of evolution. [1] Thirdly, the Quran though revealed 14 hundred years ago remains pure up to this day with its texts as revealed. Not a word has been changed. It is the version of the friends and foes alike. The other religious scriptures have either been lost or gone considerable changes due to human interpolations, incorporations, subtractions, interpretations, and alterations. This has been established in the present age [2] and will firmly be established as ages go by with deep researches of intellectual mines.

1. See note 61 for full discussion that the same religion continued from Adam to Muhammad. The following are the references showing that Muhammad is the last of the prophets—26 : 26 ; 33 : 8 ; 44, 7, 10, 666w, 41 : 46 : 67.

2. The Quran challenged the genuineness of the Bible in the following verses : Do you then hope that they would believe in you, and a party from among them used to hear the word of Allah, then altered it after they have understood it. ..... Woe, then, to those who write the book with their hands and then say : This is from Allah—2 : 75Q. This challenge remains unanswered up to this day. Nay recent researches proved the alterations of the Bible. Alexandrian and Vatican Mss. of the Bible were different. The Bible of the Jews and the Christians are not similar. There is the following in the Bible of the Jews—"Masih will come and make them firm," but it is not found in the Bible of the Christians. The Bibles of the Roman Catholics and Protestants are not similar. When the Jews lived at Babel, it was destroyed by some enemy, and the original Torah was lost. Many years after this event, the religious personalities depending upon their memory somehow rewrote the Torah. But by the attack of King Antiokos, even that was lost. After this, the Jewish preachers wrote something called "The Torah" according to their own views. This is now the modern Torah. Before meeting at Nikio, the Christians did not accept Christ as God (vide Church History). Rev. Arms did not believe Christ's divinity. The Quran repudiated the doctrine of sonship of Jesus in many verses - 2 : 116 ; 6 : 102 ; 10 : 68 ; 18 : 4 ; 19 : 35 ; 21 : 17 ; 23 : 91 ; 37 : 151 ; 112 : 3 ; 39 : 4. About the Gita, in the book named "Hindu Sangathan" by Binoy Krishna Sen, it occurs : Swami Dayananda said that the Vedas do not support idol worship - (Page 35).

The older a revealed book, the lesser is its genuineness, and the nearer a book, the more genuine it is. Hence the Bible being nearest to the Quran has got the greatest similarity with it. Fourthly, each revelation was independent of the other as it came to purge off from its immediate previous scripture its interpolations and alterations.[1] No prophet borrowed from another prophet. Moses did not borrow from his previous prophet, Jesus did not borrow from Moses, and Muhammad did not borrow from Jesus and Moses. Therefore the Quran remains in its original as it was revealed. It is therefore the only revelation now extant that is pure and hence should be followed by mankind. It is a guardian and judge over previous revelations. In other words, it guards the original teachings of the prophets of God and purified them of their corruptions and alterations. The Quran says that there was salvation in Judaism upto the advent of Jesus. When Jesus appeared, the Jews should have followed him as he came with a better and more perfect teaching consistent with the then age This principle of salvation came from Adam down to Jesus. When the Prophet Muhammad has appeared, the salvation now lies in accepting him as a prophet and in following his teachings. Because of alterations, interpolations and imperfect nature of previous scriptures like the Gospel and the Torah, they have not the rank of being followed in face of a perfect and original book like the Quran and of a perfect guidance like that of Muhammad. It is the latest, universal and contains the foremost developed laws suitable for all mankind.

(e) Mission of prophets. As has been said before, the mission of the prophets was the same i. e. to preach the religion of Islam that originated with the origin of man [2] The cult of all of them was pure monotheism or the worship of one God and not polytheism, idol-worship or hero-worship. The Quran says: And certainly We raised in every nation an apostle saying—Serve Allah and shun

1. In 'the Religion of Islam' by Maulana Md. Ali, some quotations of interpolation of false stories were cited. "Abraham was a liar. Lot committed incest with his own daughters, Aron made the image of a calf and led the Israilites to it worship, David committed adultery with Uria's wife, and Solomon worshipped idols to please his wives." These unjust and untrue statements have been banned by the Quran as concocted and wrought by human hands.

2. The Quran says: He has made plain to you of the religion which He enjoined upon Noah, and that which We have revealed to you, and that which We enjoined upon Abraham, Moses and Jesus, and that to establish the religion and be not divided therein —42 : 13Q.

the evil –16 : 35Q. The worship of idols and natural pheomena, or the worship of monks, saints, heroes and pirs was not introduced by any prophet, but it was introduced by the devils from ginn and man. The Quran therefore advises us to seek refuge from them saying : I seek refuge to the Lord of men, ... from the evil suggestions of the devil who whispers evils in the hearts of men out of ginn and men—114Q. The prophets are therefore one distinct class chosen by God to teach mankind and to warn them of evils. They form one brotherhood (43 : 24). The Quran says : Surely this your community—is one community and I am your Lord—21 : 92Q. Fear Me. But they cut off their affair among themselves into portions, each party rejoicing in that which is with them—23 : 51Q. This speaks of exultation of one people over another and of one creed over another. The original plan for prophethood was spoken by God himself when He drove out Adam from Paradise. He said : Surely there will come to you a guidance from Me ; then whoso follows My guidance, no fear shall come upon them, nor shall they grieve —16 : 35Q. This guidance is necessary because man does not know the future and the ultimate goal of his creation and the effects of his deeds on attainment of the goal. His Creator surely knows it and therefore He commissioned from time to time prophets with special powers and secret knowledge of things The Quran says : The knower of secrets ! He does not reveal His secrets to any except to him whom He chooses as a prophet—72 : 26Q. Allah chooses messengers from among angels and men—22 : 75Q. Allah said : These are they to whom We gave the book, wisdom and prophecy. They are those whom Allah guided. Therefore follow their guidance—6 : 87 to 91Q.

(f). Sinlessness of Prophets. The Holy Quran and Hadis declared with one voice that all the prophets were sinless by virtue of their ranks and deeds. Their nature was made in such a way that they were prone to good and not to evils. The devil had not the least influence over them. The Holy Prophet himself said that he conquered the devil, and that the devil could not touch Jesus Christ at the time of his birth. The Jews were saying that Jesus had no father and therefore he was an illegitimate child and that his mother Mary was unchaste. The Quran declared her innocent of the charge by saying : His mother was truthful—5 : 75Q. It says about prophets : They are honoured servants. They do not precede Him in speech and only according to his commandment do they act—21 : 25Q. It is not attributable to a prophet that he should act unfaithfully—3 : 160Q. What has been said in some traditions about sins of prophets is not really sins according to Divine Law but an earnest desire to rise up to the higher level of morality with recognition of one's own helplessness before God. Thus on the Resurrection Day, every prophet will be fearful of his own sins and therefore he will be unfit for intercession. These sins mean nothing but what has been stated above. The very admission of one's own defect is itself a form of prayer and surrender. The Quran therefore taught the prophets to express humility in this way. Noah was commanded to pray, "My Lord ! I seek refuge to Thee from asking Thee that of which I have no knowledge. If Thou shouldst not forgive me and have mercy on me, I should be of the losers—11 : 47Q. Moses struck a man with his fist in order to save a man from being illtreated and as a result the man died. At once he prayed : My Lord ! I have surely done harm to myself. So do Thou protect me—28 : 16Q. There is certainly no sin to go to help an oppressed person, but the death occurred accidentally. Adam is said to have disobeyed his Lord, but he really forgot. The Quran says : We certainly gave a covenant to Adam before, but he forgot and We did not find in him any determination (to disobey)—20 : 115Q. If Krishna, Buddha, Zoroaster, Confucious and others were prophets, they were also sinless on the same principle. Jesus is not a sinner because his followers say that he is the son of God. Similarly Krishna and others are not sinners because their followers adopted idol-worship and fire worship and attributed many impious things to them. In the case of Prophet Muhammad, there was not any slip or mistake. Her rose bigher and higher in the plane of morality till he reached the Divine companinoship.

The Quran praised the prophets in the way. Abraham was "a truthful man—19 : 41Q ; Moses was "one purified"—19 : 57Q and "was brought up before My eye"—20 : 39Q ; Ismail was "truthful in promise" or "one in whom his Lord was well—pleased"—19 : 54Q ; Noah, Hud, Saleh and Lot were "faithful"—26 : 107, 125, 143, 162Q ; Jesus was "worthy of regard in this world and the hereafter, and one of those who are near to God"—2 : 44 ; John the Baptist was—"We granted him wisdom..... and tenderness from Us and purity and he was one who guarded against evil, and was dutiful to his parents, and he was not insolent, disobedient"—19 : 12Q ; he was "honourable and chaste"—3 : 38Q. Thus the Quran praised the prophets with virtues, but it must not be supposed that the high qualities attributed to one prophet was wanting in others. Indeed all of them were endowed more or less with all the qualities and in short they were sinless. This has been corroborated even by the Bible. It says about Noah "He was a just man and prophet in his generations- gen. 6 : 9. God said to Abraham : Walk before Me and be perfect - gen. 17 : 1. He said to Moses : Thou shalt be perfect with the Lord thy God -Deut. 18 : 13. About Zacharia, it said : And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord, blameless – Lk. 1 : 6. It says about John (Yahya) : He was filled with the Holy Ghost even from his mother's womb— Lk. 1 : 15. The sinlessness of prophets is therefore a fact according to the Quran and the Bible,

1. Imran-b-Hussain reported: I was near the Messenger of Allah when a people of Banu Tamim came to him. He said : O Banu Tamim ! accept the good message. They said : You have delivered us good message, but give us (now). Then some people out of the inhabitants of Yemen came. He said : O people of Yemen, accept the good message when Banu Tamim did not accept it. They replied : We have accepted. We have come to you to acquire knowledge in religion and to ask you about the first of this affair which existed. He said : There was Allah, and there was nothing before Him, and His Throne was upon water and then He created the heavens and earth. He recorded everything in the Reminder. Afterwards a man came to me and said : O Imran ! search for your she-camel as it has gone away. Then I went out in search of it. By oath of Allah, certainly I did like that it should have gone and that I should not have got up [2415] Bukhari.

7. Same reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Abraham did not speak but three falsehoods. Two of them relate to the existence of Allah : his saying 'I am ill', and his saying 'Rather their big one did it'. He said : Once when he was with Sarah, he passed by a tyrant of the tyrants. It was said to him : Here there is a man with a woman with him who is the most beautiful among men. He was sent for and he asked him about her : Who is she ? He said : My sister. Then he came to Sarah and said to her : Verily if this tyrant come to know that you are my wife, he would attack me for you; and if he ask you, inform him that you are my sister as you are my sister in Islam. There is no believer on the surface of the earth besides me and you. Then he sent for her and so she was brought while Abraham was standing in prayer. When she went to him, he was about to catch hold of her by his hand. He was then overtaken (by God), and it is narrated that his breath was choked till he stroke with his feet. He said : Pray to Allah for me, and I will do you no harm. So she prayed to Allah and then he was set free. Again he caught hold of her for the second time but was overpowered like it or more. He said : Pray to Allah, and I won't injure you. So she prayed to Allah and he was set free. Then he called some of his guards and said : You have not taken a man to me, but you have taken a devil to me. Then Hagar was gifted for her service and she came to him while he was praying. He hinted with his hand : Wherefrom ? She replied : Allah returned the device of the unbeliever to his chest and gave Hagar for service. Abu Hurairah said : She was your mother, O children of the water of heaven.[2419] —Agreed.

2419. (a). When Abraham was young, he was requested by the people to accompany them to a fair and to worship idols. Abraham said to them : I am ill (37 : 89Q). So they went away from him, turning back. This is said to be the first lie Abraham spoke though in the eye of Shariat it is not a lie. Then Abraham broke the idols leaving only the big idol with an axe on its shoulder. When the people returned from the fair, they saw their idols dashed to pieces. They called Abraham and asked : Have you done this to our gods, O Abraham ? He said : Surely the chief of them has done it, ask them if they can speak—21 : 63Q. This is the second lie which was adopted by way of giving admonition to the idol-worshipers that the idols can do no benefit or harm and hence their worship is void. (b). Then those from among the Israilites who inflicted on him trouble did inflict on him trouble. They said : Why is this covering expect for some defect in his body, either for leprosy or hydrocele ? And verily the Almighty Allah wished to prove him innocent. One day he was let alone to take bath. He put his clothes upon a stone, but it fled away with his cloth. Moses 2420. (a). This refers to the Quranic verse : When Abraham said : O my Lord ! show me how Thou bringest the dead to life. He asked : What ! do you not believe ? He replied : Yes, but to set my heart at rest (2 : 260Q). The Holy Prophet said that he was no better than Abraham in this kind of doubt, because this took him from knowledge of truth علم اليقين to the veritable sight of truth عين اليقين and is therefore a search towards spiritual advancement. The Prophet liked such doubt and verification. (b) Regarding Prophet Lot, he also sought shelter to a strong party. It is said to be a defect in him as he should have sought shelter to Allah. This refers to the people of Lot who wanted to inflict trouble to his guests who were angels. Lot said at that time : Would that I had strength for you, rather I shall have recourse to a strong party (11 : 80Q). (c) Joseph was detained in a prison in Egypt for as long a period as nine years on a charge the of intention of committing fornication with the wife of the king of the land named Jolekha. When the messenger of the king carried news of release to the prison gate, Joseph did not want to be released till he could be declared innocent after trial as he was really innocent. The Holy Prophet eulogised Joseph for his patience and said that he would have responded to the order of release if he would have been detained so long in prison. This is an excellent example of modesty on the part of the Holy Prophet.

11. Same reported that a man from the Muslims and a man from the Jews disputed. The Muslim said: By One who selected Muhammad over the worlds. The Jew said: By One Who seclected Moses over the worlds. The Muslim rais d up his hand at that time and slapped the face of the Jew. Then the Jew went to the Holy Prophet and informed him of what had occurred from his affair and from the affair of the Muslim. The Prophet summoned the Muslim and asked him of that. So he informed him. The Prophet said : Don't choose me over Moses. Verily the people will fall senseless on the Resurrection Day [2421] and I shall also fall senseless with them, but I shall be the first of those who will recover when lo ! Moses will be catching a side of the Throne. I shall not know whether he was of those who fell senseless and recovered before me, or of those whom Allah excepted. And in a narration : I shall not know whether he will be taken account along with his swoon on the day of Tur or he will be raised up before me. I don't say that anybody is better than Jonah-b-Matta. And in a narration of Abu Sayeed : Don't make distinction among the prophets. Agreed upon it. And in a narration of Abu Hurairah : Don't set up superiority among the prophets of Allah.

12. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : It is not proper for anybody to say : I am better than Jonah-b-Matta. Agreed upon it. And in a narration of Bukhari : He said : Whoso says—I am better than Jonah-b-Matta—speaks falsehood. [2421a]

2421. The Quran recites about this senseless state after the Trumpet will be blown : Then those who will be in heaven and those in earth will fall down senseless except such as Allah pleases (39 : 68Q).

2421a. This means either of the two things—Whoso says that I (Muhammad) am better than Jonah, or whoso says that he is better than Jonah. In the latter case, it is admitted that prophets are better than ordinary men. In the former case, Prophet said out of modesty. This in no way contradicts the Hadis : I am superior of the children of Adam.

This appears to contradict the verse 30 : 30Q but there is no real contradiction between the two, as God knows in the former case that his actions would lead him ultimately to infidelity though he was born on the natural religion of Islam as every child is born. 18. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: In the night in which I was taken to heaven, I met with Moses. (Then he described him). Lo! he was a man of thin stature, a man of hairs, as if he is one of the inhabitants of Shanua. And I met Jesus, round, red, as if he came out from Dimas (that is bath-room). And I saw Abraham, and I resemble him most among his children. He said: Then two cups were brought before me, one of milk and another of wine. I was then told: Take what you like of these two. I took milk and drank it. I was then told: You have been guided to natural state. Behold! had you taken wine, your followers would have strayed. —Agreed.

19. Ibn Abbas reported: We travelled with the Apostle of Allah between Mecca and Medina and passed by a valley. He asked: What valley is this? They replied: It is Azdaq valley. He said: As if I am looking at Moses. Then he described something of his colour and hairs, and he was putting his fingers in his ears. He had a loud voice with Talbiyah [2424] towards Allah, passing by this valley. He said: Then we travelled till we came to a hill. He asked: What hill is this? They said: Harsh or Left. He said: As if I am looking at Jonah upon a red she-camel with a long gown of wool on him. The rein of his she-camel was of vine-string and he was passing by this valley reciting Labbaik.

20. Abu Hurairah reported from the Prophet who said: Reading was made easy for David. He used to pass order with regard to his beasts and so they used to be taken for pasture, and he used to sing psalms before his beasts were taken for pasturage. He used not to take food except out of labour of his own hands. [2425] —Bukhari

2425. David had a sweet melodious voice. He used to sing with his Paslms in the Zabur with such a pleasant voice that his animals used not to come out for pasturage as they heard his songs till David ordered them to be taken for pasturage. David used to take food out of the earning of his own hand. He used to prepare coats of mail though he was king and prophet.

decision before David. He gave it to the elder woman. Then they came to Solomon, son of David, and informed him. He said : Come to me with a knife. I shall divide it between you two. The younger woman said : Do it not. May Allah have mercy on thee ! It is her son. Then he gave it to the younger woman. —Agreed.

22. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said that Solaiman had said : I shall have to-night turns among ninety wives (and in a narration one hundred wives), each of them will give birth to a horseman who will fight in the way of Allah. An angel said to him: Say—if Allah pleases. He did not say and forgot. Then he had turns among them, but none of them conceived except one woman. She gave birth to a half-male. By the oath of One in whose hand there stands the life of Muhammad, had he said "If Allah wishes," they would have all fought as horsemen in the way of Allah.[2426] —Ahmad.

2426. It appears from this hadis that previous prophets had the institution of polygamy. Even Solaiman had ninety-nine or one hundred wives as is seen in this tradition. The Holy Prophet Muhammad reformed this institution and restricted the number to four at a time and imposed a condition of equal treatment. It appears also that there was existance of holy war all throughout. With regard to the utterance of "If Allah wills," the Quran says : Don't say for anything "I shall do it to-morrow" except if Allah wills (18 : 23Q). It appears that Solomon did not utter it though reminded of his defect. This was possibly due to the idea that use of tongue is not so necessary as use of mind as the latter already had this idea in mind.

2427. Prophets came with the same religion, the religion of Islam. By this pronouncement, all differences between religions and religions have been abolished. At the same time, all the prophets were given a position not given by any religion previous to this.

2428. This shows what a high position was given by the Prophet to Jesus. The Christians lowered his position at present by calling him son of God, while in fact there is no son or wife of God like a human being. That Jesus has been saved from the devil finds corroboration even from the Quran. It says: Verily I named her Mary, and I entrusted her and her descendant to Thee from the accursed devil—3: 35Q.

2429. See how the Prophet purified Mary from the evil accusation of the Jews, the accusation that she illegitimately gave bith to Jesus. He said that Jesus was born just as Adam was born without parents and that Mary was a perfect woman and pure. Asiyah and Mary were the two perfect women among the nations of yore.

2430. Yez'd-b-Harun explained the word 'Ama'a' as 'one with whom there was nothing'. It may mean also thin cloud.

2431. It is said that this tradition was uttered before Abbas accpted Islam, but the party amongst whom he sat were Muslims. It is said in this tradition that the distance between heaven and earth is 71, 72 or 73 years' journey. In another tradition (43 : 32) the distance is said to be 500 years' journey. This contradiction is tried to be removed by the acceptance of different kinds of journeys in the two cases. Some say that the number in this tradition signifies many.

the distance between these two is either one, or two, or three and seventy years, and the heaven that is above it is like that; till he counted seven heavens. Then there is a sea above the seventh heaven the distance between its surface and depth is as the distance between one heaven to another heaven. And above that, there are eight angels. The distance between their claws and their hip-bone is as the distance between one heaven to another heaven. Then there is the Throne above their backs. The distance between its surface and depth is as the distance between one heaven to another heaven. Then above that, there is Allah. —Tirmizi, Abu Daud.

2432. The Holy Prophet was astonished to hear the word of the desert Arab that prayer should be offered for rain through an intermediary without himself being engaged in such prayer. In Islam, therefore, there is no intermediary to approach God or to pour our heart to Him. Every man has equal right to call God, to read the Quran and to enter the mosques and praying places. Allah is so great that he hears the prayer of the lowest of the low if it is offered with a sincere heart. This view also coincides with advanced views and thoughts.

2433a. روايا is the plural of رواية meaning camel which draws water for pasturage. Comparison has been drawn up between this and the cloud which also fertilises the soil by watering. It appears from this tradition that Allah is upon the Throne above the seven heavens, yet He is in the lowest earth. That is possible only when the earth is round. 14 hundred years ago, the Prophet declared thus that the world is round. Indeed عرش signifies His power, omnipotence and knowledge.

2433b. Abu Nayeem narrated this hadis in the Hilya from Anas. He did not narrate 'Gabriel broke down".

664w. Abu Zarr reported: I asked: O Ms. of Allah! who among the prophets was created first? He said: Adam. I asked: O Ms. of Allah! was he a prophet? He said: Yes, a prophet to whom message was sent. I asked: O Ms. of Allah! how many were the messengers? He said: Three hundred and ten and odd out of many hosts. And in a narration of Abu Omamah, Abu Zarr said: I asked: O Ms. of Allah! how many are the full numbers of prophets? He said: One hundred and twenty thousands, out of them the messengers are three hundred and fifteen out of many hosts. —Ahmad.

665w. Ibn Abbas reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Infromation is not such as sight with eyes. Verily the Almighty Allah informed Moses of what his people had done about the calf. He did not throw off the tablets. When he saw with eyes what they had done, he threw off the tablets which then broke off. —Ahmad.

CHAPTER XLIV

2434. Prophet Muhammad (Peace be on him).

1. His life. The Holy Prophet was born at Mecca in Arabia on Monday morning, the 12th of Rabiul Awwal (corresponding to April, 571 A. D.) nearly 4090 years after Noah, 3000 years after Abraham, 2300 years after Moses, 1800 years after David, 500 years after Jesus. His life and career is unique in the history of the world. Who knew that this young child would grow up a mighty World Prophet to teach the fallen humanity? His father Abdullah died nearly six months before his birth which coincides with Abraha's attack on Mecca, the powerful ruler of Abyssinia. He came from the stock of Ismail, son of the Patriarch Abraham. The Prophet's geneology can be traced to Adnan, the fortieth descent from Ismail. Further down, in the ninth descent, there comes Nazr-b-Kinana, the founder of the Quraish dynasty. The Prophet's geneological table is as follows:— Muhammad, son of Abdullah, son of Abdul Muttaleb, son of Hashem, son of Abd Mannaf, son of Qusayy, son of Murrah, son of Ka'ab, son of Luyay, son of Galeb, son of Fihr, son of Malek, son of Kenanah. The Prophet's mother was Amina, daughter of Wahb-b-Abd Manaf of the Zuhra family.

2. His Infancy He was handed over to Halima of the tribe of Banu Sa'ad and remained in her charge till the age of six. After that, the boy was returned to his mother Amina. His mother started to visit the tomb of her husband with the young boy but died on the way at Abwa where she was interred. The would-be Prophet was thus bereaved of his father and mother at the early age of six and became a quite helpless orphan. Who knew that the Divine Hand is working behind this event to show him in the role of an orphan depending on Allah? The boy was brought back to Mecca by Omme Ayman and was handed over to his grand father Abu Talib. The boy began to grow under the affectionate cares of his grandfather but the angel of death at the Divine Dictation also snatched away this last support. In this way the Prophet was taught how to develop a sense of reliance on God in a state of utter helplessness. Then at the age of eight, the guardianship passed to his uncle Abdul Muttalib who began to love the orphan boy with the affection of a real father. During this time, the boy used to graze cattles for some period. The Prophet was thus a shephard as he himself admitted it in the latter days. At twelve, the young boy accompanied his uncle on a merchantile journey to Syria and thus took a training in merchantile transactions. During this journey, he met the Christian monk Bahira who foretold about the future greatness of this young boy. He also saw some signs in him which formed the characteristics of a prophet and foretold that he was the prophecy of Jesus Christ.

3. A young man. The Prophet thus grew up unschooled and unlettered without going to any teacher and without getting lessons from any book. What was the necessity of reading when the whole book of nature lay before his mind's eye for study ? What was the necessity of a teacher when the Great Teacher himself took the task of giving lessons from Nature's page to the would-be World Prophet? Who could have been a better teacher than God Himself ? Who can dare to teach him who came as a World Teacher for mankind ? Then we see that at the age of twenty when there was full bloom of youth, the Prophet did not marry as was usual with the then Arabs but partook in the battle known as Harb-ul-Fijar (a war of transgression) that broke out between the Quraish and Qais tribes in the sacred months in which war was forbidden from before. In this battle-field the character of the Prophet as a soldier and commander was moulded by divine wisdom. The Prophet saw the horrors of war and the helpless condition of the poor, the distressed and the widows whose husbands fell in war. He could not sit idle like others and him elf formed the humanitarian organisation known as "Hilful-Fuzul" in order to vindicate the rights of the weak, the poor and the oppressed. This gave a training to the Prophet through divine intelligence for humanitarian acts in future. The young bachelor threw himself heart and soul in this work till his services were recognised by all the Meccans and he was given the little of "Al-Amin" the Trust-worthy, signifying integrity of character and purity of conduct. Who knew that this certificate of character and conduct would not be a plank in the ladder of the most sublime morality which he attained afterwards. The young Muhammad gained in such a way considerable reputation and began to arbitrate in many disputes as the single trusted man in the community. When the dispute began among the tribes with regard to the placing of the Black Stone in the Ka'ba, Muhammad was entrusted with this decision with the saying

"Here is Al-Amin, here is Al Amin". Thus the Prophet averted what might have developed into a terrible war. Thereafter the famous Khadija entrusted to the young Muhammad the sole charge of her business as she heard of her integrity of character and honesty in dealings. The Prophet went to Syria as her sole agent and returned with unexpected profits. He was so faithful to his mistress that the old lady of 40 years of age was charmed with his manners and took him in marriage when he was only 25 years old. Though there was a great disparity in age, the couple lived in happiness till the death of Khadija up to her age of 65th year. The Prophet had all his children [1] by this lady except Ibrahim who was begotten by Mary the Copt. All the children fell to the hands of death before Prophet's demise except Fatima who died six months after the death of the Prophet.

4. Prophethood. The Holy Prophet used often before the Call to medidate deeply the fallen condition of the humanity and the measures which will be sufficient to raise them up. For this reason, he used to retire to the cave Hira in a mount nearly three miles off from Mecca. There he would remain in deep medidation and worship of the Almighty Allah. On the 609 A. D. in the month of Ramzan, the heaviest responsibility of the office of the World Prophet was laid on his shoulders and the first revelation came to him through the Archangel Gabriel. Overburdened with this onerous task, he felt the most nervous and fearful and came running to his beloved Khadija for consolation. Khadija was the first Muslima that put faith in the Prophet's mission and call. Then Waraqa was informed of this and he said : This is the very angel that God sent down to Moses. Thus the apostolical career of the Prophet began from the 40th year of his life till his death when he was sixty-three.

5. Early converts. Being imbued with the truth of the mission, many men of character professed Islam. Among the noted early converts, there were Hazrats Khadija, Ali, Osman, Abu-Bakr, Zaid, Bilal, Yaser, his son and wife, Abdullah-b Mas'ud, Khabbab and others. Within the first three years there were as many as forty converts to Islam. This raised an alarm in the camp of the Quraish. This was increased more when Hazrats Hamza and Omar fell to the spiritual force of Islam. The man (Omar) who was just a dead enemy of Islam turned himself suddenly one of its great supporters. Then from the 4th year of the Call, bitter persecutions followed. As a result one party of the Muslims had to migrate to Abyssinia in 5 A. H. for saving their lives and Islam. The men who remained with the Prophet were put to cruel tortures the descriptions of which will come later on. In the 6th year of the Call, another batch of the new-converts had to emigrate to Abyssinia. The number of refugees thus totalled to 102. In that crisis, the Prophet had the courage to climb on Mount Safa and preached publicly the religion of Islam according to the dictation of the Almighty. But none paid any heed to his call at that time. The Quraish came on a deputation to Prophet's uncle, Abu Taleb, but he did not pay serious attention to their counsels. Thereafter the second batch was deputed to Abu Taleb, and the Prophet was requested to give up his mision by his uncle. He replied : O my uncle ! should they place the sun in my right hand and the moon in my left in order to make me renounce this mission, it shall not be. I will never give it up until it should please God to make it a triump or I perish in the attempt". The Quraish then again came to the Prophet and offered him temptations of wealth, power, and kingship, but the Prophet replied in strong words that he would never desist from his mission whatever might be the consequences. When this was frustrated, the entire clan Banu Hashim including the Holy Prophet was imprisoned in a quarter named Shib in the 7th year of the call. There the Prophet was detained for long three years without the bare necessities of life and without any opportunity of preaching Islam. Who knew that this severe punishment would alienate the sympathy of many of the Quraish from their clan ? Their sincere sympathy for the horrors of imprisonment secured their release. In the 10th year of the Call after release, the Prophet had to lose his dear consort and his dear supporter Abu Taleb forever. This year is therefore known in history as the year of grief. Their death ushered in a new era of persecutions.

6. Journey to Tayef. Finding no support in Mecca, the Prophet migrated to Tayef with Zaid to seek better opportunity for preaching his mission but still greater persecutions awaited him there. He was mercilessly pelted with stones and brick-bats so much so that blood began to ozz out from every part of his body. The Prophet yet smilingly prayed : O God ! forgive them.

They know not what they do. Can there be an utterance within imagination which is so sublime and which is so noble? Then he had to return to Mecca. Here in the pilgrim season, he tried to preach his mission inspite of bitter opposition by Abu Lahab, Abu Zahl and Abu Sufiyan. In the 11th year of the Call, six persons of Medina accepted Islam at Mecca and took allegiance to the Prophet. This is known as the first pledge of Aqaba. In the 13th year of the Call, 73 men and two women gave a pledge to the Prophet that they would be loyal to the Prophet if he would got to Medina. This is known as the second pledge of Aqaba. Thereafter the Prophet's companions began to migrate to Medina imperceptibly till the Prophet was left at Mecca with only two companions, Abu Bakr and Ali. How daring was he that being hemned in on all sides by the blood thirsty enemies, he remained without sufficient number of companions. Then in the beginning of the 14th year of the Call, the order for migration came from the Most High and the Prophet made secret arrangements for the Emigration.

7. Hizrat On 28th June, 622 A. D., the Prophet was surrounded by the young men of the Quraish in his very house but the Invisible Hand rescued him in an unguarded moment. Leaving behind Ali, he went to Abu Bakr and then taking him he slipped away from the town and took shelter to a cave named Sur, 3 miles away from the town. There the enemies dashed to the mouth of the cave but the Prophet said to console Abu Bakr at that time "Do not be grieved, for surely Allah is with us." How grand is the utterance in circumstances the most puzzling. For full three days the Prophet remained in the cave but when he was out, he was pursued by Suraqa-b-Malik. Futile are the attempts for murder when the Invisible Hand is behind one's back. Suraqa's horse fell down and could not touch even a single hair of the Prophet. On the country, the Prophet forgave him and gave him a great news of reward of the Persian bangles. Then the Prophet waded his journey onward till he reached safe at Quba, three miles to the south of Medina. For 14 days, the Prophet remained here and built the first mosque in Islam known as the mosque of Quba "founded on piety". Then the Prophet started for Medina and was received with the chorous of welcome songs.

8. At Medina. His camel stopped at Abu Ayyubs' house where he halted and began to construct the mosque of Medina. Adjoining the mosque, two apartments were erected for the household of the Prophet. For the first time in Islam, congregational prayers began in this mosque with the call of Azan "Allah the Greatest". There the Prophet cemented a real brotherhood between the Refugees from Mecca and the Ansars who were the residents of Medina. This is the germ of the Islamic Common-wealth that grew so important in after life. After this, the Prophet concluded a pact with the Jews and the neighbouring tribes to secure the peace of Medina. But who can prevent thorns through which the rose of Islam will triump and diffuse fragrance throughout the world?

9. Wars. In 2 A. H., the Quraish marched towards Medina and met the Muslims at a place named Badr, 30 miles to the south of Medina. The hosts were completely routed and Islam gained more sunshine to flourish and grow. The Quraish were pricked by this defeat and so they again mustered strong in order to crush a heavy defeat on the Muslims. They went just near Medina and halted at a place called Uhud, only 3 miles to the north of Medina. 700 Muslim soldiers met an army of 3000 strong but the Muslims came out victorious after an initial discomfiture. The Prophet lost one of his teeth in this battle. In 4 A. H., the Banu Nazir, a Jewish tribe, broke their pledge and joined the enemies. Hence they were banished from Medina. In 5 A. H., the whole Arabia was combined in order to sweep out the last sign of Islam from the globe and with an army of 24000 aided by the Jews and the Christians besieged Medina. This is known as the battle of the Allies or the battle of Trench. The Holy Prophet saw danger beforehand and had a ditch dug round the open side of the city and remained within the town seeking help from the Almighty. Who can destroy him who is helped by the Almighty? After one month's siege, the provision ran short and a severe tempest discomfitted the enemies so much that the place occupied by them were found one morning vacant without a single tent. The Jewish tribe, Banu Quraiza, helped the enemies inspite of treaty and so they were punished and banished. In 6 A. H., the Prophet started to make "Umrah" towards Mecca with 1400 companions, but he was prevented on the way by the Meccans. The Prophet took fresh allegiance known as Baitur Ridwan, from his companions under a tree. There was a pact between the Quraish and the Muslims and this is known in history as the truce of Hudaibiyah. He returned to Medina inspite of the unwillingness of some of his companions. The Prophet was much disgusted with the Jews of Khaiber, the the stronghold of the Jews, who were safe there to destoy Islam. So the Prophet marched towards Khaiber in 7 A. H. and gave a crushing defeat. A certain Jewess gave there poisoned food to the Prophet but He who supplied the properties of poison robbed it of its injurious effect. It is a fine example how God helps those who rely absolutely on Him. In the same year, the Prophet sent epistles to the sovereigns and the chiefs inviting them all to join Islam. This led to the conversion of Bazan, the governor of Chosroes at Yemen. This invitition cut both ways. The Prophet added new strength to the forces of persecution. The ambassador Haris-b-Umar who went to the Syrian ruler with the invitation letter was murdered against all international laws. The Prophet could not brook this. He therefore led an army of only 3000 to fight against a trained force of 100000. The armies met at Muta and hence the battle is known as the campaign of Muta. Ultimately, the enemies were routed to the great credit of the Commander Muhammad. In the same year in 8 A. H., the Prophet marched towards Mecca with 10,000 devoted followers and the city fell to the mercy of the Prophet without a single drop of blood. The city which once bitterly persecuted and tortured the Prophet and his followers and the city which drove him out expected a general massacre and persecutions of the worst type. But what did Muhammad do? He did not kill a single being but on the contrary announced "There is no reproach against you."

The Prophet returned to Medina, but immediately after return he heard that the tribe of Hawazin, a race of warriors occupying the slopes to the east of Mecca, has been stirring the Beduins to rise against Islam. So he marched with 10,000 soldiers and met the tribe. After some defeat, the Muslims were victorions, and as a result, 60 prisoners, 24000 sheep and other booties fell into the hands of the Muslims. These successive defeats of the Quraish proved that the cause of Islam would triump. The Banu Tamim thereafter accepted Islam and other tribes began to follow suit. This rise of Islam gave an alarm to the neighbouring Christian Empire which could not tolerate so powerful an enemy near its borders. So the frontier of the Common-wealth was attacked. The Prophet had no other alternative but to mrach out from Medina in 9 A. H., with an army of 30,000 strong towards Tabuk. The enemies fled to their homes and so the Prophet had to retrace his steps. Thereafter still more deputations came to the Prophet to accept Islam from every corner of Arabia. The Christians of Nazran also came and they were allowed to hold service according to their faith in the mosque. Then it took but only two years to bring the whole Arabia under the banner of Tauhid sweeping away all corruptions, breaking away idols and making the people saints and hermits.

10. Farewell Pilgrimage. In 10 A. H., the Prophet set out on pilgrimiage and as many as 124,000 prsons from various parts of Arabia assembled at Arafat. What a grand and impressive spectacle! It is for the angels to see! There the Prophet gave his parting sermon which is memorable in the annals of Islam. It is known as the sermon of the Farewell Pilgrimage. The Prophet gave a hint at Arafat that he fulfilled his mission and that his end was near. He said: O people! lend an attentive ear to my words; for I know not whether I shall ever hereafter have the opportunity to meet you here. Then after the sermon, he cried at the top of his voice "O Lord! I have delivered Thy message", and the valley resounded with the reply from the millions of mouths "Yes, you have".

11. His death. On return from the farewell pilgrimage, he fell ill at 11 A. H. Then after suffering for some days, he fell a victim to his illness and thereafter on Monday, the 8th. June 632 A. D., the Holy Prophet went to the Blessed Companionship on high. His body was interred in the very house in which he lived at Medina. Thus ended a career so full of events and persecutions attended with the greatest success attained by any human being.

(b). A Model for everyman of any profession. The religion of mankind is one as God is one. The same religion began from the time of Adam and will continue up to the Doomsday. That is the religion of "the surrender to one God. called in Arabic 'Islam". This tiny seed of Islam was planted by Divine Wisdom by the hand of the first man Adam, and then it continued to grow and thrive under the fostering care of the innumerable prophets that appeared from time to time in every part of the globe—Noah, Abraham, Moses and Jesus. At last when the tree of Islam became fully grown-up, there became the necessity of a World Prophet to distribute its fruits. The choice for this mission fell on no other shoulder but on that of the unlettered Prophet of Arabia. He was the last in the chain of prophets and the greatest. He was commissioned as a World Prophet unlike others who were sent merely for some particular countries or localities. They were just like stars that lost their lustre as soon as the sun appeared in the horizon. The great sun in the person of the Prophet rose in the Arabian horizon and therefore there was no need of these national prophets. The Prophet Muhammad was sent by Divine Wisdom as a model for every man of every profession in the world, Thus a Muslim has two-fold guidance-the Holy Quran containing teachings and the Prophet as an illustration of these teachings.

He was therefore led through different stages and vicissitudes of life in order to furnish instructions to the misguided people of the world. If he had not been a general, he could not have been a model for a commander leading armies in the battle field, if he had not been a legislator, he could not have been a model for a legislative authority. Thus he was led by the Inperceptible Hand though every phase of a human life. In every phase, he came out with the best colours. None before or after in the globe could or can be compared like him in a particular department of life and none equitted himself so well therein. For this reason, the model was selected from the class of men and not of angels with human characteristics and the model was consequently shorn of great miracles unlike those of Jesus, for a miracle monger cannot serve as a model. Because of this varied activities of human life, a king regards him only as a king, a commander only as a commander, a legislator only as a legislator, a judge only as a judge, a reformer only as a reformer, a religious man only as a religious man, a worldly man only as a worldly man leaving wives and children. In this way he appears to every man in the role of what he thinks of himself. Therein lies the credit of the World Prophet, a model for every virtue, a model for every attribute, a model for every business man. Not only that, he combined in himself all the best virtues of every man, and his teachings are a combination of all the best teachings of all the prophets and religious personalities that appeared in every part of the globe and of the books revealed and unrevealed. He had "the manliness of Moses, the tender-heartedness of Aaron, the generalship of Joshua, the patience of Job, the daring of David, the grandeur of Solomon, the simplicity of John and the humility of Jesus". His was a ray of the sun which illumines the whole world, and not a particular country. His was a body through which all the human qualities got perfect manifestation. His was a mind that comprised within itself all human beings and not the Arabs alone. His teachings were not meant for those only who are religious but also for the philosophers and the scientists, the literates and the illiterates, the rich and the poor, the landlords and the tenants, the high and the low.

Below we are going to corroborate very briefly our statements by showing his activities in the most important phases of a human life.

(c) The greatest Reformer and the successful man. If greatness lies in reforming a degraded people, who can have a greater claim than the Prophet himself? Never was a people so low as the Arabs were, never was a nation so disorganised as the Arabs were, nowhere was idolatry so deep-rooted as in Arabia, nowhere in the globe was so dark a spot as Arabia, never was a people so brute and illiterate as the Arabs were. After a marvellously short period of twenty three years of reformation, never was a people found so civilized as the Arabs, no nation was so organised, no nation was so righteous, no government was so well-administered, no people was so morally and spiritually elevated, no spot was so bright and nowhere was so strong a feeling for the unity of God and the brotherhood of the human race, and no people were so upholders of justice and equity in the globe. Success did not intoxicate him, adversity did not discourage him, persecutions could not swerve him an inch. Baffled he never faltered, beaten he never gave up hope. From a poor orphan boy to the position of a mighty king, from an unknown worker to a mighty reformer, from an unrecognised citizen to a beloved temporal and spiritual leader! What a great success! What a mighty transformation! By a fortune unique in the history of the world, the Prophet is a three-fold founder-of a nation, of an empire and of a religion. He arose in the darkest spot, took up the mission of reformation single-handed, there was no aid, no friend and not a word of sympathy and encouragement, no fund and no backing of rulers and kings, no civilization, no education, no communication and no publicity system. Yet he rose like a midday sun in the central horizon of Arabia dissipating the intense darkness all around the globe, gained numerous friends whose devotion and attachment is proverbial, received homage and allegiance as has never fallen to the lot of a mortal and attained such success in reformation as is never witnessed in the history of man. He laid the foundation of an empire which consisted of more than half of the globe and which still rises its head inspite of the onslaughts of the enormous odds and huge armaments at its back. He founded a religion which thrills the hearts of more than one-third of the people of the earth. He founded a nation who were the torch-bearers of culture and civilization through the mediæval world. He attained such success as was not done by any previous Prophet. Moses had to meet with failure, Jesus had to cut short his mission, Nepolian ended his life as a prisoner. In matters religious even before Islam, Judaism, Christianity and Hanifism failed to reform the Arabs The Christian tribes Banu Hares in Najran and Banu Hanif in Yamamah tried to teach the Arabs for 5 0 years but to no effect. It was Muhammad who brought their wholesale transformation and saw his efforts crowned with success. It is therefore that the Encyclopædia Brittanica (11th edition) said : "Of all the religious personalities of the world, Muhammad was the most successful."

Now coming to details, we find that the Prophet had to deal chiefly with two systems of reforms-religious and social. What were then the pre-Islamic practices and beliefs and post-Islamic reforms ?

1. The Arabs barring a few were sunk in the grossest idolaty and idol worship thinking that the Almighty God entrusted the discharge of the various functions of the universe to different gods, goddesses and idols. [1] Going on a journey, they carried stones for worship. Every house had at least an idol, and the Holy Ka'ba contained nearly 360 idols. Animals were sacrifieed before them and articles of food were offered. The whole Arabia and some other countries were engrossed in such vices. On being asked, some usually replied in support of idol-worship that the idols were so many intermediaries to approach God. The Quran mentions this argument : We don't worship them except that they should bring us nearer to Allah—39 : 3Q. Within a brief period of 23 years, the whole Arabia was purged off idols and idol-worship. Each idol in the Ka'ba was broken with the solemn declaration "Truth has come and falsehood vanished ; verily falsehood is a thing to vanish (17 : 81Q)." As a preventive measure, even hanging of life-pictures was also banned. The banner of Tauhid was raised aloft in the whole of Arabian peninsula and the sound of Allaho Akbar filled up the whole Arabian horizon. What a greater reformation can be expected within so short a time? Taking this spiritual lesson from the Prophet, Raja Rammohun Roy tried to abolish idolatry from India but was not successful. Kabir, Nanak and Dayananda also tried to reform but their mission was not so successful. Luther in Europe drank deep in Islam and reformed Christianity. It is chiefly due to the teachings of the Prophet that idol worship is now confined within the lowest strata of the society. The intelligensia of every country now worship God under some name or other. What a great legacy the greatest reformer left to mankind!

1. The principal idols were Lat, Uzza, Manat, Sua'a, Yaguns, and Yauq. The chief of the idols was Habal installed within the holy surine of the Ka'ba.

(2) The Arabs worshipped the sun, moon and innumerable stars.[1] The Holy Prophet abolished all these by saying: Don't make prostration before the sun, nor before the moon, but make prostration before Allah who created them—41 : 37Q. Faith of the Arabs were credulous in many affairs. Almost all of them had some faith in God [2] but not in punishments and rewards or in a future world for accounts of our actions in this world.[3] The Holy Prophet abolished all these faith and implanted in their place a deep faith in One God in their hearts, in the existence of a future world for account of our actions in this world and in the punishments and rewards according as our actions are good or bad. He brought Allah face to face with man, and God became an ever-present reality pervading the whole universe, but nearer to them than their own veins. In God the Muslims lived, in Him they moved and for Him they sacrificed their lives. By his reformation, the Almighty was brought within the reach of the humblest without the least intervention of the priest. He made the religion a merely personal concern irrespective of any intermediary. He introduced a sense of proportion in religious matters. Christianity puts stress on faith and Hinduism on karma (deeds). The Prophet combined both faith and deeds as two branches of the same tree. Before the Prophet, all religions were practically

1. The tr.. Hunain used to worship the sun and the Kenanah the moon and the Qais s' :-.

2. The Quran refers to this faith: And if you ask them as to who created the heavens and earth and made subservient the sun and the moon, they will certainly say 'Allah'. So why do they turn away (Q).

3. The Quran says: He who created first will bring it back to life (Q). And they said: It is not but that it is our life in this world where we shall die and live, and nothing but time will destroy us (45 : 24Q).

dead and full of meaningless ceremonials. He brought a reformation in religion by introducing the spirit of prayer and an appeal to the head as well as to the heart. Muhammad's God is the first reality, the last reality, the goal of all philosophy and the end of all scientific thought. He emphasised individual responsibility for actions and abolished the doctrine of atonement and intercession. In short, he introduced a wholesale reformation in religion and taught men to live in things divine.

3. Reformation in Government. In pre-Islamic Arabia, there was no systematised form of government. There was no central government to enforce law and order in the society. Each tribe formed an independant unit with a chief at its head. In the north, there were the tribes of Bakr, Taglib, Hawazen, Gaftan, Kinda, Lakhm, Juzam, Banu Hanifa, Asad, Aus, Khazraj, Saqif, Quraish and others. So were the tribes in the south. Each tribe was in constant clash with another tribe and there was no law to bind down the tribes and tribes. A single quarrel would lead to the slaughter of thousands. The Quraish and Qais were engaged in the battle of Fijar for some years, the Aus and Khazraj fought with each other to lose almost all their best men. The quarrel and long-drawn fight between the Bakr and Taglib are well-known. The tribes Kinda and Hazramadites were destroyed by internecine quarrels. Such was the the case with the rest of the tribes. The Prophet abolished all these tribal distinctions and established a common government and a common brotherhood unifying all the tribes under a common banner, the banner of Islam. His proclamation was "O you men ! verily We created you into tribes and families for mutual identification. Verily the most honourable of you is one who is the most pious (49 : 1Q).He formed the Common-wealth of Islam with himself as the central authority, united the hetrogeneous elements into one homogeneous whole and formed a Shariat, a code of law, that governed all the tribes without any distinction of class and parentage. He put the basis of honour only on piety and not on the possession of coins and lands. He bound all by one rope, the Quran of the Almighty. He introduced complete peace and tranquility throughout the Arabian peninsula, till not a word of insecurity and disturbance was heard from any corner of this vast land. The land which was just before a field of battle was turned suddenly into a land of Paradise. What a mighty reformation !

4. Reformation of social and moral evils. The pre-Islamic Arabs were worse in social evils and moral corruptions. Women were regarded as chattels and they were marketable and heritable. A man could marry as many times as he liked and there was no limit to it. He could divorce wives as many times as he wished and then take them at pleasure. Step-mothers were married to their sons. Polyandry was practised also in some parts. Daughters used to be buried alive and were looked upon as chattels. Sisters also used to be married sometimes with brothers. There were frequent promiscuous connections of males and females and no sanctity was attached to chastity and morality. There were graphic descriptions of the beauties even of the rich and respectable ladies.[1] There were gambling, wine-drinking and card-playing. This was the condition more or less of the entire world. What did Muhammad do? What reformations did he bring? He worked wonders, he worked miracles. He raised the status of women as has hitherto not been done by any reformer. A woman continued thenceforth to be regarded as a co-partner in life and not a chattel.[2] She has as much right in property as her husband [3] and she can inherit father, husband, brother and mother.[4] Limitation was put to marriage up to four provided equal treatment is meted out [5] and the indiscriminate divorce was put on a great check. [6] Marriage with step-mother was abolished, [7] polyandry was banned, marriage with sisters made unlawful and sanctity for chastity was raised to a high level.[8] The burying of daughters alive was strictly prohibited,[9]

1. Imrul Qais, the great pre-Islamic poet, described in his Qasidah the beauties of his cousin-sister and his illegal connection with her. That was suspended in the Kaba.

2. They (wives) are an apparel for you, and you are an apparel for them (2 : 187Q).

3. And they have rights similar to those against them in like manner—2 : 228Q.

4. Women have got a share in what their parents and near relatives leave (4 : 7 Q).

5. Marry such women as seem good to you, two, three or four, but if you fear that you cannot do equal justice to them all, you should marry only one (4 : 8Q).

6. Of the lawful things, the most detestable to Allah is divorce (hadis).

7. Don't marry those whom your fathers married (4 : 213Q).

8. Don't be near indecencies, what is open of them and what is secret (6 : 150Q).

9. And when one buried alive will be asked for what sins she was killed (81 : 8Q).

gambling, wine-drinking and prostitution were held unlawful and abolished.[1] These were accomplished with complete success as soon as each measure was undertaken. The status of slaves was much raised and they were treated as brothers [2] and their emancipation was a regular law of the land.[3]

5. The Arabs had no art, science, politics, sense of decencies and etiquettes. The Holy Prophet gave them such instructions as contained potentialities of evolving a greater civilization and culture. Great empires and previous civilizations melted away like snow before the radiant ray of the Islamic sun. The Prophet swept out all superstitous beliefs from the soil of the Arab mind and planted in its stead pure thoughts of Tauhid. He employed the unemployed to labour and made them active and useful citizens of the Common-wealth. He fixed compulsory tax not for the Exchequer but for the poor and the disabled. He abolished poverty by distributing wealth from the public treasury. He removed the seething discontent of class distinction and established permanent peace between the rich and the poor, the employer and the employed, the landlords and the tenants, the subjects and the kings. A mighty reformation indeed ! It is therefore that the greatest author Bernard Shaw said : I have studied him, the wonderful man, and in my opinion far from being an Anti-Christ he must be called the saviour of humanity. Dr. Lotkrop Stoddard writes : The rise of Islam is perhaps the most amazing event in human history. Springing from a land and a people alike previously negligible, Islam spread within a century over half of the earth, shattering great empires, overthrowing long-established religions, remoulding the soul of races and building up a whole world, the world of Islam.

(d) The Greatest Politician and Administrator. Prophet Muhammad (P. H.) was the greatest politician and administrator the world ever witnessed. Indeed he is a model for politicians and administrators of every age. Let us first see the criterions of a great politician. Is he one who makes thundering noise of bullets and speeches without practical action and without seeking to form the stability of the empire ? The greatest politician is he whose administrative principles and foreign policies are such as can bring the greatest amount of success and as can establish a long duration of the state. The longer is the duration of the state, the sounder are the principles. The greatest physician is not he who claims to be greatest but he who brings the largest numbers of cures. Such type of man was Muhammad, and such type of political physician was he. He laid the foundation of a strong and stable Common-wealth which not only ruled the medieval world but withstood the furious storms of furious nations and is still raising its head. As long as there are the heaven and earth, the Common-wealth of Islam at least in Mecca and Medina will survive. The Common-wealth formed by him in Arabia added to its gain the vast empires from the hillocks of Pyrenees in France, from the Atlantic ocean up to the eastern borders of India, from Constantinople in the north up to South Africa and Ceylon in the south. For over a thousand years, the Muslims were the masters of the world and carried law and order wherever they went. They were acclaimed as the saviours of humanity by the then oppressed world. So strong was the foundation and so sound were the administrative methods and policies laid down by that great politician that still, on that account, there are the great empires of Persia, Kabul, Arabia, Iraq, Asia Minor, Egypt and the state of the Nizam and almost all the advantageous positions and states are held by the Muslims. What is the cause of weakness of these empires ? That is not so much due to lack of huge armament and standing soldiers but chiefly due to neglect to adopt firmly and faithfully the methods and policies laid down by that Great Democrat. On that account the name of pan-Islam is a terror to the present dictators and imperialistic nations, the name of the world Muslim Congress is a dread to them. The Prophet had no arms, still he ruled vast territories; he had no standing army, but every Muslim was a soldier of God when occasion arose. Lord of all Arabia, he met the lowest of his subjects on terms of perfect equality. Head of the state as well as of the church, he was Cæsar and Pope in one, but he was a Pope without a Pope's pretensions and Cæsar without the legions of Cæsar. Without arms and ammunitions, without a standing army, without body guards, without palace, without fixed revenue, indeed what a great administrator he was !

1. O you who believe, intoxicants, games of chance and gamblings are only uncleanliness (5 : 90Q).

2. Your brethren (slaves), Allah has placed them under your hands (2 : 84).

3. Nothing is dearer to Allah than manumission of slaves—27 : 112.

Practical Examples.

1. Foundation of a Common-wealth. Immediately on return from Mecca, the great politician founded a small Republic consisting of Muslims and non-Muslims on terms of perfect equality with an elected chief at its head who was considered at that time to be the fittest by virtue of chracter, conduct, political and administrative sagacity and foresight. He was found to be Muhammad (P. H.). Who knew at that time that from this small germ a mighty tree would grow up giving fruits all around the world? Who knew that in that small germ, there contained the potentialites of mighty development? On being elected as the chief of the Republic, he immediately set his hand to permanent organization and lasting peace among the members. He declared that the most honourable one to him would be one who is the most dutiful and pious and not by the accident of birth.[1] He cemented brotherhood between the Refugees and the Helpers who began to maintain the poor Refugees on their migration to Medina.[2] He invited the Jews Banu Qainqua, Banu Nazir and Banu Quraiza who lived in or about Medina at that time and concluded a pact with them. The main terms were :—(a) The Muslims and the Jews shall live as one people. (b) Each one of the parties shall observe its own faith, and neither shall interfere with that of the other. (c) In the event of a war with a third party, each was bound to come to the assistance of the other provided the latter was the party aggrieved. (d) In the event of an attack on Medina, both shall join hands to defend it. (e) Peace, when desirable, shall be made in consultation with each other. (f) Medina shall be regarded as sacred by both, all bloodshed being forbidden therein. (g) The Prophet shall be the final court of appeal in cases of all disputes. On an inspection of these terms, even the bitterest critic cannot but admit that therein lies a political and administrative sagacity of the first magnitude and fit to be adopted by all sagacious politicians. Unless there is peace at home, where are the prospects of peace abroad? This also shows that there should be a Republic of which the head would be on an elective principle and should have some powers of administra tion and that hereditary kingship is not a sound method.

1. In order to put this principle in to effect and give a training, the Muslims were ordered to join in congregational prayers in the same spirit and equality. He stood shoulder to shoulder in prayer with a despised Negro, an aristrocratic Persian and a haughty Arab.

2. The Quran says : As for those who believed and migrated and fought with their properties and bodies and those who gave shelter and help, they are friends to one another—8 : 72Q.

2. Attempts of peace should be made with the neighbouring nations and tribes. Immediately after the above pact between the Jews and Muslims, he set his hand towards making peace treaties with the neighbouring idolatrous tribes. The terms of one of the pacts were : This is the script of Muhammad to Banu Hamzah. Their life and property shall be safe. Should some enemy attack them, they shall be assisted by Muslims, unless they wage war against Islam. They shall also come to the Prophet's help when called upon. This bespeaks of a great statesmanship as the border zones of danger should be secure in hands.

3. In the sixth year of the Hegira, the Prophet granted to the monks of the monastery of St. Catherine, near Mount Sinai, and to all Chiristians, a charter which is a monument of great administrative ability and statesmanship. They were not to be unfairly taxed, no bishop was to be driven out of his bishopric, no Christian was to be forced to reject his religion, no monk was to be expelled from his monastery, no pilgrim was to be detained from the pilgrimage, nor were the Christian Churches to be pulled down for the sake of building mosques or houses for Muslims. Christian women married to Muslims were to enjoy their own religion. If the Christian should stand in need of assistance for the repair of their churches or monasteries or any other matter pertaining to their religion, the Muslims were to assist them.[1]

4. After the battle of Uhud in which the Muslims were at first partly defeated, the neighbouring tribes and the Jews with whom treaty was made secretly began to plot against Islam and to annihilate it. Seventy persons were once killed at Bir Mauna by treachery in 4 A. H. A similar tragedy took place at Raji. They were only preachers of Islam sent on request by the tribes. Within a short time, all were joining hands to crush the infant Common-wealth. The Prophet thought of a forward policy to scatter the enemy's forces before they unite. Under the circumstances, he took timely action against one tribe Banu Mustaliq and crushed a defeat on them. This had wonderful effect on the other tribes and for a time, the Common-wealth was thus saved by timely action. As a great precautionery measure, the Jewish tribe Banu Qainqua were ordered to leave Medina as a punishment of their breach of treaty. In 4 A. H., the Jewish tribe Banu Nazir were also banished from Medina on account of their open enmity with Islam in violation of the previous pact and their refusal to renew the agreement of peace. Some of them were put to death by the arbitration of Sa'ad, the nominee of the Jews. In 7 A. H. Khaiber was conquered as the Jews there played treachery and a certain Jewess gave poisoned food to the Prophet to kill him. Thus the enemies were defeated quite successfully by the wonderful statesmanship of the Prophet. The Holy Prophet managed the things in such a way that instead of weakness, the little Common-wealth gained in adherents and strength to such an extent that ultimately the whole Arabia came under his sway and the greatest kingdoms of the Chosroes and the Cæsars began to tremble. Is it not a political sagacity of the first magnitude ?

5. Standing by treaties. In his hey-days, the great politician did not forget to respect the treaties and pledges but he laid on the contrary a great importance to the strict observance of the terms. The modern statesmanship also shows the value of treaties and commissions. Sometimes in observing the treaties, he had to forego the advantages of his little Common-wealth. Once it happened that Huzaifah-b-Yaman could not migrate to Medina with the Prophet. He remained free from molestations at Mecca as he made a covenant with the Quraish that he would not fight against them. He, however, joined the battle of Badr against the Quraish. On being informed of his solemn pledge with the Quraish, Prophet ordered him to refrain from attacking the enemies. At another time the Quraish sent Abu Rafe as their ambassador to the Holy Prophet. When he came to the Prophet, he was greatly influenced by the intrinsic force of Islam and expressed his willingness to accept it. The Holy Prophet could not accept his declaration at that time as the detaining of an ambassador on any ground whatsoever is breach of international law. In the treaty of Hudaibiyah, one of the terms was that if a Muslim would fall to the hands of the Quraish, the latter would not return him, but if an unbeliever would fall to the hands of the Muslims, the latter would return him to the former. Once Abu Jandal who was a Muslim fell to the hands of the Quraish, but being persecuted he fled to the Prophet. The Prophet ordered him to return to the Quraish inspite of the prayers of the persecuted man and his companions. The Prophet had a strict eye on the frontiers of Islamic Estates. He undertook the campaigns of Muta and Tabuk simply to guard against the frontiers from the aggression of the Byzantine Emperor and his governors. He used often to send detachments of armies to know the movements of those who were enemies of Islam. Thus the Prophet showed an wonderful tact in handling the foreign relations and problems. This was so far as the foreign policies were concerned.

6. Policy of administration mixed with religion is a great gem in statesmanship. Only the Prophet had that wisdom. The divorce of politics from morality and the godless diplomacy of ruling and conducting every affair has been suicidal to modern progress especially in Muslim countries. Religion has been kept quite separate from the arena of politics, but the Muslim nations should understand that Islam has not come to deal only with God but also to deal with the people. The Prophet did not come only to pray to God in a corner of a room but also to work as the greatest social worker and reformer. Hence there is a great wisdom in the religion to be kept side by side with politics. The Imam of the prayers was the head of the Common-wealth, and the head of the Common-wealth would have been selected from the pious Imams. Secondly, the modern kingdoms fell into the back ground for adoption of man-made laws in preference to God-made laws. Man-made laws contain natural imperfections inherent in them, the germs of down-fall. Heaven-made laws on the contrary are the true laws for the government of a country. The Holy Prophet had one code to administer, the code of the Quran, the laws of God. The Quran says :. God rules you and wants you to rule His people with justice coupled with mercy and forgiveness not with a tendency to revenge, not to make profit out of justice. From Bolshevism to individualism, all the 'isms' that modern trend of thought has created will neither singly nor jointly be able to bring lasting peace which is based on justice and fairplay. Islamic polity is an intermixture of law, religion and politics. It is a novel feature of Islamic polity. This unity has now been separated into three : religion and priests have been kept apart, worldly men and rulers have been kept apart, and laws and legislations have been kept apart. This was suicidal on the part of Muslim states. As division of people into different classes brings ruin, consequently there arises the inevitable clash between the priests and the kings, the rulers and the legislators, and the priests and the legislators. Does not this bring down-fall ? See then the condition of Afganistan at the time of king Amanulla. How did the priests hatch up quarrel against the king and dethrone him ?

The Holy Prophet laid down another policy of a far-reaching character. He laid down the ordinance prohibiting the non-Muslims from entering into Mecca and Medina. We see how the advent of foreigners in a country either as merchants or on some profession brings inter-mixture of races and ultimately brings conquest of a country. India is an instance. In order to counteract it, the Holy Prophet laid down a far-sighted policy that the non-Muslims are prohibited from entering the holy places. It is therefore seen that the integrity and independence of Mecca and Medina have so far been retained for the last 14 hundred years, and they will remain so up to the Doomsday as the Quran says: Whoever enters it (Mecca) shall be secure—3 : 96Q. This shows that it will not fall into the hands of enemies who should destroy it and that pilgrimage to the sacred house shall continue to be made forever and forever and that no power in the world shall be able to put a stop to it.

7. The Prophet did not nominate his successor, nor did Hazrats Omar and Osman. The Prophet himself was elected to the head of the Common-wealth. He was not a self-constituted autocrat. This shows that what the modern society thinks, Prophet thought 14 hundred years ago and laid the form of a government which if followed by modern Muslim states, could have avoided a good deal of political tensions and agitations suicidal to administration. This principle continued during the four rightly-guided Caliphs and then it fell into disuse, and the Muslim empire plunged itself in internecine quarrels and bloodsheds bringing ruin and loss of administration. It is significant that the greatest politicians who brought mighty revolutions and founded republics in modern times drew inspirations and guidance from the greatest politician Muhammad. Can anybody deny his advocacy of liberty, franternity and brotherhood? Can any body deny his spirit of democracy?

8. Internal administration. Regarding the internal administration and the management of the Government, the Prophet showed the highest calibre and intellect. No administrator however successful can stand on the same footing with him. Regarding his circulars concerning treatment with the non-Muslims in Muslim states, he showed the highest toleration and foresight. His breadth of views and cosmopolitan spirit in this respect have got no parallel in the history of man. He declared: There is no compulsion in religion (22 : 56Q), and that religion is an individual concern according to the choice of man. He declared also that a king is the viceroy of Allah or the shadow of Allah. As Allah rules His subjects by sending rain and sun-shine without the least discrimination, a king also should follow the divine policy in administering his subjects. His circulars to the Christians of Nazareth showed his toleration. When he appointed governors and judges, his definite instructions were to that effect. When Mu'az was appointed governor of Yemen, he instructed him thus: Make your dealings with the people good. He said: Verily Allah will punish those who oppress the people in the world. He issued instructions to upkeep the religious places of every community, not to abuse even the idols and to put faith in every religious book and its recipient. Hear what the Quran says: Had there been no repelling of one people by another, there would have been pulled down cloisters, synagogues, temples, churches and mosques in which Allah's name is much remembered (20 : 40Q).

9. Appointments. With regard to his policy of appointment of governors, judges and officers, he followed a quite novel method before which the administrators of the present day are bowing. He declared that the intellectually clever men are not the good governors and judges but they are those godly and pious men with whom the people are pleased and who are pleased with the people. The administration was always in consultation with the representatives of the people. He also issued circulars that no appointment would go on seeking for it or canvassing for it but it would go a person whom the appointing authority thinks fit to appoint. This was strictly enforced. If leaders, judges and magistrates would have been appointed in such a way and if they would have been pious and God-fearing, much of the internal political disturbances would have ended. Because of dishonesty and bribery, there is injustice; and because of injustice, there is disturbance and political upheaval. Then again, his governors and officers were allowed three things free—a quarter to live in, an orderly to help and the provision just necessary for living. Beyond this they got nothing. No presents from the public were allowed to them and no extra remuneration and there was no high and low salary. There were superiority and allegiance by virtue of a higher post which also went to a higher man in piety and sense of duty. As true public servants, their doors had to be kept open. No money of the public treasury was due to any man in the Estate except what was allowed as remuneration.

The money was to be spent for the people because it belonged to the people. He used to issue circulars for the guidance of the officers. One of them was : Give good news ; oppress not, give them ease and not trouble. Act united and don't differ. Ride not on Turkish horses, eat not their flour, nor put on their dress, nor shut up your doors at the time of the needs of men. If you do any of these things, punishment will become sure for you—26 : 371w. For good and efficient administration, the Prophet appointed governors, rulers, muazzens, imams, collectors and judges. He said to Muaz on his appointment as governor : Give ease and not trouble, give good news and do not deny, obey and do not differ. When Muaz was on the stirrup to go to Yemen, he said : "Make your dealings with the people good." See all the sections of chapter XXVI and you will unhesitatingly come to the conclusion that the Prophet had the administrative calibre of the highest order Let all Muslim estates follow the noble example he has set.

(iii.) An ideal king. Who is an ideal king ? He is one who lives with the people, thinks for the people and sacrifices all for the people, and whom the people love greater than their own selves. Such was the king Muhammad who ruled by a right divine. He had no pretensions of a king, yet he had the highest dignity of a king, he had no guards, yet he was safest in the hands of his people, he had no favouritism, yet he enjoyed the willing obedience of all his companions and members of the Commonwealth. Through thick and thin he struggled for his people and his people also loved him and risked their lives and properties for his protection. There are hundred and one instances of this mutual co-operation and help. He had no palace and lived in a room by the side of the mosque of Medina which was used also as his council chamber. He had no standing army, yet all his followers were earnest soldiers ready to sacrifice their lives at the first signal of danger. He had no treasury, but the fortunes and resources of the nation were at his feet on demand. He had no legion of servants and slaves, yet all his companions were willing help-mates. He used often to go out in the darkness of the night and see the condition of the people. He made no distinction between a subject and a king except that the latter is entrusted with the affairs of the state. On the contray, he regarded himself as the servant of his companions. He said : The leader of a people is their servant (10 : 268w). He said : The main part of wisdom after religion is love for the people and doing good to everyone pious or sinful—3 : 84w. Justice, equality and fraternity were his slogan. There was no partiality of any kind in his administration. He said that every king will be asked as to how he did with his subjects. The Prophet did everything after consultation with his companions who acted as the council of the most trusted ministers. The Quran speaks of this : And their affairs are by consultation (42 : 38Q). And consult with them in the affair—3 : 158Q. He laid down the rule that the king must abide by the wise decisions of his ministers. It is the most suicidal policy for a king to suspect everybody (26 : 12) as in that case he will have few friends in his need. The Holy Prophet had no such doubt in his companions. On the contray, he had a great attachment for them. As an ideal king, he demanded allegiance from the people which was different from the oath of allegiance of the present days. It ran thus : We shall not set up any associates with Allah, we shall not steal, nor commit fornication, nor kill our offspring, nor bring false accusations against others. We shall not disobey the Prophet in anything that is right. How grand it looks in comparison with the simple oath of the present days. The Prophet laid thus the form of a model oath-taking. He said : The king is the shadow of Allah upon the earth. Every oppressed man out of His servants takes shelter to him So when he administers justice, there is reward for him, and there is gratitude on the part of the subjects ; and when he oppresses, there is sin against him and there is then patience upon the subjects—26 : 372w. The maxim that the king can do no wrong and that the king is above all party politics had no room in his constitution. He placed himself like an ordinary subject to the same rules and regulations of the state.

(iv.) An ideal Judge As a judge also, the Holy Prophet was a model. He had the greatest sense of justice and equality and was scrupulously even-handed. This made his name a house-hold word in the peninsula of Arabia. His followers also were acclaimed as the apostles of justice by the oppressed, illtreated and down-trodden. When the whole world was groaning under the pangs of oppression and torture, the Prophet was sent as the saviour of the oppressed humanity. Friends and foes, Muslims and non-Muslims, were all alike to him and to his laws. He followed the Quranic injunction : Let not the hatred of a people incite you to act unjustly, that is nearer to piety—5 : 8Q. Again the Quran says : Verily Allah enjoins to do justice and kindness. The Prophet maintained a very high standard of justice and administration. That is reflected in the Quranic sayings and his deeds. The Quran proclaims : O you who believe ! be the upholders of justice, bearers of witness for Allah's sake, though it may be against your ownselves, or parents, or near relations - 4 : 135Q. When you speak, then be just though it be against a relative—6 : 153Q. Say : My Lord has enjoined justice—7 : 29Q. Once a Muslim thief was broght to the Ms. of Allah. He cut off his hand. The companions took it too severe. The Prophet said : Had she been Fatima, I would have certainly cut off her hand—25 : 134. Once in a trial between a Jew and a Muslim, he gave decision in favour of the Jew who exclaimed : By Allah, you have decided with truth—26 ; 373w. He did not fear that by this act he would alienate the help and sympathy of the clan to which the Muslim belonged. At the time when the tribes began to quarrel regarding the placing of the Black Stone, the Prophet settled the dispute with justice. The "Al-Amin" was the title given to the Prophet as a recognition of his sense of justice and conduct. In the disputes between the Jews, Muslims and other tribes, the Prophet was the final court of appeal. In his death-bed, he announced it publicly : If I owe anything to anybody, he may claim it, if I offended anybody he may have revenge. In response, a man named Sarf claimed some dirhams which were at once handed over to him. Sakhar was a Muslim who accepted Islam after Tayef was conquered. He was the chief of his tribe. Once Mugirah who was an infidel complained to the Prophet that Sakhar hept his aunt detained with him. The Prophet at once ordered Sakhar to hand over the aunt to Mugirah. Once a noble lady of the Makhzum tribe committed theft. People requested him to let her off, but the Prophet did not distinguish between the rich and the poor. He ordered to cut off her hand. Once Sirq (companion) purchased a camel from a desert Arab but did not pay its price. The Prophet returned the camel to the desert Arab. The Holy Prophet used to administer justice according to the law to which the complainant belonged. Once a Christian of the Banu Quraiza tribe was killed by a Christian of the Banu Nazir tribe. In a complaint before the Prophet, he enforced the law according to the Torah "A life for a life",

At the time when there were no enemies of the Prophet except the Jews of Khaiber, his companion Abdullah-b-Sahl was murdered in that locality. The Prophet did not punish the Jews as there was no eye-witness but gave 100 camels to the heirs of the murdered companion from the State property.

Once a man of Banu Sa'labah murdered an Ansari. When the son of the murderer was wanted to be murdered, the Prophet prohibited it saying : Retaliation on son cannot be taken for crime of his father.

These are but few examples which conclusively prove that Muhammad established the equality of man before the Law and as such serves as a model of justice and administration. His followers also faithfully kept the injunction of their master and carried justice and fairplay wherever they went. The Prophet gave to history apostles of justice like HazratsAbu Bakr, Omar, Ali, Caliph Abdul Aziz and Sultan Giasuddin.

(v.) The greatest legislator. Prophet Muhammad (P. H.) is the greatest legislator the world has ever seen. He gave to mankind a perfect code of life which is according to experts the best of the codes now existing in the world. His code embraces all spheres and departments of life—social, religious, administrative, moral, international and military. This credit is due only to the Prophet and to no other Prophet or man in the world. Because of the perfect nature of the code, no legislative measure is necessary at present, no legislative assembly and no legislative house. What is required is only a council of ministers who have got knowledge of the laws and ability for their application. What is required now is to go back to the laws of the Quran and Hadis and not to man-made laws enacted thereafter. This code of the Prophet contains potentialities of complete development and it will, if followed, will carry to the highest pinnacle of glory and advancement as was the case with those early Muslims who took it up as their code of life. The absolute bankruptcy of the Muslims in finance and politics is not due to the laws of the Quran and Hadis but to their lack of faith in them and lack of action according to the true spirit. "The whole world is slowly but cautiously drifting towards the Principles of Islam."

1. Civil and criminal laws. There is the universal brotherhood of men in general and the Muslims in particular bound by one and one common chord—the chord of Islam. Distinction of caste, colour, birth and pedigree was totally abolished, and honour was laid on piety and good works. In the eye of law, all are equal and there is no maxim in Islam that "the king can do no wrong." The king is as much subject to law as the common citizen.

2. Social Laws. For the protection of the poor and the distressed, there are the compulsory taxes of Zakat, Sadka and Fitr ; for the benefit of the slaves, there is the law of emancipation ; for the protection of the widows, there is the law of inheriting a share in husband's property ; for the status of daughters, there is the law of inheritance from the parents and the near relatives ; for keeping peace with neighbours and co-sharers, there is the law of pre-emption ; for protection of the wives, there is the law of dower, ownership of properties and the right of separation and divorce ; for moral protection of the widows and the divorced women, there is the law of remarriage ; for prevention of promiscuous connections and a safeguard in emergency cases of decrease of male population, there is the law of marriage up to four provided treatment is equally meted out ; for benefit of the oppressed wives, there is the law of divorce to get free from eternal bondage and from husband's incapacity of having sexual relation ; for social economy and distribution of wealth debarring concentration in a few capitalists, there are the laws of interitance, interest and zakat, for suppression of crimes, there are the laws of cutting of hands in case of theft, severe punishment in case of adultery, capital sentence and retaliation in case of murder and death, exile or transportation in case of rebellion against the constituted authority.

3. Religious and moral laws. The laws and regulations in prayers, fasting, faith, pre-destination, charity, fellow-feeling, and other things are too well known to be mentioned. The moral laws are truly the rules of conduct set forth in chapter iv of this book. It is a code which is complete in itself. The standard of morality was raised to the highest pitch and therefore there are severe sentences for crimes. He introduced a new element in morals, namely تقوی which raises the Islamic ideal of morality much higher and much acuter. The conscience of morality in Islam is therefore highly developed.

4. International Laws. There are the laws of respecting the lives of ambassadors, toleration of religious practices of subjects within a Muslim state, up-keeping of shrines, synagogues and mosques where Allah's name is much remembered, the law of peace either by treaty or war, the law of sword in case of self-defence and for protection of the weak and the oppressed.

5. Laws of Private life. There are the laws of cleanliness, hygiene, sanitation, public health, decency, etiquette, manners and simple living.

All these laws are intermingled in Islam forming one complete code as man is a single being having varied activities in life. Is it not then wonderful that an unlettered man arising out of the desert of Arabia, unconnected with communication and civilization could evolve a code of life, a constitution whose principles are gradually recongnised by the modern world ? The present civilization of the world is directly traceable to the Prophets' laws and regulations. When the whole world was steeped in intense darkness and barbarism, it was Muhammad who held out the torch-light of civilization to the then world and the world drank deep of his laws and morals. Every nation and every community are trying now to adopt the laws of Islam in some form or other. Did not Raja Rammohun Roy try to abolish idolatry from Hinduism after reading the Quran ? Did not Martin Luther try to abolish idolatrous practices of the Roman Catholics after being influenced with the doctrine of unity of Islam ? Then turning to social matters, do we not see that it is Islam who brought a revolution in the social laws of the nations of the world ? The Hindu widows Remarriage Act, the Hindu widows Right to property Act and some other acts are directly traceable to the infiuence of Islam. Some recent bills are directly traceable to it, namely, divorce, polygamy, conversion, inheritance, reduction of interest, prohibition of drink, illegality of prostitution and some other measures. Indeed it has been rightly said : "The world is slowly but cautiously drifting towards the laws of Islam." Hence Muhammad is said to be the greatest law-giver in the world.

(vi.) The greatest Peace-Maker.

1. Peace with God. The greatest Apostle of peace laid down the laws of securing permanent peace with God. That is to recognise one God as the object of worship and no other things in the world. This is the basis of true peace with God which will ultimately carry a man to Paradise. There is no other religion in the world which can stand with Islam so far as monotheism is concerned and so far as God is recognised as the only object of worship of human beings. There is no greater sin in the eye of God than to set up a partner with Allah in divine service. The Quran therefore says: Surely Allah does not forgive that anything should be associated with Him and He forgives what is besides that to whomsoever He pleases, and whosoever associates anything with Allah, he devises indeed a great sin—4 : 48Q. By this action of the Prophet, peace with God has been truly established.

2. Peace with man. No two men are alike in face and consquently no two minds are truly unanimous in opinion. In this way, there arises clash and quarrel between man and man in this world. In order to harmonise these petty quarrels and jealousies, the Holy Prophet framed rules and regulations which achieved permanent peace among human beings. He established the universal brotherhood of men under the common fatherhood of God. All false distinctions of caste, colour and pedigree were abloshied. All became brethren-slaves and masters, kings and subjects. all were bound down by one chord-the common chord of Islam. A complete form of democracy was established among the members of the Common-wealth. In order to make peace ever-lasting, he defined each man's duty towards another and his duty towards himself; his duty towards parents, sons, daughters, and slaves; his duty towards relatives, neighbours, Muslims and non-Muslims; his duty towards kings and his officers, his duty towards the orphans and the widows and his duty towards the poor and the distressed. The poor man got an asylum in Islam, the oppressed got a refuge and the widow an honourable place. There is no unrest in Islam between capital and labour, the employers and the employed. Everybody has his due share in Islam. So there is permanent peace among all Muslims. In case of infringement of the right of a fellow being, it has been said that God will not forgive its sin unless the man whose right was infringed forgives him.[1]

3. Peace with other peoples and other religions. The Holy Prophet was the first and the foremost man who brought a permanent peace between all the conflicting religions of the world. He laid down an article of faith asking all the Muslims to put faith in all the great religious personalities of the world. He told his followers that they were all prophets from the Lord and that they all got revelations from the Most High. Never did any reformer before or after him preach to his followers to believe in the prophets of other religions In order to create inter-religious goodwill and co-operation and to bring permanent peace between the rival religions, he laid down a theory of the first magnitude of which the modern League of Faiths is gradually realising importance. The rule is to invite other peoples in the following way: "Come to an equitable proposition between us and you that we shall not serve any but God, that we shall not associate aught with Him and that some of us shall not take others as lords besides Allah—3 : 63Q. In order that the nationalities of the world can harmonise with one another, he laid down a principle of the greatest magnitude. It runs thus: The most honourable of you is he who is the most God-fearing—49 : 13Q. The creation is the family of Allah. So the dearest of the creations of Allah is he who is best to His family—3 : 81w. So achieve peace among the different communities. He went so far as to prevent his followers to abuse even idols and other objects of worship. "Do not abuse those whom they worship besides Allah"—6 : 102Q Even hatred for a people should not induce the Muslims to create disturbance in the land. The Quran says: Let not hatred of a people incite you to act unjustly. To prevent the slightest ruffle in the atmosphere of peace, even laughing was prohibited by the saying: Let not one people laugh at another, perchance they may be better than they—49 : 11Q.

4. Peace in the Arabian Peninsula. What was Arabia in pre-Islamic days? It was a hot-bed of disturbance, internecine quarrels and divergent views. The Quran gives us a graphic description by saying: Disturbance prevails in the land and sea (Q). You are on the verge of a fiery Abyss—3 : 142Q. The people could not walk out without arms. So they carried always arms with them whenever they came out. Hostilities once breaking out would continue for generations. What did Muhammad do? Out of fear and dread in the land, he brought peace with law and order; out of disunity, he brought unity among the warring factions. There was in short a reign of complete peace throughout the Arabian Peninsula in the latter days of his life. He worked wonders. He worked miracles. One could easily go with safety from one end of the country to another. The Quran therefore gives us the picture of the periods before and after Islam: Do they not see that We have made a sacred territory secure, while men were carried off by force from around them—29 : 67Q. And remember when you were few, deemed weak in the land, and feared lest people might carry you off by force. He gave you shelter and strengthened you with His aid—8 : 26Q.

5. Peace with lower animals. The great Apostle of peace did not forget to lay down the rules wherewith to secure peace with the lower animals and even with plants and leaves. The Prophet said : Fear Allah with regard to these animals. Ride them in health, and leave them in health—4 : 145Q. He said that a woman was punished about a cat which she kept confined till it died of hunger—3 : 141. He also said that the sin of a woman was forgiven by Allah as she gave water to a thirsty dog—3 : 143. He said : Verily Allah inscribed kindness on everything. So when you sacrifice, make your sacrifice good—11 : 175. He forbade to keep an animal waiting for slaughter—11 : 177. Once a man plucked some leaves of a tree. The Prophet forbade him to do this saying : Every leaf glorifies Allah. Thus peace with animals and peace with even leaves and plants have been recommended.

6. Peace by war. In extreme cases of stubbron resistance and obstruction, the rule of war was prescribed for bringing permanent peace in the land. When the cries of the weak and the depressed reach up the throne of God and when the tears of the oppressed roll down the earth, the law of sword was prescribed to bring an enduring peace. The Quran says : Had not been Allah's repelling one people by another, there would have been pulled down cloisters synagogues, temples, churches and mosques in which Allah's name is much remembered. It appears therefore that after the holy wars were undertaken with the above objects, there was complete peace throughout the whole Arabian Peninsula. There was not a whisper of disturbance in that vast land. The man who by his wonderful personality established peace with God, cemented brotherhood among the fellow-beings with a bell of complete peace, introduced a great harmony and inter-religious good-will, and taught to deal well with animals—was he not then the greatest peace-maker the world had ever seen and should he not be considered as the greatest saviour of mankind ? Peace was the keynote of his life, peace (Islam) was his religion and unto the abode of peace (دار السلام) he went. He has therefore been rightly termed as a "Mercy for all the worlds"—21 : 107Q.

(vii). The greatest hero and military commander. Success as a commander lies not in thunderings, threatenings and outbursts of violent speeches but in the victory in a war. The greatest commander is he who gains the greatest victory, and the greatest victory is achieved in war wherein the rival parties are quite unequally matched in numbers, arms, ammunitions, equipments and help from outside. Such was the case with the Commander Muhammad (P. H.). He had no trained and standing army, no finished armaments, no regular war office or war department, no finance, no help from outside and no advantageous position. The Quraish, the Jews and the Christians, the Romans and the Chosroes were well-equipped in armaments, had huge standing armies and colossal finance. The Holy Prophet met with such unequally matched armies, often double, treble, four, five times or more of his own armies, but yet success did not fail to smile on him. Great phalanx of armies melted away like snow before his onslaught. The mighty devilish forces of the Confederates numbering 24,000 strong were blown away like cotton blown off in the air. No disaster however great could daunt him, no threat however severe could damp his spirit and no victory could dissuade him from attaining his goal. There he stood firm as a rock gaining victories after victories till he became the undisputed monarch of the whole Arabia and till there was not a single voice of protest from within. The whole Arabia lay at his feet for mercy, and mercy was shown in an unparalleled degree not seen in the history of victorious commanders from the beginning of the world up to this day.

In the Battle of Badr, the Commander Muhammad (P.H.) had only 313 devoted companions to combat as many as 1,000 well-equipped soldiers. He was victorious, took 70 persons as prisoners and gained considerable booties. Like a wise general, he incited the soldiers by constantly reciting the verse : Soon shall the Allies be routed and they shall turn their backs (54 : 45Q), till the enemies were completely routed. In the Battle of Uhud, 700 ill-disciplined army had to encounter with 3,000 soldiers including 200 cavalry and 700 mail-clad veterans. In the course of the battle, the hypocrite leader Abdullah-b-Ubay deserted the Prophet with his three hundred followers thus putting the Prophet in a great perilous situation. The Prophet stationed some soldiers in the rear with the mountain at the back to provide for an adverse turn of fortune like a skilled general. But those soldiers left their fixed place. The vanguard was also surrounded by enemies. In such a critical time, Prophet kept to his position in the battle field and like the bravest general called out in presence of enemies: O companions rally round me, I am the Apostle of Allah. Soon the companions rallied round the Prophet, rushed towards the enemies and drove them away. But for the Prophet, the Muslims would have been completely defeated on that day and Islam would have been wiped out. In the Battle of Muraisi, the Prophet was victorious and 600 prisoners fell to the hand of the Muslims. The greatest campaign was the campaign of the Confederates when the Allies, an army of 24,000 strong, besieged Medina. The Prophet had only 2000 followers. Like a wise general, Prophet dug a trench round the city of Medina and held out the enemies at bay. Discomfitted by the Prophet's wonderful courage, the army had to return unsuccessful after a long seige of nearly one month.

In the Campaign of Muta, there were only 3000 Muslims as against the huge army of 100,000 Roman soldiers. Still they could not defeat the Muslims. When the Quraish broke the terms of Hudaibiyah by killing some men of Khuza'a tribe, he marched with 10,000 soldiers towards Mecca which ultimately surrendered without any drop of blood. A proud record indeed for a military commander! A Cæsar or a Napolean would have entered the town in triumph and a general massacre, plunder and pillage would have followed, but the proud general said: To-day there is even no reproach against you. In the Battle of Hunain, the Prophet's companions were scattered and the Prophet was surrounded by enemies. In such a perilous state, the Prophet kept firm to his post, stood firm as a rock without the faintest ripple, receiving the enemy's attack but shouting at the top of his voice: I am the Prophet, there is no untruth in it. Immediately the companions rushed towards the enemies and completely routed them. The bravest general and the bravest soldier was he indeed! 24000 sheep, 4000 silver coins and 6000 prisoners fell into the hands of the Muslims as a result of war. Do not these victories after victories prove conclusively that the Prophet Muhammad was the greatest military commander and the greatest hero?

Again we see him in the role of the greatest hero even outside the war field. When a batch of the Muslims went to Abyssinia to avoid the bitter persecutions of the Quraish leaving only the Prophet with a few companions, he did not think for a while about his safety and protection from the enemy's hands but on the contrary called all his relatives to the mount Safa inviting them towards Islam. Although he had foreseen the dangerous effect of his inviting his relatives to Islam, he still had the courage to give out his mission. Being forlorn, he still courted persecutions. Is it not heroism? In the night wherein the Prophet was surrounded by the young men of the Quraish, he had the courage of suddenly slipping away from his house in an unguarded moment of the enemies. Was it not the most courageous act? Then again we see that before the actual migration, the Prophet allowed all his companions to go to Medina but himself chose to remain at Mecca with Hazrats Ali and Abu Bakr in the midst of the blood-thirsty enemies and the drawn swords. Who can dare to do such an act of heroism and valour? On another occasion, the people of Medina raised a hue and cry at dead of night fearing that the enemies had actually arrived to attack the city. The Prophet without feeling the least fear went round the city single-handed on a horse back and reconnoitered everything on all sides of the city. The greatest hero was he indeed!

Inspite of bitter animosity with the heathen tribes, the Prophet did not fail to observe the treaties and pledges thereby putting himself and his companions many times into inexplicable difficulties. In the treaty of Hudaibiyyah, the Prophet did not at all hesitate like a brave man to enter into the term that if a Muslim would fall in the hands of the Quraish, the latter would not be bound to return him to the Prophet, but if a Quraish would fall in the hands of the Muslims, the latter would return him to the Quraish. Had he not the courage of a brave general, how could he agree to such an ignoble proposal inspite of the unwillingness of his companions.

The Greatest Commander is not he who issues orders for general massacres without any discrimination whatsoever for the lives of the women, children and old men fearing their future harms, but he is one who respects their lives. Such was the Commander Muhammad. He issued instructions to his generals: Kill no old men, nor children, nor women. As a rule, captives are generally inhumanly treated by meting out death sentence. But the Holy Prophet treated the captives of war as brethren and many times set them free on taking only a nominal ransom.

He had always some reconnoitering parties who used to watch the movements of the enemies and gather informations for timely preparations. He himself led the armies in the balltes of Badr, Uhud, Khaiber, Mecca, Tabuk and Hunain and showed heroism and chivalry of the greatest magnitude by keeping always to his post inspite of his remaining single sometimes in the midst of the drawn swords of the enemies on all sides.

If then greatness as a commander consists in gaining victories after victories without any defeat, who can have a greater claim for victories than Muhammad, the Commander ? If greatness as a general consists in routing well-disciplined and trained armies, double, treble, four times or more of one's own armies, who can have a greater claim than Muhammad, the General ? If greatness consists for a commander in manœuvering armies in the battle field, who was then a great manœuvering general than the Prophet himself? If heroism consists in attacking the enemies single-handed after being surrounded on all sides by enemies who could have been a greater hero than the Prophet ? It is therefore a fact that the Prophet was the Greatest Commander and Hero the world has ever seen and that he is indeed fit to be followed by all generals of the world.

(viii.) The greatest Prophet of God. The Quran says : We have made some of these apostles superior to others, among whom were they with whom Allah spoke, and some of them He raised up in ranks—2 : 253Q. This shows that some prophets were greater than others. Who is then the greatest of all ? The Almighty Allah declares : And We have not sent thee but as a mercy to all the nations—21 : 107Q. This proves that the Prophet Muhammad was chosen to be the greatest of them, for whereas every prophet bofore him was sent as a mercy to a particular people, he was sent as a mercy for all the peoples of the world. Regarding his followers, the Almighty Allah says : You are the best of the nations raised up for men—3 : 309Q. Now how is he greatest and what are his special characteristics ? Firstly, he came as a teacher of mankind in general while the previous prophets came for a particular people or nation. Jesus, being the greatest of the previous prophets, has been described in the Bible as "not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israil"—Mt. 15 : 24. Moses was sent for the children of Israil (14 : 5Q). Likewise the others. The Quran says of Jesus "An apostle to the children of Israil"—3 : 48Q. When speaking of

Muhammad, the Quran says : We have not sent thee but to all men—34 : 28Q. The Prophet himself claimed that he was sent to all mankind and Jinn—44 : 671w. The Quran also has been spoken of as a reminder to all the nations.—25 : 1 Q. The idea of a World Prophet grew as a result of the law of evolution. Formerly it was not possible for such a mission as the humanity was cut off entirely for want of communications and outlook. Previously therefore each prophet was sent to a particular people. At the advent of the Holy Prophet, there was some sort of communication and therefore he was sent as the teacher to the whole of humanity. Just as the light of the moon and the stars disappear at the advent of the sun, all their teachings were buried in oblivion, as the Prophet came with the combined teachings and virtues of the previous prophets. The second characteristic of the Prophet is that he made it an article of faith to believe in all the prophets and in all the revealed books and that every nation had a prophet and sometimes a revealed book and that the same religion had been continuing from the beginning of the world. Is there any prophet of any country who taught all these things, who taught to believe in Mahammad, Jesus or Moses as a prophet and who said "All prophets are brethren"? It was for the first time that Muhammad declared all these things. He taught that there are not a hundred and one religion preached by a hundred and one prophet but the same religious system continued to grow and grow from the time of Adam in the hands of innumerable prophets till it reached perfection at his hand and that it will last till the Hour comes. This grand solution of the religious problems came from no other prophet, this respect for all the religious personalities of every country and for the revealed books of every prophet had come from no other lip. Is he not then the Greatest Prophet ? The third distinction of the Prophet is that he preached the universal brotherhood of man and united the whole human race. Each previous prophet formed a people, a nationality or a community. Thus separate communities, separate peoples or nationalities grew up ; sometimes one against another and quarrelling among themselves. The World Prophet had the proud privilege of unifying all these multitudinous elements into one homogeneous whole, an universal brotherhood of man, which had fallen to no other hand. Thus the Prophet formulated laws which will go to make progress of the whole of the human race and not of the Arabs alone. The fourth distinction of the Holy Prophet lies in the fact that he was so to say a "square man" endowed with all the attributes of man with all the phases of human character. He himself said : I have come to perfect morals (44 : 669w`. The Quran declares : Verily you have got for you in the Apostle of Allah an excellent exemplar (33 : 21Q). The poet says : He reached the highest place by his perfection, he removed darkness by his beauty, beautiful are all his attainments, send blessings to him and his family. In short, every phase of human morals found thorough manifestation in the Prophet. This is clearly proved by this article itself showing him perfect in all the characteristics of human attributes. He combined in himself the best virtues of all the prophets as he taught the best teachings of all the previous prophets.

The last distinction in the Prophet is that he laid the basis of an universal peace. That was peace not only between the members of the human being but also among the contending religions of the world.

Considering all these facts, we find the Prophet Muhammad as the Greatest Apostle of mankind for guidance of the whole human race.

(ix.) The greatest God-relying and resolute man. If ever a man was greatest in God-reliance, he was the Prophet of Arabia. After his attainment of prophethood, he was out on his mission of preaching Islam but he took none as his helpmate except Allah, sought help from none but Allah and relied on none but Allah in his arduous task. He was firm like a rock in his mission and therefore all the hostile intrigues melted away before his iron will. He believed in the truth of his mission as he believed that fire burns a thing ; and he believed that he was the true apostle for mankind. He testified to his office even when he was surrounded by enemies by declaring : I am the Prophet of Allah. Whatever one might say about his iron will, resolute mind, firm determination and tenacity of purpose, all these were grounded upon his sure faith in his God as a Protector and Fulfiller of his mission. No amount of opposition, no threats of mighty nations, no volleys of canons, guns or armaments, no intrigues of the worst types, no allurements of worldly vanities could swerve him a little inch from his faith in God and from his mission. Who is there that can have a greater claim as a God-relying man ? History will be baffled to show a single instance. God added to his firm belief with the following verses: Allah will protect you from the people—5 : 67Q. The Prophet at once cried: Allah has protected me. Again God says: If Allah assists you, then there is none that can overcome you, and if He forsakes you, who is there that can assist you after Him? And on Allah should the believers rely—3 : 159Q. When the Quraish offered him wealth and power as consideration of his seceding from his mission, he replied by reciting some verses of the Quran: Say: what! do you indeed disbelieve in Him Who created the earth in two days and do you set up equals with Him?—41 : 9Q. Say: I am only a mortal like you. It is revealed to me that your God is one God. Therefore follow the right way to Him and ask His forgiveness and woe to the polytheists—41 : 6Q. At another time, he firmly answered his uncle: O uncle! should they place the sun in my right hand and the moon in my left in order to make me renounce this mission, it shall not be. I shall never give it up until it should please God to make it a triumph or I perish in the attempt." What a firm faith in the Almighty! He was taught by the Great God to say always: Say, Allah is sufficient for me, there is no God but He, on Him do I rely, and He is the Lord of the Mighty Throne—9 : 129Q. At Tayef, he was bitterly perseuted with volleys of stones and brick-bats, and his blood profusely bled as a result of wounds and bruises. He had nothing to eat for a whole month except what little his companion Zaid took from Mecca. In a state of utter helplessness, he repeated his faith in the Almighty by praying: "O my Lord! to Thee do I complain of the feebleness of my strength, of my lack of resourcefulness and of my insignificance in the eyes of the people. Thou art the Most Merciful of all the merciful. Thou art the Lord of the weak. To whom art Thou to entrust me, to an unsympathetic foe who would sullenly frown at me, or to a close friend whom Thou hast given control over my affair? Not in the least do I care for anything except that I may have Thy protection for me. In the light of Thy face do I seek shelter, the light which illumines the heaven and dispels all sorts of darkness, and which controls all affairs in this world as well as in the hereafter. May it never be that I should incur Thy wrath, or that Thou shouldst be angry with me. There is no strength, no power but through Thee."

On one occasion, a soldier found the Prophet alone and asked him : Who is here now to protect you ? 'God' he replied. Instantly the sword fell down from his hand. What a firm faith in God under circumstances so trying.

On another occasion, when dust was thrown on the eyes of the Prophet, his daughter Fatima began to weep. He said : Weep not, my darling, Allah will help your father.

In the cave with Abu Bakr on his flight from Mecca to Medina, Abu Bakr was overwhelmed with fear when he saw the enemy coming at its door. Naturally the question went forth from his mouth : O Apostle ! who is here to protect us ? The Holy Prophet replied : Do not be grieved. Verily Allah is with us. This sounds grand in contrast with Jesus's saying when he was put to the Cross "O God ! O God ! hast Thou forsaken me ?" The Prophet did not lose heart in the severest crisis but had firm faith in God even in face of death.

When he was about to be routed in the fields of Uhud, he did not lose heart but repeated his confidence in the ultimate success of his mission saying : "Rally round me, I am the Apostle of Allah." In the field of Hunain, the enemy was sweeping upon him with volleys of attacks while there was none to support him. He firmly kept to his dangerous post with perfect faith in Divine help and shouted repeatedly at the top of his voice : I am the Prophet, there is no untruth in it. I am the descendant of Abdul Muttalib.

When the Prophet was fleeing to Medina and he was about to be crashed with his infant faith, he gave the prophecy to Suraqa who pursued to kill him : You would once wear the gold bangles of the ruler of Persia. Sixteen years after, Persia was conquered and the gold bangles of the Persian ruler was taken and given to Suraqa to wear them. In a condition so perilous and circumtances so disappointing, the Prophet was quite hopeful that his cause should triumph at the end. What a firm faith in God !

Once a man came to murder the Prophet but he was detected and brought under arrest to the Prophet. He said : Leave him, because if he wants to kill me, he won't be able.

At the time of the migration to Medina, the Prophet allowed all his companions to go to Medina remaining single-handed in Mecca with Hazrats Ali and Abu Bakr in the midst of the bitterest foes who were seeking his blood at that time. An ordinary man might have gone with his devoted friends elsewhere but the Prophet kept to the front with absolute confidence in God. At Khaiber, the Prophet asked the Jewess why she gave poison to the food of the Prophet. She replied : To kill you. The Prophet said : God will not fulfil your desire.

The Holy Prophet never stored up for the future as he had the confidence that God is the Great Giver of sustenance. He sometimes passed days and nights without food simply relying on the Almighty.

In short, the Holy Prophet is a living example how a resolute man with absolute faith in Allah can attain success in the long run. He never wavered an inch from his original plan-the plan of preaching Islam. Hemned in on all sides by insurmountable difficulties and having been mercilessly persecuted and tortured, he could not be persuaded to give up his mission. There he stood firm as a rock never to be affected by furious storms of dangers. With unflinching devotion and firm steadfastness, he proceeded with his mission with God overhead and heart within before which the organised forces of even great kingdoms melted away like show. Persecution failed to damp his spirit, social ban failed to dissuade him from his mission, tempting allurements could not move his heart an inch and threats of wars could not divert his energy. The Greatest God-relying man was he indeed !

(x) The greatest man in devotion. A vivid picture of the Prophet's divine service is seen from his daily life, character and conduct. He did it not only in outword forms but he drank always deep in the fountain of divine morals. Divine service is both outwardly and inwardly. We have no power to glance through his heart but its conditions found thorough manifestation in tears, deep meditation and outward acts and gestures. The following are some of the instances of true piety and divine service of the Holy Prophet

(1) Before prophethood. Prophet Muhammad passed the major portion of his days and nights in the cave Hira medidating upon the Almighty. So deep was his meditation that he did not move from the cave for days together till the little quantity of food he took from his beloved wife Khadija ran short. In order that he might not move himself for food, he used to take roasted meat and dry bread not easily susceptible of damage to the mount which is nearly three miles away from the city of Mecca. There he met daily with spiritual drink from his Beloved and he loved with his whole being to converse secretly with Him. This continued for years and years till he was deemed fit for the great mission of Islam. Suddenly there came to him one day in the Cave of Hira the Archangel Gabriel with divine message.

(ii) After he attained his prophethood, his devotion greatly increased in intensity, duration and time and took a definite shape. In happiness or in distrees, in peace or in war, in health or in illness, he used to fall prostrate before the Lord. In the thick and thin of battle, he did not forget to pray with his followers in the actual battle-field that drew admiration of even his bitterest foes. Whatever he acted in this world was for Allah, whatever he talked of was for Allah, whatever battles he fought was for Allah. Divine Love permeated his whole being in all his actions and movements. In Him he lived, in Him he moved and from Him he took his guidance and inspiration. We are giving below some important features of his devotional acts.

(1) His concentration in prayer. The Holy Prophet was so attentive in his prayer that he forgot everything in the world when he entered therein. All his energies and thoughts were brought together to help in the remembrance of the Almighty. He used to say that prayer is needed to bring the anxious heart nearer to its Comforter. He also taught by his personal example that prayer is an individual concern and that an individual worshipper is given the amplest scope for the most heart-felt humility before the Almighty presence. For this reason, every place in the world is a temple for a Muslim. So deep was the devotion of the Prophet that he once could not recognise Fatima, his daughter, after prayer. On another occasion, he was going to pluck fruits of Paradise and retracing his steps for fear of the fire of Hell. Sometimes in the course of his deep medidation in prayer, he used to fall in sleep and see things unknown to human intelligence. In this way, once he saw the light of Allah in a vision and conversed with Him. He used not to feel any pain in prayer from the wounds on his body which in ordinary times gave him a good amount of trouble. Often he used to slip away from his beloved wife Ayesha's bed and begin to weep and weep in prolonged prostration. His tears used to flow down so profusely that they wetted his beard and chest. In order to have the sole concentration of mind to Divine Presence, he used to leave the bed at dead of night in its grim silence and began to whisper with his Beloved. He said that the night is the best time for outpouring one's heart before the Great Maker, (34 : 339) and that the latter part of the night is the opportune moment for acceptance of prayer. For the same reason, he advised the Muslims to pray the I'sha prayer somewhat late at night.

(2) His duration in prayer. The prayer of the Holy Prophet was usually short when it was held in congregation, but when single, it was long. Sometimes the standing in prayer was so long that his feet got swollen. In such a way, he passed nearly two-thirds or one-third of the night. The Quran reminds us of this fact and says : Surely your Lord knows that you pass in prayer nearly two-thirds of the night and (sometimes) half of it and (sometimes) a third of it, and also a party of those who are with you—73 : 20Q. He said that prayer with prolonged prostration is the best—1 : 5w. His servant Anas said that the Prophet used to keep so long in prostration at times that someone thought that he would never rise up from prostration. Abu Zarr reported that once in a night he constantly repeated up to the dawn the following sentence of the Quran : If Thou shouldst punish them, verily they are Thy mere servants, and if Thou shouldst forgive them, verily Thou art the Forgiving, the Merciful (5 : 118Q). Zaid-b-Khalid reported that he once saw the Prophet praying the whole night. Huzaifa reported that he prayed one night with the Prophet who began to read the longest chapter "The Cow.' After finishing it, he began to read the chapter "The Women" and then the chapter "The family of Imran". After that he bent and then making prostration stood up. In the second rak'at also, he read such chapters as took the same time. He was very slow and attentive while he was reading the chapters Such was the practice of the Prophet in his prayers.

(3) Love and fear of Allah. The Holy Prophet had no friend in the world except Allah. He said : Had I had taken any friend in this world, I would have taken Abu Bakr as friend. God's rememberance was a corner stone in his life in his every affair. Whatever he acted in this world was for pleasing Allah. Divine love permeated his whole being and electricity of divine love ran in his every vein. His life and death were all for Allah. The Quran therefore taught him to say : Verily my prayer, my sacrifice, my life and my death are all for Allah, the Lord of the worlds (6 : 163Q). Once a man asked him about the necessity of his prolonged prayer inspite of his sinlessness. He at once replied : Shall I not become a grateful servant ? Once a man asked him : Your sins past and future have been forgiven. Why do you take so much trouble in prayer ? He replied : It is the love of God. For this reason he said : Prayer has been made a coolness of my eyes.

At the time of his death, he whispered "To the Blessed Companionship on High." The Muslim historians say that he kicked at the wealth of the world for the sake of getting love of Allah. Hazrat Ayesha reported that the Prophet used to remember Allah every moment. Rabiah-b-Kosa'ab reported that the Prophet used always to recite Tasbih, Tahlil, Takbir and Taqdis in walking, when going to bed, after getting up from bed, in putting new cloth, riding and, and going on a journey. When the chapter 110 was revealed, he did not stop to recite Tasbih every moment, because God commanded him to glorify Him. The Quran says : Those who believed in Allah are more in love for Allah. At night, he used to come out to the graveyard (Jannatul Baqi) as he said that God comes down to the lowest heaven in the grim silence of the mid-night.

Once a woman was brought as a captive in a certain war before the Prophet. She lost her son and was eagerly searching for him. The Holy Prophet said : Is it possible that this woman can throw her son into the fire ? They all replied : Never, never. He said : God has got more affection for His servants than this woman has got for her son.

Everything in this world was insignificant to the Holy Prophet as he was deeply engrossed in divine love.. He said; Had the world been to Allah to the value of the wing of a gnat, He would not have given a cup of drink to a polytheist—29 : 10. Only 5 days before his death, he declared that he had got no friend in the world except God. The Muslim historians narrate that God would not have created this world had He not created Muhammad (P. H.)

The Holy Prophet was nevertheless fearful of his fate in the next world. Once his beloved companion Abu Bakr said : You are, O Prophet, getting grey-haired ! The Prophet replied : The chapters Hud and her sisters have made me grey-haired—29 : 46. These chapters deal chiefly with the punishments of the hereafter for transgressions of men. He often said : Had you known what I know, you would have wept much and laughed little—29:31. On another occasion, he addressed his relatives : I have got no control to save you from the punishments of hell unless you save yourselves. His companion Abdullah-b-Shikhar said. I came to the Prophet but found him in prayer shedding tears. He wept so much that his tears flowed down his cheeks. He said : ' I have not seen like the fire that one who flees away therefrom ever sleeps, or like Paradise that one who seeks it ever sleeps.—29:39. Obai-b-Ka'ab reported that when $\frac{2}{3}$rds of the night passed away, he used to get up and say : O ye people ! remember Allah, remember Allah, shaking of earth is soon coming to pass followed by attending evils. Death is coming with what is therein 29:44. He also said : My Lord ordered me with nine things : Fear of Allah, open and secret, etc—29:422w.

(4) Prayer at different times. The Quran mentions only the compulsory prayers for five times a day, but the Holy Prophet introduced Sunnat and Nafl prayers with each time of compulsory prayers. He introduced the particulars of prayers and framed their rules and regulations for the guidance of mankind and for keeping the institution of prayer alive. He used to pray at forenoon and in the silence of the night. That is called Tahajjad prayer specially ordained for this Prophet. The Quran says : And during a part of the night, Pray Tahajjad, optional for you. Perchance your Lord may raise you up to a dignified position (17:79Q). In the month of fasting, the devotion of the Prophet reached its climax. He closetted himself in a corner of the mosque for the last ten days and nights of the month of Ramazan, devoted himself exclusively to divine worship and did not move from the mosque for even taking food and drink. In the fasting month, he used to read Tarawih and the Quran. In the war-field also, prayer was regularly observed. He used to prostrate before the Lord when the arrows were going on and to seek mercy and forgiveness.

(5) His Invocations. The supplicatory hymns bespeak of the earnest mind of the Prophet for the Divine glory and love. Some of them are given below : "O Allah ! give light to my heart, give light to my tongue, give light to my ears, give light to my sights, give light to my back, give light to my front, give light above me and give light below me."

"O Allah ! to Thee is all praise, and Thou art the light of the heavens and earth and Thine is the praise ; and Thou art the Supporter of heavens and earth and Thine is the praise ; Thou art the Lord of the heavens and earth and what is therein ; Thou art the truth and Thy promise is truth, Thy saying is truth, meeting with Thee is truth, Paradise is a truth, the Fire is a truth, the Hour is a truth. O Allah ! to Thee I have resigned and in Thee I put faith and upon Thee do I rely ; to Thee I shall return and to Thee I entrust dispute and to Thee I put judgement, so forgive me of what I sent in advance and of what I will send latter, of what I conceal and of what I disclose. Thou art my Deity. There is no deity but Thou.

O Lord ! grant to me the love of Thee ; grant that I may love those that love Thee ; grant that I may do the deeds that may win Thy love ; make Thy love dearer to me than myself, my family and my wealth."

O Lord ! I supplicate Thee for forgiveness in faith and guidance towards truth, and to assist me in being grateful to Thee, and in adoring Thee in every good way ; and I supplicate Thee for an innocent heart which shall not incline to wickeduess, and I supplicate Thee for a true tongue, and for that virtue which Thou knowest and for forgiveness of those faults which Thou knowest. O my Defender ! assist me in remembering Thee and being grateful to Thee and in worshipping Thee with the excess of my strength. O Lord ! I have done injustice to my own soul and no one pardons the faults of Thy servants but Thou.

(6) Prophet's fastings. The Holy Prophet recognised the value of fasting as it is a means of purification of heart from impure and sinful ideas and inclinations. He used to fast during the whole month of Ramazan and sometimes Sha'ban. In other months, he used to fast in such a way that it seemed that he would not break it again and he used to be without fast in such a way that it seemed that he would no more keep fast. He had no regular days of fasting, but he used to fast on Ashura'a days and for 6 days of Shawal. If there was no food in the house, he used to fast for days together, so much so that out of the agony of hunger he used to bind stones to his belly to prevent its acuteness. Besides regular fast, many a time the Prophet had to go without any meal. Often only dates and water nourished his body. For months together at times, no fire was lighted in his house for scantiness of means. Thus he fasted and suffered to the very last day of his life.

About other devotional acts, namely, charity, pilgrimage, Quran reading, Zikr etc, mention has been made in their appropriate places. From these acts, it is evident that no other religious personalities of the world had a proud record of so much devotional excercises and the rememberence of God, It is therefore said that the Prophet Muhammad was the greatest devotee the world has ever-witnessed.

Man of ideal character and conduct. The Holy Prophet had an ideal character and conduct. He showed a character in all phases like a jewel of many facets. No less an authority than God himself testified to this phase of his life by saying : And verily he has got a sublime character (68 : 4 Q). There is an excellent exemplar for you in the Apostle of Allah (33 : 21Q). Thus the highest tribute to purity of the Prophet's character was given by God Himself in the Quran. Who can be a greater authority than God Himself to testify when nobody other than God knows the ins and outs of a man ? If there is doubt in these verses, there is also doubt in the Quran. As regards those who are disinclined to believe the Quran as a revelation and attribute it to the unlettered Prophet, they have fortunately got the best historical proofs. Those are the testimonies of his contemporaries. What historical proof is greater about a man's character than the versions of his contemporaries and companions who used to pry into his secrets and private life ? People living in an age fourteen hundred years after his death are quite incompetent to judge a man's character, and can not overthrow the confirmed attestations of the dearest friends and the bitterest foes. Let us now examine historical proofs. Before he attained his prophethood which occurred in the 40th year of his life, he was given the proud title "Al-Amin" by the Meccans signifying the possessor of an ideal character and conduct. This connotative title itself shows that even when there were chances of temptations and corruptions in a hot country like Arabia, he maintained his purity of character, and his conduct with the people was the most pleasant and charming. When the quarrel over the placing of the Black Stone ensued between the rival contending parties and was about to conflagrate the whole of Arabia, Muhammad (P.H.) was then unanimously chosen to be the best man for this honourable task. These are evidences of his character from the side of the people who later on figured as his bitterest enemies. Then after he attained his prophethood, his character and conduct were testified by his wives who had access to the innermost recess of his heart. Who can be a greater authority than wives to testify to the character of a man ? Among wives, the attestation of an aged twice-widowed lady to the character of a young husband is the most strong. It was Khadija, an old lady of nearly 55 years, who declared on the very first day of the Prophet's receiving the revelation : God will never let you see the humiliation of failure. Verily you show due regard for blood-ties, carry the burden of the infirm, practise virtues that are extinct, entertain guests and stand by what is righteous in the face of calamities. This testimony of Khadija carries the greatest weight. Hazrat Ayesha also said : His morals are the Quran. Then the evidence of home-servants is not less important. Anas who served the Holy Prophet for ten years and followed him like a shadow said : I served the Ms. of Allah for ten years but he neither told me 'uph', nor—why have you done this ? nor—why have you not done (this) ?—2 : 106. When a servant said that his master was the best of men in conduct, who is there now to doubt his integrity of character ? The liberated slave Zaid could not be separated from the Prophet even by his father. So great an attachment had this slave for the Prophet's charming manners. His uncle Abu Talib had the highest regard for the Prophet owing to his charming conduct. When asked by the Quraish to give up Muhammad, Abu Talib replied : Woe unto you ! no tribe has ever deserted its chief—a chief who carefully guards everything worth guarding. He is not over-bearing, nor is he so weak as to entrust his affairs to others. He is generous of heart, through the intercession of his face rain is prayed for. He shelters the orphan and the widow. Then his devoted companions' testimony carries also a great weight. The very fact that those who were very intimately connected with him and accepted him as a true Prophet shows that they had unshaken faith in the integrity of Prophet's character and conduct. Ja'far-b-Abi Taleb who migrated to Abyssinia, being afraid of bitter persecutions by the Quraish, addressed the Negus testifying to the sublime character of the Prophet. He said : "O king ! we were an ignorant people, given to idolatry. We used to eat corpses even of dead animals, and do all kinds of disgraceful things. We did not make good our obligations to our relations and ill-treated our neighbours. The strong among us would thrive at the expense of the weak, till at last God raised a prophet for our information. His descent, his righteousness, his integrity and his piety are well-known to us. He called us to worship God, and exhorted us to give up idolatry and stone-worship. He enjoined us to speak the truth, to make good our trusts, to respect ties of kinship and to do good to our neighbours. He taught us to shun everything foul, and to avoid bloodshed. He forbade all manners of indecent things, telling lies, misappropriating orphans' belongings and bringing false accusations against chastity of women." Is any further proof of Prophet's sublime character necessary ? Then again we see the great Abu Sufiyan who was the greatest enemy of Islam from the beginning up to the conquest of Mecca and who led armies after armies to annihilate the face of Islam from the globe unhesitatingly and with frank confession testified to the sublime character of the Prophet before Heracleus, the Emperor of the Roman Empire : "He bids us abandon the worship of our ancient idols, to adore one God, to bestow alms, to observe truth and purity, to abstain from fornication and vice etc." He also confessed that the Prophet maintained a patriarchal purity of character and conduct and never told a lie. What greater attestation is necessary ? His devotion, his piety, his God-reliance, his prayers, his invocations, his love for God, his constant anxiety and concern for the next world, his constant occupation in divine service and in the remembrance of Allah raised him to the highest plane of morality and conduct not hitherto witnessed in the life of any man. His sayings reflect what a great value he used to attach to character and conduct. He said : The man of good conduct will have the loftiest place in Paradise (4 : 124w). The man of bad conduct shall not enter Paradise (4 : 84). The special gem in his character was that he used not to speak what he himself did not do. The Quran says : Why do you say what you do not do (Q). As conduct is the sum total of the virtues and vices, the Prophet showed himself an excellent ideal in every aspect of human conduct.

(1) His manners and etiquetes. The Prophet's manners were ideal. He said : Verily I have been sent to complete good manners—4 : 90. He once instructed Mu'az on his appointment as governor of Yemen : Make your treatment with the people good—4 : 89. Once Hazrat Ayesha rebuked a man for scolding the Holy Prophet. He prohibited her saying : I have been sent to give ease to the people and not trouble (4 : 94). Once a man passed stool in his room and left the house next morning. The Prophet himself cleared the impurities (4 : 96). If any personal wrong was done to the Prophet by anybody, he did not take revenge. On the contrary, he returned good for evil. Nevertheless he was not ungrateful of any good done to him. He used to say : He who is not grateful to men is not grateful to Allah (4 : 291). His modesty was exemplary. Whoever came in his contact was simply charmed with his charming manners and natural modesty. The Quran says : Thus it is due to the mercy of Allah that you deal gently with them. Had you been harsh, hard-hearted, they would have certainly scattered away from around you—(3 : 158Q). He wore a constant similing face mixed with gravity. One day a village Arab came to the Prophet and demanded his dues with harsh words. His companions got irritated but he cooled them down and said : The creditor has got a demand. He always sought permission whenever interview with any man was necessary and he taught others to seek interview. After that, he used to greet with salam (peace) the person he met. He entertained by Salam whom he knew and whom he knew not—1 : 75. Thereafter he used to handshake. He said : Perfection of your greeting is in handshaking—5 : 39. He used not to take off his hand first from handshaking. He did not interrupt when two men were engaged in a talk, nor did he take out a man for secret talk when he has got at that time another companion—4 : 43.

(2) His kindness. The Prophet's mind was full of the milk of human kindness. This particular attribute attained perfection in him, as he did not distinguish between man and man in showing kindness. He used to say : Allah is not kind to him who is not kind to men—3 : 132. He said : Kindness adorns everything while harshness disgraces everything—4 : 3. He also said : Soft heart is near Allah, while hard heart is remote from Him. He who is void of kindness is devoid of all good—4 : 1. The Quran says : We have not sent thee but as a blessing to the worlds—(21 : 137 Q).

Once a son of Hazrat Jainab was on the point of death. The Prophet went there, took the son in his lap and began to shed tears. On being asked, he replied : Allah shows kindness to those who is kind to others.

Once one of his companions narrated a story to the Prophet that when his girl was put to the grave for being buried alive according to the customs of the pre-Islamic Arabs, the child pathetically cried "O my father ! O my father." Her father was then dropping down stones and earth upon her He did not stop doing so inspite of the cries till she was fully buried alive. That struck the soft heart of the Holy Prophet so much that his tears began to come out spontaneously and wetted his beard.

His kindness was not confined only for the human beings but it was also extended to the lower animals. He said : Verily the Almighty inscribed kindness on everything ; so when you slaughter, make your slaughter good ; when you sacrifice, make your sacrifice good. Let everybody sharpen his knife. Sahl reported that the

Ms. of Allah passed by a camel which became fatigued owing to hunger. He said at once : Fear Allah with regard to these animals. Ride them in health and leave them in health—4 : 145.

(3) No work was too low for him. Simple living was the keynote in the character of the Prophet. He used to do things with his own hand and there was no work which was too low for him. He used to milk goats, patch his own clothes, sweep his own houses, mend his own shoes and sometimes cook food. He used to say that there was no Prophet who did not earn his own daily bread. He used to graze the goats of the people of Mecca for small wages.

When the ditch round the city of Medina was dug to prevent aggression of the Allies, the Holy Prophet himself shared in the labour. He showed by this example that a hewer of wood or a drawer of water is as much respectable in the society as a high dignitary.

Once a man came to the Prophet for alms. He gave him an axe and told him to cut wood in the jungles and thus earn his livelihood saying : This is better for you than that the begging should put a scratch upon your face on the day of Resurrection—4 : 107. He also said : That one of you takes his rope and then comes with a load of wood upon his back and sells it and that thereby Allah guards his face is better for him than that he should beg of men—4 : 108.

In the Farewell Pilgrimage, the Prophet was distributing alms among the people. Two men came to the Prophet and begged something. The Prophet turned his look to them and found them strong and stout. He said : If you wish that I should give therefrom something to you, I might give you but no able-bodied man has got any share in this property.

Thus the Holy Prophet showed by his noble examples and precepts that no work is too low for a man and that there is great dignity and honour in one's own earnings.

(4) His simplicity. The Prophet had the highest point of patriarchal simplicity. In his habits, in his manners, in his living, in his furnitures, in his foods, in his dresses, in his habitation structures, he was extremely simple and unostentatious. The same life he led all throughout. No wealth, no kingdom and no greatness could change his mode of living. He rose to be the ruler of Arabia, the equal of Chosroes and Cæsars, but the same humility of spirit, the same purity of heart and the same living characterised his life. Once the Prophet came to Fatima's house and found a thin screen of varied colours in the door. The Prophet returned to his house without any further waiting. On being asked, he replied : It does not befit a Prophet to enter a decorated house. He used to say about the number of beddings in a house : There is one bed for oneself, one bed for his wife and one bed for his guest. The fourth bed is for the devil.

Once the Prophet returned from war. His beloved wife Ayesha decorated her house to receive the victorious general. When the Prophet came, he took off the clothes of decoration and used them for other purposes saying : God has not given me wealth to decorate the stones.

Once an Ansari constructed a house with domes. The Prophet greatly disliked it and did not return greeting of the owner till the latter pulled it down.

The Prophet's mosque of Medina was of a very simple structure. Its roofs were of palm leaves and its posts of date stems.

Once a silk dress was sent as a present to the Prophet. At first he put it on, and then after putting it off he sent it to Omar for disposal.

Once he put on a gold seal-ring. On rising upon the pulpit, he put it off and threw it away. His companions also threw off their rings in obedience to their master's actions.

Once Hazrat Fatima put on a necklace of gold. He told her to throw it off saying : He who puts on a necklace of gold will not get it in Paradise.

His bed consisted of a blanket and of a pillow of date refuges covered with skin. Once Hazrat Hafsa spread a blanket with two or three foldings to be used as the bed of the Prophet. The Prophet slept on it for the night and could not rise early for prayer. He at once directed his wife not to repeat it but to spread the blanket with a single fold for his bed.

When he was the undisputed ruler of the whole Arabia from Yemen in the south to Syria in the north, his furnitures consisted of only a bedding and an earthen pitcher. Ayesha reported that after the demise of the Prophet, there was in his house nothing but a little quantity of wheat for food. He used to say : Sufficient it is for a man in this world such provision as is sufficient for a traveller for his journey.

Once the Prophet had some impressions of his hard bed on his back. On being requested for getting a soft cushion for sleep, he replied : What is the necessity of this world for me ? My relation with this world is like that of a mounted way-farer who pauses at noon under the shade of a tree just to rest for a while, and then to proceed on his way.

The Holy Prophet guided his wives also to lead simple lives. When he was the ruler of Arabia, his wives naturally sought comforts of a kingly house. Thereupon came the divine injunction : O Prophet ! say to thy wives, if you want this world's life and its fineries, come, I will give you a provision and allow you to depart a goodly departing. And if you desire God and His Apostle and the latter abode, then surely God has prepared for the doers of good among you a mighty reward—33 : 28 Q. Thus the worldly fineries were abannoned and simple mode of living was adopted.

His companions used to stand up to show respect to him when the Prophet appeared in their midst but he prohibited them saying : Do not stand up for me as the foreigners do, some of them showing respect to others – 2 : 136.

In any assembly, he used to sit unrecognised at the back row. A stranger could not distinguish him from the rest. Such was the humility of his disposition.

He cheerfully partook of meals which were placed before him. He did not find fault with any cooking. Whenever he disliked any food, he refrained from taking it without disclosing anything.

In short, he was extremely simple in his habits, manners, deportment, character and conduct. Thus simplicity was the key-note of his life, sincerity was his slogan and work was his mission.

(5) His hospitality. The Prophet was an ideal host. He would entertain guests as best as he could, according to the best tradition of Arab hospitality. In entertaining guests, he would not distinguish between a believer and an unbeliever. Everybody was pleased to become his guest. Once when the deputation from Abyssinia came to him, he accommodated them in his house and himself served them. Once an unbeliever came as a guest to the Prophet. He gave him one goat's milk to drink. He finished the drink and wanted more. In this way, the Prophet gave him seven goat's milk till he was satisfied. In the case of the companions of Suffa lodged in a corner of the mosque, the Prophet was the principal host. The Prophet had a large tray which was a load for four man. At noon, all the guests took food from this tray with the Prophet. Meqdad and his two companions got nothing to satisfy their hunger. They were refused food. At last they came to the Prophet who gave them drink of three goat's milk. He said : The best charity is to satisfy a hungry belly—3 : 65w. In case of a previous bad treatment, good treatment should still be meted out. When a guest went away, he accompained him at least upto the door of his house. He did not rise up till the guest finished his meal and he did not begin till he began. He said : If the host entertains a guest beyond three days, he will gain reward of charity for every additional meal—4 : 327.

(6) His truth. The Holy Prophet never in his life spoke a single lie. He always adhered to truth for which he won the title of " Al-Amin". Once the Prophet called his relatives to the mount Safa and invited them to accept Islam saying : Have you ever heard me tell a lie ? They all replied : We have never heard you tell a lie. He said : Then I say that I am the Prophet of Allah. Will you not believe me ? Then the devil turned their backs as he still turns the backs of so many.

Someone once asked him : Who among men is best? He replied : Everyone, pure of heart, truthful of tongue—4 : 205. He said : Whenever a man utters falsehood, the angel goes one mile away from him on account of the bad smell which he brings—4 : 204. When the Prophet was surrounded on all sides with enemies in the battles of Uhud and Hunain and there was no way of saving his life, he still testified to the truth of his mission saying : I am the Apostle of Allah, there's no untruth in it. Once the Quraish were hatching up plan against the Prophet. The chief of them, Nazr-b-Hares, testified to his truth-speaking by saying : Muhammad is the most truthful and trust-worthy among you but he abuses our idols. Even Abu Sufiyan, the enemy of Islam, testified to this aspect of Prophet's character before the Emperor Heracleus. He said on query by the Emperor : He never told a lie. Thus there are hundred and one instances which go to show that the Prophet was an ideal truthful man. It is why the Quran says : They do not take you as liars, but they unjustly deny the verses of Allah—6 : 33 Q.

(7) Presents. The Holy Prophet used to accept presents and gifts from his friends, companions and admirers, and give presents in exchange. He used to say : Give presents to one another and low one another. For this reason, the companions used to present something or other to the Prophet. Even the neighbouring kings used to send presents to the Prophet. The Chief of Syria and Muqauqis of Egypt sent presents to the Prophet. Once the Cæser of the Byzantine Empire sent a present to the Prophet. The Prophet thought it a duty to give a return present to those who had given him. Once the king of Yemen sent a most valuable present worth the price of 66 camels to the Prophet. He returned a present to him worth the price of 20 camels. Once a man of the tribe of Banu Fajarah presented a she-camel to the Prophet. He gave a return to him but the man was highly displeased at this. The Prophet stood on the pulpit and gave a sermon : I won't accept presents except from the tribes of the Quraish, Ansars, Saqif and Daus. The Prophet remained for nearly six months in Abu Ayyub's house. They mutually presented foods during the time. He also used to send presents to his neighbours and friends, especially to the indigent companions of Suffa. He said that presents cement love and brotherhood and secure peace.

(8) Flattery. The Holy Prophet used to dislike flattery of any kind. Once a man praised another in presence of the Prophet. He said : You have cut off the neck of your friend . At another time, a certain judge was praised before the Prophet. His companion Meqdad took some dust and threw it over the face of the flatterer. Once Aswad-b-Sariy (the poet) came to the Prophet and sought permission of glorifying Allah. Permission was granted and he began with His praise. Suddenly he took up to praise the Prophet. He was at once stopped. Again he took to praise him and again he was stopped. As flattery is opposed to sincerity, it did not at all find room in the Holy Prophet. Simplicity and sincerity as said above were his special characteristics.

(9) Equal treatment to all. In the eye of the Prophet, everybody was equal. King or no king, master or slave, rich or poor, everybody received equal treatment from him. Once Salman and Bilal were present in a place with Abu Sufiyan, the chief of the Quraish. They said : No sword has still overtaken the neck of Abu Sufiyan. Abu Bakr protested to this utterance against the chief and the most respectable man of the Quraish and informed it to the Prophet. The Prophet took no exception to this word against an unbeliever.

Once a woman of the Makhzum tribe committed a theft.

People pleaded for mercy. The Prophet replied : The previous generations have been destroyed as the criminals coming from higher class were not punished while those coming from the lower class were chastised. By God ! if Fatima, the daughter of Muhammad, committed theft, her hand would have been cut off.

Hazrat Abbas was one of the captives after the battle of Badr. Many were ransomed in lieu of money. On being requested to let off his uncle Abbas without ransom, the Prophet declined to treat him differently.

Anas reported that the Prophet went once to his house and wanted some drink. He gave him milk. It was a custom with the Prophet to offer whatever he had to offer first to the persons by his right side and then to those by his left. He took something and offered it to a Beduin who happened to be on his right side in preference to Hazrats Abu Bakr and Omar who were on his left side.

The Quraish out of their tribal boast had accommodated themselves at Muzdalafa in the days of Ignorance. The Prophet did not like this defferentiation. He always mixed with everybody irrespective of lineage and pedigree. The Prophet worked like an ordinary labourer with his companions in the construction of the mosque of Medina and in the digging of the trench around the city at the time of the battle of the Allies.

In a certain journey, his companions began to prepare food. Everyone took charge of a certain item. The Prophet took the charge of collecting fuels from the jungle.

In the battle of Badr, arms and ammunitions were quite insufficient. Three men used one camel for riding by turns. The Prophet also had two companions for his camel. There was not the least difference created for his needs. When requested to use the camel alone, he said : You have got no more strength than myself for walking, nor do I stand in need of less religious merits than you.

(10) Humility. The Prophet was the most humble in spirit and there was not a single trace or sign of boast in him. Once a man addressed him as " the best of the creation". He replied : He was Abraham.

Abdullah-b-Sakhar reported that Banu A'mer once came to the Prophet and addressed him as "Our Lord ". He replied : The Lord is Allah.

Once an Ansari heard a Jew saying : By God who made the Prophet Moses superior to all men. The Ansari got irritated and threw a stone on his face. On a complaint brought to the Prophet, he said : Don't give me superiority over the Prophets.

When Mecca was conquered without a single drop of blood, the Holy Prophet lowered his head by way of modesty and humility of spirit when he entered the town. When Khaiber was conquered, the Prophet was mounted not on any fine horse but simply on an ass with date-string as its rein.

The Holy Prophet used to say : Don't put me to such a position as the Christians had put Jesus Christ. I am only a servant of God and His messenger. The word "servant" has been deliberately added to the formula of faith because the Prophet had in his mind the raising of Jesus to divinity.

The Prophet prohibited his followers to prostrate before his grave or pray therein at any time.

Once the marriage of the daughter of Muawwez-Afra'a was solemnised. The young girls were singing the songs dealing with the heroism of Badr martyrs. One of the girls suddenly sang : Amongst us is a Prophet who knows what will occur tomorrow. The Prophet directed her to sing what she was singing before and leave the latter.

When Qasem, son of the Prophet died, there was solar eclipse. The people ascribed it to the death of the Prophet's son. The Prophet delivered a sermon then and there in the mosque : The solar and lunar eclipses are signs of Allah. They have got no connection with the birth and death of men.

Once the Prophet was making ablution. The companions were taking the water that was dropping from his hands. On being questioned why they were doing so, they replied that it was to get blessings. The Prophet said : Rather speak the truth while you talk and pay the trust when you are entrusted.

In short, a character so modest and humble is rare in the history of man.

(11) Forgiveness to enemies. Forgiveness was a chief jewel in the Prophet's character. So broad was his heart that the spirit of revenge was absolutely absent from it. No wrong could take a permanent root in his soft heart. To Wahshi who killed Hazrat Hamza and who fled from one country to another for fear of punishment was extended his forgiveness.

Safwan-b-Omayya was one of the bitterest enemies of Islam. When Mecca was conquered, he took to his heels and went to Jeddah. Omar-b-Wahab informed the Prophet of this incident. The Holy Prophet took off his turban and sent it through Omar to Safwan as a sign of security.

The Prophet did not take a single revenge out of wrongs done to him personally. This was reported by Hazrat Ayesha who knew the ins and outs of his life.

To the inhabitants of Tayef who gave the Prophet the most merciless persecutions, the Prophet also extended his generous forgiveness. He accommodated their deputation in his mosque with great honour and fitting entertainment.

Abdullah-b-Ubai who was the ring leader of the hypocrites tried to crush the infant Common-wealth in the most critical juncture of Islam. He also cast unjust slander on the character of Hazrat Ayesha in a certain battle-field Prophet extended his pardon to Abdullah and gave his own sheet to cover his dead body for burial when he was dead. Regarding the slander, Abu Bakr wished to disallow maintenance to one of his relatives named Mistah who was one of those who cast slander against Ayesha. After the legal punishment to the culprits was meted out, the Prophet instructed them not to bear ill will and rancour towards the slanderers of his type. The verse in this connection is the following : And let not those of you who possess grace and abundance swear against the giving to the near of kin and the poor and those who have fled in Allah's way, and they should pardon and turn away. Do you not love that Allah should forgive you ?—24 : 22Q.

Labid-b-A'sam, a certain Jew of Medina, practised sorcery upon the Prophet. He fell ill and suffered for some days and was subsequently cured by the refuging verses. The Prophet did not think even to take a small reproach against him.

The Holy Prophet took some loan from Zaid-b-Sa'na. He came to demand his dues and was dragging the Prophet by his neck and saying : O children of Abu Taleb ; you always offer excuse. Hazrat Omar got furious but the Prophet paid the dues in addition to some gifts.

Ferat-b-Hayan was a spy of Abu Sufiyan. He used to secretly supply informations of the Muslims and to satirize the Prophet. Once he was arrested in his act of spying and was ordered to be put to death. When he was under order of death, he accepted Islam and the Prophet cancelled his death sentence on him.

The city which once expelled the Prophet, the city which presecuted the Prophet and his companions such a presecution as has not fallen to the lot of a mortal, opened its gate at last to the Prophet. What treatment did it receive at his hands ? No massacare, no murder, no bloodshed but general amnesty with the words : There is even no reproach against you to-day.

Hind, the wife of Abu Sufiyan, who chewed the liver of Hamza out of revenge and spread thorns over the path of the Prophet, received also the generous pardon.

Akramah, the son of the arch enemy of Islam, namely, Abu Jahl, fled to Yemen but on the security being given, he returned to Medina and met the Prophet. The Prophet smilingly received him saying : Welcome to the riding refugee !

Habbar-b-Aswad, the murderer of the Prophet's daughter Jainab who was pregnant at the time, received also pardon from the Prophet.

Abu Sufiyan, the greatest arch enemy of Islam, tried his utmost to crush the Prophet and his mission from the beginning up to the Conquest of Mecca. He led wives in the several battles to blot ont the face of Islam from the glob'. Such a criminal expected the worst treatment on the Conquest of Mecca. What did the Prophet say to him ? Omar wanted to kill him but the Prophet prohibited him and said : Abu Sufiyan is safe in his house, and those who will take shelter in his house are all safe and secure. Can any conquerer mete out such a treatment to an arch enemy ?

Banu Hanifah was the tribe who offered the greatest resistance to the Prophet up to the last. Omamah-b-Asal was its chief. Once he was arrested and brought before the Prophet in Medina. He ordered him to be tied up with a pillar of the mosque. Whereupon he addressed the Prophet : O Muhammad ! if you kill me, you would kill a murderer ; if you show me kindness, you will show it to a grateful man ; if you want ransom, I shall pay it. The Prophet remained silent on that day. Next day also he received the same reply from Omamah. On the third day when he got the similar reply, he ordered him to be let off unconditionally. Omamah was much afflected by this kindness, accepted Islam and said : O Apostle of God ! there was none in the world who was more hateful to me than you but now there is none in the world who is dearer to me than you ; there was no religion in the world which was more disliking to me than yours, but now there is no religion in the world which is dearer to me than your religion ; there was no city which was more hateful to my eyes than your city but now it has become the dearest of all the cities to me."

The Holy Prophet used always to invoke blessings on his enemies instead of taking revenge on them for the wrongs done to him. The Meccans bitterly persecuted the Prophet and at last drove him out and his companions from their native place. One of his companions at that time asked the Prophet to invoke curse upon his enemies. On hearing this, the face of the Prophet suddenly turned red. On another occasion, he replied when he heard a man telling him to curse : I have not been sent to curse but to bless mankind.

Once there was a dire famine in the city of Mecca. At that time, the Prophet was imprisoned in a place called Shib along with his clan. Abu Sufiyan, being perplexed at the calamity. came to the Prophet and asked him to invoke to God for the removal of the calamity. The Holy Prophet without the least grudge upon his enemies lifted up his hands and invoked God's power to remove the famine. The prayer was granted.

In the battle of Uhud, the Prophet was profusely bleeding owing to the wounds and the martyrdom of one of his teeth. He was at that time saying : O God ! guide my people, because they know not.

The Holy Prophet suffered at Tyef which no human being had suffered before. On seeing his sufferings, the angel Gabriel came and told him : If you wish, this place may be sunk down. The Holy Prophet replied : May it be that their descendants may accept guidance. Some years after this, when the Muslims were fighting against the inhabitants of Tayef, one of his companions said : O Prophet, invoke curse upon the inhabitants. Suddenly he lifted up his hands towards heaven. The people thought that he was going to curse but he said : O God ! bless the Saqif tribe with Islam.

The Dausees were living at Yemen but did not accept Islam inspite of the arduous and earnest efforts of its chief Tofail-b-A'mer who was a previous convert to Islam. Bing disgusted, he advised the Prophet to bring wrath of God upon them. He invoked : O

Allah ! guide the Dausees and bring them (under Islam).

Abu Hurairah's mother was a polytheist. Her son requested her many times to accept Islam but she did not. One day Abu Hurairah pressed her much for her conversion but she not only declined but rebuked the Prophet. On hearing this, the Prophet said : O God ! bless the mother of Abu Hurairah with Islam. When Abu Hurairah returned home, he found his mother already converted.

Thus the Holy Prophet was a mercy to all mankind, and as such it was beneath his dignity as a world Prophet to take revenge or to curse the oppressing people.

(12). General dislike for backbiting. The Holy Prophet was always averse to backbiting. The Quran takes a very strong view of this evil attribute. It says : Does one of you like to eat of the flesh of his dead brother ? Rather you abhor it—49 : 12Q. It is therefore just like the eating of the flesh of dead animals. He went so far as to say that backbiting is greater than fornication—4 : 153w. The Holy Prophet was quite immune from this sin. Never in his life did he commit it even by hints, signs, motions and gestures. He even did not cherish evil ideas for any particular individual. We should not forget that great ideal and cast ourselvenes headlong in to the torrents of backbiting.[1]

XI. The greatest leader of mankind. (1) An efficient leader. What are the essentials of a good and efficient leader ? He must at first know how to lead and command and he must command the willing allegiance of his followers. The Prophet combined in himself in an unparalled degree both these attributes. His love for his companions and friends is provebial. "The leader is the servant of the people" was his slogan. He was a true friend in dangers and difficulties. He never thought of his own livelihood and comforts but he was ever wakeful to the needs of his companious. In fact, he lived for the people, died for the people and will rise up again for the people. Here in this world while he was alive, he always prayed for his Ummat, sought forgiveness to God for them and made this prayer a part of his

I. See note 382 for details of backbiting and see the traditions under section 16 (Chapter IV) for the same.

There are many details of his character which in a short article like this, cannot conveniently be introdueed. They appear somewhere or other in this book. From what has been narrated above, it is seen that the Prophet had the most sublime character and conduct. It is why the Quran says : You are certainly on the sublime charracter (68 : 4Q).

supplication at the end of each prayer. When his breath was about to be taken, he thougt of the future condition of his Ummat. On the Resurrection Day, he will be the chief leader for intercession and forgiveness before the Almighty.

The great gem in leadership is the power to organise a disorganised people. The Holy Prophet had that unifying power. When there was no organization, no unity, no harmony, the Prophet organaised these unruly tribes, made them morally and spiritually advanced and created a mighty force in them before which the prowess and power of the Cæsars and the Chosroes were insignificant. He abolished the class distinction, tribal boast and family pride, and brought all the Arabs under a common banner, the banner of Islam. Whoever uttered "There is no deity but Allah" entered the Brotherhood of the Muslims. It is to this organisation that the Quran refers : And remember the gift of Allah over you when you were enemies to one another. Then He brought you together and you became brethren by His grace (3 : 102Q) If greatness lies in leading so disorganised a people as the Arabs, the credit certainly goes to the world Prophet. If greatness lies in making that lead stable for ever, who can then be a greater leader than the leader Muhammad ? Truly therefore he said : The Muslims—their bloods are equal—3 : 95. The believers are like one body. If its eye complains, its whole body complains—3 : 57. The Prophet therefore said : I am the leader of the children of Adam (44 : 3). Let all leaders turn to the life of the Prophet and emulate his noble example.

(2) Ideal allegiance ot his followers. There was no man in the world who was more obeyed and loved blindly and faithfully by his followers than the Prophet Muhammad. His companions held the life of the Prophet dearer than their own lives and properties. There was nothing which they could not sacrifice for their great Master. There are innumerable instances to prove their devotion and fidelity.

The faithful Bilal was tied up by his hand and feet and dragged along the sands burnt by the mid-day sun for days together but still Bilal did not give up his master. After Prophet's death, he once fell down senseless and died while he was proclaiming azan.

Khabbab-b-Art was the sixth convert to Islam. He was subject to relentless persecution but still he was loyal to his chief.

Ammar-b-Yaser was the fourth convert. He was overtaken by the people, turned down on the burning sands of the desert and was mercilessly beaten so much in presence of his parents that he fell down senseless. His mother Sumayyah was beaten to death by Abu Jahl. His father Yaser also lost his life as a result of continuous repression.

Abu Fukaiha was a slave of Safwan-b-Umayyah. His feet were tied to two camels which were allowed to go to different directions. Thus he was severed to death.

These are but few instances which show that the persecuted men kept their allegiance to the Prophet and his religion even at the sacrifice of their most precious lives.

The faithful companions followed him as day follows the night. Hazrat Abu Bakr followed the Prophet like a shadow in the midst of his happiness as well as adversity. He cluing to him steadfastly in the perilous journey to Medina. He was his only companion in the famous cave. He brought all his resources for charity when demanded by the Prophet.

Again we find that in order to stand by the Prophet through thick and thin, some of the companions migrated to Abyssinia after leaving their dear hearth and home.

Then we see that Mecca was completely evacuated by the companions at the time of Hijrat to Medina and centuries-old love for the native land was suddenly forgotten, and they all migrated to Medina for good along with their master.

Then the case of Wais Qarani is the most astonishing. Though he did not see the Prophet in his life-time, he had a great attachment for the Prophet. Once he heard that one of the teeth of the Prophet was martyred in the battle of Uhud. He at once broke all his teeth as a result of over-love for him.

It is redundant to recapitulate the loyalty and heroism with which his companions fought the several holy battles and sacrificed their lives. At his single command, hundreds and thousands were ready with their lives and properties without the least thought of death or of future poverty. Not a whisper of disobedience was ever heard in the camp of the Prophet's followers, and not a word of doubt in the Prophet's words.

They wrote down and committed to memory every details of his life. Whenever he uttered anything, the companions preserved it in the tablets of their hearts. Whatever he did, they also tried to follow. Once Hazrat Ali was laughing on horse back. On being questioned, he replied that he saw the Holy Prophet one day smiling like that on horse back. Once a companion saw the shirt of the Prophet unbuttoned. He immediately unbuttoned his shirt. There are hundreds of instances showing that he was the greatest leader of men and as such commanded ideal allegiance and fidelity. Even after 14 hundred years, his name is a charm to his followers, and sends a thrill and inspiration in their hearts not witnessed in the case of any other man.[1]

(xii) The greatest charitable man. (i) Charity. There is no man in the world who is seen more charitably disposed than the Holy Prophet. His charity used to reach its climax during the holy month of fasting. He placed the needs of men before his own needs, comforts of men before his own comforts and lived as it were with the spirit of Divine Names. He used to say: Verily I am to distribute and guard while Allah gives. He said that nothing is stronger and more valuable in the eye of religion than the charity of the son of Adam giving alms with his right hand concealing from his left - 8 : 17. He has been therefore commanded to say: By no means shall you attain to righteousness until you spend out of what you love—3 : 91Q.

So great an importance was attached to charity that it was made compulsory and one of the chief five pillars of Islam on the rich and the solvent. No other Prophet or man had done it before him for the benefit of the ill-fed, ill-clothed and the distressed. The Prophet did not himself take or use Zakat property. He made it unlawful also for his progeny. Once Imam Hasan ate a date out of the dates of Zakat. The Prophet at once told him to vomit it out. If anything was brought to the Prophet, he enquired whether it was present or Zakat. If it was a present, the Prophet used to accept it.

Once a certain man came to the Prophet and saw his goat grazing up to a great distance. He naturally felt tempted to ask for all the goats to be given to him in charity without the least hesitation of future poverty. the Holy Prophet gave away all his goats to him. The man, on returning to his people, said: Muhammad is so charitable that he does not fear his future poverty in his gift.

The Prophet was once passing by Abu Zarr. He asked him: O Abu Zarr! had I had gold like the mountain of Uhud, I would not have preferred at any time that anything therefrom should remain with me beyond three days.

It was a practice with the Prophet to give away everything in charity what he had as surplus in his household. Once in the midst of his prayer, he remembered that he had some coins in his house. Before he finished his whole prayer, he suddenly went to his house to the surprise of his companions, took the dinars, distributed them among the poor and came again to the mosque to pray.

Once some Ansars begged something of the Prophet. He gave it to them. Again they begged him for something more. Again he gave them that thing. Thus the begging and the giving continued till there remained nothing with the Prophet.

Just on the eve of his death, the Prophet instructed Hazrat Ayesha to distribute some coins which he had with him among the poor saying : Prophets neither inherit, nor are inherited.

The Prophet had to divide the booties and spoils of war among the soldiers who took actual part in war. Regarding his share of the booty, he used to give away in charity the entire share after keeping very little for the expenses of his household.

After the battle of Hunain, the Prophet divided all the booties among the warriors along with his share also. A man came running to him and begged a sheet of cloth of him. He said : Had I had camels equal to the number of plants in this jungle, I would have certainly given them all to you. You would not have found me surely a miser.

It was a general ordinance that if a man would leave debts outstanding after his death, he would satisfy them on information or take the responsibility of payment. If he left properties, that would devolve upon his heirs.

Once the revenue of Bahrain came to the Prophet. It was spread on the floor of the mosque and was divided among his companions. When the last farthing was distributed, he got up and went away without himself taking anything.

The Holy Prophet never disappointed a beggar. He did not say "No" to anybody in obedience to the Quranic verse : And as for the beggar, don't drive out,

He had three principal properties-Fedak and some gardens at Medina and Khaiber. He made wakf of the Fedak property for the poor and the distressed, made heba of the gardens at Medina, and out of the three portions of the Khaiber property, two portions were gifted to the general Muslims and one for the maintenance of his wives.

There are instances without number which go to show that the Prophet was the gretest charitable man in the world. Who is there in history who has got so many records of charitable acts ?[1]

(2) Self needs were subordinate to the needs of others. The Prophet placed the requirements of others over those of his own. It is called إيثار in Arabic. Indeed his life was a dedicated life for the cause of the humanity, specially for the ill-housed, ill-clothed, ill-fed and the ill-guided.

The Prophet had a great affection for his daughter Fatima. Once she wanted a maid servant out of the spoils of war for the purpose of cooking. The Holy Prophet replied : As yet the companions of Suffa have not been supplied with provision. Before they are supplied, I can not turn to my needs and the needs of my family.

Once his daughter Fatima and the two daughters of Hazrat Zubair came to the Prophet begging some booties in order to meet their poverty and wants. He replied : The orphans of warriors who fell in the battle of Badr will first be paid attention to.

Once a woman came to the Prophet with a sheet of cloth which he needed much. The Prophet was glad to receive it. Suddenly a man approached there and begged the sheet from him. The Prophet at once gave it to him. The people began to rebuke the man for his ungentlemanly conduct of begging a thing which the Prophet liked.

Once a certain Jew named Mukhairiq gifted some gardens to the Prophet. He dedicated them all for the cause of the poor and the distressed.

Once a companion had nothing for his marriage feast. He approached the Prophet who said to him to take the basket of wheat that was with Ayesha. The companions took the basket leaving nothing for the evening meal of the Prophet's household. Once a man was a guest of the Prophet for a night. The Prophet had with him only a goat's milk which he gave to the guest, but he himself remained hungry. In the previous night also he had nothing to satisfy his hunger except this goat's milk.

1. See Chapter VIII for further discussion.

try his fortune there but God willed otherwise. At first, he approached there three noble men—Mas'ud and others. They replied : 'We don't want to talk with a man like you.' Next he approached the public, but they also turned a deaf ear. They set up on the contrary their young boys against the Prophet. The boys began to sneer and jeer at him and to throw stones. The elders also joined in this foul act. Being constantly pelted with stones, he began to drop blood from his wounds. His feet were so wounded that they were filled up with blood. He was not even allowd to take rest and to wipe out the flowing blood. Without food and drink, as said in the beginning, he remained for as long as 30 days. Being thus persecuted and rejected, he began to think what he should do. His prayer in this critical juncture is memorable, his utterance the most sublime. That was under circumstances the most disappointing. [1]

Being thus baffled, he returnet from Tayef and remained for some days at Nakhla and then at Harra. Finding no refuge also there, he returned again to Mecca.

Then he thought of making Hijrat (migration) to Medina. His companions began to migrate to Medina till the Prophet with Abu Bakr and Ali remained at Mecca. When he was bereft of companions, one day his house was besieged by some young men of the Quraish. They came with the deliberate intention of the Prophet's murder. Calmly walking out unawares in an unguarded moment in the midst of his would-be assasins, the Prophet took shelter in a cave with Abu Bakr just sufficient to accomodate two men. A tracking party reached the mouth of the cave. In such a state the bravest heart sinks down, but the Holy Prophet calmly resigned himself to the will of God. The enemies finding nothing there, retraced their steps. For full three days, the Prophet remained in the cave. When the search was over, they came out, but were met by one of the parties named Suraqa-b-Malik. Thrice he attempted to kill the Prophet and thrice he failed. Then he reached, after 14 days, a village named Kuba where the Prophet built a mosque and remained for 14 days. Then he settled at Medina and began to preach his mission.[2]

The Meccans did not rest content with only the banishment of the Prophet. They thought of extirpating Islam from its very root. Hence they took an offensive action in the form of war against the Prophet with 1000 well-disciplined soldiers. This is known as the Battle of Badr in which the Prophet was victorious.

1. See Note 2134. 2. See note 252 for further light on the calamities over the believers.

Seeing the growing power of the Muslims by this conquest, Abdullah-b-Ubay formed a party of the hypocrites against the Prophet aided by the neighbouring Jews and Christians. The Meccans joined this opposition and led an army of 3000 against 700 Muslims at a place called Uhud near Medina. The Prophet was first defeated. He lost one of his teeth and was severely wounded in this battle. He lost also some of his notable companions. Then the soldiers of Islam formed strength to drive out the enemies from Uhud.

The Meccans on return realised that the battle of Uhud was not at all decisive. The strong oppositionists also burnt within themselves. They invited all the Arabs in general irrespective of caste and creed and led an army of nearly 2400 soldiers against the Muslims. This is known as the Battle of the Allies. This time also they were unsuccessful. Being thus baffled at every time, they became quite downcast.

The Prophet at last entered Mecca without a single drop of blood.

In the Battle of Hunain, the Prophet was surrounded by enemies, so much so that there was none to protect him. He received wounds which were bleeding and he was saying : I am the Prophet, there is no untruth in it.

At Khaiber, a certain Jewess invited the Prophet and gave him poisoned food to partake of. By God's grace, he was also saved by this time.

In food, in dress, in habitation and other things, the Prophet's sufferings knew no bounds. For days together he used sometimes to go on without food, for days together no fire for cooking was lit in his house. To prevent the pressure of hunger, he used sometimes to bind stones with his belly.

Such were his sufferings and such was his towering endurance throughout these trials. It is therefore said that he attained the greatest success as he was the greatest sufferer in the history of man.

(xiv) The most practical man. Hazrat Muhammad was the most pratical man the world has ever seen. What he said, he did. He did not say what he did not do. Thus his tongue and deed were one and the same. He was not an idealist, nor a wild dreamer, nor a proud enthusiast, but he was a practical worker. Hazrat Ayesha said therefore that whereas the Quran contains rules of guidance, the life of the Prophet affords lessons how those rules can be put into action. She said : His morals are the Quran. The Quran says by way of lessons to mankind : What do you say what you do not do. Again it says : There is nothing for men but what he strives for. Let us now cite some instances how his teachings were put into practice and how practicable were they.

It sounds well to hear the saying : When you are slapped on your left cheek, turn they right also. Every body can judge how far it is practicable. There is the right of self-defence in every law, there is the right of defence of one country from foreign aggression. This law of defence for an individual as well as for nations and communities are going on as usual from the beginning of the world. Islam taught this practical teaching like the Jewish law "eye for eye, tooth for tooth", nay it went further and declared that there is greater reward in forgiveness. Thus this is a practical ordinance in Islam.

With regard to brotherhood of his followers, he was not content by putting the theory only. He made it practical by cementing friendship between the Helpers and the Refugees who took half of the properties of the former for their maintenance. For the poor brothers, he exacted a compulsory tax from the rich Muslims at the rate of 2½ p. c. of the hoarded wealth for one year. This brotherhood was introduced in prayer as there is no distinction whatsoever in the mosque between the high and the rich. All stand in ranks on the same footing of equality. This was not only in outward show but also in food and dress. In the month of fasting, the rich and the poor are all deprived of food during the daytime. In pilgrimage, all pilgrims wear the same simple dress, the same simple two pieces of white cloth without any cap, shoes and other dresses. In the treatment of servants and slaves, the same equality prevails. They are termed as brothers and not slaves and servants. In the dining table also, the same equality rules. In short, in social, political and religious matters, all Muslims are brethren.

In this way, every ordinance of Islam was put into practice and every ordinance is practicable and within ordinary reach of human power.

unlettered and unschooled man, he loved education with the care of his heart for others. It is significant that the first verse revealed to the Prophet was concerning education. It runs : Read in the name of your Lord. He laid so great an emphasis on education that he said : Search learning even it is in China (4 : 111w). He did not remain content with this. On the contrary, he made primary education compulsory both for males and females 1400 hundred years ago (4 : 37) and made provision for such institutions in rooms attached to each mosque. The Holy Prophet himself had no need for education because the vast field of nature, past and present, was his book for study. His converts and companions stood in need of learning. Hence he sent teachers to train them in the elementary principles of Islam. He ransomep poor captives on condition of teaching the people for a certain period. He made the study of nature obligatory and thus gave to science an impetus which contributed to the development of scientific study. He was the only teacher who drew attention to the sublime ordinances of the universe and to the uniformity of laws underlying all phenomena. Speaking of an educationist, the Prophet said : While he is in such pursuit, all in the world, even a fish in the sea or an ant in the hole seek pardon for him— 4.: 35.

In short, no greater advocate of education and learning the world has ever seen.[1]

(xvi). The greatest Teacher of cleanliness and decencies.[2] (1) Cleanliness.[3] The Prophet advocated cleanliness and decencies in the habits of himself and his companions which none had done before. He not only practised cleanliness but made it compulsory on the eve of each prayer. It is known in the religious terminology as Wuzu (ablution). No prayer is valid without cleansing the principal exposed parts of the body such as hands, feet, face and head. If a man cohabits with a wife or becomes impure for any other reason, bath[4] for him becomes compulsory. So great an importance was laid on cleanliness that he said : Cleanliness is half of faith and that is a door to Paradise—7 : 14. He was commanded by the Quran : And uncleanliness do shun— 74 : 5Q. He laid a great emphasis on teeth-cleansing[1] before each time of five prayers saying : Had I not thought it hard for my people, I would have directed them..... . ...to cleanse teeth at the time of each prayer—7 : 78. There are also regular rules for cleanliness from calls of nature[2] and other impurities.

(2) Hair dressing and Combing.[3] The Holy Prophet did not forget this item of cleanliness. He said : Whoso has got hair, let him honour it—6 : 8. This means oiling, combing and cleansing the hairs. He always kept guard over his hairs and kept them in proper order by parting them from the middle of his head—6 : 2. He once said to a man : Is this (combing) not better than that one of you should come while he is dishevelled in hairs as if he is a devil ?—6 : 15. He directed his companions to shave, shorten or clip their moustaches, to preserve health, to keep beard, to shave hairs of private parts, to pair nails, and to shave the hairs of armpit—6 : 16. The Holy Prophet used (surma) antimony with a paint stick every night before going to bed as it brightens eye-sight, and grows hairs on eye brows—6 : 40. He advised mankind to wear shoes and socks[4] as they are protectors of feet—6 : 63. He advised to wear shoes different from those of the males. Perfume[5] was one of his favourite things (3 : 52w) as it gives a joy to oneself and to others and supplies wisdom to the brain. Anas reported that the Prophet had a bag from which he perfumed himself. He prescribed for women such perfumes as have got no scent and smell. The Holy Prophet taught to mankind to wear decent ornaments.[6] He probihited in strong words the use of all kinds of sound-making ornaments saying : With every sound-making ornament, there is a devil and angels do not enter a house in which there are sound-making ornaments—6 : 86. See what precious advice was left by the Holy Prophet about the fine tastes of civilized societies.

(xvii). Great teacher of Health and Hygiene.[7] The Holy Prophet left instructions in this department to which the world is now submitting. A Prophet of nature coming with a religion of nature could not neglect this important branch of human study. For this reason, he prescribed moderate actions, either for this world or for religion, as best saying : The best of actions is in their mean. He said : Of all the treasures in possession of a man who believes in Allah and the last day, the most precious is health. Once three persons sought for the whole-time divine service from the Prophet. He said : Fast and break, stand up for prayer and sleep, because there is surely a duty on you for your body, a duty on you for your eyes ect.—4 : 146.

He left great instructions for covering the utensils, articles of food and water-pitchers. This is as a precautionary measure for their preservation from flies, mouses, worms, insects and germs which carry poison. He definitely laid down an expert medical opinion 14 hundred years ago that there is poison in one arm of a fly and cure in another—11 : 130. Marriage also has been prescribed for preservation of health. As different kinds of food bring different physical conditions, he divided the articles of food into two main divisions - lawful and unlawful. Strict observance of these rules will bring health of body as well as of soul. A careful reading of traditions would reveal what a great teacher was the Prophet about health and hygiene.

(xviii. Prophet as a medical man. [1] The Holy Prophet prescribed some broad rules and medicines for treatment of diseases.

(I) He said, first of all, that medicine is in accordance with God's law. The Quran says that there is no changing of such law (17 : 77Q).

(2) Secondly, he declared that for every disease, there is a medicine—9 : 1. In other words, there is no incurable disease in this world. What was thought incurable has become curable now.

(3) Thirdly, he declared that there is no contagious disease—9 : 64. In other words there is no disease in the world which is caught by touch or air. He also declared that there are some widespread and infectious diseases such as cholera, small pox, plague etc.

(4) Fourthly, he said that the best modes of treatment are four—Hizamat, Lodud, Saut and Mush'ye—6 : 41. Hizamat is the taking out of bad blood, such as cupping. Saut is a treatment through nose. Lodud is a treatment through mouth. Mush'ye is a treatment dealing with bowels.

1. See note 690

(5) Treatment by enchantments and charms in which there is no smack of polytheism is allowed, but they are not the best modes of treatment. They are neassary for certain kinds of diseases such as inauspicious look of men and jinn, bites of snakes and other poisonous reptiles.

(6) Treatment by operation has been recommended in cases where operation will bring good. The Prophet even advised the people not to refrain from going to expert surgeons for surgery—9 : 5. The Prophet himself operated some of his companions in cases of bullet or arrow wounds.

(7) Nursing of patients has been greatly recommended. It contributes also towards cure.

Some important medicines. The following medicines have been prescribed by the great physician for particular diseases.

(1) Cupping to be taken regularly in every month for general complaints of the body, rheumatism, headache, blood-pressure and other pains of a general nature.

(2) Enchantments and charms for inauspicious look of men and jinn and for bites of poisonous animals like snake, dog etc.

(3) Honey, if used thrice in a month, saves a man from general complaints of the body.

(4) Black-seed is a cure for diseases just after child-birth, cold, and cough.

(5) Costus of sea is a panacea for all diseases of general type. It is specially useful in pleurisy along with olive oil. It makes menstrual blood flow, secrets urine and excites sexual passion. Its drink kills worms of belly.

(6) Henna-leaves cure wounds, cuts, bruises and pains as henna has got cool and soothing effect.

(7) Dates regularly taken in the morning cure poison and insomnia.

(8) Cold wash has been recommended in case of general fever and cold bath in case of certain kinds of fever, such as typhoid.

(9) Salt destroys poison and pain—9 : 264w.

(xiv). As an ideal businessman.[1] Of course, the Holy Prophet was not sent to be a tradesman but still he showed the way how to become a successful business man. The secret of success in business is honesty and fair-dealings with customers. He said : I have not been given revelation to hoard up wealth or to be one of the tradesmen—18 : 309w. Allah made trade lawful and usury unlawful—2 : 275Q. Take to trade, because there are nine portions in trade out of ten portions of provisions. The trustworthy merchant will be with the prophets, martyrs and the truthful—18 : 4 The Holy Prophet laid down practical rules of trade and commerce. Before he was married to famous Khadija, he went to trade on her behalf to Syria, Jerusalem, Yemen and other places and gained considerable fortune for the lady. Not a single pie did he misappropriate, not a single pie he lost. He also advised the Refugees of Medina to take up trade. They soon became prosperous though they began with nothing but with earnestness and honesty. He showed in business how by sticking to truth, honesty and promise-keeping, prosperity in trade can be had. Abdullah-b-Abil Hamsa'a, one of the companions, reported that in order to keep his promise to see him in connection with business transaction, the Prophet once was detained for three days in a place. The Holy Prophet used to keep his accounts always clear in business. Sayeb was one who had business transaction with the Prophet. He said : The Prophet tranasacted with me but he always kept his accounts clear with me". Another man Qayes also testified to this effect. The Holy Prophet travelled Syria, Bosra and Yemen in connection with trade. Some hold that the Prophet went even to Bahrain in connection with trade. With his permission, his companions also carried on business. Hazrat Abu Bakr carried on business at the place called Sanj in Medina and Osman used to sell dates at the market of Banu Qainuqa. The Quran refers to trade and commerce in a very graceful tone. "Their protection during their journey in the winter and in the summer"—106 : 2Q. The Meccans used to take journey northward to Syria and southward to Yemen in the summer and winter respectively to carry on their trade. Thus the Prophet set an example to mankind to follow the profession of trade with honesty.

1. See note 900.

(xv). Ideal treatment towards parents, orphans, children neighbours, relations, and servants. The Prophet's treatment towards all were very affectionate and cordial.

(1) Duty to parents. The prophet laid a great emphasis on obedience to parents. He said :

Paradise is under the feet of mothers (2 : 15).

The pleasure of Lord is in the pleasure of the father and the displeasure of Lord in displeasure of the father —2 : 8.

Paradise becomes unlawful for disobedience to parents.

Obedience does not finish as soon as parents are dead. Forgiveness shall be sought for them, and presents and gifts should be sent to parents, friends and relatives. Charity is also to be given in their names—2 : 6,11. Children are also bound to maintain their poor parents.

The Prophet once went with his mother to see the grave of his father when he was barely six months old, but his mother died on her return journey to Mecca.

Once he passed to the grave of his mother. There he halted for sometime and began weep out of dear love for his mother.

Once the Prophet was seated among his companions. He at once got up at the sight of his foster mother Halima and spread his own mantle for her rest.

At another time, the Prophet set 6000 prisoners free after the battle of Hunain. One of the reasons was that some of them came from the tribe of his foster mother Halima. Thus the Prophet had the highest regard for his parents and foster-mothers and left ideal instructions to his followers for obeying parents.[1]

2. His Treatment with children was ideal. His treatment with children was the most affectionate. Whenever he happened to pass to the children on the way, he used to pass his affectionate hand over them and sometimes joined in their innocent plays. Whenever he returned from journey or Jehad, he used to take two or more of them on his riding camel. He used to greet them when he met them and exchanged affectionate words with them. He used to give something or other to the children to eat when they came to his house. The Prophet used to shorten his congregational prayer whenever any child of the worshipper was heard crying. The children of the polytheists were not also deprived from his affection. The children of any nationality were forbidden to be killed in any war. The Prophet treated his own children in like manner. He used to stand up on arrival of Fatima and would make her sit by his side. Once on the death of his son Ibrahim, he began to weep saying : O Ibrahim, we are certainly aggrieved by your separation—2 : 32. The Holy Prophet said : No evil or bad invocations should be called against children – 38 : 7.

1. See note 198 for full reference.

No father can give a better gift to his child than good manners —2 : 19.

Whoso maintains two daughters he, and I like this ; he joined his fingers—2 : 20.

He said : Shall I inform you the best form of charity[1]—maintaining yours daughter who has been returned to you—2 : 25.

There is no child but is born upon Islam (2 : 30).

3. The Prophet was the greatest champion of the orphans.[2] The Prophet said :

I and the care-taker of an orphan shall be in Paradise like these two fingers – 3 : 5.

The best home is that in which an orphan is goodly treated —3 : 1.

Honour them as you honour your children and give them food out of what you yourselves eat—2 : 105.

The Quran says. Have you considered him who called the judgement day a lie ? That is one who treats the orphan with harshness—107 : 1Q.

About handling of orphan's property, there is strict warning : As for those who swallow the properties of the orphans unjustly, surely they only swallow fire into their bellies and they shall enter burning fire—4 : 106.

(4) Treatment towards neighbours. Perhaps no greater right on neighbours has been conferred by any other man than the Prophet of Islam. He said :

One whose neighbour is not safe from his troubles shall not enter Paradise—2 : 148.

He who is best to his neighbour will be in the neighbourhood of Allah on the Resurrection Day—2 : 150.

The Prophet himself was ready to forego his own comforts for the sake of his neighbours. His treatment towards his close neighbours—Ashab-i-Suffa were very cordial, friendly and sympathetic. Once Hazrat Ali asked the Prophet for a maid-servant for Fatima, his daughter. He replied : As yet the companions of Suffa have not been provided for—38 : 132. There are hundreds of such instances.[1]

1. See note 121 for further light. 2. See note 195 for further light.

(5) Treatment towards relations.[1] His treatment towards his relations was unique. This is reflected from his following sayings.

There is no greater charity than a man's spending his money for the members of his family—2 : 25.

Gift and charity to poor kinsmen bring double rewards than that to strangers.

The severer of connection with kindred and agnates shall not enter Paradise—2 : 115.

He who joins (blood-tie) is not a perfect man, but it is he who joines blood-tie when it has been torn asunder—2 : 116.

No mercy descends upon the people among whom there is one who disregards ties of blood—2 : 40w.

The Holy Prophet had a great love and affection for his own children. Whenever he took a journey or returned from it, he used to see his beloved daughter Fatimah. Whenever she came to him, he used to stand up and make her sit by his side and kiss her on forehead.

Abu Qatadah reported : Once we were praying with the Prophet. A child came and mounted on the back of the Prophet when he was bending in prayer. This continued till the Prophet finished his prayer.

Anas reported that the Prophet used to go everyday on foot to Awali, a place 3 or 4 miles off from the town of Medina, to see his son Ibrahim who was being brought up there at that time. He used to take him in his lap and kiss him.

Once Aqra'a-b-Habes came to the Prophet and saw that the Prophet gave a kiss to his grandson Imam Hussain out of affection. He said : I have got ten children but I have not kissed any. The Prophet replied : He who does not show kindness will not be shown kindness. This is Imam Hussain of the Kerbala fame about whose murder the poet says

"Alas in those lips,
I saw the Prophet kiss."

(6) Treatment with Servants and slaves.[2] It was the special characteristics of the Holy Prophet that he treated all equally with men as they came from Adam and Adam was of dust. Therefore all are brethren in the eye of God. Only he who is more pious and dutiful deserves more honour and respect. The Holy Prophet never called the servants as "my servant", or "my maid-servant." He called them "my young boy", and "my young maid". He used to give them cloth as he himself used, and give them food as he himself ate. A slight different treatment with servants was never noticed. Whenever any slave came to his possession, he at once gave him freedom, but those freed slaves preferred to remain with the Prophet rather than go to their parents. This was because of the Prophet's kind and affectionate treatment with them. Zaid, the liberated slave, was wanted by his father but he preferred to remain with the Prophet. He could not have been separated inspite of the Prophet's earnest efforts. The case of Bilal is an instance. He followed the Prophet like a shadow and was the first Muazzen of Islam. The Prophet never in his life assaulted any servant or slave—44 : 60. The Prophet said :

1. See note 190 for full light. 2. See note 173 for further light.

Pardon him (servant) 70 times every day—2 : 83.

Your brethren-Allah has placed them under your hands—2 : 84.

When the servant of someone of you prepares his meal and then comes to him therewith, while its heat and vapour rise up, let him make him sit with him and take food—2 : 85.

Good treatment with persons under control brings fortune—2 : 96.

Anas, the Prophet's servant, reported : I served the Ms. of Allah for 10 years, but he did neither tell me uph, nor—why have you done this ?—nor why have you not done this ?—2 : 206.

The Holy Prophet once asked : Shall I not inform you of the worst of you ?—one who eats alone, scourges his servant and refuses his help—2 : 37w.

Once Abu Zarr, the Prophet's companion, rebuked a freed slave who complained to the Prophet. He gave a warning to Abu Zarr saying : There is still ignorance in you. This slave is your brother.

Anas reported : I came to serve the Apostle of Allah while I was a boy of 10 years. Never did he rebuke me for anything which was damaged by my hand. If any body of his family rebuked me, he said : Leave him, because what was decreed has come to pass—2 : 38w.

(xxi). An ideal husband. The Holy Prophet was the most ideal husband and pleasant companion. His treatment with his wives is the most exemplary. As a husband of an old wife, as a husband of a young wife, as a husband of an widowed wife, as a husband of many wives, as a husband of a wife living in foreign land or in foreign faith, the Prophet was a true ideal and a model for mankind. The Prophet married Khadija when he was only 25 years and she 40 years old. Still the relation between the two was the most cordial. This can be gauged from the fact that the Prophet did not take a second wife during the life time of Khadija who died in the neighbourhood of seventy years. After Khadija's death, he used often to mourn her loss before Ayesha. On being questioned by her, he used to reply : O darling, when I was in distress, Khadija consoled me ; when nobody believed me as a prophet, Khadija believed me. History bears testimony that it was Khadija who was the first Muslim and who believed the Prophet before anybody believed him to be so. She knew very well the character and conduct of the Prophet. Her testimony about her husband's character is the most valuable as the wife has got access to the innermost recess of a husband's heart. This mutual warm appreciations on the part of both husband and wife clearly prove that the Prophet had the most congenial conjugal tie with the twice widowed lady Khadija. As a husband of the young wife Ayesha, he was also a model. When the Prophet died at the age of 63 years, Ayesha was barely a little more than eighteen years. Still Ayesha could not forget the sad memory of her beloved husband's death. She did not take a second husband till she was alive and broadcasted great many gems that fell from the prophetic lips. The Holy prophet at times used to play with Ayesha, to run race with her, to join in her innocent plays and to take her sometimes in journey. She was regarded as a partner in life for consolation and peace. The young Ayesha also gladdened him when she looked, obeyed him when he bade and did not oppose him regarding herself and her riches. When he had several wives, he used to give his equal turn of companionship to them. Even the old Sauda was not deprived of his blessed company.

In his whole period of married life, he did neither administer a single rebuke to his wives, nor give a beating even with so slight a thing as a toothstick. His treatment with them was the most cordial. He regarded them as co-partners in happiness as well as in distress, but never the idea crossed the threshold of his mind that they were for his sexual luxury. He used to say : The best of the commodities of the world is a virtuous wife (1 : 40)

The best of you are those who are the best of you to their wives. —I : 64. Prayer, wife and perfume have been made a solace to my eyes. Everything with which a man plays is unlawful except ... ... his sporting with his[1] wife—2 : 75.

(xxiii) The greatest friend of the poor and the distressed. History can not show a greater friend of the poor and the distressed. Being himself put to the greatest hardships in life and burnt in the fiery ordeals of absolute helplessness and poverty, the Prophet could best realise from the start of his life the sufferings of the poor and the distressed. Therefore he had every sympathy for the sufferings of the needy.

Once the Prophet was deeply engaged in talking with some chiefs of the Quraish regarding Islam. At that time Abdullah-b-Omme Makhtum, a poor and blind man, came there and wanted to talk with the Prophet, but the Prophet did not turn his look to him. Suddenly the verse was revealed : He frowned and turned because the blind man came. What will make you know that he would purify himself (80 : 1Q) ?

The poor and the down-trodden were the first to accept Islam and they were the most devoted companions. Some of them were known as the companions of Suffa lodged in a corner of the mosque of Medina. They were supplied with provisions mostly by the Prophet and his rich companions. The Prophet once said to Fatimah on her asking something from him : As yet the companions of Suffa have not been supplied with provision. Sa'ad-b-Waqqas was a rich man with a sense of pride. The Prophet once addressed him thus : Whatever help and provision you get is on account of the weak among you.

Once the Prophet said to Osamah-b-Zaid : I took my stand at the door of Paradise and I saw the majority who entred it are the poor—3 : 11

Abdullah-b-Amr reported that once he was seated in the mosque, while the poor Refugees were also seated at that time in a coner in a circle. Suddenly the Prophet came there and took his seat in the midst of the poor men and said : Verily the poor refugees will go to Paradise on the Resurrection Day, 40 years before thes rich. Abdullah remarked : I saw then their faces gleaming with joy and I wished that I should be one of them.—3 : 56w

Once the Prophet asked a man about a certain rich and noble person who was passing by : What is your opinion regarding this man ? The man replied : He is certainly a proper person for a girl to be given in marriage and his intercession is fit to be accepted. Then another man passed by. The Prophet asked him : What is your opinion about this man ? He replied : He is one of the poor Muslims. He is not a proper person for a girl to be given in marriage and his intercession is not fit to be accepted. The Prophet said : The latter is better than the leaders of the world like him—3 : 14.

Often the Holy Prophet used to pray : O Allah ! let me live a poor man, die a poor man, and resurrect me in the company of the poor—3 : 21(a). His wife Ayesha asked him : Why is such prayer ? He replied : Because the poor will enter Paradise 500 years before the rich. Again he said : O Ayesha ! don't turn away a helpless beggar from your door. Give him something though it be a piece of date. O Ayesha ! love the poor and let them come to you ! God will then love you and will take you near Him—3 : 21.

In order that the poor may get their due maintenance, he made a compulsory tax upon the rich, namely Zakat, at the rate of 2½p.c. of the hoarded wealth of one year. During the I'd festivals, there are compulsory provisions of charity to the poor and the distressed. Who can claim a greater love for the poor than the Prophet of the desert ? Circulars were issued to his officers : Whoso leaves any debt without property, it is upon the Estate ; whoso leaves property, it is for his heirs. Not only this, the Prophet's share of booty and wealth acquired in wars were all distributed among the poor and the needy.

Jarir reported that once some men came to the Prophet with extreme hunger and thirst. Their colours were changed owing to acute pangs of hunger. When the Prophet saw this condition, his face became changed and he delivered a semon for charity. The companions at once came with food, drink and wealth for their needs.

The Prophet said that the Almighty Allah will ask on the Resurrection day : O son of Adam ! I asked you food but you did not give me food. He will reply : O My Lord ! how could I have fed Thee ? He will say : Did you not know that such and such of My servants asked you food, but you did not feed him. Did you not know that if you have fed him, you would surely have found that with Me ? In this way, He will ask about drink and other needs of the poor—3 : 35.

Some sayings. "The best charity is to satisfy a hungry belly" – 3 : 65w.

"The key of Paradise is love for the poor.' – 3 : 61

"Shall I inform you about the kings of the inmates of Paradise" ? 'Yes,' said they, 'O Ms. of Allah'. He said : Every weak and poor man laden in dust and dishevelled in hairs"—3 : 32.

One who strives for the widows and the poor is like one who fights in the way of Allah"—3 : 7

"No Muslim gives a cloth to a Muslim except that he is in the protection of Allah so long as a piece thereof remains upon him"—4 : 337.

"Feed the hungry, visit the sick and free the captive"—3 : 40

"There is no Muslim in illness at morn except that 70,000 angels pray for him till evening ; and if he visits him at night except that 70,000 angles pray for him till morning ; there is for him a garden in Paradise"– 3 : 45

"Take care of the invocation of the oppressedm an' – 4 : 88w.

(xxiv). Prophet's wars (a) The Holy Prop het had to fight in self-defence the following wars of importance :—

(1) The battle of Badr was fought in 2 A. H. in the month of fasting at Badr, nearly 80 miles off from Medina. There were about 313 Muslim soldiers to meet 1000 odds of the enemy.

(2) The battle of Uhud took place in 3 A. H. in which 700 Muslims met with a force of 3000 strong. It took place at the foot of the mountain Uhud, nearly three miles to the north of Medina.

(3) The battle of Muraisi occurred in 5 A. H. with Bann Mustaliq tribe who lived at Murais, 9 days' journey from Medina.

(4) The battle of Allies came to pass in 5 A. H. with 24,000 allied forces of the whole Arabian Peninsula including the help of the Jews and Christians. It was not actually fought.

(5) The treaty of Hudaibiyyah took place in 6 A. H. between the Meccans and the Muslims of about 1400 strong.

(6) The siege of Khaiber took place in 7 A. H. against the Jews. Khaiber is at a distance of 200 miles from Medina. The inhabitants surrendered after a long seize.

(7) The campaign of Muta was fought by 3000 Muslims soldiers as against vast odds of 100,000 soldiers of the Roman army in 8 A. H. at Muta.

(8) The Conquest of Mecca occurred in 8 A.H. The Prophet marched towards Mecca with 10,000 companions. Mecca was conquered without any battle and single drop of blood.

(9) The battle of Hunain occurred in 9 A. H. with 12000 Muslims.

(10) The expedition to Tabuk took place in 9 A. H. The Prophet marched with 30,000 soldiers. No battle took place as the enemies fled away on hearing the news of the march of the Muslims.

(b) Object of Jihad. The Holy Prophet was the Apostle of peace, the apostle of mercy, the apostle of forgiveness and kindness. Under the circumstances, doubt naturally arises in mind as to why the Prophet undertook so many battles in which hundreds of lives were lost. In order to decipher the cause, we must look to the utility of war itself. Is it good or is it bad? Is it oppression or is it beneficial to mankind? The answer must rest on each circumstance. The reason is that struggle for self-existence on the part of an individual is as true a law as the struggle of the nations or kingdoms for their independence and preservation from foreign aggression. An individual struggle for preserving oneself is called self-defence, while in the case of a clash between two collective armies, it is called 'war' or 'battle.' Is self-defence bad or illegal? As is the case with self-defence, so is the case with war. The good of it is good and the bad of it is bad as is the case with songs. There were always wars from the beginning of the world and there will be wars so long as the world exists. This is the natural law of God. Anger cannot be uprooted from nature, but it should be brought under control and be applied in proper cases. So is the case with wars. The Quran itself says: Had there been no repelling of one people by others, there would have been pulled down cloisters, churches synagogues and mosques in which Allah's name is much remembered (22 : 39Q). Fight in the way of Allah with those who fight with you, and be not aggressive—2 : 190Q. Fighting is an ordinance over you though it is an object of dislike to you; and it may be that you dislike a thing while it is good for you, and it may be that you love a thing white it is evil for you—2 : 216Q. Permission to fight is given to those upon whom war is made, because they are oppressed. Most surely Allah is well-able to assist them, those who have been expelled from their homes without a just cause except that they say: Our Lord is Allah.

It appears therefore that Jihad is necessary in some cases enumerated—self-defence, oppression, expulsion from home etc. But it has been expressly written down in the Quran that fight against a peaceful people is unlawful though they profess a different faith. The Quran says : Allah does not prohibit you in respect of those who have not made war on account of your religion, and have not driven you out from your homes, that you show them kindness and deal with them justly ; surely Allah loves the doers of justice. Allah only forbids you in respect of those who made war upon you on account of your religion, and drove you out from your homes and backed up (others) in your expulsions, that you make friends with them, and whoever makes friends with them, they are the unjust—60 : 8Q.

(3) Object of Prophet's Jehads. These were the objects of the holy wars undertaken by the Holy Prophet. They were vindications of the rights of the weak and the oppressed, they were undertaken for self-defence, they were undertaken because they were expelled from their centuries-old hearths and homes, they were undertaken because the mosques of the Muslims and the shrines of other faiths stood in danger of being pulled down, they were waged because the enemies were very near Medina to extirpate Islam from its very root. This is clear from the facts that the battle of Uhud took place only three miles off from Medina, andthe battle of Badr only 80 miles off from Medina. Had the Muslims been aggressive, they would have first marched towards Mecca in or near which the battles would have taken place. The very fact that the Prophet fought in or near about Medina gives a strong circumstantial proof that the battles of Badr, Uhud and the Allies were all of defensive measures. There is another factor which goes to corroborate the above view. It is generally seen that those who are numerically strong take offensive measures. This was the case with the Quraish and the heathen Arabs. The Prophet met armies of 1000 at Badr with only 313 boys and elders, 3000 at Uhud with untrained 1000 devoted followers, enormous adds of 24,000 with only 2000 in the battle of the Allies, 100,000 with only 3000 Muslims in the campaign of Muta. Can anybody take such a big risk of defeat with a few soldiers to combat an well-trained army sometimes double, treble, four or five times or more. The battle of Muta took place because Haris-b-Umair, an ambassador, who was deputed to Surhabil-b-Amr, the Syrian-governor under the Roman Emperor, with the letter of invitation to accept Islam, was brutally murdered against all international laws. The cause of the expedition to Tabuk was entirely a different one. Tabuk was in Syria, mid-way between Medina and Damascus, a long way off from Medina. The Prophet was in danger at home and abroad. Why then did he send an expedition to such a distant land to fight against the then biggest kingdom on earth? After the battle of Muta, thd Roman Empire could not tolerate the growing power of Islam. The religious jealousy of the Romans was aroused when they saw the whole Arabia giving allegiance to Islam. Kaiser had therefore assembled a vast army to crush the power of Islam. On receiving this information, the Prophet advanced to the frontier of Islam with 30,000 devoted companions but when he met with no army there, he retraced his steps without any fight. Had he been aggressive, he could have fallen upon the Roman Empire with an army which he had never collected before. Had he any territorial aggrandizement, he could have swallowed the country that lay before him as a prize of his long and tedious expedition. But different was the case with the Prophet. He did not fight against those who did not fight with him according to the Quranic injunction.

Khaiber was laid siege to under the following circumtances. The banished tribe of Banu Nazir took refuge at Khaiber, a Jewish stronghold. These Jewish tribes roused the Meccans at the battle of the Allies against Islam. They joined hands with the hypocrites in Medina. A strong under-current of proverbial Jewish intrigue was created against Islam. They began to conspire with the powerful tribe of Ghatafan with a view to lead an expedition to Medina. Therefore the Prophet led the expedition to Khaiber. The Muslims met the Jewish battation and fighting commenced. The Jews, on their surrender, were allowed to remain in possession of their lands on payment of jizya as a token of Muslim rule. In the course of the battle, the Prophet was even given poisoned food. This was exactly the cause also for the battles of Hunain and Muraisi. The tribe of Hawazin in the former and the tribe of Banu Mustaliq in the latter collected large enemies to crush Islam.

In the battle of Allies, the Prophet's defensive measure is yet to be seen in the ditch round the city of Medina. It was dug at enormous labour to prevent the combined army of 24,000 strong to enter the city. Was it offensive or defensive? It is impossible in a short treatise like this to deal exhaustively with the various causes, but the most outstanding fact is that Muhammad took up arms for self-defence for saving his Islam. Had it been otherwise and had he taken his bed of comforts, the rose of Islam would not have grown through the thorny obstructions ?

These were indeed fights—truth versus untruth, light versus darkness, Islam versus infidelity. Truly the Lord said . Truth has appeared, and falsehood has vanished, verily falsehood is a thing to vanish. The Quran says : For this reason, We prescribed to the children of Israil : Whoso slays a soul, unless it be for man-slaughter or for mischief in the land, it is as though he slew all men, and whoever keeps it alive, it is as though he kept alive all men—5 : 39 Q. And when he turns back, he runs along in the land that he may cause mischief in it and destroy the tilth and the stock, and Allah does not love mischief-making – 2 : 205 Q. In face of such strong verses, wars for the purpose of killing men could not have been undertaken.

Jihad was turned into Abadat. The science of war was, on the contrary, turned into regular Abadat or divine service. It is a service for the cause of the down-trodden and oppressed humanity, it is a service to the humanity to secure permanent peace and order. This is why regular prayer was said in the actual fields of battle. Regular invocations were recited and there was no exemption from prayer on any ground. The Quran says : O you who believe ! when you meet an army, stand firm, and remember Allah very much that you may be successful—8 : 45 Q. Generally ⅕th of the spoils of war was distributed among the orphans, poor, travellers and the needy, and those properties which were gained without war was used absolutely for the benefit of the community and the country.

In the actual battle-field of Badr when the swords were going on in grim silence, the Prophet retired into a small hut and addressed with tearful eyes : O Lord ! forget not Thy promise of assistance. O Lord ! if this little band were to perish, no one will be left on earth to worship Thee and carry Thy message to the world. Then came the revelation—Soon shall the hosts be routed, and they shall turn their backs—54 : 45Q.

In the battle of the Allies, the Prophet with his companions sang while digging the trench : "O Allah ! but for Thy mercy, we could not have found guidance. We would not have given alms, nor would we have prayed. Send down tranquility upon us." "O Allah ! there is no felicity but the felicity of the hereafter ; O Allah ! have mercy on the Refugees and the Helpers."

We see again that the Prophet led the same simple life even after conquest of so many battles and even when he was the king of the whole Arabia. Success could not change him, power could not divert him an inch and conquest could not make him forget His Beloved. Truly the truth has fought with falsehood and light with ignorance. Truth and light became victorious through the Prophet and his devoted followers.

Conclusion. Thus in short, we find the Prophet was a model and an ideal for every man of any profession in the world. He was the founder of a nation, of an empire and of a religion. He is the world-Prophet for the guidance of mankind up to the Doomsday. His teaching is like the radiant ray of the sun which overshadows all other minor lights and removes the intense darkness of the world. He was the greatest reformer and successful man. He was the greatest politician and administrator the world has ever produced. He was an ideal judge. He gave a religious code, a moral code, a political code, an economical code, a social code, a criminal and civil code and as such he was the greatest law-giver in the world in the history of man. His peace mission extended to all irrespective of caste and creed. Nay, it extended to lower animals and even to plants and leaves. He was the greatest world Prophet of God. He was the greatest democrat and gave utmost relief and right to the citizens of the world. His reliance on God and his resoluteness and steadfastness are exemplary. His prayer and communion with God, his fasting, his charity and benevolence were all of extraordinary type. He had no friend in the world except Allah. He moved in Him, lived in Him, worked for Him and ultimately went to His Blessed companionship. He was the greatest commander and hero in battles and wars. His treatments towards children, parents, neighbours, orphans, servants and slaves, the poor and the distressed were exemplary and beyond reproach. His treatments towards his bitterest foes and enemies were of an ideal character. He had a great attachment for his companions and the companions also held unparalelled allegiance to their master. His teachings about decency, cleanliness, etiquettes are now the rules for mankind. He was not a dreamer but the most practical man the world has ever seen. His tolerance towards other faiths were broad-minded and knew no limits. His character and conduct were such as was never seen in the history of the children of Adam. Rightly therefore does he stand to-day at the peak of glory (مقام محمود), and truly he will reach the Praised Abode (مقاما محمودا) in the next world. Therefore, the poet sang :

بَلَغَ الْعُلَى بِكَمَالِهِ	He reached the highest place by his perfection.
كَشَفَ الدُّجَى بِجَمَالِهِ	He removed darkness
	by his beauty.
حَسُنَتْ جَمِيعُ خِصَالِهِ	Beautiful are all his attainments.
صَلُّوا عَلَيْهِ وَآلِهِ	Send blessings to him and his family.

2435. The geneology of the Prophet is the following :—Muhammad, son of Abdullah, son of Abdul Muttaleb, son of Hashem, son of Abd Mannaf, son of Qusai, son of Kelab, son of Murrah, son of Ka'ab, son of Lawi, son of Galeb, son of Fahr, son of Malek, son of Nazar, son of Kenanah, son of Khazima, son of Madrakah, son of Liyas, son of Nazar, son of Nezar, son of Ma'ad, son of Adnan. The children of Kenanah were scattered in many places, but Qusai gathered them together to live at Mecca and named them Quraish meaning 'the collected tribe.' It is said that Quraish was the name of a powerful fish which devoured every fish in the sea.

and chose me from Banu Hashem. Muslim narrated it, and in a narration of Tirmizi. Verily Allah chose Ismail from the children of Abraham, and chose Banu Kenanah from the children of Ismail.

وَاصْطَفَانِي مِنْ بَنِي هَاشِمٍ رَوَاهُ مُسْلِمٌ وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ لِلتِّرْمِذِيِّ اِنَّ اللّٰهَ اصْطَفَى مِنْ وُلْدِ اِبْرَاهِيمَ اِسْمٰعِيلَ وَاصْطَفَى مِنْ وُلْدِ اِسْمٰعِيلَ بَنِي كِنَانَةَ

عَنْ اَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اَنَا سَيِّدُ وُلْدِ اٰدَمَ يَوْمَ الْقِيٰمَةِ وَاَوَّلُ مَنْ يَنْشَقُّ عَنْهُ الْقَبْرُ وَاَوَّلُ شَافِعٍ وَاَوَّلُ مُشَفَّعٍ (مُسْلِمٌ)

4. Anas reported that the Messenger of Allah said : I shall be the foremost of the Prophets in respect of followers [2436] on the Resurrection Day, and I shall be the first of those who will knock at the door of Paradise. —Muslim.

عَنْ اَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اَنَا اَكْثَرُ الْاَنْبِيَاءِ تَبَعًا يَوْمَ الْقِيٰمَةِ وَاَنَا اَوَّلُ مَنْ يَقْرَعُ بَابَ الْجَنَّةِ (مُسْلِمٌ)

5. Same reported that the Apostle of Allah said : I shall come to the door of Paradise on the Resurrection Day and open it. The guard will ask : Who are you ? I shall reply : Muhammad. He will say : I have been ordered not to open it for anybody before you. —Muslim.

عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اَنَا اٰتِي بَابَ الْجَنَّةِ يَوْمَ الْقِيٰمَةِ فَاَسْتَفْتِحُ فَيَقُولُ الْخَازِنُ مَنْ اَنْتَ فَاَقُولُ مُحَمَّدٌ فَيَقُولُ بِكَ اُمِرْتُ اَنْ لَا اَفْتَحَ لِاَحَدٍ قَبْلَكَ (مُسْلِمٌ)

2436. This shows that the number of Muslims will be much more greater than that of any other Prophet. This proves that Islam will be the religion of the majority of the people of the world for a time.

truth) so much as I shall be corroborated ; and verily there was a Prophet among the Prophets whom none but one man will corroborate from his followers. —Muslim.

الْأَنْبِيَاءِ مَا صُدِّقْتُ وَإِنَّ مِنَ الْأَنْبِيَاءِ نَبِيًّا مَا صَدَّقَهُ مِنْ أُمَّتِهِ إِلَّا رَجُلٌ وَاحِدٌ (مسلم)

7. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : The parable of myself and the parable of the Prophets is as the parable of a palace of which the construction has been made good but wherein the place of a brick has been left out. The on-lookers went round it wondering at its good construction except for the place of the brick. It is I who closed up the place of the brick. The construction has therefore been sealed by me, and the messengers have come to an end with me. And in a narration : I am the brick and I am the seal of the Prophets.[2437] —Agreed.

عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم مَثَلِي وَمَثَلُ الْأَنْبِيَاءِ كَمَثَلِ قَصْرٍ أُحْسِنَ بُنْيَانُهُ تُرِكَ مِنْهُ مَوْضِعُ لَبِنَةٍ فَطَافَ بِهِ النُّظَّارُ يَتَعَجَّبُونَ مِنْ حُسْنِ بُنْيَانِهِ إِلَّا مَوْضِعَ تِلْكَ اللَّبِنَةِ فَكُنْتُ أَنَا سَدَدْتُ مَوْضِعَ اللَّبِنَةِ خُتِمَ بِيَ الْبُنْيَانُ وَخُتِمَ بِيَ الرُّسُلُ وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ فَأَنَا اللَّبِنَةُ وَأَنَا خَاتَمُ النَّبِيِّينَ (متفق عليه)

8. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said : There was no Prophet among the Prophets but was granted some thing of the miracles, the like of which no mortal has believed, and it is I who has been given a revelation which Allah has revealed to me. I hope that I should be the foremost of them in respect of followers up to the Resurrection Day. [2438]—Agreed.

عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم مَا مِنَ الْأَنْبِيَاءِ مِنْ نَبِيٍّ إِلَّا قَدْ أُعْطِيَ مِنَ الْآيَاتِ مَا مِثْلُهُ آمَنَ عَلَيْهِ الْبَشَرُ وَإِنَّمَا كَانَ الَّذِي أُوتِيتُ وَحْيًا أَوْحَى اللهُ إِلَيَّ

فَأَرْجُو أَنْ أَكُونَ أَكْثَرَهُمْ تَابِعًا يَوْمَ الْقِيَامَةِ (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

9. Jaber reported that the Messenger of Allah said: I have been given five things which were not given to anybody before me. I have been helped with awe from a distance of one month's journey, and (entire) earth has been made a praying place for me and a means of purification; so to whomsoever of my followers prayer presents itself, let him pray; and booties have become lawful for me and they were not lawful for anybody before me; and I have been given the right of intercession; and every prophet was sent specially to his people, but I have been sent to the mankind in general.—Agreed

عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم أُعْطِيتُ خَمْسًا لَمْ يُعْطَهُنَّ أَحَدٌ قَبْلِي نُصِرْتُ بِالرُّعْبِ مَسِيرَةَ شَهْرٍ وَجُعِلَتْ لِيَ الْأَرْضُ مَسْجِدًا وَطَهُورًا فَأَيُّمَا رَجُلٍ مِنْ أُمَّتِي أَدْرَكَتْهُ الصَّلَاةُ فَلْيُصَلِّ وَأُحِلَّتْ لِيَ الْغَنَائِمُ وَلَمْ تَحِلَّ لِأَحَدٍ قَبْلِي وَأُعْطِيتُ الشَّفَاعَةَ وَكَانَ النَّبِيُّ يُبْعَثُ إِلَى قَوْمِهِ خَاصَّةً وَبُعِثْتُ إِلَى النَّاسِ عَامَّةً (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

10. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: I have been given superiority over the prophets for six things. I have been given the collection of revelation, and I have been helped with fear, [2439] and

عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللهِ صلعم قَالَ فُضِّلْتُ عَلَى الْأَنْبِيَاءِ بِسِتٍّ أُعْطِيتُ بِجَوَامِعِ الْكَلِمِ وَنُصِرْتُ بِالرُّعْبِ وَأُحِلَّتْ لِيَ

2438. Every Prophet was given a miracle opportune to the time in which he lived. The then people believed in that miracle more than the miracles of the ordinary people. When Moses appeared, there was prevalence of sorcery and the people were charmed. Moses was therefore given the miracle of the staff which turned snakes on command. At the time of the Prophet, there was pride of eloquence and rhetoric, and so the Quran was revealed to him and challenged the whole world on the point, but the query remains unanswered up to this day, and it will remain so up to the Day of Resurrection. Majority of the people will be charmed by the Quran and believe in it.

2439. Collection of revelation means the Holy Quran, as it contains the teachings of previous revealed books and the teachings of all the Prophets that appeared to reclaim the lost humanity. This may also mean that short sentences booties have been made lawful for me, and the (entire) earth has been made a praying-place for me and a means of purification, and I have been sent to the entire creation, and the prophets came to an end with me.

الْغَنَائِمُ وَجُعِلَتْ لِيَ الْأَرْضُ مَسْجِدًا وَطَهُورًا وَأُرْسِلْتُ إِلَى الْخَلْقِ كَافَّةً وَخُتِمَ بِيَ النَّبِيُّونَ (مُسْلِمٌ)

11. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said: I have been sent with a collective revelation, and I have been helped with awe, and while I was asleep, I found myself presented with the keys of the treasures of the world, and they were placed in my hand.

عَنْهُ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللهِ صلعم قَالَ بُعِثْتُ بِجَوَامِعِ الْكَلِمِ وَنُصِرْتُ بِالرُّعْبِ وَبَيْنَمَا أَنَا نَائِمٌ رَأَيْتُنِي أُتِيتُ بِمَفَاتِيحِ خَزَائِنِ الْأَرْضِ فَوُضِعَتْ فِي يَدَيَّ (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

12. Saoban reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Verily Allah straitened the world for me and then I could see its east and its west, and verily my followers will soon reach kingdoms of what has been straitened for me, and I have been given two treasures, red and white, [2440] and I have begged of my Lord on behalf of my followers with wide meanings have been revealed in the Quran and Hadis, for example, actions one judged by motives, of the beauty of Islam of a man is his giving up what is of no use to him, and one consulted has been trusted.

عَنْ ثَوْبَانَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم إِنَّ اللهَ زَوَى لِيَ الْأَرْضَ فَرَأَيْتُ مَشَارِقَهَا وَمَغَارِبَهَا وَإِنَّ أُمَّتِي سَيَبْلُغُ مُلْكُهَا مَا زُوِيَ لِي مِنْهَا وَأُعْطِيتُ الْكَنْزَيْنِ الْأَحْمَرَ وَالْأَبْيَضَ وَإِنِّي سَأَلْتُ رَبِّي لِأُمَّتِي أَنْ لَا

2440. The red and white treasures are gold and silver respectively. Here there is prophecy of the conquest of Persia and Rome, because the former consisted of a vast amount of gold coins and the latter of silver coins. When these treasures were brought before Omar after the conquest of Persia and Rome, he began to weep as he foresaw the destruction of the Muslims in this wealth. How literally the prophecy that Muslims will conquer the west and the east was fulfilled. They went up to Spain and Morocco in the west and up to India and Malayan Archipelago in the east.

not to destroy them with general famine and not to make enemy to prevail over them except their own men, so that he may consider their properties as lawful. Verily my Lord said : O Muhammad ! verily when I decreed an affair, it shall not be averted. Verily I have given you for your followers that I shall not destroy them with a general famine, and that I shall not make the enemy to prevail over them besides their own men so that he may consider their properties as lawful although those who are on its sides gather together against them, till some of them will destroy others and some of them will take others as captives. —Muslim.

يهلكها بسنة عامة وان لا يسلط عليهم عدوا من سوى انفسهم فيستبيح بيضتهم وان ربي قال يا محمد اني اذا قضيت قضاء فانه لا يرد واني اعطيتك لامتك ان لا اهلكهم بسنة عامة وان لا اسلط عليهم عدوا من سوى انفسهم فيستبيح بيضتهم ولو اجتمع عليهم من بأقطارها حتى يكون بعضهم يهلك بعضا ويسبي بعضهم بعضا (مسلم)

13. Sa'ad reported that the Apostle of Allah passed by a mosque of the children of Muwayiah, entered and prayed two rak'ats therein, and we also prayed with him. He supplicated long to his Lord and then turned. He said : I asked three things to my Lord, but He gave me two and refused me one. I asked my Lord not to destroy my followers with famine and He granted it to me. I asked not to destroy my followers by flood and He granted it to me. I asked Him not to create trouble (battles) among themselves, but He refused it to me. —Muslim

عن سعد ان رسول الله صلعم مر بمسجد بني معاوية دخل فركع فيه ركعتين وصلينا معه ودعا ربه طويلا ثم انصرف فقال سالت ربي ثلاثا فاعطاني ثنتين ومنعني واحدة سالت ربي ان لا يهلك امتي بالسنة فاعطانيها سالت ان لا يهلك امتي بالغرق فاعطانيها وسالته ان لا يجعل بأسهم بينهم فمنعنيها (مسلم)

14. Ata'a-b-Yasar reported : I met Abdullah-b-Amr. I asked :

عن عطاء بن يسار قال لقيت عبدالله

بن عمرو قلت اخبرنى عن صفة رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم فى التورة قال اجل والله انه لموصوف فى التورة ببعض صفته فى القران يا ايها النبى انا ارسلناك شاهدا ومبشرا ونذيرا وحرزا للاميين انت عبدى ورسولى سميتك المتوكل ليس بفظ ولا غليظ ولا سخاب فى الاسواق ولا يدفع بالسيئة السيئة ولكن يعفو ويغفر ولن يقبضه الله حتى يقيم به الملة العوجاء بان يقولوا لا اله الا الله ويفتح بها اعينا عميا واذانا صما وقلوبا غلفا (البخارى)

Inform me about the description of the Apostle of Allah in the Torah. He said : Yes, by Allah, verily he has been described in the Torah with some of his descriptions in the Quran : O you Prophet ! verily We sent you as a witness, and a giver of good news and a warner, and a guard for the illiterate. You are My servant and messenger. I have named you self-relying, without being harsh, not rough and mischief-making in the markets, and not repelling evil by evil, but pardoning and forgiving. Allah will not take his soul till He sets aright the stubborn people through him so that they may say : There is no deity but Allah. He will open therewith blind eyes, deaf ears and heedless minds. —Bukhari

عن خباب بن الارت قال صلى بنا رسول الله صلعم صلوة فاطالها قالوا يا رسول الله صليت صلوة لم تكن تصليها قال اجل انها صلوة رغبة ورهبة وانى سالت الله فيها ثلثا فاعطانى ثنتين ومنعنى واحدة سالته ان لا يهلك امتى بسنة فاعطانيها وسالته ان لا يسلط عليهم عدوا من غيرهم فاعطانيها وسالته ان لا يذيق بعضهم باس

15. Khabbab-b-Arat reported : The Messenger of Allah said a prayer with us and prolonged it. They asked : O Ms. of Allah ! you have said a prayer which you did not say before. He said : Yes, verily it is a prayer of hope and fear. I asked therein three things to Allah. He gave me two and refused me one. I asked Him not to destroy my followers with famine and He gave it to me. I asked Him not to make the enemy to prevail over them besides their own men, and He gave it to me. I asked Him not to make some of them taste the trouble of others but He refused it to me. —Trimizi, Nisai

16. Abbas reported that he came to the Holy Prophet while he was such as heard something.[2421] The Holy Prophet got up at the pulpit and asked : Who am I ? They replied : You are the Messenger of Allah. He said : I am Muhammad, son of Abdullah, son of Abdul Muttaleb. Verily Allah created creation and made me among the best of them. Then He created them into two groups and made me among the best of them in group. Then He made them into tribes and made me among the best of them in tribe. Then He made them into houses and made me among the best of them in house. I am the best of them as member, and the best of them in house. —Tirmizi.

19, Ibn Abbas reported that some people from the companions of the Apostle of Allah were seated. He (Prophet) came out till when he drew near with them, he heard them talking one another. Someone among them said: Verily Allah took Abraham as friend. And another said: As for Moses, He held talks with him. Another said: Jesus is the Word of Allah and His Spirit. Another said: As for Adam, Allah chose him. Then the Apostle of Allah came out to them and said: I have just heard your talk and it will make you wonderful (to hear) that Abraham was the friend of Allah and he is like that, and Moses was one rescued by Allah and he is like that, and Jesus is the Spirit of Allah and His Word and he is like that, and Adam is the chosen one of Allah and he is like that. When Jesus son of Mary said : ..... I give the good news of an Apostle who will come after me, his name being Ahmad —61 : 6Q. This is the good news of Jesus. 671w. Ibn Abbas reported: Verily the Almighty Allah gave excellence of Muhammad over all the Prophets and over the dwellers of heaven. They asked: O Ibn Abbas! with what thing did He give him excellence over the dwellers of heaven? He said: Verily the Almighty Allah said to the dwellers of heaven: And whoso among them says: I am the Lord besides Him, We shall make him taste the hell. Thus do We reward the oppressors. The Almighty Allah said to Muhammad:

عن ابن عباس قال ان الله تعالى
فضل محمدا صلعم على الانبياء وعلى
اهل السماء فقالوا يا ابا عباس بم فضله
الله على اهل السماء قال ان الله تعالى
قال لاهل السماء ومن يقل منهم اني اله
من دونه فذلك نجزيه جهنم كذلك

2442b. Taybah is the former name of Medina. His kingdom will be in Syria means that the Muslims will conquer the Byzantine empire and will rule Syria. Glorification of Allah at every lofty place means the recitation of 'Takbir' and 'Labbaik' at the time of ascending a high place as is done in Ihram. Practically it means that the pilgrimage will be compulsory for them. They will guard the sun means that they will say their prayers at the fixed times, before and after rising of the sun, after declining of the sun and in the forenoon and afternoon. They will bind the trouser up to the navels means that they will cover the private parts from navel up to the middle of the legs. Their proclaimer will proclaim means that they will cry azan for prayer in lofty places like minarets. Indistinct sound at night means the sounds of Takbir, Tahlil, Tahmid and Zikr of Allah's names. In other words, they will pray at night. These are the attributes of the Muslims as described in the Torah.

Verily We gave you a clear victory, so that Allah may forgive you what preceded of your sins and what succeeded. They asked : And what is his excellence over the prophets ? He said : The Almighty Allah said : And We have not sent any apostle but with the tongue of his people in order to make clear to them, then Allah guides whom He pleases-the verse (Q). And the Almighty Allah said to Muhammad : And We have not sent thee but for the whole mankind. So He sent him for jinn and man.[2442c] —Darimi.

صلى الله عليه وسلم انا فتحنا لك فتحا مبينا ليغفر لك الله ما تقدم من ذنبك وما تاخر قالوا وما فضله على الانبياء قال قال الله تعالى وما ارسلنا من رسول الا بلسان قومه ليبين لهم فيضل الله من يشاء الاية وقال الله تعالى لمحمد صلى الله عليه وسلم وما ارسلناك الا كافة للناس فارسله الى الجن والانس (الدارمى)

672w. Abu Zarr al-Geffari reported : I asked : O Ms. of Allah ! how could you know that you are a prophet till you have become sure ? He said : O Abu Zarr ! two angles came to me while I was in a certain plain of Mecca. One of them came down to the earth and the other remained between heaven and earth. One of them said to his companion : Is he he ? 'Yes' said he. He said : Then measure him with a man. I was then weighed with him but I prevailed over him. Then he said : Weigh him with ten (persons). I was then weighed with ten but

عن ابى ذر الغفارى قال قلت يا رسول الله كيف علمت انك نبى حتى استيقنت فقال يا ابا ذر اتانى ملكان وانا ببعض بطحاء مكة فوقع احدهما الى الارض وكان الخر بين السماء والارض فقال احدهما لصاحبه اهو هو قال نعم قال فزنه برجل فوزنت به فوزنته ثم قال

2442c. The superiorty of Muhammad over angels is seen from these two verses of the Quran. One verse has forgiven Muhammad of his sins if any and not other prophets. His superiority over all the prophets consists in the fact that while all the prophets were sent for their own peoples, Muhammad was sent as a World Prophet for the whole mankind irrespective of caste, creed, nationalities and lands.

I out-weighed them. Again he said : Weigh him with one hundred (persons). I was then weighed with them but I out-weighed them . Again he said : Weigh him with one thousand. I was then weighed with them but I out-weighed them. I am as it were looking at them slipping upon me owing to the lightness of the Balance. He said : Then one of them said to his companion : Had you weighed him with his followers, he would have out-weighed them.—Darimi.

2443. His descriptions and attributes.

(a) A pen portrait of the Prophet. The face of the Holy Prophet was bright like a full moon. Hazrat Abu Bakr depicted him in this couplet : As there is no darkness in the moonlit night, so is Mustafa, the well-wisher bright." His complexion was white, his hair was curly, neither too bushy, nor shaggy. When combed, it looked waivy and sometimes it reached his ears. He had a stout built and he was neither tall, nor small. His neck was neither long, nor short. He had a broad chest. His shoulders were broad and overgrown with thick hairs. His hands and arms were fleshy and stout. His palms were soft. He walked with a firm and steadfast step. He wore a thick beard and a cripped moustache. His teeth were a set of pearls, shining with whiteness. When he laughed, it was simply charming. He never broke out into loud laughter but always smiled. He had always a smiling countenance. His nose had a symmetrical lengthwise slope and his lips were beautiful. He had an open forehead and his eye brows were joined and he had large dark eyes with a tint of redness.

The Prophet had a bulky head and feet, broad palms, a broad face, buttocks with little flesh and his hairs reached the tip of his ears. He had a round seal of prophethood on the back of his two shoulders upon a raised up flesh. His perspiration fell in drops like pearls and emitted fragrance more than that of musk or ambergris. Omme-Solaim used to keep his perspiration drops in her perfume-box as they were very fragrant. In short, the narrators described that he was a most beautiful man who could not be compared with anyone, before or after him.

(2) His names. The Prophet had many names signifying his attributes. The Quran addressed him with many names. The great Imam Sayuti has devoted a complete chapter dealing with his names and the significance thereof. The jurist Tibi said that the Prophet had 22 significant names. In this way, different jurists gave descriptions of his different names. But the most famous name that gained wide currency is Muhammad, a name given by his grandfather Abdul Muttaleb in fulfilment of a wonderful dream. Before he was christened, the Jews and the Christian monks gave wide publication of the fact that the last Prophet would rise up very soon with the name of Muhammad. This name bears the same meaning with Ahmad. The Prophet is generally well-known by the following names :— (1) Muhammad (one praised); (2) Ahmad (one praised); (3) A'qeb (the last Prophet); (4) Hasher (one who collects virtues); (5) Qasem (one who divides); (6) Bashir (one bearing good news); (7) Nazir (warner); (8) Mahi (one who effaces darkness); (9) Rasulullah (Apostle of God); (10) Abul Qasem (father of Qasem); (11) Nabiyullah (Prophet of God); (12) Habibullah (friend of God); (13) Muzammel (one covered); (14) Mustafa (one chosen); (15) Mujtaba (one selected); (16) A'min (the trust-worthy); (17) Shafi (intercessor); (18) Mushaffa (one whose intercession is accepted); (19) Swadeq (one truthful); (20) Ummi (the illiterate); (21) Ya, sin, (22) Ha'am, Meem; (23) Twa, Ha; (24) Ta, Sin; (25) Khalifatullah (Viceroy of God); (26) Hujjatullah (proof of God); (27) Nurullah (the light of God).

26. Jubair-Mut'em reported: I heard the Holy Prophet say: I have got names. I am Muhammad, and I am Ahmad, and I am Mahi through whom Allah effaces infidelity, and I am Hasher who collects people upon my foot step, and I am A'qeb, and A'qeb is one after whom there will be no prophet.[2443a]

عَنْ جُبَيْرِ بْنِ مُطْعِمٍ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ النَّبِيَّ صلعم يَقُولُ إِنَّ لِي أَسْمَاءً أَنَا مُحَمَّدٌ وَأَنَا أَحْمَدُ وَأَنَا الْمَاحِي الَّذِي يَمْحُو اللَّهُ بِيَ الْكُفْرَ وَأَنَا الْحَاشِرُ الَّذِي يُحْشَرُ النَّاسُ عَلَى قَدَمِي وَأَنَا الْعَاقِبُ وَالْعَاقِبُ الَّذِي لَيْسَ بَعْدَهُ نَبِيٌّ (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

27. Abu Musa al-Ash'ari reported that the Apostle of Allah used to name himself for us with some names. He said: I am Muhammad, Ahmad, Muqaffi,[2443b] Hasher, and the Prophet of repentance and the Prophet of Mercy. —Muslim.

عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى الْأَشْعَرِيِّ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صلعم يُسَمِّي لَنَا نَفْسَهُ أَسْمَاءً فَقَالَ أَنَا مُحَمَّدٌ وَأَحْمَدُ وَالْمُقَفَّى وَالْحَاشِرُ وَنَبِيُّ التَّوْبَةِ وَنَبِيُّ الرَّحْمَةِ (مُسْلِمٌ)

28. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Do you not wonder how Allah repels the abuse of the Quraish from me, and their curse? They abuse one disgraced and curse one vile, while I am one Praised. —Bukhari.

عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صلعم أَلَا تَعْجَبُونَ كَيْفَ يَصْرِفُ اللَّهُ عَنِّي شَتْمَ قُرَيْشٍ وَلَعْنَهُمْ يَشْتِمُونَ مُذَمَّمًا وَيَلْعَنُونَ مُذَمَّمًا وَأَنَا مُحَمَّدٌ (الْبُخَارِيُّ)

29. Jaber b-Samorah reported that the front of the head of the Apostle of Allah and his beard became hoary[2443c], and

عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ سَمُرَةَ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صلعم قَدْ شَمِطَ مُقَدَّمُ رَأْسِهِ وَلِحْيَتِهِ وَكَانَ

2443a. Muhammad and Ahmad come from the root 'Hamd' meaning to praise. They mean 'one praised.' Mahi means one who effaces.

2443b. Muqaffi means one who comes last of all. He was so named as he came last of all the Prophets.

2443c. Prophet had no more than 20 grey hairs in all before his death.

when he used to apply oil, it could not be seen, and when his head remained dishevelled, it could be seen. He had thick hairs of beard. A man said : His face was (bright) like a sword. He said : Nay, it was like the sun and the moon. It was round. I saw the seal [2443e] near his shoulder like the egg of a dove which resembled his body.

—Muslim.

30. Abdullah-b-Sarjas reported : I saw the Holy Prophet and I took bread and meat with him (or he said : Sarid), and then I roamed behind him and looked at the seal of prophethood between his shoulders, near the soft bone of his left shoulder there was a flesh over which there was a mole like warts.

—Muslim.

31. Omme Khalid reported that some clothes wherein there was a small black blanket were brought to the Prophet. He said : Bring Omme Khalid, and so she was brought being carried. He took the blanket with his hand and dressed her with it. He said : Get it worn out and old, then get it worn out and old. There was green border therein or yellow. He said : O

2443e. This was the seal of Prophethood on the back between the two shoulders of the Prophet. The inscription was according to some narrators "Muhammad, the Apostle of Allah," in a round seal like an egg. It was a natural seal on the Prophet's body impressed an a piece of flesh which was rather marked in heightness from the rest of the body. Some say that the inscription was "He is one, there's no partner for Him. Turn (to Him) wherever you are, and certainly you are one helped."

Omme Khalid ! this is its sana (and it means beauty according to the Abyssinian tongue). She said : Then I was going to play with the seal of prophethood when my father threatened me. The Apostle of Allah said : Leave her. —Bukhari

2448. On account of the curse of the previous prophets upon their people, their followers received some sort of punishment even during their life-time. The Holy Prophet, inspite of bitter persecutions towards him and his followers, never slipped a word of curse from his mouth, and consequently the people of the world, Muslims and non-Muslims, were not destroyed during his time, nor will meet with any great calamity till the Doomsday.

2449. This proves that prayer was the foremost duty of the Holy Prophet. Whenever he heard Azan, he stopped instantly all work to prostrate before the Lord.

60. Same reported: The Apostle of Allah never assaulted anything, neither a woman, nor a servant, with his own hand except by fighting in the way of Allah. Nothing was ever taken from him for which he took revenge from the owner except for something which went to destroy the sacred things of Al'ah.[2451] Then only he used to take revenge for Allah. —Muslim.

Whenever a revelation came to him, he used to send for me and I used to write for him. Whenever we talked about the world, he used to talk about it with us; and whenever we talked about the next world, he used to talk about it with us; and whenever we talked of food, he used to talk of it with us. Everything of this I inform you about the Apostle of Allah.[2453] —Tirmizi.

65. Anas reported that whenever the Prophet hand-shook with a man, he used not to take away his hand from his hand till the latter took away his hand, nor did he turn away his face from his face till the latter turned away his face from his face. He was not seen putting his legs forward in front of his friend. —Tirmizi.

2452. The life of the Prophet affords a striking example of plain living and high thinking. He attached no importance to power and worldly pursuits. No work was too low for him.

2456. His Prophethood and Revelation.

(a) Meaning of Revelation (وحي). Revelation (وحي), in its wider sense, means a communication from God, direct or indirect, by which He reveals His will and sends down laws. This includes inspiration called Ilham. In religious terminology, revelation was confined only to direct message from God through an angel to His Prophets that appeared from time to time from Adam down to the Prophet Muhammad.

(b) Objects to which revelation is sent. The Quran speaks of the word Wahi, as said above, in the widest sense. It says that wahi (revelation) is sent to earth, heaven, lower animals, angels, pious men and prophets. Speaking of the revelation to earth, heaven and lower animals, it says: On that day, she (earth) shall tell her news as your Lord had revealed to her—99 : 10Q. So He ordained them seven heavens in two days and revealed in every heaven its affairs—41 : 12Q. And your Lord revealed to the bee : Make hives in the mountains and in the trees and in what they build :—16 : 68Q. As regards Wahi to angels, the Quran says : When your Lord revealed to the angels : I am with you, therefore make those firm who believe—8 : 12Q. Regarding Wahi to saints and pious men, the Quran says : And We revealed to Moses' mother saying : Give him suck—28 : 7Q. When I revealed to the disciples (of Jesus) : Believe in Me and My apostle—5 : 111Q. The word Wahi occurs in many places in cases of prophets. It appears, therefore, that the word Wahi has been widely used in the Quran.

(c) Kinds of Wahi. The very Quran itself divides Wahi to mankind in three classes in order of merit. It declares : It is not for any mortal that Allah should speak to him except by Wahi, or from behind a veil, or by sending a messenger and revealing by His permission what He pleases – 42 : 51Q. From the above verse, we learn that there are only three modes of communicating the Divine will to mankind. Firstly, He speaks by Wahi ; secondly, He speaks from behind a veil ; thirdly, He speaks by sending a messenger with His words. The third class is the highest and the most developed form of revelation, next is the second and then the third.

(1) First class Wahi. This is called وحی متلو i.e. revelation that is recited. This is also termed as نزول i.e. direct revelation from God. The Quran says about نزول : And if you are in doubt as to that which We revealed to Our servant, then produce a chapter like it—2 : 23Q. It is only granted to prophets which are limited in number, say 1,24000 to 200,000. Divine Messages with the very words and sentences were sent through the Archangel Gabriel to the Prophets in their wakeful state. It is the clearest, surest and the most distinct. The Quran, the Bible, the Torah and other religious books of every country are revelations of this description. The books of the reformers cannot be classed with the former books, and the reformers themselves cannot be raised up to the rank of prophethood. The prophets only receive the first class Wahi and the Quran therefore makes the prophets one distinct class above the average run of mankind. It says : Surely this—your community—is one community and I am your Lord – 21 : 22Q. It makes it clearer in another verse : He does not reveal His secrets to any except to him whom He chooses as a prophet—

72 : 26Q. Everybody has been commanded to obey them. Therefore follow their guidance—6 : 87Q. Such kind of revelation has been closed with the demise of the last Prophet Muhammad. The Prophets were blessed also with the second and third class revelations.

(2) Second class revelation. It is a revelation next to the first class in point of distinctness. It is revealed from behind a veil. In other words, unseen voice is heard in a wakeful state, or some dream is dreamt in sleep or in semi-conscious state i.e. neither in wakeful state, nor in sleep. Revelations are also made by signs and gestures. The Prophet saw correct dreams before he received the first class revelation through the Archangel Gabriel. Such kind of revelation is not closed and is extended to pious persons, not necessarily the prophets. The Prophet said : There is nothing remaining of prophethood except good news. They (companions) enquired. And what are good news? He said : Correct dream (9 : 89). The good dream is one portion out of 46 portions of prophethood – (9 : 90). Therefore such kind of revelation is less nearly by 46 times in distinctness and clarity than the first class revelation. The reformers next to the Prophets were blessed with this kind of revelation. The Holy Prophet said : Verily the Almighty and Glorious Allah will send for this people at the head of every century one who will revive their religion for them—1 : 92. But for that account they cannot be placed in the same rank with the Prophets. Under this class generally fall Hadis Qudsi i.e. traditions in which Allah spoke to the Prophet. Such traditions can be suitably placed between first class and second class regarding precision and clarity.

(3) Third class revelation. This is the lowest kind of revelation popularly called Ilham (الهام) meaning inspiration or Ruh (روح) meaning Spirit. It is not expressed in words from outside but it is an inner revelation or sudden passing of ideas in mind which explains the whole subject and gives solution. This occurs in pious persons in wakeful state. The general kind of traditions fall under this category. The Quran says : And he does not speak vain things. It is nought but inspiration which is inspired (53 : 3Q). This Ilham (inspiration) in not closed as the verse (42 : 51Q) indicates. The Quran says : These are they into whose hearts He has imprinted faith and whom He has strengthened with Ruh (spirit) from Him—58 : 22Q. The first class is revelation with words and the second and third classes in indistinct words and illumined ideas. Therefore we see a wide gulf of difference in the languages of the Quran and Hadis.

(d) Necessity of Revelation. What is the necessity of revelation ? In other words, what is the necessity of disclosing some divine secrets and unknown things to men ? Man has been given very little of wisdom (17 : 58Q). He knows not many secrets of this world, his own past and future and his conditions after death. Only his Creator knows the sectrets of creation and the ultimate goal of creation of man and other animals. He can guide himself without revelation so far as his knowledge extends regardless of his ultimate success either in this world or in the next. In the fitness of things therefore divine guidance with a look to his ultimate object is necessary. That is done through revelation. Is it not a fact that we daily see the sun, moon and innumerable stars which are still mysteries of creation ? Have we not been created from nothing into something, and shall we not vanish again from something into nothing ? Hence revelation with information of a life after death and its incidents is necessary. It commands a belief in such unseen things as existence of God, a future world for accountability of our actions in this world, the existence of angels, etc. To this effect the Quran says reminding mankind of His guidance by revelation : Then Adam received some words from his Lord, and so He returned to Him..... Go forth all from this ; then surely there will come to you a guidance from Me ; then whoso follows My guidance, no fear shall come upon them, nor shall they grieve.—2 : 37Q.

(e) The Prophet's first experience of revelation. The Holy Prophet received the first class revelation which came down for the very first time through the Archangel Gabriel in the cave Hira, now known as the mountain of Light, 3 miles to the north-east of Mecca in the month of Ramzan on Monday[1] in the year 13 B. H. (July or August 610 A. D.). Before that, he saw prophetic dreams and heard unseen voices and calls. Before he received the first revelation, he took himself in complete seclusion to the Mount of Light and there applied himself in ardent divine service which consisted only of deep medidations. When the first chapter was revealed, the Prophet was greatly over-awed at the sight of the angel and came running to his beloved wife Khadija who consoled the Prophet, believed in his prophethood as the first Muslima and took him to her uncle Waraqa who was versed in Biblical literature. On his assurance to Khadija that her husband was the would-be world prophet, she came back with him.

It appears from the traditions that the Archangel Gabriel came to the Prophet with divine words sometimes in the form of a man. The words sometimes came like the ringing of bells which signifies that before the Prophet was made fit to receive divine message, he was taken away from the turmoils of this world. In the period of time in which he received revelations, perspiration profusely came out of him signifying a great physical and mental exhaustion.

73. Ibn Abbas reported that the Prophet reached prophethood at the fortieth year; he stayed thirteen years at Mecca (wherein) revelation came to him. Thereafter he was ordered to emigrate and so he was in migration for ten years and died while he was a man of sixty-three years.[2457] —Agreed.

74. Same reported that the Apostle of Allah stayed fifteen years at Mecca, listening to the voice (of Gabriel) and seeing light for seven years; and he did not hear anything for eight years he got revelation; he stayed at Medina for ten years; he died while he was a man of 65 years.[2458] —Agreed.

2457. This is the more authentic tradition on the subject This is supported by historical facts.

2458. The Holy Prophet stayed at Mecca for 10 years after his prophethood. It appears from this tradition that he stayed there for 15 years. Hence it is true that the Prophet heard unseen voice even before his prophethood and saw Gabriel also in the form of light. It is wrong to say that he died at the age when he was 65 years old. This is historically incorrect.

75. Anas reported : Allah took his breath at the head of 60th year.[2458a] —Agreed.

77. Ayesha reported : The first revelation which began to be revealed to the Apostle of Allah was correct dream in sleep. He did not see a dream but it came like the morning dawn. Thereafter loneliness became dear to him and he used to seclude himself to the cave of Hira[2459] and engaged therein in deep devotion (and it is divine service) for many nights before he went to his house and provided himself with food therefor. Then he would return to Khadija and take provision for the like of them (nights) until the truth came unto him while he was in the cave of Hira. The angel appeared before him and said "Read." He said :

عن عائشة قالت اول ما بدئ به رسول الله صلعم من الوحي الرؤيا الصادقة في النوم فكان لا يرى رويا الا جاءت مثل فلق الصبح ثم حبب اليه الخلاء وكان يخلو بغار حراء فيتحنث فيه وهو التعبد الليالي ذوات العدد قبل ان ينزع الى اهله ويتزود لذلك ثم يرجع الى خديجة فتزود لمثلها حتى جاءه الحق وهو في غار حراء فجاءه الملك فقال اقرء فقال ما

2458a. This is also historically incorrect. He died at the 63rd year of his life.

2458b. There are differences of opinions regarding the age of these holy persons. On page 53 (Vol I), Abu Bakr was shown to have lived for 60 years. This was also the age of Omar. Osman lived for 68 or 70 years.

2459. The first prophetic dream occurred 6 months before Gabriel's appearance at Hira, a hill about three miles to the north-east of Mecca, known now-a-days as Jabal Nur.

I cannot read.[2459a] He narrated: Then he took me and pressed me hard till there came great exhaustion on me; thereafter he let me off and said: Read. I replied: I cannot read. Then he took me and pressed me hard for the second time until there appeared a great exhaustion on me; thereafter he let me off. He said: Read. I said: I cannot read. Then he took me and pressed me a third time till there appeared a great exhaustion on me; thereafter he let me off. He said: Read in the name of your Lord Who created, created man from a clot. Read and your Lord is the Most Generous, Who taught with the pen, taught man what he knew not (56 : 1Q). Then the Prophet returned therewith, his heart was trembling and he went to Khadijah and said: Wrap me up, wrap me up. Then they wrapped him up until the dread went away from him. Then he told Khadija and gave her the information: I have indeed feared for my life. Khadija said: Never, by Allah, never will Allah humiliate you. Certainly you observe the tie of kinship, and speak the truth. and bear the burden (of others),

She said to him : O son of uncle ! hear from the son of your brother. Waraqa asked him : O my brother's son [2459b] What have you seen ? Thereupon the Apostle of Allah gave him information of what he had seen. Waraqa said to him : That is the Archangel whom God sent down to Moses. Woe to me ! would that I were therein a youth ! Woe to me ! would that I were alive when your own people would drive you out ! The Apostle of Allah said : Are they to drive me out ? 'Yes' replied he, 'never came a man with the like of what you have brought but was persecuted. If your day can overtake me, I shall help you with a great help.' Thereafter Waraqa did not live long. And revelation broke off [2459c] Agreed upon it. Bukhari added : Until the Prophet felt grief about what has reached us, such a grief that he went out several mornings in that mood, so that he might destroy himself from the heads of the hills. 2459b Waraqa was not Prophet's uncle in reality but the address was according to Arab custom This Waraqa died before the Prophet began to preach Islam in public. He was vastly learned in Gospel and was old and blind.

78. Jaber reported that he heard the Apostle of Allah conversing about the cessation of revelation. He said : (Once) while I was walking, I heard a voice from heaven and I raised up my look, when lo ! the angel who appeared before me at Hira was seated on a throne between heaven and earth. I was then frozen with fear at his sight till I looked down towards the earth. I returned to my wife and said : Wrap me up, wrap me up. So they wrapped me up. Then the Almighty Allah revealed : O thou wrapped in a cloak ! Arise and warn ; glorify thy Lord, And purify thy cloak, and uncleanliness do shun (74 : 1 Q). Afterwards revelation became intensive and in rapid succession.

2450d. In the period of cessation of revelation, the Holy Prophet was overwhelmed with deep regret owing to the stop of revelation. He wished sometimes that he would destroy himself rather than suffer the pangs of the absence of Divine Communion. It appears from this tradition that Gabriel appeared sometimes to the Prophet and consoled him in the period of cessation but he did not take revelation with him at those times.

Apostle of Allah and said : O Apostle of Allah ! how does revelation come to you ? The Apostle of Allah said : Sometimes it comes to me like the ringing of a bell and that is the most troublesome to me ; then it leaves me, and indeed I remember what is said ; and sometimes the angel assumes the form of a man for me and talks with me and I retain in memory what he says. Ayesha reported : And indeed I saw him while the revelation descended upon him on an intensely cold day ; then it left him while his brow steamed with sweat.

He said : Inform me that if I give thee the information that a cavalry will come out from the back of this mountain (and in a narration : if a cavalry will come out from the valley) intending to attack thee,—would you all believe me ? 'Yes', they all replied, 'we have not found thee but a truthful man.' He said : Then surely I am a warner to thee on the eve of a severe chastisement. Abu Lahab said : Fie on thee ! for this you have called us together ! Then came down the revelation : May destruction overtake both the hands of Abu Lahab and may he perish (111:1Q).

When the Apostle of Allah finished the prayer, he said thrice "O Allah! unto thee I leave the Quraish. The Apostle of Allah then said: Curse has followed the inmates of the pit.

He called me and said: Certainly Allah has heard the saying of thy people and what they returned to thee, and so He has sent unto thee the angel of mountains that thou shouldst bid him what thou wisheth about them. He said: Then the angel of mountains called me and greeted me and thereafter he said: O Muhammad! verily Allah has heard the saying of thy people, and I am the angel of mountains. Thy Lord has sent me to thee that thou shouldst bid me with thy command that I may turn the mountain sides upon them provided thou willeth. SECTION 5

2461. Signs of his prophethood.

Some of the signs of the prophethood of Muhammad (P. H.) are the following. (1) The round seal of prophethood imprinted by nature on a raised piece of flesh in the place between his two shoulders. This is historically true and was witnessed by most of his companions. (2) The second sign of his prophethood is that when Muhammad (P.H.) was a boy of six years old under the care of Halima, he was once taken away by some angels from among some playing boys and his chest was split up in order that his heart might be taken out for purging off some impure tendencies. His heart was again placed in its proper place and the chest was sewn. Had he not been a prophet, an unnatural thing beyond the range of human comprehension would not have occurred. The Prophet was commissioned as a World Prophet and therefore he was made fit from his earliest years to receive the greatest responsibility of his office. Man is prone to disbelieve what surpasses his imagination but he should think that God can do everything what He likes andis powerful over all things. (3) The third sign of his prophethood is that he, being unlettered and unschooled and living among the most brute and uncivilized people, could not have given us a book, namely the Quran which, from its purity of diction, elegant style, flowing rhetoric, sublime thoughts and grandeur of expressions, is unparalled in the history of literature. His own language and style and those of the Quran are widely different. Had the two · Hadis and Quran-came from the same source, they would have resembled at least in many respects The fact is however otherwise. This conclusively proves that Muhammad was a true prophet and the Quran was revealed to him. The Quran is therefore the greatest sign of his prophethood and his greatest living miracle. Bosworth Smith says: It was one miracle claimed by Muhammad—his 'standing miracle' he called it, and miracle indeed it is (Life of Muhammad, P. 270). (4) Fourthly, the Prophet was an ideal for everyman of any profession and he had an ideal character and conduct not attained by any previous prophet. Is it not then a sign that he was chosen to be a prophet for guidance of the fallen humanity ? Can an illiterate man have so rich legacies of thoughts, ideas and sayings which captured the imagination of the whole medieval world and which are now accepted as the best solutions of the complex world problems. (5) Sixthly, his wars with a small band of devoted followers with huge well-trained armies and his victories in all of them prove that God was with him and that he was the chosen one of God Himself. (7) His prophecies [1] of his ultimate triumph during his time, his prophecies of the events up to the Resurrection Day and the literal fulfilment of some of them show that he was no less than a prophet of God. (8) His miracles, though few, are standing monuments of his exalted office of prophethood. The spliting up of his chest when he was a boy of six years under the fosterage of

1. The Prophet said that the Muslims would conquer the Roman and Persian empires within few years after him 31 : 38. This proved true at the time of the Caliph Omar. Another prophecy is that idols shall never be worshipped in Arabia after Islam. This is also found true. He said that there would be complete peace in Arabia. This was also proved true. He said : Khilafat will last for 30 years and then there will be kingdom – 39 : 16. It appears from historical facts that the prophecy was fulfilled. He said : There will soon arise among my followers nearly 30 false prophets – 39 : 32. It is well-known how Musailamah and others claimed prophethood. He said : TheMuslims will conquer Jerusalem – 39 : 41. Jerusalem was conquered afterwards by Hazrat Omar. See note 79 and Chapter 39 for some more prophecies.

Halima, his dividing of the moon into two portions at the request of the Meccan people, the greeting by even stones and trees of the Prophet by Sala'am, the shadowing of clouds over the head of the Prophet in the course of his journey and many such wonderful works show beyond doubt that Muhammad was really the Prophet of Allah.

87. Anas reported that Gabriel appeared before the Apostle of Allah while he was playing with boys. He took him, laid him down, pierced his heart and took out a clot of blood. Then he said : This is the portion of the devil in thee. Next he washed it with Zemzem water [2462] with a cup of gold. Thereafter he joined him and took him back to his place. The boys came running to his mother, that is to his foster mother, and said : Verily Muhammad has been killed. So they approached him while he was quite of a changed colour. Anas said : I saw the sign of sewing in his chest.

2462. It appears from this that there is a great blessing in the water of the Zemzem well near the Holy Ka'ba. The well originated with the striking of feet by the just-born chi'd Ishmail, son of the Patriarch Abraham. This tradition is the basis of the story of cleansing the heart of the Prophet by split. It is said that such cleansing took place on four occasions, at the time when the Prophet was a mere child under the care of Halima, at the time when he was 10 years old, thirdly before his prophethood and fourthly at the time when he went to heaven. It is not correctly known how far it is historically correct.

He said: By Lat and Uzza, if I see him doing that, I will place my leg upon his neck. Then he came to the Apostle of Allah while he was praying thinking that he would place his leg upon his neck. He did not frighten them except that he returned to his loins and guarded himself by his hands [2463]. He was asked: What is the Thereafter another came and complained to him of the stoppage of a pathway. He asked: O Adi! hast thou seen Hira? If the life be long with thee, thou wilt certainly see a caravan starting from Hira till they will circumbulate the Ka'ba without fearing anybody except Allah. If the life be long with thee, the treasures of the Chosroes will soon be brought by conquest; and if the life be long with thee, thou wilt certainly see a man coming out with his hand full of gold or silver, searching for one who will be entitled to receive it but he will not find anybody fit to receive therefrom; [2463a] and one of you will certainly see Allah on the day He will meet him while there will be no interpretor to interpret between Him and him. Thereafter she sat lousing his head. The Apostle of Allah fell asleep and there after awoke with smile. She said: I asked: What makes you smile, O Prophet of Allah? Thereafter he placed his head and fell asleep but after a while he awoke with a smile. I asked : O Apostle of Allah ! what makes thee smile ? I said : O Apostle of Allah ! invoke Allah that He may make me one of them. He said : Thou art among the former two. Then Omme Haram got on board the sea during the rule of Muwayiah and fell down from her riding animal when she came out of the sea and thus died. —Agreed.

95. Ibn Abbas reported that Zemad came to Mecca, and he was of the Azd (clan) of Shanua tribe. He used to cure by charm (the disease) from the (effect of) wind.[2463d] He heard the fools out of the inhabitants of Mecca say that Muhammad was a mad man. So he said : Had I seen this man, perchance Allah would have cured him upon my hand. He said : Then he met him and said : O Muhammad !

verily I cure by charm from this wind. Have you got (the desease)? The Apostle of Allah said: All praise is due to Allah, we praise Him, and we seek assistance from Him; whomsoever Allah guides, there is none to misguide him: and whomsoever He misguides, there is none to guide him; and I bear witness that there is no deity but Allah, the One; there is no partner for Him; and I bear witness that Muhammad is His servant and His Apostle. As for what follows next.[2464e] He said: Repeat these words of yours to me. Then the Apostle of Allah reported them to him three times. Whereupon he said: Certainly I heard the saying of the sooth sayers and the saying of the sorcerers and the poems of the poets, but I have never heard the like of these words of yours. We have indeed reached the ocean of the sea.[2463f] Extend thy hand; that I may take allegiance to thee over Islam. He said: Then he took allegiance to him.—Muslim.

2464e. It was the practice of the Prophet to recite "As for what follows next" before he actually began his intended sermon but after the praise and glorification of Allah. In this case, the sermon was not recited as the man accepted Islam after he heard the beautiful words of divine hymns from the Prophet.

2463f. In some narration, there is the word ناموس instead of قاموس; but in the majority of cases, the latter was used. ناموس means law of God and قاموس ocean. We have indeed reached the ocean of the sea means that we have met a person who is the most eloquent and the most expert in rhetoric. In some narration, there occurs the بلغنا instead of بلغت

[2463h] It was Dehya al Kalbi who brought it to the chief of Bosra. The Chief of Bosra handed it over to Heraclius. Then Heraclius said : Is there anybody here from the tribe of this man who professes that he is a Prophet ? 'Yes' said they. Then I was called among a party of the Quraish. We went to Heraclius and were given seat in his presence. He asked : Who among you is by relationship nearest unto this man who professes that he is a prophet ? Abu Sufyan said : I said : I. Then they seated me in front of him and s ated my companions behind me. After that he called for his interpreter and said : Tell them that I am asking about this man who professes that he is a prophet. If he 2463h. Heraclius was the Emperor of Byzantians from 610 to 641 A. C. He regained the lost glory of the Byzantine Empire by fighting with the Persians, the hereditary foes of the Byzantines. Before this, the Persians conquered Anatolia, Egypt and Syria. In 622 A. C., Heraclius defeated the Persians and drove them out of Asia Minor. In 626 A. C., the Persian armies were completely defeated and Khusroe Parvez fled to his capital to be murdered by his own son in 628 A. H. In 628 A. H., Heraclius received the letter from the Prophet inviting him to Islam. It was in the year 7 A. H.

I said : Rather the helpless among them. He asked : Do they increase or decrease ? I said : Nay, rather they increase. He asked : And did any one among them turn apostate from his religion out of disgust for it after he embraced it ? I said · No. He asked : And did you fight with him ? I said : Yes. He asked : How was your battle with him ? I said : The battle between us and him was like a bucket which he could win from us and we could win from him. He asked : Did he break pledge ? I said : No While we are in this truce with him. We don t know what he will do therein. He said : By Allah, it is not possible for me to speak a word in which I would admit anything besides this (word).

He asked : Did anybody tell this word before him ? I said : No. Then he said to his interpreter : Tell him : I asked you about his lineage among you, and you replied that he is a man of good lineage among you. And so are the apostles who are sent amongst the nobility of their people. And I asked you : "Was there any king among his forefathers ?" You replied "No". I say : Had there been a king among his forefathers, I would have said that he is a man who seeks the kingdom of his forefathers. And I asked you about his followers, whether they are the weak among them or the nobles among them, and you replied that rather they are the weak among them. And they are the followers of the apostles. And I asked you : Did you impute falsehood to him before he said what he said. And you replied "No". I know that he would not have given up lying unto men and then gone and lied unto Allah. And I asked you : Did anybody among them turn apostate from his religion out of disgust for it after he accepted it ? You replied : No. And thus is the faith whenever its joy merges unto the hearts. And I asked you : Do they increase or decrease ? You replied that they increase. And thus is the faith

You replied that you fought with him and the battle occurred between you and him like a bucket which he took from you and you took from him. And thus the Apostles are tried; thereafter the result is for them. And I asked you: Does he break pledge? You replied that he does not break pledge. And thus are the apostles who do not break pledge. And I asked you: Did anybody say this word before him? You replied: No. I said (unto myself): If anybody had uttered this word before him, I would say that the man follows a saying said before him. Then he asked: What is it that he enjoins upon you? We replied: He enjoins upon us prayer, zakat, to respect blood-tie and to keep purity. He said: If it is a truth what you say, then he is certainly a prophet, and I knew it beforehand that he would appear [2463i] but I did not think that he would be amongst you. If I knew that I could be loyal to him, I would have liked to meet him, [2463j] and if I were near him, I

2465. His ascent to heaven (معراج)

In the 12th year of the Call in the month of Rabiul Awal (some say on the 27th Ramazan or 27th Rajab), the Holy Prophet's ascent to heaven, popularly known as Mi'raj came to pass. The popular version as witnessed in the traditions is that the Holy Prophet was lying one night within the enclosure of the Holy Ka'ba at Mecca when suddenly the Archangel Gabriel came with a steed called 'Buraq' running like lightning, had the Prophet mounted thereon and went to the mosque of Jerusalem. The Quran says with regard to this occurrence: Glory be to him who made His servant to go in a night from the Sacred Mosque to the remote mosque (of Jerusalem) of which We have blessed the precints, so that We may show him some of Our signs—17:1Q. From this verse coupled with traditions' the Prophet's night journey from the Holy Ka'ba to the mosque of Jerusalem has been firmly established. Thereafter the steed was kept outside and the Holy Prophet entered the mosque, and led a prayer of two rak'ats. Then he went to the first heaven with Gabriel. In this way, he crossed seven heavens after meeting all the great prophets who welcomed him with due honour. In the seventh heaven, he was taken by Gabriel up to the Lote-tree which is the farthest limit of men and angels. They can not go beyond that, nor their knowledge exceeds that limit. The Holy Prophet alone went a little further and spoke with God behind a veil and received revelations and secret knowledge which no mortal had attained before. The Quran refers to this meeting of his with God: He is in the highest part of the horizon. Then he drew near and drew nearer, and then he was the measure of two bows and closer still. And He revealed to His servant what He revealed. The heart was not untrue to what he saw. What! do you then dispute as to what he saw? And certainly he saw him (Gabriel) in another descent, at the farthest Lote-tree, near it is Paradise, the place to be resorted to. When that which covers covered the Lote-tree, the eye did not turn aside, nor did it exceed the limit. And cetainly he saw of the greatest signs of his Lord 53:1-18Q.[1] Thereafter the Prophet returned to what he came from in the same right after attaining highest spiritual perfection.

This night journey of the Prophet baffled the imagination of the people and hence the enemies of the Prophet did not at all pay any heed to his ascent. Some of the Quraish asked him to describe the mosque of Jerusalem and he was successful. The companions of the Prophet believed the Prophet in his story of ascen, but some of them differed with regard to its actual nature, whether it was physical or spiritual or whether it was in dream. Hazrats Ayesha and Muwayiah held that it was purely spiritual. In other words, soul was taken to see the signs of God. They were supported by the great saint Hasan al-Basri. The greater body of companions and their successors hold the doctrine of physical ascent. In other words, the Prophet went to heaven with the body. They gave stress on the word اسرى بعبده ليلا They said that the word عبد as distinguished from روح signifies physical ascent. There is another class which says that it was only an experience in dream.

These differences arose only because the knowledge and experience of man cannot comprehend an incomprehensible thing. Wherever such inconceivable things, such as Predestination, Paradise and Hell etc, have been described, difference found congenial room. The best thing is to leave to God what is beyond comprehension and believe in the words of the Holy Prophet. Let not any controversy misguide us. Then coming to the true nature of the descent, we confess that we are not in a better position to give a true slight in an unseen thing. Has not God power enough to lift up a human body to heaven? Indeed he had shewn it by taking Jesus to heaven. Can He not again take out the soul from a body and take it to Him?[2] Or can He not take both the body and soul together to heaven? To deny is to limit God's power. To acknowledge one way or the other is to acknowledge limit of one's own knowledge. Dream is a common experience of every human being. It often sees vague and indefinite things. In awakeful state, things are however seen more clearly and comprehensively than in dream. A child in the womb can only feel outside heat and cold but they become more vivid and clear when he is ushered into this world of light. The Holy Prophet therefore saw things clearly and definitely in his ascent as it appears from the Quranic verse 17 : 1. Indeed he got revelation in heaven which canot possibly be the act of dream only. Revelation is not dream but an actual fact received in wakeful state. Hence the Prophet's ascent took place in wakeful state. Regarding the bodily and spiritul ascents, God has got power over everything but none can say as to the actual nature of ascent in absence of any definite statement by the Prophet.

97. Qatadah from Anas-b Malek, from Malek-b-Sa'sa'ah, reported that the Holy Prophet had communicated to them about the night wherein he was taken to heaven. He said : While I lay in the Hatim [2465a] (and often he said : in Hajar), lo ! someone came to me and split open what is between this and this, that is, from the uppermost part of his breast to below his navel. Then he took out my heart. Thereafter a cup of gold full of faith was brought to me and my heart was washed and filled up (with faith) and then it was kept as before. (And in a narration : Then the belly was washed with Zemzem water and filled up with faith and wisdom.) Thereafter a white animal smaller than a mule and bigger

It was questioned to him ; What makes you weep ? He replied : I weep because there has been sent after me a young man whose followers will enter Paradise in greater numbers than those who will enter it out of my followers.

I took milk and so he said: It is a natural disposition [2466d] upon which you and your followers stand upon. Afterwards prayer was made obligatory—fifty prayers every day. Then I returned and passed by Moses who asked: With what have you been commanded? I said: I have been 2466a. The Quran says about this tree: And certainly He sent him in another descent, at the farthest Lote tree, near which is Paradise to be resorted to. When that covers covered the Lote-tree, the eye did not turn aside, nor did it exceed the limit -53-1 to 17Q. This tree has got shade which extends far and wide. Beyond this tree, no creature can go and has got any knowledge of what is beyond. This proves that man has got limited knowledge and that there are things for beyond his knowledge.

2465b. The two rivers, the Nile and the Euphrates, indicate that as these are the rivers of paradise, the lands covered by these rivers and the lands surrounding them will be under the sway of the Muslims and the religion of Islam for all time to come. The two hidden rivers have not been extended to the world.

2466c. The Quran has got a reference of this Much-Frequented House in heaven in 52 : 4Q. The Holy Ka'ba at Mecca is the direct prototype of this heavenly house. The Ka'ba was always visited by all nations and countries in all ages and there is the constant remembrance of God in the sacred enclosure.

2466d. Milk has been spoken of as a natural disposition as milk nourishes the body of a child just when it is born. This is a symbolical expression for natural inclination to recognise only one God for worship. The Quran says: The nature on which Allah created men (3 : 82Q.)

By Allah, I have tested the people before you and tried to reform the children of Israil with utmost trial. Return to your Lord and beg of Him to lighten (the burden of) your followers. Then I returned and He (God) granted me a remission of ten prayers. Then I returned to Moses, but he said as before. I came back and He granted me remission of ten prayers. Then I returned to Moses and he said as before. I went again and He granted me a remission of ten prayers Then I returned to Moses and he said as before. Then I returned and He put off ten from me. Then I was commanded with ten prayers every day. Then I returned to Moses and he said as before. I went again and I was commanded with five prayers every day. I came back to Moses and he asked : With what have you been commanded ? I said : I have been commanded with five prayers every day. He said : Verily your followers will not be able to pray five times every day, and verily I have tested the people before you and have tried to reform the children of Israil an utmost trial. So return to your Lord and beg of Him to lighten (the burden of) your followers. He said : I begged of my Lord until I became

I tied it up with the string wherewith the prophets used to tie up.[2467] He said: Then I entered the mosque, prayed two rak'ats therein and afterwards I came out. Gabriel came to me with a vessel of wine and a vessel of milk. I chose milk. Gabriel then said: You have chosen the natural thing. Thereafter he ascended with us to heaven and narrated a similar thing (as in the previous tradition). He said: when I was by the side of Adam, he gave me a welcome and invoked for my blessing. And he said about the third heaven: When I was by the side of Joseph, (lo! he was given half of the beauty), he gave me a welcome and invoked blessing on me, And he did not

He said: Go back to your Lord and beg of him remission because your followers will not be able to do that. Indeed I tested the children of Israil and conveyed message to them. He said: Then I returned to my Lord and said: O Lord! lighten (the burden) of my followers and take off from me the five prayers from me. Then I returned to Moses and said : Take off five prayers from me. He said : Verily your followers will not be able to do that. So return to your Lord and beg of him remission. He said : I continued to come back to my Lord and Moses, until He said : O Muhammad ! these are certainly five prayers every day and night ; for every prayer, there are ten, and that will amount to 50 prayers. Whoso inclines towards good but does not do it, one merit is recorded for him. If he does it, ten merits are recorded for him ; and whoso inclines towards evil and does not do it, nothing is recorded against him. If he does it, one evil is recorded against him. He said : Then he came down till I came to Moses and informed him. He said : Return to your Lord and beg of Him to lighten (the burden). Then the Messenger of Allah said : I said ; I returned to My Lord, until I felt ashamed before Him.

of gold full of wisdom and faith. He poured it in my chest and sealed it. After that, he took me by the hand and ascended with me to heaven. When I came to the nearest heaven, Gabriel said to the guard of heaven : Open. He asked : Who is he ? Gabriel spoke. He asked : Is there anybody with you ? He said : Yes, with me is Muhammad (peace be upon him). He asked : Has he got revelation ? 'Yes' said he. Then he opened, we got up to the nearest heaven, lo ! there was a man seated with numerous parties by his right side and numerous parties by his left side. When he looks to his right side, he laughs ; and when he looks to his left side, he weeps. He said : Welcome to the righteous Prophet and the righteous servant. I asked Gabriel : Who is he ? He said : He is Adam, and those that are by his right side and his left are the souls of his descendants. Those of them that are by the right side are the inmates of Paradise, and the numerous parties by his left side are the inmates of the fire. So when he looks to his right side, he laughs ; and when looks to his left, he weeps.—Until he ascended with me to the second heaven and asked its guard : Open. Its guard told him like what he had

Then I returned to Moses. He said : Return to your Lord. I said : I am ashamed of My Lord. Thereafter he waded on with me, until he came with me to the farthest Lote-tree. Many colours cover it. I don't know what they are. Then I was admitted in Paradise, lo ! there were therein foundations of pearls, and lo ! its earth was of musk. —Agreed.

100. Abdullah reported : when the Apostle of Allah was taken up to heaven, he was taken to the farthest Lote-tree which is in the sixth heaven.[2467c] What is taken from the earth reaches up to it and then it is taken therefrom ;[2467d] and what is revealed from above comes up to it, and then it is taken therefrom. He said : When that which covers the Lote-tree covers it. He said : Bed of gold.[2467e] He said : Then the Apostle of Allah was given three things : he was

عن عبد الله قال لما اسرى برسول الله صلعم انتهى به الى سدرة المنتهى وهى فى السماء السادسة اليها ينتهى ما يعرج به من الارض فيقبض منها واليها ينتهى ما يهبط به من فوقها فيقبض منها قال اذا يغشى السدرة ما يغشى قال فراش من ذهب قال فاعطى رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم ثلثا اعطى

2457d. The actions and souls of men are taken by angels up to this farthest Lote-tree and they are taken by God therefrom. Similarly the orders and injunctions of God reach to that Lote-tree from where the angels take them down.

101. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: I saw myself in the enclosure (of the Ka'ba) while the Quraish were asking me about my ascent to heaven at night. They asked me about many things of the Sacred House (of Jerusalem) which I could not confirm. Then I felt so much distress as I had not felt before. Allah then took it up for me that I might have a look at it. They did not ask me anything of which I did not but inform them. Indeed I have seen myself in a company of the Prophets: Lo! there was Moses standing in prayer and he was a man of curly hair, as if he was of the people of Shanuah; lo! there was Jesus standing in prayer, Urwah-b-Mas'ud-as-Saqafi resembling him more than all the people; lo! there was Abraham standing in prayer; your companion, that is himself, resembling him more than all men. The prayer time came 2467f. It appears from this that the last verses of the chapter Cow were revealed at Mecca, though admittedly the chapter 'Cow' was revealed at Medina. The learned jurists hold, however, that the Prophet received the news of the revelation of the last verses of the Cow in heaven though he actually received them at Medina.

2468. His Miracles (المعجزة)

(a) What is miracle ? A miracle is a Mu'jezah which comes from the root عجز meaning to be unable, or to lack in strength for. Mu'jezah is therefore an act which is not within the ordinary comprehension of man and which cannot be scientifically proved in the ordinary way. In the Quran, it is generally termed by the word Ayat (آية sign). It can be done only by the prophets.

(b) Kinds of miracles. In the popular sense, miracles can be done by every man who is favoured by God by virtue of his pious deeds. Hence miracles gained different names according as they are done by diffirent kinds of persons.

2467g. This indicates that the Prophet is the greatest of all the prophets and his rank is greater than that of other prophets.

2467h. The Quraish disbelieved the Prophet in his narration of his ascent to heaven and asked him some descriptions of the mosque of Jerusalem to which he correctly replied.

(3) معونـة Maunat is a miracle done by the general public.
(4) استدراج Istidraj is a miracle done by the transgressors and the unbelievers. The miracles of Dajjal fall under this class.

(c) Miracle is not an impossibility. A miraculous or supernatural act is opposed to a natural and ordinary act. Hence the former cannot come within the clear comprehension of men. There arises therefore a natural disbelief in the minds of those persons who have not seen the performance of the miraculous acts and consequently the miraculous acts are tried by ordinary men to be explained away as nothing but ordinary acts of nature. Supernatural beings can possibly act supernatural acts but it surpasses our imagination how men can do supernatural acts and break the law of nature. It is an universal truth that nature goes on uniformly with its laws and it is not at all capricious. That the fire burns is a natural law. If any man is not burnt when he is thrown in it, it is a supernatural act or a miracle on the part of that man. This was what happened with the Patriarch Abraham when he was thrown unto the fire—21 : 69Q. A dead man cannot be brought back to life is a natural law. We find however that Jesus brought the dead to life—3 : 84Q. How can these acts take place in the hands of men? The Quran declares : The miracles are only with Allah—3 : 119Q It appears therefore that Allah shows miracles in supersession of the natural laws when He likes. The Prophet was instructed to say. Say : I do not say to you : I have with me the treasures of Allah, nor do I know the unseen, nor do I say to you that I am an angel. I do not follow aught save that which is revealed to me—6 : 50Q. In this verse the Holy Prophet did not claim any credit of producing miraculous act by himself but he depended on God on their occurrence. A miracle did not occur whenever a prophet or the people wanted it but when God willed it. Therefore it is God to whom credit is due for miraculous acts of men. Even the doers of miracles cannot explain them. God therefore showed miracles to warn the people. The Quran says : And nothing could prevent Us that We should send miracles except that the ancients rejected them..... And We do not send miracles but to make men fear—17 : 69Q. The miracle in a prophet's life is needed to assure the people to whom he is sent of the truth of his message and to convince the ordinary mind that some supernatural power is at his back. As God has got powers to produce miracles, He produces them through prophets and pious men. It cannot therefore be disbelieved that God cannot produce miracles through His chosen servants. In this way, the occurrence of miracles is a possibility. We see the occurrence of a miracle with our eyes. Eyes depend on external light for their sight. Hence things may appear to eye not in their actual garb. If sorcerers can show miraculous feats, can not the prophets do them at the bidding of Allah?

(d) Islam and miracle. In Islam, miracle has got a secondary value though they were not discarded by the Prophet altogether. Islam placed its force more on natural reasonings and arguments than on miracles. The reason is two-fold. Firstly, miracles are short-lived and leave no permanent influence. Those who see them are influenced by them but those who live at a remote age have got less faith in them. The argument and reasoning appeal to heart and leave permanent impression in the minds. The Holy Prophet resorted more to appeals to hearts than to the supernatural powers. Hence he worked miracles by his acts, by his reforming the most degraded people and by leaving for the posterity a book which is a miracle of all the miracles. It appears that Jesus had more miracles at his credit than Muhammad (Peace on them). Jesus raised the dead to life, spoke in the cradle, made birds, healed the sick and the leprous—3 : 48Q, while the Prophet did not do these things. Yet Muhammad converted the whole Arabia to his mission within a marvellously short time, while Jesus had about 500 followers during his ministry. Could not supernatural powers of Jesus gain in adherents of the major portion of the then people? It proves beyond doubt that miracles have got a secondary place in propagating a faith. It was by the sheer force of its own merits that Islam rapidly spread throughout the globe. The Quran says : And if they see every miracle, they will not believe in it—7 : 146Q. So miracle has got little value for keeping permanent impression of a faith upon mind.

(e) Miracles and Prophecy. The greatest thing in miracles is a prophecy i.e. a forecast of future events. This is not a political forecast but a forcast of future secrets derived from Divine Knowledge. Prophecy is greatest for the following reasons. It can be historically proved but a miracle cannot. Prophecy manifests God's fore-knoledge, while a miracle God's power. As knowledge i s greater than power, prophecy is greater than a miracle. A miracle acn be scientfically proved if deep research is made. Take for example, a dead man is raised to life. It may be that the man was in aswoon. Again sight is deceptive and depends on external light. Sight may be so changed as to see things not in their true nature. A prophecy can not be explained in such a way. For these reasons, prophecy is the greatest of the miracles. In this sense, Muhammad was the greatest of the prophets because he left rich legacies of prophecies some of which have proved true and some await fulfilment.

(f) Prophet's miracles and prophecies. The miracles and prophecies of the Holy Prophet have been elaborately discussed in the traditions in this section. On a careful study of these traditions, and by having great faith on their occurrence and truth, one is bound to admit that the Prophet was the great messenger of God and that there is no untruth in it. I may mention here some great Quranic miracles and prophecies.

(1) He split the moon one night unto two portions. The Quran says : The hour drew nigh and the moon was rent asunder. And if they see a miracle, they turn aside and say : A continual enchantment—54 : 1Q. This was unanimously accepted as true.

(2) He prophesied that the Romans would be victorious. The Quran says : The Romans are vanquished in a near land, and they, after being vanquished, shall be victorious within 3 to 9 years—30 : 1 to 4Q. The Romans were vanquished by the Persians in 615-16 A. D. and Damascus and Jerusalem were captured. In 624 A. D., the Romans pushed upto Media near the Persian capital and defeated the Persians. Thus a great prophecy was fulfilled,

(3) The Prophet was ordered to be arrested by the Chosroe but before he was arrested, the Chosroe was killed by his own son. This was fore-told to the man who came to arrest the Prophet.

(4) He said : The Roman empire will soon be conquered by you—23 : 70. Hazrat Omar conquered the Roman Empire.

(5) The cities will soon be conquered by you—23 : 51. It is historically true that the Muslims became master of the medieval world.

(6) The religion of Islam will prevail over all the religions—61 : 9Q. It is seen that Islam is rapidly developing throughout the world, and time will prove that it will devour all other religions.

(7) Soon the hosts be routed and they shall turn their backs—54 : 43Q. It was uttered just on the eve of the battle of Badr. It is true that the Muslims were victorious in the battle.

(8) Allah has promised to those of you who believe and do good that He will make them rulers in the earth—24 : 55Q. According to this prophecy, the righteous Muslims became masters of the world.

(9) See the innumerable prophecies in the 4th Book (in the beginning) and the fulfilment of some of them. See note 79 (p. 145, 1st. Book) for the prophecies about Muslims and note 1431 (2nd. Book).

103. Anas-b-Malek reported : Abu Bakr-b-Siddiq said : I looked to the feet of the polytheists above our heads while we were in the Cave. I said : O Apostle of Allah ! if any of them had looked down to his feet, he would have seen us ! He said : O Abu Bakr ! why is your anxiety ? 104. Bara' a-b-A'jeb reported from his father who said to Abu Bakr : O Abu Bakr ! narrate to me how you both did when you journeyed at night with the Apostle of Allah. He said : We journeyed throughout the night and the day following till the sun was in the meridian and the path was lonely without any passerby therein. A long stone which had got shade and which was not visited by sun's light was raised up for us and we landed down near it. I made a place even by my hand for the Prophet that he may sleep thereon and I spread a fur thereon and said : Sleep, O Apostle of Allah, and I am looking what is around you Then he fell asleep and I came out looking what was around him when lo ! I was by the side of a shepherd who was approaching. I asked : Is there any milk in your flock ? 'Yes' he said. I asked : Will you milk ? 'Yes' said he. Thon he took a goat and drew a little milk in a wooden cup. I had with me a water-skin which I took for the Prophet to store therein, to take drink and to make ablution. I came to the Prophet but I did not like to get him a wake. I waited till he awoke. I poured a little water into the milk till it became cool to the bottom. I said : Drink, O Messenger of Allah. So he drank till I became pleased. Thereafter he asked : Have you brought any conveyance ? 'Yes' said I. He said : Then we continued our yourney till the sun declined and Suraqa-b-Malek followed us. I said : O Apostle of Allah, we are overtaken ! He said : Be not aggrieved ; verily Allah is with us. Thereupon the Prophet invoked against him and then his horse sank unto hard ground upto its belly. He said : Verily I see you both invoking against me, so invoke for me and Allah is for you both to return the search from you. Then the Prophet prayed for him and so he was saved. He did not

105. Anas reported : Abdullah-b-Salam heard of the arrival of the Apostle of Allah while he was in a land, plucking fruits. He came to the Prophet and said : Verily I ask you about three things of which none but a prophet has got knowledge : What is the first of the signs of the Hour ? And what is the first food of the inmates of Paradise ? And what thing makes a child resemble its father or its mother ! He said : Gabriel communicated them to me just now. As for the first of the signs of the Hour, it will be a fire which will drive away the people from the east to the west ; and as for the first food which the inmates of Paradise will take, it will be the excess liver of a fish ; and when the semen of the man precedes the semen of the woman, he gives resemblance to the child and when the semen of the woman precedes, she gives resemblance. He said : I bear witness that there is no deity but Allah and that thou art the Apostle of Allah. They said : O Apostle of Allah ! Verily the jews are a notorious people ; if they know my acceptance of Islam before you ask them, they would put me to trouble. Then the Jews came and he asked : Who is Abdullah b-Salam among you ? They replied : He is the best of us and the son of the best of us ; he is our chief and the son of our chief. He said : Inform me that if Abdullah-b-Salam embraces Islam, (what will you do) ? They said : May Allah protect him therefrom. Abdullah then came out and said : I bear witness that there is no god but Allah and that Muhammad is the Apostle of Allah. They said : He is the worst of us and the son of the worst of us. They began to belittle him. He said : O Apostle of Allah ! this is what I feared. —Bukhari.

إن اليهود قوم بهت و إنهم إن يعلموا بإسلامي من قبل أن تسألهم يبهتوني فجاءت اليهود فقال أي رجل عبد الله بن سلام فيكم قالوا خيرنا وابن خيرنا وسيدنا وابن سيدنا قال أرأيتم إن أسلم عبد الله بن سلام قالوا أعاذه الله من ذلك فخرج عبد الله فقال أشهد أن لا إله إلا الله وأن محمدا رسول الله فقالوا شرنا وابن شرنا فانتقصوه قال هذا الذي كنت أخاف يارسول الله * (البخاري)

106. Same reported that the Apostle of Allah held a council at the time when the arrival of Abu Sufyan reached us. [2471] Sa'ad-b-Ubadah stood and said : O Apostle of Allah ! by

2471. Abu sufyan was the greatest foe of Islam. After the Migration, he was coming to Mecca from Syria with a caravan of merchandise. The Muslims sought permission of the Prophet to attack the caravan. This reached Abu Jahl who at once started towards Badr with a large army and joined Abu Sufyan. This reached the Prophet who started with only 313 companions and met the Quraish at Badr. As a result, the first battle in Islam took place in 2 A. H.

It is seen here that the Prophet held consultation with his companions in every important measure.

It is also significant how devoted were the followers to the Prophet in the thick and thin of his life. Bark Gemad is a place in Yemen.

It is historically seen that the prophecy of the Prophet was fulfilled as 70 enemies were destroyed at Badr in the very place pointed out by the Prophet.

والذي نفسي بيده لو امرتنا ان نخيضها البحر لاخضناها ولو امرتنا ان نضرب اكبادها الى برك الغماد لفعلنا فندب رسول الله صلعم الناس فانطلقوا حتى نزلوا بدرا فقال رسول الله صلعم هذا مصرع فلان ويضع يده على الارض ههنا وههنا قال فما ماط احدهم عن موضع يد رسول الله صلعم * (مسلم)

One in whose hand there is my life, if you order us to drive them (riding animals) unto the sea, we would do it; and if you order us to strike at the livers of the camels of Bark Gemad, we would do it. Thereupon the Apostle of Allah called together the people. They marched, until they landed at Badr. The Apostle of Allah said: "This is the place of destruction of so and so" and he placed his hand upon the ground (saying): Here, here. So none of them missed the place whereon the Prophet put his hand

107. Ibn Abbas reported that the Prophet prayed while he was in a tent on the Day of Badr: O Allah! I beseech Thee according to Thy covenant and Thy promise.[2472] O Allah! shouldst Thou wish, Thou shouldst be worshipped no more after this day. Then Abu Bakr took his hand and said: O Apostle of Allah! sufficient for thee is thy prayer to thy Lord. Then he came out dressed with a coat of mail and said: Soon shall the hosts be routed and they shall turn their backs. (51 : 45Q). —Bukhari.

108. Same reported that the Prophet said on the Day

109. Same reported : While a man from among the Muslims was running in the footsteps of one of the polytheists in front of him, lo ! he heard a lashing of whip above him and the sound of a horseman who was saying "O Haizum ! [2473] advance", when lo ! he looked to a polytheist falling down senseless in front of him. He looked to him when lo ! his nose was chopped off and his face was torn up like one beaten by a whip and the nose became green. Then the Ansari came and informed the Prophet He said : Thou hast spoken the truth. That was (an angel) from the sides of the third heaven. On that day they killed 70 and took 70 as prisoners. —Muslim

110. Sa'ad-b-Abi Waqqas reported : I saw two persons on the right and left sides of the Apostle of Allah on the Day of Uhud. On them were white robes. They were fighting the severest fight. I did not see them before or after. He meant Gabriel and Michael. —Agreed.

111. Bara'a reported : The Holy Prophet sent a party to Abu Rafe'. Abdullah-b-Atik entered his house at night while he was asleep and killed him. Abdullah-b-Atik said afterwards : I fixed my sword over his belly till it went out by his back. Then I could recognise that I had killed him. I began to open the doors until I came to a staircase. I put my feet and fell down in a moon-lit night. So my leg was fractured and I had it bandaged with a turban. Then I went to my companions and met the Prophet. I narrated to him and he said : Spread thy leg. So I spread my leg. Thereupon he passed his hand over it (and became cured) as if I did never complain of it before.

112. Jaber reported : We were digging earth on the Day of the Trench when a very hard stone was disclosed. They came to the Prophet and said : This is a hard stone that appeared in the ditch. He said : I shall come down. Thereafter he stood while his belly was tied up with a stone. We stayed three days without taking any food. The Prophet took up a hatchet and gave a stroke and it turned into heaps of sands. Then I went to my wife and said : Have you got anything ?

Indeed I have seen the Prophet extremely hungry. She took out a bag wherein there was one sa'a of wheat, and we had a black cock. I slaughtered it and she grinded wheat until we put the meat in a stone-pot and thereafter came to the Prophet and secretly informed him. I said: O Ms. of Allah! we slaughtered fowl and she grinded one sa'a of wheat. So come, thou and a party wilh thee. The Prophet cried aloud: O inmates of the Trench! verily Jaber has prepared a soup. So you are welcome soon to partake of it. The Apostle of Allah said: You must not take down your iron-pot and you must not prepare bread out of your dough-paste till I come. Then he came and I took out the dough paste. He spat therein and sought blessing. There after he came to our iron pot and spat and sought blessing. Then he said: Call one who prepares bread and let him prepare bread with you and fill up cups from your iron-pot but don't get it down. They were one thousand. I swear by God that they all ate till they left it and went away while our iron-pot was boiling as it did before, and while our bread was being prepared from our dough-paste as it was done before. —Agreed.

Then the Prophet placed his hand unto the jug and water began to gush forth between his fingures like springs. Thereupon we took drink and made ablution. Jaber was asked: How many were you? They took her to the Prophet and got her down from her camel. The Prophet called for a pot and poured therein from the mouth of the water-skins and proclaimed among the people : Take drink. So they sought water. He narrated : We —thirty thirsty persons—drank water till we were satiated. Then we filled up every skin and jar that were with us. In case of his death, Jafar was to command, and in case of Jafar's death, Abdul'ah-b-Rawwahah was to command In the battle-field all these commanders were killed one after another till Khalid-b-Walid took the command and got victory. Their deaths in the field of Muta near Syria were communicated by the Prophet to his companions on the very day they died. What a wonderful prophecy !

not go in haste and Abu Sufyan[2479] was holding the stirrup of the Apostle of Allah. The Apostle of Allah said : O Abbas ! call the companions of the Samorah tree.[2480] Abbas who was a man of loud voice said : I called out with my topmost voice : Where are the companions of the Samorah tree ? He said : By God, when they heard my cry, their love became like that of a cow for its calves. They cried : Present to thee, present to thee. They said : Then they fought with the infidels. The call to the Helpers was by the saying : O Assembly of the Helpers ! O assembly of the Helpers ! He narrated : Then the call was confined to the children of Hares-b-Khazraj. The Prophet was looking while riding upon his mule like one eagerly longing to kill them. He said : This was when the blood boiled in veins. Thereafter he took some pebbles and threw them at the faces of the infidels and then said : Be routed, by the Lord of Muhammad. By 2479 Abu Sufyan was here Mugirah-b-Hares-b-Abdul Muttaleb. He was cousin of the Prophet and was protecting him from attack of enemies. The Muslims were at first defeated in this battle but later on through the wonderful courage of the Prophet and His unbounded mercy, the Muslims became victorious. The Prophet gave previous news of victory at the time of discomfiture and then rushed towards the enemies.

2480 The companions of the Samorah tree mean those companions who were present at Hudaibiyah and who took allegiance under the Samorah tree. The Quran refers to this tree in verse 48 : 18Q.

Allah,it (defeat) was not due but to his throwing stones at them. I continued to see their edge (of swords) blunt and their affair of retreating.

123. Abu Ishaq reported that a man said to Bara'a : O Abu Omarah ! you have fled on the Day of Hunain ! He said : No, by Allah, the Apostle of Allah did not turn back but the young men of his companions came out while there were sufficient arms with them. They met a people [2480a] who were archers. Rarely an arrow missed from them. Thereupon they threw arrows at them which rarely missed (their mark). Then they approached the Apostle of Allah who was riding upon a white mule and Abu Sufyan-b-Hares was driving it. He got down and sought for victory and said : I am the Prophet ; there's no untruth, I am the descendant of Abdul Muttaleb. Thereafter he arranged them in ranks. Muslim narrated it and for Bukhari, there is its substance. And in a narration reported by both : Bara'a said : By God, when the fight became severe, we used to seek protection to him, and verily the brave man of us was he who shared with him, that is the Prophet (in fight).

2480a. The people were Hawazin tribe who were good archers.

124. Salamah b-Akwa'a reported: We were present in a fight with the Apostle of Allah at Hunain. The companions of the Apostle of Allah took heels. When they surrounded the Apostle of Allah, he got down from the mule and then caught hold of a handful of dust from the earth, threw it towards their faces and said: May the faces be disfigured! Allah did not create a man out of them but filled up his eyes with dust as a result of that handful and so they turned back. Thus Allah routed them, and the Apostle of Allah divided their booties among the Muslims. —Muslim.

The Prophet said to a man [2480c] from among those who were with him, who was claiming Islam: He is from the inmates of the fire. While he was upon that condition lo ! the man felt the pain of wounds, took his hand towards his throat, pierced an arrow and killed himself therewith. The Muslim people ran towards the Apostle of Allah and said : O Apostle of Allah ! Allah has proved your word true. So and so has pierced his throat and killed himself. Then the Messenger of Allah said : Allah is greatest ; I bear witness that I am the servant of Allah and His Messenger. O Bilal ! get up and proclaim : None but a believer shall enter Paradise, and verily Allah will certainly help this religion through a transgressing man.

126. Ayesha reported : The Apostle of Allah was enchanted, so much so that he conjectured that he did a thing while he did not do it, so much so that when he was one day near me, he supplicated Allah and supplicated Him. He asked: In what thing? He said: In a comb and combed hairs and the grape cover of a male person. He asked: Where is it? He said: In a well of Zamzan. The Prophet went with a party of his companions to the well and said. This is the well which was shown to me. The Jew Labeed-b-A'sam enchanted the Prophet in a comb and combed hairs with eleven knots which were covered with the bark of a tree That was thrown into a well. The Prophet discovered it from informations received in dreams and read the refuging verses which were then revealed. As a result, he became cured.

He said: Leave him, because he has got companions in comparison of whose prayer, the prayer of any of you is insignificant and of whose fast the fast of any of you. They will read the Quran which will not cross their throats. They will come ont against the best host. of men. Abu Sayeed said: I bear witness that I heard this tradition from the Apostle of Allah and I bear witness that Ali-b-Abi Taleb killed them while I was with him. 2484. Abu Hurairah narrated many traditions as he always kept company with the Prophet like a shadow. See page 55 (introduction, 1st vol) for further light.

2484a. The Refugees who migrated from Mecca were tradesmen carrying on business in markets, and the Helpers who received the Prophet at Medina were agriculturists. Thus they maintained themselves. Abu Hurairah was, on the other hand, neither an agriculturist, nor a tradesman. So he had every opportunity of clinging to the Prophet always and hearing traditions.

2485a. This man was at first a Christian and then a Muslim. Afterwards he returned to his old faith. When he died, he was buried but next morning he was found outside the grave. This continued serveral times. At last the people left him without any further burial. Thus the word of the Prophet proved true.

2486. His name was Refa'a-b-Darir, and the journey referred here was the journey from Tabuk. Some say that the Prophet was returning from the campaign with Banu Mustaliq and the man was Ra'fe.

2487. Osfan is only two stations off from Mecca.

nights. The people (hypocrites) said : We are here in no occupation, and our families are absent and we are not safe about them. This reached the Prophet who said : By One in whose hand there is my life, there is at Medina no lane or path but there are two angels thereon guarding it (Medina) till you return to it. Afterwards he said : March on. So we marched on and returned to Medina. By One with whom oath is taken, we have not as yet put down saddles at the time when we entered Medina when the children of Abdullah-b-Gatfan led a (sudden) attack upon us, and nothing stirred them up before that.[2487a]

135. Anas reported : (Once) the people were affected by a draught during the time of the Apostle of Allah. While the Prophet was delivering sermon on the Day of congregation, a Beduin Arab got up and said : O Apostle of Allah ! property has been detroyed and houses are starving. So invoke Allah for our sake. Then he raised up his hands while we did not see any sign of cloud in the sky. By One in whose hand there is my life, 2487a. The prophecy of the Prophet came to be fulfilled. When the people were absent from Medina, it was not attacked as the angels guarded it ; but when they arrived and entered it, the children of Abdullah-b-Gatfan attacked it as the people then remained in charge of Medina. Some Gatafan were in secret conspiracy with the Jews of Khaiber to crush Islam.

he did dot put them (hand) down till the clouds spread like mountains. Thereafter he did not get down from his pulpit till I saw rain falling dowd upon his beard, Rain fell on us throughout that day and the day following and the day after the day following up to another congregational Day. That Beduin Arab or another stood and said : O Apostle of Allah ! structures have been damaged and properties have been drowned. So invoke Allah for us. Then he raised up his hands and said : O Allah ! around us and not on us.[2488] Then he did not point at any side of the cloud but it dissolved, and Medina became like a shield and the valley of Qanah flowed down a month, and none came from any part but gave information of profuse rain. And in a narration: He said : O Allah ! around us and not on us. O Allah ! (shower) on hills, hard grounds and pits of valleys and the places of trees. He narrated : These (clouds) were raised up, and we came out to walk in the sun. —Agreed.

The Prophet got down till he caught hold of it and joined it. Then it began to groan the groaning of a child which is silenced, till it became quiet. He said : It wept for what it used to hear from the Reminder. —Bukhari.

137. Salamah-b-Akwa'a reported that a man took meal near the Apostle of Allah with his left hand. He said : Eat with your right hand. He said : I shall not be able. He said : You will not be able ! Nothing but pride has prevented him (from that). He said : Then he could not raise it up to his mouth. —Muslim.

138. Anas reported : The people of Medina were once frightened. Then the Prophet rode on a horse of Abu Talhah secretly and was reconnoitering. When he returned, he said : We have indeed found this horse of yours (fast like) a sea. After that, it could not have been surpassed in race. And in a narration : It was not surpassed in race after that day. —Bukhari.

him. I requested his creditors to take dates in exchange of his dues but they declined. Then I came to the Prophet and said: You have known that my father was martyred on the Day of Uhud and left a heavy debt. I wish that the creditors might see you. He said to me: Go and place every kind of date in heaps in a corner. I did accordingly and then called him. When they looked at him, they increased their demand as it were to me at that time. When he saw what they were doing, he revolved three times around the largest of them and then sat therein. Afterwards he said: Call your creditors. He continued to measure for them till Allah cleared off my father of his trust. I was pleased (to see) that Allah paid off the trust of my father. I shall not return to my sisters with dates. Allah gave also blessing upon the entire heaps and I looked towards the heap on which the Prophet stayed as if not a single date decreased from it.

Then she came to the Prophet who said: Have you discontinued it? 'Yes' said she. He said: Had you left it (as it was), it would have continued to supply. —Muslim.

141. Anas reported that Abu Talhah said to Omme Solaīm: I heard the voice of the Apostle of Allah to be weak and I perceived hunger therein. Is there anything with you? 'Yes' said she. Then she took some cakes of wheat and thereafter she took out a veil and took bread with a portion of it and then she kept it concealed under my hands and covered my head with a portion of it. Afterwards she sent me to the Apostle of Allah, so I went with it and found the Prophet within the mosque with some people with him. I saluted them and the Prophet told me: Did Abu Talhah send you? 'Yes' I said. He said: With food? 'Yes' said I. The Apostle of Allah said to those who were with him: Stand up. Then he departed and I also departed from their presence till I came to Abu Talhah and informed him. Abu Talhah said:

The Prophet passed order to take it. It was then pasted and Omme Solaim squeezed out butter and prepared lentils. Then the Apostle of Allah uttered therein what Allah wished that he should have uttered. Afterwards he said: Give permission for ten. So he gave them permission. They ate till they were satisfied. Thereafter they came out and then said: Give permission for ten and thereafter ten. So the entire people ate to their satisfaction. And the people were seventy or eighty. *Agreed upon it. 144. Abu Qatadah reported : The Apostle of Allah delivered us a sermon. He said : Verily you will travel throughout the first and the latter part of the night to get water tomorrow if Allah wills. Then the people went away, nobody paying any attention to another. Abu Qatadah said : While the Prophet was travelling and even up to mid-night, he inclined away from the pathway and put his head (for sleep). Afterwards he said : Guard our prayer for us. But the first man who awoke was the Apostle of Allah while the sun was shinning at his back. Then he said : Ride on. So we rode on and travelled till when the sun was above, he got down and then called for an ablution jar which was with me. There was a little water in it. He made ablution after ablution therefrom. He narrated : There remained a little of water therein. He said afterwards : Guard your ablution-jar for us. It will soon have its news. Then Bilal proclaimed azan for prayer. The Apostle of Allah prayed two rak'ats and then prayed the morning prayer and rode. So we rode with him until we came to the people. When it was dawn, they all fell upon him. When they saw Ali, Allah cancelled their trick and they said : O you ! where is your master ? He said :· I don't know. They then searched for his trace. When they reached the mount, he mixed with them. Then they ascended the mountain and passed by the cave. They

But how will it be with you when you will live after me and become blind ? He said : I shall hope (for rewards) and be patient. He said : In that case you will enter Paradise without account. He said : He became blind after the Prophet had died. Thereafter Allah restored his eye-sight and then he died. — Baihaqi.

689w. Osamah-b-Zaid reported that the Apostle of Allah said : "Whoso ascribes to me a saying which I have not said, let him seek his abode in the fire". And that is because he sent a man and he ascribed falsehood to him. The Apostle of Allah invoked against him and he was found dead while his belly was split up and the earth did not accept him. —Baihaqi.

690w. Hizam-b-Hisham from his father from his grand-father Hubaish b-Khaled who was brother to the mother of Ma'bad reported : When the Apostle of Allah was driven out from Mecca, he came out as an emmigrant towards Medina—he and Abu Bakr and A'mer-b-Quhairah (a freed slave of Abu Bakr) and their guide Abdullah-b-Laisi. They all passed by the tents of Omme Ma'bad and songht to purchase from her meat and dates. They did not get anything of that from her. The people were dust-laden (with hunger). The Apostle of Allah looked to a goat by the side of the tent and asked : O Omme-Ma'bad ! why is this goat ? She said : Milking put it back from the flock. He asked : Has it got milk ? She said : That will require a great effort form that. He said : Will you give me permission to milk it ? She said : My father and mother be sacrified to thee, if you see milk, milk it. Then the Apostle of Allah called it, passed his hand over its udder, took the name of the Almighty Allah and invoked blessing for it with regard to its affair. Then it (goat) spread its legs to him (Prophet), supplied milk and supplied profusely. He called for a pot which was with the host. He milked therein in profuse quantity till the foam came to its top. Thereafter he gave

2498. His death and heritage

(a) Before His death. When the following verse was revealed in the Farewell Pilgrimage: "Today I have perfected your religion for you and completed My favours on you and chosen for you Islam as a religion—5 : 3Q", the Holy Prophet came to understand that his mission was fulfilled and that therefore his end was near. This was significant when he saw the vast assemblage of human congregations from every part of Arabia in his front hearing attentively to his parting sermons, and those who remained infidels began to owe allegiance to him. Thereafter when the Prophet was at Mina on his return journey after the Farewell Pilgrimage, the following verse was revealed drawing his attention to his end: When the help of Allah comes, and also victory, then glorify with the praise of thy Lord and seek forgiveness to Him (110Q). In this verse, the Prophet was asked to be more engaged in Divine Worship. Accordingly the Prophet increased his Tasbih, Tahlil, Tahmid and Tazkir ; and in the Ramzan of 10 A. H., he made i'tikaf continuously for 20 days in the mosque, recited the whole Quran twice in this Ramzan and prayed for the departed martyrs of Badr, Uhud and other battles. Then by the end of Safar, 11 A. H., the Prophet once went to the grave yard at midnight and on return from there fell sick on the 22nd Safar (Wednessday). After passing 5 days with some wives, he went to stay at Ayesha's house with the consent of his other wives by leaning against the shoulders of Hazrats Ali and Abbas. Then the illness began to take more acute form but still he joined the congregational prayers with the greatest dificulty. AbuBakr was once asked to lead prayers. 4 days before his death, the Prophet ordered for paper and ink for writing some instructions but Omar objected on the ground that the Quran is their sufficient guide in his absence. Omar's suggestion was, however, accepted. After this, he left orally three instructions : to expell the polytheists from Arabia, to treat well with the people, and about the third the narrator forgot. On that day, he went to the mosque leaning against Abbas and Ali and delivered a parting sermon saying that Allah had offered a servant of His a choice between this life and the eternal life with Him but he chose the latter. Abu Bakr was quick to realise its import and burst into tears. Then the Prophet directed all the doors of the mosque to be closed except the door of Abu Bakr. On returning from mosque, he called his beloved daughter Fatima and revealed to her his end and the prophecy that Fatima should reach him soon after his death. Then he remembered his dinars deposited with Ayesha. He called for them and made a gift of them. The illness then continued to increase till it reached its climax on the following Monday. In the fatal morning, the Prophet saw with great difficulty from his house how his devoted followers were bowing and prostrating before the Lord under the Imamate of Abu Bakr. This was a matter of the greatest joy in his life.

(b) His death. After this, Abdur Rahman came to him with a tooth stick. The Prophet rubbed his teeth therewith and then he was heard to say in whisper : Prayer and what your right hands have possessed (slaves). Then a sudden change came over him, and soon he breathed his last reciting in whisper "Lord ! (to) the Highest Companion." (O God, bless him and his family).

(c . His burial. Suddenly a gloom fell over the whole Arabia, nay over the whole world. Omar did not believe his death till Abu Bakr recited the following verse : And Muhammad was not but a prophet. Before him, apostles have passed away. If he then dies or is killed, will you turn to your heels ?—(3:143Q). His remains were placed for rest in the very room in which he died.

(d) His belongings. The Holy Prophet left nothing to be inherited except a white mule, some amunitions and a piece of land which he had made a gift during his life-time. He said : We are not inherited. Whatever we leave is charity. Among his lands, there were some gardens of Banu Nazir, Khaiber and Fedak. A Jew named Mukhairiq of Banu Nazir gifted some gardens to the Prophet in 3 A.H. which he disposed of during his life-time. The Fedak properties were made waqf for the travellers. Khaiber properties were divided for the general Muslims reserving one share for his wives. Khaiber and Fedak properties were later on managed by the Caliphs.

(e) His children. The Prophet had six children. They are Qasem and Ibrahim (sons), Zainab, Ruqqiya, Omme Kulsum and Fatimah (daughters). All were born of Khadija except Ibrahim who was born of Mary the Copt. All his children died before him except Hazrat Fatimah who breathed her last six months after the Prophet's demise. Besides Fatimah, the Holy Prophet left behind him nine (on ten) wives who all passed their widowhood during the remaining period of their life.

Prophecies about the advent of the World Prophet.

The Holy Prophet Muhammad was commissioned as the Word Prophet for guidance of the whole of mankind and the Quran is the expression of the last will of God. This office of the Word Prophet fell no other shoulder. Before him everyone was a national prophet. Almost all national prophets prophesied about the advent of the World Prophet from every side of the world. Let us examine the most important of the revealed books containing this prophecy. It may be mentioned here that the more a book is nearer to the Quran, the more is its resemblance with it; and the more it is distant from it, the greater is its difference with it.

(1) The Quran. "And when Jesus, son of Mary, said: Surely I am the Apostle of Allah to you, verifying that which is before me of the Torah and giving the good news of an apostle who will come after me, his name being Ahmad (One Praised), but when he came to them with clear arguments, they said: This is enchantment -61 : 6Q. There was no prophet between Jesus and Muhammad. Hence Muhammad was meant by this verse. All Prophets made a covenant with Allah to announce the advent of the World Prophet The Quran says: And when Allah made a covenant through the Prophets: Certainly I have given you the Book and wisdom—then an apostle will come to you, verifying that which is with you; you must believe in him and you must aid him.—3 : 80Q. The Prophet Abraham's prayer about Muhammad and the Muslims runs thus: O our Lord! make us both submissive to Thee, and from our offspring a Muslim nation for Thee..... O our Lord! and raise in them an apostle from among them who shall recite to them Thy communications and teach them the Book and wisdom, and purify them—2 : 128—129Q. The Quran also mentions the fact that the Torah and the Gospel contain prophecies of Muhammad: Those who follow the Apostle—the illiterate Prophet—whom they find written down in the Torah and the Gospel—(7 : 157Q).

(2) The Gospel. Jesus Christ said: If ye love me, keep my commandments and I will pray to the Father, and He shall give you another Comforter that he may abide with you for ever, even the spirit of Truth—John,—14 : 15, 17. But the Comfoter which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things—John—14 : 26. Nevertheless, I tell you the truth, it is expedient for you that I go away ; for if I do not go away, the Comforter will not come unto you, but if I depart, I will send him unto you—John 16 : 17. I have yet many things to say unto you, but you cannot hear them now. Howbeit when the Spirit of Truth is come, he will guide you unto all Truth—John—16 : 12, 13. The original word of Comforter in Greek was paraclete which is a translation from a Hebrew word meaning the spirit of truth or one who distinguishes between truth and falsehood. It appears from these descriptions that the Prophet Muhammad was meant by these verses because after Jesus, there was no prophet except Prophet Muhammad, and that the appearance of the Holy Ghost to teach mankind is meaningless.

(3) The Torah. There occurs in Deuteronomy 18 : 18—I (God) will raise them up a prophet from among their brethren like unto thee, and will put My words in his month. In 33 : 2 (Deut), it occurs—The Lord came from mount Sinai and rose up from Seir to them, he shined forth from mount Paran and he came forth with 10,000 saints, from his right hand went a fiery law for them. Moses came from mount Sinai. Here Paran means Arabia. 10,000 saints mean 10,000 soldiers of God who came with the Prophet and conquered Mecca. The law that was given by Muhammad was complete. These descriptions give a sufficient indication that the Prophet Muhammad was prophesied by these verses. Surely Jesus was not meant by these descriptions.

It is reported in tradition 44 : 680w that a Jewish doctor testified to the occurrence of the following descriptions of the Prophet in the Torah : Muhammad, son of Abdullah, his birth place is Mecca, and his place of migration is Taybah, his kingdom is in Syria, neither unmannerly, nor harsh, nor wandering in the markets, nor prone to indecency, nor using a word of treachery. These facts combined go to establish the advent of Prophet Muhammad as the World Prophet.

(4) Buddha: The Digha Nikaya, the religious book of the Buddhists, speaks of Buddha of future when the religion of Gautama shall be forgotten. This Buddha of future was described by the word Metteyya (Sankrit-Maitreya) i.e. Buddha of Kindness. The Quran exactly speaks of Muhammad as "a mercy for the whole of mankind"—(21 : 10Q).

(5) Parsi Scripture. The Persian scripture Dasatir in its 14th verse says : "When the Persians should sink so low in morality, a man will be born in Arabia whose followers shall upset their throne, kingdom, religion and everything. The mighty stiff-necked ones of Persia shall be over-powered. The house which was built and in which many idols were placed shall be purged of idols and men shall say their prayers facing towards it. The wise men of Persia and others will join his followers." These descriptions do not apply to the Christians, Jews or to anybody else. They certainly apply to Muhammad (P.H.) and his followers.

(6) Hindu Scriptures. The Puranas, Upanishads and Vedas are the Hindu religious scriptures. In the Bhavisya Purana, (Para 3, Kanda 3, Adhyaya 3, Slokas 5, 7 and 8) it occurs : Just then a man with the epithet "illiterate," Muhammad by name, and an inhabitant of Arabia appeared with his companions. O denizen of Arabia and master of the world, to thee is my adoration. The prophecy is the most clear and unambiguous. It occurs also in Allo upanishad translated by Upendra Nath Mukhopadhya of Calcutta : God is the owner of high attributes, complete, perfect, All-knowing. Muhammad is the Messenger of God. In the Atherv Veda (Kanda 20, Sukta 127, Mantra 1-3) it occurs: O people! hear this most heedfully. The man of praise (Muhammad) will be raised among the people.

Next came Omar-b al Khattab among twenty of the companions of the Prophet. [2499] Next came the Prophet. I did not see the inhabitants of Medina more joyful with anything than what they were at his arrival till I saw the girls and boys saying: He is the Messenger of Allah that has come. He did not come till I read. 'Glorify the name of thy Highest Lord (87 : 1Q)' among the chapters and the like of it from the short chapters. [2500]

169. Abu Sayeed al-Khohri reported: The Apostle of Allah sat upon the pulpit and said: As for a servant, Allah gave him choice either that he should be given the fineries of this world as he wished or what is near Him. He chose what is near Him. Abu Bakr wept. He said: Our fathers and our mothers be ransomed to thee. We wondered at him. The people

170. Oqbah-b-A'mer reported: The Apostle of Allah led funeral prayer over the martyrs of Uhud after eight years like one who takes farewell from the living and the dead. Thereafter he ascended the pulpit and said: I am a fore-runner of you all, [2501] and I am a witness [2501a] over you, and verily you have been given promise of the Fountain, and verily I am looking at it while I am in this place of mine; and verily I have been given the key of the treasures of the world, [2501b] and I do not fear 2500a. This sermon took place 5 days before the Prophet's demise. The Prophet was given to choose either to live in the midst of the fineries of this world or to leave this world to get the eternal bliss near God. This was the fore-runner of the Prophet's demise which was understood only by Abu Bakr who was the best of his companions in spiritual matters.

2501. Fart means the vanguard of a caravan who goes a head to a station and keeps everything ready for food and rest of the caravan. The Prophet is therefore a for-runner in the sense that he would be going to Paradise ahead of his companions in order that he might prepare everything for their easy entry to paradise.

Abdur Rahman-b-Abi Bakr came to me with a tooth-stick in his hand while I was leaned against by the Apostle of Allah. I saw him looking at him and could know that he liked to have the tooth-stick. I said : I shall take it for you. Then he gave a hint with his head : Yes. I took it but it appeared very hard to him. I said : Shall I make it soft for you ? He gave a hint with his head : Yes. I made it soft and he used it. There was a pot of water in front of him. He began to enter his hands in the water and wash his face therewith and say : There is no god but Allah, and verily there are intoxications for death. Thereafter he put off his hand and began to mutter : To the Highest

172. Same reported: I heard the Prophet say: There was no prophet who fell ill but was given the choice of this world and the hereafter. In his illness of which he (Prophet) died, a very low voice overtook him. I heard him say: With those whom Thou hast given blessings from the Prophets, truthful, martyrs and pious. Then I could know that he was given the choice. —Agreed.

173. Anas reported: When the Prophet fell seriously ill, pangs began to make him senseless. Fatimah said: Pangs, O father! He said to her: There will be no pang on thy father after this day. When he died, she wailed: O father! he respoded to the Lord Who called him. O father! His place is in Ferdous Paradise! O father! To Gabriel, we seek information of his death. When he was buried, Fatimah said: O Anas! is it pleasing to your souls that you spread earth over the Apostle of Allah?—Bukhari.

عن انس قال لما قدم رسول الله

2502. The Highest Companion is the Great God, because the Apostle of Allah had no friend in this world except God (45 · 11). Some say that the companions are the prophets. Their argument is based on this verse: They are with the prophets, the truthful, the martyrs and the pious, and good are those for company—4 : 69Q.

Medina, the Negroes were playing with their drums out of joy on his arrival. Abu Daud narrated it. And in a narration of Darimi; he said: I have never seen a day more pleasant and brighter than the day on which the Prophet came to us, and I have not seen a day more gloomy and dark than the day on which the Prophet died. And in a narration of Tirmizi: He said: When there came the day on which the Apostle of Allah entered Medina, everything of it was lighted, but when there came the day on which he died, everything of it became dark. And we did not throw off dust from our hands, and I was engaged in his burial till we became changed in minds.

175. Ayesha reported: When the Apostle of Allah died, they differed with regard to his burial. Abu Bakr said: I heard something from the Apostle of Allah. He (Prophet) said: Allah does not cause to die a Prophet but in the place wherein he likes to be buried. Bury him therefore in the place of his bed.

176. Ayesha reported: The Apostle of Allah used to say while he was sound: Never does a Prophet die till his place in Paradise is shown to him, and then (till) he is given option.

عن عائشة قالت كان رسول الله صلعم يقول وهو صحيح انه لن يقبض نبي حتى يرى مقعده من الجنة ثم يخير

Ayesha said : When he (angel) descended with it (death), and his head was upon my thigh, he fell in a swoon and then came round. He fixed his look towards the terrace and then said : O Allah ! to the Highest Companion. I said : In that case, he did not choose. She said : And I could know that it was a tradition which he used to speak to us and he was correct in his saying that the life of a prophet is never taken till his place in Paradise is shown to him and then till he is given option. Ayesha said : The last word which the Prophet uttered is his saying : O Allah ! to the Highest Companion.

177. Same reported that the Apostle of Allah used to say in his illness of which he died : O Ayesha ! I continued to feel the pain of food I took at Khaiber. This is the time in which I feel the cutting of my entrails on account of that poison. 2502a said : Pain has overcome him and there is the Quran with you. Sufficient is the Book of Allah for you.[2503] The people of the house differed and quarrelled. Of them, there were some who were saying : Bring near (the writing materials), the Apostle of Allah will write for you ; of them there were some who said what Omar had said. When noise and difference became acute, the Messenger of Allah said : Be off from me.[2503a] Obaidullah said : Ibn Abbas was saying : Verily the great catastrophe is the catastrophe of what passed between the Apostle of Allah and between that scroll which was to be written for them, owing to their difference and confusion. And in a narration of Sulaiman-b-Abil-Muslim al-Ahwal : Ibn Abbas said : Thursday. And what was on Thursday ? Thereafter he wept until his tears wetted the stone. I asked : O Ibn Abbas ! and what was on Thursday ? He said : The pain of the Apostle of Allah became acute. He said : Take to me a shoulder-

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ لَمَّا حُضِرَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صلعم وَفِي الْبَيْتِ رِجَالٌ فِيهِمْ عُمَرُ بْنُ الْخَطَّابِ قَالَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم هَلُمُّوا أَكْتُبْ لَكُمْ كِتَابًا لَنْ تَضِلُّوا بَعْدَهُ فَقَالَ عُمَرُ قَدْ غَلَبَ

2503. The Prophet was affected with death pangs as he was once previously affected with charms by a Jew. Thereafter his demand for writing materials to leave some instruction was not taken as the saying of a man in health as the Quran was a sufficient guide according to the saying of the Prophet. The very fact that the Prophet did not write shows that he concurred with the opinion of Hazrat Omar and the saying of Quran : Hold fast by the rope (Quran) of Allah.

2503a. Man's nature is to differ. The Quran says : They will continue to differ except those on whom your Allah is kind (Q). It appears from this saying hat it is always good not to differ but to remain united.

bone that I may write a writing for you after which you will never be misguided. Then they quarrelled with one another (and no general quarrel should occur in presence of a Prophet.) They asked: What is the matter with him that he gave up? Make it clear from him. So they went again to it. 2503b He said: Leave me, be off from me. What I am in is better than what you call me to. 2503c He enjoined three things on them. He said: Drive out the polytheists from the Peninsula of Arabia, treat the deputation with kindness with what I treated them. He remained silent from the third. Or he said about it: We forgot it. —Agreed.

179. Anas reported: Abu Bakr said to Omar after the death of the Apostle of Allah: Take us to Omme Ayman. We shall call on her just as the Aposte of Allah used to call on her. When we came to her, she wept. Two of them asked her: What makes thee weep? Don't you know that verily what is near Allah is better for the Apostle of Allah? She said: I do not weep because I do not know that what is near Allah is better for the 2503b. They went again to it means that they again began to raise uproar and difference.

2503c. This signifies that the Prophet was about to meet with Allah after death. This was surely better that everything in this world including the incident mentioned in this tradition.

180. Ayesha reported : She said : O my head ![2505] Then the Apostle of Allah said : That is (death).[2505a] If it occurs while I am alive, I shall seek forgiveness for you and shall call for blessing on you. Ayesha said : How acute (pain)! By Allah, I don't think that you like my death. If it comes, you will be in sexual company with one of your wives on your last day.[2505b] The Prophet said : Rather I (will die), O my head ![2505c] I was inclined or intended to send for Abu Bakr and his son, and pledge that the people will say or the wishers will wish.[2505] Thereafter I said (within myself) :

2504. Omme Ayman was the female slave of the Prophet's father and was the mother of Osamah-b-Zaid. She was liberated after Abdullah's death and was married to Zaid. She died 20 days after Hazrat Omar's death.

2505b. In other words, Ayesha made a humour that if she died, the Prophet would forget her and he would be engaged with her co-wives after her death.

2505c. The Prophet said to Ayesha that she was thinking wrongly about her death before him, but that he would die before her. He also said that he was feeling acute pain in head which would result in death.

2505. The Prophet said that he wished to send for Abu Bakr for investing him with Khilafat but he did not do it, because the people might revel his suggestion or some others would wish for the office of Khilafat. The Prophet thus established a great political rule that the head of a goverment must be on an elective principle by the people. He knew that his intention would be a sufficient guide to his followers after his death in selecting his successor.

Allah will refuse, and the believers will repel (or Allah will repel and the believers will refuse). —Bukhari.

181. Ayesha reported : The Apostle of Allah left no dinar, no dirham, no goat and no camel ; nor did he leave any legacy.

182. Amr-b-Hares reported : The Apostle of Allah left no dinar at his death, no dirham, no slave, no maid, and nothing except his white mule,[2507] his armours and a land which he gifted away in charity. —Bukhari.

183. Abu Hurairah reported : My heirs shall not divide a dinar. What I have left after the expenses of my wives and the wages of my manager is in charity.[2508] —Agreed.

184. Abu Bakr reported that the Apostle of Allah said : We left nothing for heritage. What we leave goes to charity.

185. Abu Musa reported from the Prophet who said : When Allah intends to show kindness to a people out of His servants, He takes the life of their Prophet before them. Then He makes him a forerunner for them and one who

He said: By One in whose hand there is my life, I am certainly looking towads the Fountain from this place of mine. 692w. Ibn Abbas reported : When it was revealed. "When the help and victory of Allah came (110Q)", the Apostle of Allah called Fatimah. He said : My soul has given me death-news. She wept. He said : Don't weep, because you will be the first of my household to reach me. Then she laughed. Some of the wives of the Prophet saw her and asked : O Fatimah ! we have seen you weeping and then laughing ! She said : Verily he informed me that his soul gave his death-news to him. So I wept. He said : Don't weep, because you are the first of my household to reach me. [2509] So I laughed. And the Apostle of Allah said : When the help and victory of Allah come. 694w. Ja'far-b-Muhammad reported from his father that one of the Quraish went to his father Ali-b-Hussain. He said : Shall I not narrate to you a tradition of the Apostle of Allah ? He said : Yes. Narrate to us from Abul Qasem. He said : When the Apostle of Allah fell ill, Gabriel came to him and said : O Muhammad ! verily Allah sent me to thee out of honour to thee and out of respect to thee and by way of special concession to thee, asking thee about what he is more informed of it than thee saying : How do you find thyself ? He said : O Gabriel ! I find myself gloomy ; O Gabriel ! find myself anxious. Thereafter he came to him on the second day. He (Gabriel) asked him that and the Prophet answered as he had answered on the first day. Afterwards he came to him on the third day and asked him as he had asked on the first day, and he answered him as he had answered him. There came to him along with him an angel named Ismail who controls over one hundred thousand angles, every angel holding controi over one hundred thousand angels. He sought his permission and he asked it of him. Thereafter Gabriel said : He is the angel of death who seeks thy permission. He did not ask permission of any man before thee, and he will not ask permission of any man after thee. He said : Give him permission. So he gave him permission. He greeted him and then said : O Muhammad ! verily Allah sent me to thee. If thou shouldst permit me to take thy soul, I may take ; and if thou shouldst order me to leave it, I will leave it. He said : O angel of death ! do. He said : Yes. With that I have been commanded, and I have also been commanded to obey thee. He narrated : Then the Prophet looked towards Gabriel. Gabriel said : O Muhammad ! verily Allah is greatly desirous of meeting with thee. The Prophet said to the angel of death : Go with what you have been Verily there is consolation in Allah from every calamity, [2510] an exchanger in everything destroying and a watcher in everything perishable. So fear Allah, and in Him do hope ; verily he is afflicted who is deprived of rewards. Ali asked : Do you know who he was ? He was Khazer (peace be on him). —Baihaqi.

CHAPTER XLV

2511. People of Prophet's Household (اهل البيت).

(a) Ahli-Bait (People of the House). There is a great divergence of views as to the persons who can rightly be called 'the People of the House'. Some hold that they are the Prophet's wives ; some hold that they are not the wives but Hasan, Hussain, Ali and Fatimah. Some extended the honour to Abbas, Ja'far and Ali. Hence in this section, traditions relating to them have been included. Let us see what the Quran says : O wives of the Prophet ! ....Allah only desired to take away uncleanliness from you, O Ahli Bait, and to purify you a thorough purifying—33 : 33Q. This distinctly proves that the wives of the Prophet are included within Ahli-Bait. It is a gross mistake to exclude them from this category. There is also no tradition excluding his wives from this class. This is supported by verses 11 : 73 and 28 : 12Q where Abraham's wife and Imran's wife have been included within Ahli Bait. Thus the wives of the Prophet are included within Ahli-Bait. Who are the others who can be included ? According to the traditions, the family of Hazrat Ali including Ali himself, Hasan, Hussain and Fatimah has been included within Ahli-Bait — 45 : 1, 18. Regarding Abbas, Ja'far, Aqil and near relatives, they do not come properly under the category of the people of the House. They may be called Ahli Bait so far as lineage is concerned. As however the wives of the Prophet left no children after the demise of the Prophet excepting only Fatimah, her children, namely Hasan and Hussain and she herself and her husband and their descendants can now be properly called "the People of the House" for practical purposes.

2510. It means that in any calamity, we should not be overwhelmed with grief but trust in Allah. The Quran says : And give good news to those who are patient, who, when calamity overtake them, say : Verily we are for Allah, and to Him we return.

(b) Merits of the People of the House. The Holy Prophet's definite instructions are to follow at first the Quran and then the Hadis. In this section, there is instruction to follow the people of the House. He said . O people ! I leave among you something which, if followed by you, will never lead you to misguidance—the Book of Allah and my progeny, the People of my house—1 : 18. This has been repeated in traditions 19, 33, 6 and 697w. Hence in performing 'Darud', the blessings is first sent on his family people and then to his companions.

(c) Hazrat Fatima.[1] She was born 5 years before Prophethood of her father at Mecca by Khadijah and was married to Ali at the end of 2 A. H. when she was 15 years 5 months old. Ali was at that time 21 years of age. The couple led a very poor life but with patience and reliance on God. Hazrat Ayesha said : I never found a more truthful woman than Fatimah. The Prophet loved her dearly, and whenever he went on a journey, he came to her first ; and whenever he returned, he returned to her first. He rose when Fatimah came to him and would make her sit by his side. Out of the progeny of Fatimah, a host of saints and God-fearing men were born. In the month of Ramzan after Prophet's demise the Great Fatimah died. Fatimah will be the leader of the women of Paradise—45 : 4. The Prophet said : Fatimah is a piece of flesh from me—45 : 5. Ayesha reported that Fatimah was dearest to the Apostle of Allah—45:21, 43. She left Hasan, Hussain, Zainab, Omme Qulsum and Roqiya.

1. See page 64 (77), Book I,

(iii) Hazrat Hasan. He was born on the 15th Ramzan in 3 A.H. and died on Friday in 50 A. H. and buried at Baqiy at Medina. When his father Ali was murdered at Kufa, more than 40,000 people took allegiance to him, but in order to avoid bloodshed and division among the followers of his grandfather, he surrendered his right to Khilafat on Monday in 41 A. H. Thus the prophecy in 45:10 was fulfilled. The traditions 1, 2, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 20, 29, 30, 31 and 33 of this section relate to the merits and virtues of Hazrat Hasan.

(iii) Hazrat Hussain.[1] He is the hero of the tragedy of Kerbela on occasion of which the annual Muharram is celebrated. He was born at the 5th Shaban in 4 A.H. and was killed on Friday in 61 A. H. by Sanan-b-Anas (some say—by Shimar). Traditions relating to his virtues are 1, 2, 11, 12, 20, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 35, 39, 695w.

The Prophet declared that both these brothers will be the leaders of the young men of Paradise. He said that they are of him and he is of them and those who love them love the Prophet and those who hate them hate the Prophet.

1. Sa'ad-b-Abi Waqqas reported : When the verse was revealed : Say, come, let us call our children and your children,[2512] the Apostle of Allah called Ali, Fatimah, Hasan and Hussain and said : O Allah ! these are the people of my house.

عَنْ سَعْدِ بْنِ أَبِي وَقَّاصٍ قَالَ لَمَّا نَزَلَتْ هَذِهِ الْآيَةُ فَقُلْ تَعَالَوْا نَدْعُ أَبْنَاءَنَا وَأَبْنَاءَكُمْ دَعَا رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم عَلِيًّا وَفَاطِمَةَ وَحَسَنًا وَحُسَيْنًا فَقَالَ اللَّهُمَّ هَؤُلَاءِ أَهْلِي (مسلم)

2. Ayesha reported that the Prophet came out at morn

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ خَرَجَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم

1. See page 66 (89), Book I.

2512. The full verse runs : Say, come. Let us call our sons and your sons, and our women and your women and our people and your people, let us then be earnest and pray for curse of Allah on the liars—3 : 60Q. This was revealed at the time when there was quarrel between the Muslims on the one hand and the Jews and Christians on the other. Accordinly the Prophet called his children, while the enemies did not dare to call their children to invoke curse on them out of fear of destruction.

while there was over him a blanket made of black fur. Hasan-b-Ali came and he admitted him. Then Hussain-b-Ali came and he admitted him. Thereafter Fatimah came, and he admitted her. Thereafter Ali came and he admitted him. Then he said : Verily Allah wishes to remove impurity from you, the people of the house, and purify you a purifying. —Muslim.

3. Bara'a reported : When Ibrahim died, the Apostle of Allah said : Verily there is for him a nurse in Paradise. 2512a —Bukhari.

4. Ayesha reported : We, wives of the Prophet, were seated near him. Then Fatimah came. Her walk did not differ with the walk of the Apostle of Allah. When he saw her, he said : Welcome to my daughter ! Thereafter he made her sit and talked with her secretly. She then wept bitterly. When he saw her grief, he talked with her for the second time secretly when lo ! she was laughing. When the Prophet stood up, I asked her : Of what did he secretly talk with you ? She said : I won't disclos the secret of the Messenger of Allah. When he died, I said : I give you oath with my property, tell me the truth which he

When he whispered with me about the first affair, he informed me that Gabriel used to recite the Quran before me once in every year, and he recited it to me this year twice, and I do not see (my) death but near. So fear Allah and be patient, because how goodly I shall predecease you. So I wept. When he saw my anxiety, he whispered with me the second time. He said : O Fatimah ! are you not pleased that you will be the leader of the women of the inmates of Paradise (or the believing woman) ? And in a narration : He whispered with me and informed me that his life would be taken during his illness. So I wept. Thereafter he whispered with me and informed me : Of the people of his house, I shall first follow him. [2512] Then I laughed. —Agreed.

5. Meswar-b-Makhramah reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Fatimah is a piece of flesh from me. Whoso causes her anger, causes my anger. And in a narration : What causes her doubt, causes my doubt ; and what causes her trouble, causes my trouble.

—Agreed

6. Zaid-b-Arqam reported : The Apostle of Allah one day stood among us to deliver sermon near a water called Khumma between Mecca and Medina.[2513] He glorified Allah and eulogised Him. He delivered sermon and gave admonition. Then he said : As for what follows next, behold ! O people ! verily I am only a mortal. It is near that the messenger of my Lord will come to me and I shall be asked to respond. I am leaving in your midst two things : the first of them is the Book of Allah wherein there are guidance and light. So take recourse to the Book of Allah and be steadfast to it. He gave a stimulus towards the Book of Allah and injected an ardent desire therein. Afterwards he said : And the people of my house ; I remind you of Allah about the people of my house. And in a narration : The Book of Allah—it is the rope of Allah. Whoso follows it, is upon guidance ; and whoso leaves it, is upon misguidance. —Muslim.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ اَنَّهُ كَانَ اِذَا سَلَّمَ
عَلَى ابْنِ جَعْفَرٍ قَالَ اَلسَّلَامُ عَلَيْكَ
يَا ابْنَ ذِي الْجَنَاحَيْنِ * (البخاري)

2513. This incident took place when the Prophet was returning from Mecca towards Medina after completion of the Farewell pilgrimage. In this tradition, the rank of the people of the House has been raised foremost.

2513a. The Prophet gave this title to Ja'far after he was martyred in the battle of Muta in Syria. The Prophet saw him from Medina flying with two wings towards heaven along with angels and announced his death-news at that time.

8. Bara'a reported : I saw the Prophet while Hasan, son of Ali, was upon his shoulder, saying : O Allah ! I love him, so love him. —Agreed.

عن البراء قال رأيت النبي صلعم والحسن ابن علي على عاتقه يقول اللهم إني احبه فاحبه (متفق عليه)

9. Abu-Hurairah reported : I came out with the Apostle of Allah among a party during day-time till he came to the tent of Fatimah. He said : Where is the toy (he meant Hasan) ? He did not tarry when lo ! he came running till one of them clung to the neck of his companion. The Apostle of Allah said : O Allah ! verily I love him, so love him and love one who loves him. —Agreed.

10. Abu Bakrah reported : I saw the Apostle of Allah upon the pulpit with Hasan-b-Ali by his side. He was once turning to the people, and at another time to him, and he was saying : Verily this progeny of mine is 'Sayyad' (noble) and perchance Allah will bring out a compromise between two big parties of the Muslims (through him).[2514] —Bukhari.

11. Abdur Rahman-b-Abi Nu'min reported : I heard

عن عبد الرحمن بن ابي نعم قال

2514. This refers to the two big groups of Muslims that arose after the death of Hazrat Ali. One party supported Hasan for Khilafat, while another supported Muwayiah. Hazrat Hasan surrendered his claim for Khilafat to avoid split and bloodshed and made the path of Muwayiah smooth for government. Thus the prophecy of the Prophet that Khilafat would remain for 30 yeare after his death proved true, Abdullah-b-Omar (who was asked by a man) to say about a Muhrim.[2514a] Shu'bah said : I think he can (lawfully) kill flies. He said : The people of Iraq asked me about flies while they killed the son of the daughter of the Prophet of Allah ! The Apostle of Allah said : They both are my flowers of this world.

14. Same reported that the Prophet entered unto the privy. I put ablution-water for him. When he came out, he said : Who has put this ? He was then informed and he said : O Allah ! make him learned in theology.

15. Osamah-b Zaid reported from the Prophet : He used to take him and Hasan and say : O Allah ! love them, and verily

—Bukhari

فَإِنِّي أُحِبُّهُمَا وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صلعم يَأْخُذُنِي فَيُقْعِدُنِي عَلَى فَخِذِهِ وَيُقْعِدُ الْحَسَنَ بْنَ عَلِيٍّ عَلَى فَخِذِهِ الْأُخْرَى ثُمَّ يَضُمُّهُمَا ثُمَّ يَقُولُ اللَّهُمَّ ارْحَمْهُمَا فَإِنِّي أَرْحَمُهُمَا * (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

16. Abdullah-b-Omar reported that the Apostle of Allah sent a detachment and put Osamah-b-Zaid in command [2515] over them. Some of the people raised protest againgst his command. Then the Apostle of Allah said : If you protest against his command, you have then protested against the command of his father previously. And by the oath of Allah, he was certainly destined for command, and he was the dearest of men to me, and he (Osamah) is certainly the dear est of men to me after him. And in a narration of Muslim, there is a similar thing but there is in its last portion : I give you admonition, because he is one of your well-wishers. —Agreed.

2515. Osamah-b-Zaid was put in command of the army that was despatched to Muta just on the eve of his death. This set an example of equal treatment by Islam of the high and the low, because his father was a freed slave of the Prophet. During that battle, there were well known companions under his command like Ja'far-b-Abi Taleb. This tradition smashed together all inequalities of caste and rank in Islam.

One of the two is greater than the other : The Book of Allah, a rope extended from heaven towards the earth ; and my descendants, the people of my house. 22. Abdul Muttaleb-b-Rabia reported that Abbas went enraged to the Prophet while I was near him. He asked: What has enraged you? He said: O Apostle of Allah! what is our relation with the Quraish? When they meet with one another, they meet with cheerful countenances; and when they meet us, they meet us in another way. (b) Why so many wives? This question often disturbs many a mind, and there are some who dare to cast reflections on the ideal character of the Holy Prophet. Let us therefore discuss the subject at some length.

(1) The first question that presents to us is whether a married man is dearer to God than one who is not married. Sexual appetite is ingrained in nature just as hunger. Satisfaction of sexual instinct is therefore with God a natural law which has been hitherto preserving this world. The Quran therefore says of marriage. The ordinance of Allah that existed among those who went before, and the command of Allah is a decree that is made absolute—35 : 38 Q. This law not only prevails in animal kingdom but also in the inanimate world. Anybody going against nature must inevitably suffer. In other words, he who does not marry goes against the law of God and therefore suffers physically, mentally and spiritually. Hence is the law of marriage. Those who give up this world is so weak that they are incompetent to fight temptation. Such people are often acclaimed as religious. God does not want it. He wants those who live with God and His beings. The true religion is that which advocates it. Every Prophet of God contracted marriages except Jesus who left the world at the age of only thirty-three years. Therefore the Prophet was not below the highest standard of morality by contracting marriage.

* The popular version is that the Prophet left nine wives excluding Mary. But Mary is also the Prophet's wife and Ibrahim was the issue out of this union.

(2) The next question is-why did he contract so many marriages ? Did he fall an inch from the highest standard by this act ?

(i) Without showing any reason, the question can easily be solved by the fact that none of his contemporaries raised an atom of doubt about the integrity of character of the 'Al Amin." Who are we, living fourteenth centuries after his death, to question his character ? The man who was held in the highest esteem by the renowned contemporaries of character and who remained faithfully steadfast to him in the teeth of bitter persecutions and perils, the man who was acclaimed as the saviour of the world by friends and foes alike and whose character was corroborated by the attestation of friends and foes, the man who transformed the whole of Arabia within two decades and swept off vices and immorality from the soil of mind, the man who by the radiant light of his character dissipated the spiritual darkness—could such a man be a prey to sexual luxury ?

(ii) Secondly, it appears that the Holy Prophet led the life of a bachelor up to the age of twenty-five years. In a hot country like Arabia where maturity is attained much eariler and where sexual commodity was a common thing like the present age, the Prophet was conspicuous in the whole of Arabia by his unimpeachable character. For that, he was given the little of 'Al Amin' signifying the highest state of moral life. Was it not a period for showing strength of character ?

(iii) Then we find that he married when he was 25 years old. Whom did he marry ?—an old twice-widowed lady who was 15 years senior to him. Did he again take second wife during the life-time of this old lady Khadija and during the time when he was fit for sexual luxury and when he had time for such enjoyments ? The answer is an emphatic no. While Khadija was alive, the Prophet faithfully led a monogamious life up to his age of over 50 years and upto the Khadija's age of over 65years. The Prophet had all his children by this old wife except Ibrahim whose mother was Mary. Could such a man who lived up to the pretty old age pure and chaste, not questioned by any of his contemporaries, turn bad when he entered into an age in which passion is calm ? None but a biassed mind can entertain still a doubt in mind.

(iv) Then after the death of Khadija, the Holy Prophet was without any wife for sometime . Not a word of whisper about his character was heard during this time. Had he such an indomitable passion, how could he check himself in a hot country like Arabia ? We find that he afterwards took in marriage an old widowed lady, Sauda who had emigrated along with her husband to Abyssinia. On the way back, her husband died leaving her in the midst of the deadly enemies of Islam. Naturally she sought shelter to the Prophet for whose mission her husband died. The Prophet had to extend his shelter to her by not keeping her as a concubine but as a legally married wife. In the same year, he married Ayesha when she was only seven years old. Why a girl of tender age who was quite unfit for conjugal embrace ? Why a minor girl if passions were so strong ? The marriage was not consummated till sometime after migration to Medina. The Prophet lived for 5 or 6 years years up to his 56th year of age with Sauda and Ayesha without taking any other wife.

(iv) From the 56th year up to 60th year of his life (3 to 7 A.H.) he is seen to have taken nine wives in quick succession. From his 60th year up to his death, he is seen not to have taken any wife. Why so many within four years and why a full stop after that ? It appears on a careful examination of this time that this was a period of the severest struggles in the Prophet's life, and Islam stood in danger of being utterly crushed and demolished from the surface of the globe. The battles of Badar and Uhud took place in 2 and 3 A. H. The Jewish tribe of Banu Nazir in Medina was banished. The battle of Muraisi with the powerful tribe of Banu Mastaliq occurred in 5 A. H. In the same year, the whole Arabia were combined to destroy Islam in the bud. After this battle in which 2000 had to fight with 24000 Arabs, the Jewish tribe of Banu Quraiza was punished. So great was the danger that some Jews were put to death. In the 6th year, the Prophet was not allowed to make pilgrimage and so the treaty of Hudaibiyyah was concluded. In the seventh year, a Jew administered poison to the food of the Prophet and tried to murder him. Then the conquest of Mecca followed. After that there was no such difficulty in the propagation of Islam and there was no marriage. What is the reason of these marriages during the time of unrest and danger in the midst of war cries and bullets of arrows and ammunitions. Did these arise out of thoughts of enjoyment or for some other reason? The reason bespeaks itself to an intelligent mind of great political sagacity and true statesmanship.

(vi) Before we come to the actual reasons, let us put forth the individual cases, one by one. Hafsa was the daughter of the second Caliph Hazrat Omar. Her husband Khunais-b-Ḥuzaifah died in the battle of Badr. She was offered to Hazrats Abu Bakr and Osman who refused owing to her harsh temper. At last at the earnest entreaty of his worthy lieutenant, he accepted her. In the same year, Zainab became a widow on account of the death of her husband Abdullah-b-Jahsh and then she offered her hand to the Prophet. A year later, Omme Salamah sought the Prophet's hand after the death of her husband Abu Salamah in the battle of Uhud. The occasion of marriage was this. The Prophet reported once to Omme Salamah: There is no Muslim who is affected by calamities and who afterwards utters: "Verily we are for Allah and to Him shall we return. O Allah! give me refuge in my calamity and leave therefrom good for me", except that Allah will leave therefrom good for him. When Abu Salamah died, Omme Salamah spoke good of her late husband and uttered what the Prophet had said above. With this she wanted to get the Prophet as husband as he had said that by uttering the above, she would get better things—33:16. Zainab, the divorced wife of Zaid, was married when the Prophet was 58 years old. Zaid was a liberated slave of the Prophet. Zainab wanted to marry the Prophet but he refused. He then gave her in marriage to Zaid to remove all distinction between slave and master. The marriage proved a failure and consequently Zaid had to divorce her. Afterwards her relations and herself requested the Prophet to take her as wife. The Prophet could not set aside their opinion and accepted her. Afterwards the battle of Muraisi took place and Juwairiya, the daughter of an Arab chief and the widow of Musafe-b-Safwan, fell into his hands. By the marriage of the widow, 100 families of Banu Mustaliq who fell prisoners secured release. Omme Habibah's husband Ubaidullah turned a Christian in Abyssina. While she was yet in Abyssinia, the Prophet was betrothed to her by the Negus on the latter's earnest request. In the battle of Khaiber in 7A.H., Safiyyah, daughter of a Jewish chief, was one of the prisoners. She lost her husband in the battle. This marriage was out of alliance with the Jewish tribe. Mary the Copt was presented to the Prophet by Muqauqis, king of Egypt. In the same year, Maimuna offered her hand to the Prophet and it was accepted.

(vii) It appears from the above facts and figures that the Prophet continued with one wife in normal circumstances, but in abnormal circumstances, he had to take several wives. Again when the circumstances was normal after the conquest of Mecca, he did not contract any mrrriage up to his death. There was no time for the Prophet for enjoyment during day-time as he spent it in the actual battle-field. During the night, he used to pass time in war camps, and when at home for preparing war plans and religious service. It is seen that he used to spend 2rd or 3rd of the night in prayers and deep meditation. The Quran gives the clearest evidence on the point: Surely your Lord knows that you pass in prayer nearly two-thirds of the night and (some times) half of it, and also a party of those with you—73 : 20Q. There was no time for conjugal luxury. It appears again that the Prophet lived a very simple life. His furnitures in the household consisted of a mat, an earthen jug and a blanket. These were his furnitures when he was the king of Arabia after the conquest of Mecca. He used often to remain in hunger for days together. Being questioned by Fatima, he replied: O darling, this world's life is very little in comparison with the life in the hereafter.[1] His wives once pressed him for worldly comforts.

1. Bosworth smith says: In the shepherd of the desert, in the Syrian trader, in the solitary of Mount Hira, in the reformer in the minority of one, in the exile of Medina, in the acknowledged conqueror, in the equal of the Persian Chosroes and the greek Heracleus, we can still trace a substantial unity. I doubt whether any other man, whose external conditions changed so much, himself ever changed less to meet them, the essence seems to me to be the same in all".

At once the reply came from God : O Prophet ! say to thy wives ; if you desire this world's life and its comforts, come, I will give you a provision and allow you to depart a goodly departing. And if you desire God and His Apostle and the latter abode, then surely God has prepared for the doers of good among you a mighty reward —33 : 48Q. Was this the mental state of a man sexually luxurious ? Such a man would have submitted to the wishes of his beloveds. Then again we see that inspite of deep attachment and love for the accomplished widowed ladies Ayesha, he went to contract marriage with elderly women of common parentage. The women were not known either for their beauty, wealth, youth or parentage, while Ayesha was young, beautiful and wealthy ; and she came from a noble lineage. This conclusively shows that the latter marriages were for reasons other than sexual.

(viii). The reasons are the following :

(1) Firstly, the Prophet came to the world as a model for mankind. So he showed himself in all aspects of human life. He showed that it is sunnat to live with one faithful wife of whatever age in normal circumstances, but a man can have four wives under abnormal circumstances. For instance, in case of the death of males at a time in a war, the prepondering number of widows should be disposed of by matrimonial alliance up to the extent of four at a time. This was what exactly happened also in the last European War.

(2) Secondly, the Holy Prophet came to establish morality and religion in the world. By his forceful integrity of character and strong measures for promiscuous intercourse and abolition of drinking, the whole devilish atmosphere was cleared. How could he see with his eyes wide open so many women, young and old, rendered widows after war adopting corrupt ways to satisfy their natural appetite. If physical preservation is the primary factor, moral preservation is no less important. He awarded death sentences in case of adultery. But he was not forgetful of the human instinct of passion. So he allotted almost all the widows to his companions without number. Whoso was not liked by any companion was granted the favour of becoming Prophet's consort. Hafsa was offered to many including Abu Bakr and Omar but she was disliked for her harsh temper. The Prophet at last accepted her on the earnest entreaty of his redoubtable champion Omar. In this way the society was given a protection from corruption and the moral tone of the Arabs were completely changed. Had these widows been let loose free and unrestrained, the whole atmosphere would have been vitiated with corrupt breaths and the kingdom of God on earth which he came to establish would have been a thing of the past. The Quran says : Allah desires to take away impurity from you, O people of the House, and to purify a thorough purifying – 33 : 33Q.

(3) Thirdly, the protection of these innumerable widows with their children from starvation and ruin was the primary duty on the Prophet. Their maintenance was compulsory on him, as owing to his command and order, their husbands and children joined the warfares and lost lives. Was it not then a duty on the Prophet to maintain them ? So he divided them among his surviving companions for supplying natural needs and he himself took some of the helpless widows.

(4) Fourthly, the Prophet and his companions did not keep these women in their harem without the tie of marriage. Had these women been kept otherwise, we would have termed them to-day as concubines of the Prophet and his companions. The whole world would have cast a disgusting eye on the early Muslims. Could anybody suggest a better remedy for these helpless widows and their orphans ? The Quran therefore says : In order that no blame may attach to you—33 :50Q.

(5) Fifthly, there were innumerable war-prisoners, males and females, that fell into the hands of the Muslims. Majority of them were set free on ransom but some of them were still under protection of the conquering soldiers. Now a-days, they would have been utilised in the ordinary ways, but the World Teacher could not neglect their physical needs. So he had to divide them among his companions by giving them his statues of wives with proper marriage. In this way, the Holy Prophet received Zuwairiyah and Safiyah as wives.

(6) Sixthly, the Muslim males were alarmingly reduced by their being fallen in wars and battles. There were also few Muslims at that time, If the number continued to decrease in this way without addition, Islam would have been effaced from the face of the globe. The Prophet like a true statesman gave by these measures a tremendous impetus to increasing of Muslim babies and girls who turned so many heroes and heroines after the Prophet. By birth as well as by conversion, the Muslims increased to a large extent with leaps and bounds.

(7) Seventhly, there were some marriages for political reasons and for suppressing enmity towards Islam. By the marriage of Zuwairiah, the daughter of an important Arab chief Haris, the whole clan of Banu Mustaliq with their allied tribes were gained over. By the marriage of Safiyah, the daughter of a Jewish chief, the emnity of a section of the Jews towards Islam was suppressed. Then Muqauqis, king of Egypt, presented Mary the Copt from Egypt to the Prophet. By this marriage, political alliance with Egypt of a great magnitude was achieved. Zainab, the mother of the poor, was given in marriage by the Negus in whose territory the early Muslims found refuge. This was also a friendly gesture with a neighbouring king. Some of the other marriages was not also without some political significance.

(8) Eighthly, the Prophet came as a world teacher and with the last will of God. His teachings and doings were all guided by Divine wisdom, The Quran therefore says: And He does not speak out of his free will. It is not but a revelation that is revealed (53 : 3Q). To ensure preservation of his deeds and sayings, both public and private, he supplied him with some devoted companions like Abu Hurairah, Ibn Abbas, Ibn Omar and others. He also introduced into his family by His infinite wisdom women of varied temperaments, so that they might preserve his sayings and deeds. Men may forget many things on account of their constant daily conflicts with the outside world but women can not For this purpose one woman was not sufficient. It required many. Besides there were many questions of Shariat which found promulgation only through the Prophet's wives. This was one of the most important reasons of the Prophet's marriages.

What was then the reason of Ayesha's marriage? She would be able to remember more his deeds owing to her tender age than many who were all aged. She was also expected to live long enough to speak of the Prophet's doings and teachings. Indeed she lived for nearly 48 years after Prophet's death to broadcast his precious sayings. But for this marriage, the world would have lost a great deal of Prophet's sayings. She gave to us some traditions relating to the plays and songs natural to youthful life like her. The reason is explained by the Quran: And remember what is recited (by Prophet) in the houses from the verses of Allah (Quran) and wisdom (Hadis)—33 : 34Q.

(9) The Holy Prophet showed example to mankind

how a young husband should deal with an old wife, an old husbend with a young wife, a virgin husband with a married lady, a married husband with an unmarried lady, a widow with the widowed.

(10) By these marriages, the teaching of intercaste marriage was given, and all distinctions between tribes and tribes on account of birth and parentage were removed. By the marriage of Safiyah, the Prophet showed that a Muslim can marry any girl or woman of different religion and different nationality provided God is recognised as the only object of worship. Thus a Chiristian and a Jewish girl can lawfully be married in Islam.

(ii) The Arabs kept the divorced woman without marriage By marrying Zainab, the divorced woman of the liberated slave Zaid, Prophet not only showed that divorced woman's marriage is lawful but also the fact that a cousin sister can lawfully be married. This was done also to show that an adopted daughter is not the same as the real daughter (see 33 : 37Q,.Jainab was offered to the Prophet when she was a virginn. His refusal shows that his motive for marrying her when divorced was other than self gratification,

(12) He showed an example to the world how a man can live with all the commodities of a complex world, with the kingly throne in the midst of many wives but with a hermit's life without the least attraction for the charms that follow them. He led the same simple life when he was the king of Arabia as when he was a helpless orphan. Not the slightest change was seen in his living. This shows also his mind. The man who lived a life of celibacy up to 25th year of his life and then lived a monogamous life up to a pretty age could turn himself suddenly a prolific and sensuous man when even the passions of a most sensual man becomes cool.

(13) The Prophet did not move an inch from the dictation of the Almighty. The Quran says : I follow naught but what is revealed to me. Surely I fear the chastisement of a mighty day ....Indeed I have lived a life-time (of pure life) among you before it—10 : 15Q. The Prophet lived a life of absolute purity. So he could not change his course. About this the Quran reminds us in the above verse. Again the Quran says : O Prophet ! surely We have made lawful to you your wives—33 : 50Q. In the 7th A. H. after the conquest of Meeca the following verse was revealed : It is not allowed to you to take wives afterwards—33 : 52Q. Again the Muslims were ordered not to marry his wives after Prophet's death—33 : 53Q. Thus it is seen that the Prophet always moved with the dictation of God. It was Divine Purpose that he should take so many wives for reasons best known to God. After all, the Prophet submitted to the Will of God saying : Verily my prayer, my sacrifice, my life and my death are all for Allah, the Lord of the Universe—6 : 163Q.

Quranic references about Prophet's wives. 'O Prophet ! say to your wives : If you desire this world's life and its grandeurs, then come, I will give you a provision and allow you to depart a goodly departing. And if you desire Allah and His Apostle and the latter abode, then surely Allah has prepared for the doers of good among you a mighty reward. O wives of the Prophet ! whoso of you commits an open indecency, the chastisment shall be increased to her doubly. And this is easy to Allah. And whoever of you is obedient to Allah and His Apostle, We will give her reward doubly, and We have prepared for her an honourable provision. O wives of the Prophet ! you are not like any other women. If you fear God, then be not soft in speech, lest he in whose heart is a disease yearns, and speak good word. And stay in your houses and do not display your finery the displaying of the Days of Ignorance and keep up prayer and pay Zakat and obey Allah and His Apostle. Allah only desires to take away uncleanliness from you, O people of the Household, and to purify you a thorough purifying. And keep in memory what is recited in your houses of the verses of Allah and the wisdom. Verily Allah is Knower of secrets, Aware—33 : 28 to 34Q. Zainab's marriage : We gave her (Zainab) to you as wife, so that there should be no difficulty for the believers in respect of the wives of their adopted sons .... There is no harm in the Prophet doing that which Allah has ordained for him, an ordinance of Allah with respect to those who have gone before—33 : 37 - 38Q. After the conquest of Mecca, it was revealed : It is not lawful for you to take wives afterwards, nor you should change them for other wives—33 : 52Q. And it does not befit you that you should give trouble to the Apostle of Allah, nor that you should marry his wives ever after him—33 : 53Q.

Then he informed me that I shall be the leader of the women of the heaven-dwellers except Mary, daughter of Imran, and so I laughed. —Trimizi.

CHAPTER XLVI

2520. His Companions

(a) Who are the companions of the Prophet? There is a little divergence of views as to who can rightly be called the companions of the Holy Prophet. Al Bukhari included within this class all those persons who had association with the Prophet or saw him even once. The author of Mazhari-Hoq included all those persons who had prolonged association with the Prophet, joined the holy wars and were taught by him. He said that at least six months companionship with the Prophet is a necessary condition of being a companion. It has, however, been narrated by Abu Mansur Bagdadi in Sharhi Sunnat that according to the unanimous decision of the jurists, every one who saw the Prophet is a companion but their rank is different according to the length of their association with the Prophet and their intensity of devotion. This seems to us the correct definition of the word "companions". According to the above formula, the Sharhi Sunnat gives the following order of rank . (1) Abu Bakr, (2) Omar, (3) Osman, (4) Ali, (5) the remaining companions who were given good news of Paradise in life, (6) those Gazis who took part in the battle of Badr, (7) those who took allegiance of Ridwan, (9) those who took allegiance at Aqabah, (10) the early converts, and (11) those who prayed towards two Qiblas (Jerusalem and Mecca). As the Prophets have got different ranks according to the verse 2 · 253 of the Quran, the companions also have got ranks according to the respective attainments of virtues and their struggles for Islam.

(b) The rank of the Companions and its reason. According to the Holy Quran and Hadis, the rank of the companions of the Prophet is greater than that of his other followers. Nobody among the latter generations will be able to surpass them in pious deeds and heroic self-sacrifices. The Quran says about their rank in the following verses :—Allah is pleased with them and they are pleased with Him—98 : 8Q. And as for the foremost, the first of the Refugees and the Helpers, and those who follow them in goodness, Allah is well-pleased with them and they are well-pleased with Him, and He has prepared for them paradise beneath which rivers flow, to abide in them for ever. That is the mighty achievement—9 : 100Q. Muhammad is the Apostle of Allah, and those with him are firm of heart against the unbelievers, but kind among themselves ; you will see them bowing down, prostrating themselves, seeking grace from Allah and pleasure, their marks are in their faces because of the effect of prostration ... .Allah has promised those among them who believe and do good forgiveness and a great reward—48 : 29Q. You are the best of nations raised up for men ; you enjoin what is right and prohibit the wrong and believe in Allah—3 : 109Q. Certainly Allah is well-pleased with the believers when they swore allegiance to you under the tree—48 : 18Q. Allah has promised to those of you who believe and do good that He will make them rulers in the earth—24 : 55Q. They shall have forgiveness and honourable sustenance—24 : 26Q. The traditions say about the merits of the Companions :—The best of my people is my generation, next those who will succeed them, next those who will succeed them—46 : 5. My companions are a trust of my people - 46 : 3. Honour my companions because they are the best among you—46 : 6. The parable of my companions is like salt in food—46 : 698w. Don't rebuke my companions—46 : 1. Whoso gives them trouble, gives me trouble—46 : 8. Whoso among you shall live after me will soon see many differences of opinion. You shall then hold fast to my ways and the ways of the rightly guided conscientious Caliphs. Adhere to them—1 : 101. Surely the Israilites were divided into 72 sects and my people will be divided into 73 sects. Each of them will remain in the fire except one sect. They enquired : O Ms. of Allah ! which is that ? He said : That on which I and my companions stand—1 : 112. Then see the traditions of this section.

Why is so great a rank for the companions of the Prophet ? The reason is obvious. The companions were those bands of zealous devouts who played the most important role in the grand superstructure of the edifice of Islam and were put to the brutal, tortures but still cried 'Ahadun, Ahadun (One God, One God)'. There were some of the early converts who were cruelly torn to pieces by the unkind hand of the enemies or otherwise butchered but still they did not renounce their dear faith and their dear Prophet. Every one of Muslim Brotherhood brought all their resources towards the cause of Allah and his Apostle. They smiling courted death and tortures for Islam, and upon their bloods, the foundation of Islam was deeply laid. But for their heroic deeds and unparallelled sacrifices, Islam would have been nipped in the bud. When the Holy Prophet migrated to live at Medina as a self-imposed exile, all of his companions left their hearth and home and their centuries old love for their native land to share in the turmoils of their dear master. Not a drop of tears fell down, not an inkling of disinclination crossed their minds. At a time when Islam stood in danger of being totally annihilated from the surface of the globe, the entire bands of companions turned so many heroes and heroines and threw themselves headlong in the path of danger and death to save Islam. There were occasions more than one when the Prophet was surrounded on all sides by the blood-thirsty enemies but some of his companions stood as a bulwark against the attack on his person receiving as many as seventy wounds or more. Again in the hours of victory and conquest, they led the same devotional life. Nothing could change their saintly character and conduct. No glamour of wealth could divert their attention from the merchandise of God. Only one bond tied them firmly—the bond of Islam, the bond of fraternity and brotherhood. Electricity of divine love ran in their veins and their slogan was 'to do or die' for Islam and for cause of God. Their virtues however, shone forth after the demise of the Holy Prophet just as the brightness of the stars in the firmament appear after the disappearance of the sun. The borrowed light from the Sun of Arabia manifested itself in different directions and dissipated the intense darkness that prevailed throuhout the world. The companions drank deep in the moral and spiritual fountain of the Holy Prophet and spread all over the globe to distribute the divine light. Being imbued with this idea, they smashed to pieces the devilish empires of Persia and Byzantium within 10 years after the death of their master and hoisted the banner of Tauhid and Allaho Akbar in the palaces of the Chosroes and Caesars. Though few meeting armies in the battle field often double, treble, four times or more, they still became victorious. The secret of their success was their ardent and sincere desire to help the cause of God. In the day time, they were heroes and warriors striking terror and fear into the minds of the enemies, but in the night they turned so many saints and angels bowing and prostrating before the Lord with hearts most sincere. Never did they lie on beds of comforts but on beds of pricks and thorns in order to get the rose of Islam and to diffuse its fragrance.The path which was strewn with innumerable shrubs was made clear by their indefatigable labour. Do they not then deserve the rank promised by the Quran and Hadis ? Compare now the present Muslims who ostensibly declare from platforms and presses to die for Islam, but when the clarion call of Islam comes, they turn round with some excuse or other. It is therefore not at all unreasonable that the rank of the companions is higher than the most pious and dutiful of us – the companions who moved with the Prophet, lived with the Prophet, imbibed the true spirit of Islamic teachings and were ever ready at the first signal of danger to sacrifice their lives and worldly resources.

1. Abu Sayeed al-khodri reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Don't rebuke my companions. If some one of you spends as much gold as the Uhud, he will not reach (the reward of) one 'mud' of anyone of them, nor half of it. 2521

I asked : O Apostle of Allah ! what are their signs ? He said : They will exaggerate for you what is not in you and they will abuse the predecessors. 2521a

3. Abu Burdah reported from his father who said : He (that is the Prophet) raised his head towards heaven, and he used often to raise his head towards heaven, and said : The stars are a trust for heaven. So when the stars set in, there comes to heaven what it was promised. I am a trust for my companions. When I shall go, there will come to my companions what they were promised ; and

4. Abu Sayeed al-Khodri reported that the Apostle of Allah said : A time will come over people (when) a party of people will fight and ask : Is there among you anyone who has kept company with the Apostle of Allah ? They will reply : Yes. Then there will be victory for them. Thereafter a time will come over the people (when) a party of the people will fight, and it will be questioned : Is there anyone among you who has kept company with the companions of the Apostle of Allah ? They will say : Yes. Then there will be victory for them. Thereafter a time will come over the people (when) a party of the people will fight. It will be asked : Is there anyone among you who has kept company with one who kept company with the companions of the Apostle of Allah ? They will say : Yes. Then there will be victory for them.

عَنْ اَبِی سَعِیدِ نِ الْخُدْرِیِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم یَاْتِی عَلَی النَّاسِ زَمَانٌ فَیَغْزُوا فِئَامٌ مِنَ النَّاسِ فَیَقُولُونَ هَلْ فِیکُمْ صَاحِبُ رَسُولِ اللّٰهِ صلعم فَیَقُولُونَ نَعَمْ فَیُفْتَحُ لَهُمْ ثُمَّ یَاْتِی عَلَی النَّاسِ زَمَانٌ فَیَغْزُوا فِئَامٌ مِنَ النَّاسِ فَیُقَالُ هَلْ فِیکُمْ مَنْ صَاحَبَ اَصْحَابَ رَسُولِ اللّٰهِ صلعم فَیَقُولُونَ نَعَمْ فَیُفْتَحُ لَهُمْ ثُمَّ یَاْتِی عَلَی النَّاسِ زَمَانٌ فَیَغْزُوا فِئَامٌ مِنَ النَّاسِ فَیُقَالُ هَلْ فِیکُمْ مَنْ صَاحَبَ مَنْ صَاحَبَ اَصْحَابَ رَسُولِ اللّٰهِ صلعم فَیَقُولُونَ نَعَمْ فَیُفْتَحُ لَهُمْ مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَیْهِ وَفِی رِوَایَةٍ لِمُسْلِمٍ

2522. The Prophet is like the sun that arose in the central horizon of Arabia and his companions are like stars. Before the radiant ray of the sun, the intense darkness disappears and the light of the stars is not seen ; but when the sun disappears, the stars afford guidance. Similarly when the Prophet disappeared, his companions were the examples to be followed. With the disappearance of the sun as well as the stars, there comes darkness. Similarly with the disappearance of the companions, there will arise troubles and calamities. These prophecies have been literally fulfilled.

Agreed upon. And in a narration of Muslim: He said: A time will come over the people from whom a detachment of an army will be sent. They will ask: Look; do you find among you anyone from the companions of the Apostle of Allah? A man will be found and there will be victory for them. Thereafter a second detachment will be sent. They will ask: Is there anyone among you who saw the companions of the Prophet? He will be found and then there will be victory for them. Thereafter a third detachment will be sent and it will be asked: Look, do you see anyone among you who saw one who had seen the companions of the Prophet? Thereafter the fourth detachment will appear. It will be asked: Look, do you find anyone among you who has seen one who saw one who had seen the companions of the Prophet? Then a man will be found and there will be victory for him.[2522]

2522a. This tradition proves that the first three generations are the best among the generations of the Muslims. In the next tradition, the best generation is up to the death of the Prophet, the next best is the time from after his death till 120 A. H, when the last of the companions died, the next best is the time from 120 A. H. to 170 A. H., and the next best is the time from 170 A. H. to 218 A. H. After the year 218 A. H., the prophecy is that the downfall would begin. It appears in history that the glorious reign of the Abbaside Caliphs ended with the death of Caliph Al-Mamun which occurred in 218 A. H, or 833 A. D. Thereafter the philosophic theories were let loose, the Mutazilites appeared giving currency to the useless controversy whether the Quran was created or not, the force of Prophet's sunnat was greatly lessened and the weakness of Muslim solidarity and rule began till Bagdad was ransacked by Hulagu in 640 A. H.

5. Imran-b-Hussain reported that the Apostle of Allah said : The best of my people is my generation, next those who will succeed them, next those who will succeed them ; next after them a people who will testify without being asked to testify, who will commit treachery without being trusted, who will make vows with no fulfilment, and fortune will flourish among them. And in a narration : They will take oath without being asked to take. And in a narration of Muslim from Abu Hurairah : Thereafter there will come a people who will love opulence.[2522b]

2525. Hazrat Abu Bakr[1]

He was the first Caliph of the Islamic Common-wealth after the demise of the Holy Prophet. The word 'Caliph' means the vicar and lieutenant of the Prophet, and as such he was the temporal and spiritual leader of the then Muslims and ruled truly on behalf of the Prophet according to the lines and policies dictated by him. On being unanimously elected to the head of the Common-wealth after the demise of the Prophet on 13th Rabiul Awal, 11 A.H. (8th June, 532 A. D), he proclaimed: I shall follow the footsteps of the Apostle of Allah in all of my affairs. I shall act as the lieutenent of the Prophet and hence I take the title of Caliph (Vicar).

During the time of the Prophet, Abu Bakr was his most faithful companion. He followed him like a shadow in his struggles, difficulties as well as in his joys. He followed him in the Cave at the risk of life. Hence he was given the title of "The Companion of the cave." He was with the Holy Prophet in all the holy wars and placed all his wealth and properties for the cause of Islam. On being questioned as to what he had left for his family after the gifts, he replied: Allah and His Apostle. He won the title of Siddiq (extremely truthful), Atiq (freed from the fire) and Afzalul Bashar (the best of men). He was the first to accept Islam among the elders.

Immediately on his accession, wide spread rebellion broke out in every part of Arabia, but he quelled it with a firm hand. He fought with the tribes of Asad, Gafun, Tay and Banu Khazira who refused to pay Zakat and brought them under subjugation. In Yemen, Musailamah and his followers were routed in a several battle. In Oman, Laqit-b-Malek raised the standard of revolt and collected large armies. They were also brought under control. In 633 A.D, the Caliph, being exasperated by the Romans and the Persians, sent an army under Khalid-b-Walid to Syria, and another under Mosanna to Persia. Before the final termination of the struggles, the Caliph died in Medina on the 22nd Jamadis Sani, 13 A. H. (23rd August 634 A.D.) after a brief rule of 2 years and 4 months. He left only 5 gold coins. Before his death, he nominated Omar as his successor with the consent of all the people.

In rank, Abu Bakr was the foremost because of his virtues and sacrifices. Even the great Omar and other companions recognised his greatness (46 : 13, 699w). The Prophet said that if he would have taken anyone as a friend, he would have taken Abu Bakr as a friend, and that Abu Bakr's faith was greater than that of others--46 : 36. Abu Bakr among the Muslims will first enter Paradise—46 : 25. Abu Bakr and Omar will be the leaders of the elderly peoples in Paradise after the prophets—46 : 29. The Prophet left instruction to us to follow Abu Bakr and Omar (46 : 30), as they were his true ministers in this world—46 : 35.

There shall be left no window in the mosque but the window of Abu Bakr. And in a narration: Were I to take a dearest friend besides my Lord, I would certainly take Abu Bakr as the dearest friend. 2525a —Agreed.

surrounding it. The Prophet ordered all the doors to be closed for privacy of himself and the mosque and avoiding noise of the passersby save and except the door of Abu Bakr as a mark of respect for his trusted friend. This was uttered at the time of his last illness of which he died.

2526. This was uttered 3 or 4 days before the death of the Prophet. Probably the Prophet meant to record his nomination for the Khilafat, and that for Abu Bakr, but he did not do it perhaps by the dictation of the Almighty. His intention was afterwards fulfilled as Abu Bakr was unanimously elected to the office. Humaidi said in his book that after the word 'Ana', the word 'Aola' occurs. This would then mean : I am more suitable (for Khilafat).

15. Amr-b al-As reported : The Prophet sent him in command of an army to Zat al-Sa'asil. He said : I came to him and asked : Who among the people is dearest to you ? He said : Ayesha. I asked : Out of the males ? He said : Her father. I asked : Who is next ? He said : Omar. He then gave an account of some men. Then I remained silent lest he should make me the last of them. 2526a 2526a. The Prophet sent Amr-b-al A's as commander of an army which consisted of Abu Bakr, Omar and other famous companions. As a result of the fight which took place at Zul-Salasil at 8 A. H., the Muslims were victorious and naturally Amr thought that he turned to be the dearest companion of the Prophet. In order to get this declaration, he asked this question to the Prophet but he received a reply quite contrary to his expectation. The Prophet thus held different men at different times to be dearest to him, but these were all meant to please his companions.

As for his night, it was a night in which he travelled with the Apostle of Allah to the cave. When they both reached it, he said : By Allah. don't enter it till I enter before you. If there is anything in it, it will sting me and not you. So he entered and swept it but found holes in its corner. Then he tore his trousers to pieces and shut them up therewith. There remained two holes open) out of them. He put his two legs upon them and then said to the Apostle of Allah : Enter. Then the Apostle of Allah entered. He placed his head upon his lap and fell asleep. Abu Bakr was then bitten (by a scorpoin) in his leg from the whole but he did not move fearing lest he should make awake the Apostle of Allah. His tears fell upon the face of the Prophet. He said : What is the matter with you, O Abu Bakr ? He said : I have been bitten. May my father and mother be ransomed to thee ! The Prophet threw (his) spit and so what he felt disappeared. Thereafter it appeared afresh over him and it was the cause of his death. As for his day, when the Prophet died, the Arabs

2531. Hazrat Omar

Hazrat Omar accepted Islam in the 5th year of the Call. He was commissioned to take the head of the Prophet by the enemies of Islam but the great Omar fell an easy victim to the spiritual force of Islam when he heard some verses of the Quran from his sister. He was a very brave and stern man. Immediately after his conversion, he began to pray with the other Muslims in public and courted the consequent dangers. He joind in the Holy wars and exerted his utmost for the spread of Islam.

On his ascent to the office of Khilafat as a result of both nomination by Abu Bakr and election by the people, he, in order to establish a permanent home for Islam and quell insurrections and revolutions, conquered as many as 36000 towns and constructed 19000 pulpits for broadcasting Islamic teachings. Under his rule, Damascus, Hamma, Aleppo, Acre, Gaza, Jerusalem and all other towns of Syria and Byzantine empires were conquered. In the battles of Qadessia and Nahawand, the whole empire of the Chosroes came under the sway of the Muslims. In 649 A. D., Egypt was conquered under the command of Amr-b-al A's. After a glorious and firm rule for 10 years and some months, he fell a victim to the sword of an assassin while he was praying in the mosque and died on 27th Zilhaj, 23 A. H. after leaving a council consisting of Ali, Osman, Sa'ad, Talhah, Zubair and Abdur Rahiman to elect the next Caliph.

He followed in all affairs the footsteps of his two predecessors, the Holy Prophet and Abu Bakr, and was strictly just and pious. The conquest could not prevent him from deviating from the path of simplicity and renunciation. His justice and impartiality are proverbial. He used to wear coarse cloth and torn shirts. He had no palace or bodyguard but slept often in the mosque or on its steps, Such was the mighty Omar. The Prophet therefore said : Had there been a Prophet after me, it would have been Omar—46 : 46. Abu Bakr and Omar are my hearing and sight—46 : 33. The devil even feared Omar—46 : 38. Verily Allah placed truth upon the tongue of Omar—46 : 43. References—16 : 93 to 96, 108, 710w, 144, 168, p. 73 of Book 1, 46 : 22 to 50.

He said: May Allah keep thy teeth laughing, O Apostle of Allah! The Prophet said: I wonder at these (women) who were near me. When they heard your voice, they went in haste behind the curtain. Omar said: O enemies of yourselves! do you fear me and fear not the Apostle of Allah? We said: Yes. Thou art sterner and harder. The Apostle of Allah said: Heark, O son of Khattab. By One in whose hand there is my life, the devil does never meet you by walking a way but he treads a way other than your way. — Agreed.

39. Jaber reported that the Prophet said: I entered Paradise when lo! I was by Rumaisa,[2532a] wife of Abu Talhah. I heard the sounds of steps and so I asked: Who is he? He said: He is bilal. I saw a palace with a young girl by its 2532. To raise up voice above the voice of the Prophet is an offence. The Quran says: O those who believe! do not raise up your voices above the voice of the Prophet (49 : 2Q). Hence in apprehension, the women fled from presence of Omar. They however liked to chat with the Prophet as he was mild. The Quran says: Had you been rough, hard-hearted, they would have dispersed from you (3 : 158Q).

There were on them shirts some of which reached to the breasts and some below that. And Omar-b-al Khattab was presented to me with a shirt on him which he was drawing. They asked : O Apostle of Allah ! how have you interpreted it ? He said : The religion.[2533] —Agreed.

Thereafter I gave my excess (water) to Omar-b-al Khattab. They asked : How have you interpreted it, O Apostle of Allah ? He said : Knowledge.[2533a] —Agreed.

2533. As cloth protects the body, so religion protects a man's morals. Omar will have the largest government. In other orders, during his rule, the religion of Islam will spread to a great extent and countries will be conquered.

2533a. Knowledge is the food of soul, while milk of the body. Thus Omar was supplied with the best food of soul and deep understanding of religion and state-craft.

42. Abu Hurairah reported: I heard the Apostle of Allah say: While I was asleep, I saw myself upon a wooden pulley with bucket thereon. I drew (water) therefrom what Allah wished. Thereafter the son of Abu Qahafah (Abu Bakr) took it and drew therefrom a bucketful (or two) and there was weakness in his drawing. May Allah forgive his weakness! Thereafter it changed into a big bucket and Ibnul Khattab took it. I did not see the strongest of the people drawing the drawing of Omar, till the people fixed the resting-place (of camels). And in a narration of Ibn Omr, he said: Thereafter Ibnul Khattab took it from the hand of Abu Bakr and it became changed into a big bucket in his hand. I did not see the strongest man do a deed like his till the people drank heartily and fixed the (camels') resting-place.[2534] —Agreed.

This exactly happened, as Abu Bakr ruled for 2 years and odd, while Omar for 10 years and 3 months. It may also signify that the Prophet is a fountain of knowledge from which Abu Bakr could have strength to draw or distribution after his death only for a short time, while Omar for a long time.

According to the suggestion of Omar, God revealed the three verses—One about prayer in the standing-place of Abraham, another regarding the drawing of screen and the third about the Prophet's wives. These are respectively the verses 2 : 125, 33 : 59 and 33 : 51 of the Quran. (i) The standing-place of Abraham is a piece of stone which preserves the foot-mark of Abraham when he rebuilt the Ka'ba with his son Ismail. (ii) The revelation that came down in conection with the Prophet's wives was this. The Prophet once went to Zainab's room and took a drink of honey at her request. Hazrats Ayesha and others came to know of it and they hatched up a plan to say to the Prophet when he would come that a bad smell had been coming out of his mouth. Then Omar suggested to deliver them the news of divorce. At once the revelation came threatening them with divorce if they would treat the Prophet in that way.

That man has got the highest rank in Paradise among my followers. Abu Sayeed said : By Allah, we don't find that man except Omar-b al-Khattab till he went on his way. —Ibn Majah

Then you have kept company with Abu Bakr and made good your companionship with him. Thereafter you left him while he was pleased with you. Thereafter you have kept company with the Muslims and you have made good your companionship with them ; and if you leave them, you will certainly leave them whil e they will be pleased with you. Then the Almighty Allah revealed: But for the ordinance of Allah that preceded, a great chastisement would certainly have overtaken you for that.[2537]—And for mentioning the screen.

He was moreover overpowered with a sense that he had committed some sins for which he would very soon meet with Allah. He was uttering this after placing his head on the lap of his son Abdullah. He was absolutely forgetful of his own merits.

He ordered the wives of the Prophet to remain behind the screen. Zainab said to him : O Ibnul Khattab, you are certainly against us, while revelation come down in our houses. Then the Almighty Allah revealed : And when you seek commodities from them, seek from them from behind the screen.—And for the invocation of the Prophet : O Allah, help Islam by Omar and with his judgment. As for Abu Bakr, he was the first of men to owe allegiance to him. —Ahmad.

2538. Hazrat Osman

Hazrat Osman was elected by the committee appointed by Hazrat Omar to be the third Caliph in Muharram, 24 A. H. (Nov. 644 A.D). He married two daughters of the Prophet one after another and was one of the early converts and the most devoted companions. During his time, he prepared many copies of the Holy Quran out of the copy prepared by Hazrat Abu Bakr and kept with the Prophet's wife Hafsa, and distributed them to the differnt corners of the Islamic world.

During his time, Tripoly was conquered by Abdullah, viceroy of Egypt. In 27 A.H., the land of Andulusia was added to the Islamic territory by Abdullah-b-Nafe'. In another direction, the Viceroy of Syria conquered by a navy the island of Cyprus, At that time, rebellion and insurrections broke out throughout the Muslim world as a result of weak administration of the Caliph and adoption of some unwise policies regarding appointments. The insurgents of Egypt, Kufa and Bosra were so much agitated that they marched towards Medina. Owing to the entreaty of Hazrats Ali and his sons Hasan and Hussain, they returned to their destination, but before they reached their lands, they came to know from a secret letter of Merwan, the prime minister of the Caliph, that the latter had ordered them to be murdered. This added fuel to the fire. They demanded the surrender of Merwan but the Caliph refused. As a result, some assassins entered the house of Osman and killed him while he was reading the Quran. On the third day after murder, he was interred in a place near Baqiy at Medina.

He was pious and charitable—46 : 55, 57. He had a very beautiful physique with long beard and commanded respect. He was extremly shy and shameful. The Prophet said that his constant companion in Paradise will be Osman—46 : 51. His references—46 : 94, 95, 96, 108.

53. Ayesha reported : The Apostle of Allah was (once) lying in his house uncovering his thighs (or shankles). [2539] Abu Bakr asked leave and he was granted while he was in that condition and held talk. Thereafter Omar asked leave (to enter) and he was granted leave while he was in that condition and he held talk. Thereafter Osman asked leave. The Apostle of Allah sat and arranged his cloth. When he went out, Ayesha asked : Abu Bakr entered and you did not take care of him, nor pay attention to him. Thereafter Omar entered and you did not take care of him, nor pay attention to him. Thereafter Osman entered and then you sat and arranged your cloth. He said : Shall I not feel shame in presence of a man before whom the angels feel shame ? And in a narration, he said : Verily Osman was a bashful man, and

2544. Hazrat Ali

Hazrat Ali was the first among the youths to accept Islam. He lived in the Prophet's household in his youth and was a constant companion of the Prophet and the most obedient. In Safar, 2 A. H., he married the Prophet's daughter Fatimah at the age of 21 years. He had the fortune of joining almost all the holy wars and showed heroism and valour unprecedented in the annals of Islam. He drank deep in the fountain of divine morals and got inspiration and guidence directly from the Prophet himself.

Three days after the assasination of the Caliph Osman, Hazrat Ali was unanimously elected to the head of the Islamic common wealth. The Viceory of Syria, namely Muwayiah, did not accept him as the Caliph of Islam and began to plot secretly against him. Meanwhile, Ayesha was instigated against Ali by Talhah and Zubair who were refused governorships of Kufa and Syria They marched against Ali inspite of the latter's request to avoid bloodshed for the common cause of Islam, and the 'Battle of the camel' was the result. Ali was victorious, while Talhah and Zubair lost their lives in the struggle. Muwayiah thereafter declared him as the Caliph of the common wealth of Islam with the help of the people of Syria. Ali tried his best to effect a compromise but it proved a failure. He had, therefore, to march towards Damascus against Muwayiah. In the battle, Muwayiah and Ali wanted a compromise and hence Amr and Abu Musa were appointed arbitrators. But the arbitrator Amr played a trick and hence no compromise could be effected. There arose a sect called the Kharijites against Ali but they retreated after defeat. In the meantime Muwayiah tried his level best to conquer the countries ruled by Ali and consequently Ali was murdered to the overwhelming grief of the Muslim world on Friday, the 27th Ramzan, 40 A. H.

After the murder of Hazrat Ali, there crept in the universal brotherhood of Islam the curse of internecine strife and discord, and the Muslim solidarity which was cemented with the labour of 23 years by the Prophet was torn to pieces by angry passions and love of power. The evils arose from the greed of earthly advancements and the revolutionary instincts of individuals and classes impatient of moral law and order.

Hazrat Ali was dearest to the Prophet among the males—45 : 22. He was to the Prophet what Aaron was to Moses 46 : 67. The Prophet also said : Ali is from me and I am from him. Ali is one of the ten who received good news of Paradise—46 : 95. The Prophet prayed for Ali : O Allah ! take the truth with him wherever he takes abode—46 : 108. Other references—46 : 94, 710w, 138, 147, 168, 169.

said : Where is Ali-b Abi Taleb ? They said : O Apostle of Allah ! he is complaining of his eyes. He said : Send for him. He was brought and the Prophet spat in his eyes and then he became cured till there was no pain with him. He gave the standard to him. Ali said : O Apostle of Allah ! I shall fight with them until they become like us. He said : Advance upon thy feet till you come down upon their lawn. Then call them towards Islam and inform them what duty towards God will be incumbent upon them. By Allah, that Allah should guide one man through you is better than that there shohld be for you the red (most valuable) of camels.

When he will intend to move his hand to take meal, go to the lamp to (pretend to) put it aright and then put it out. She did accordingly. They sat down and the guest took meal. They both passed the night hungry. When it was dawn, he went to the Apostle of Allah. The Prophet said : Allah has indeed become pleased (or Allah has laughed) with so and so female. CHAPTER XLVII

In this chapter, the Holy Prophet described some qualities and virtues of some particular nations and tribes in a general sense. This, however, cannot in any way affect the general rule of the Holy Quran that "the most honourable man to Allah from amongst you is the one who is the most pious of you - 49 : 13Q", and that "the believers are but brethren—49 : 10Q." The descriptions of some nations and tribes are given below in alphabetical order.

Ansars (helpers) : These were the tribes of Aus and Khazraj amalgamated together by the Holy Prophet, and they were givent his name on account of the help and shelter they gave to the Prophet and to those who migrated with him known generally as 'Refugees or Muhajirs.' The were a zealous band of divines and warriors who went through thick and thin and risked their lives and resources for the establishment of the Islamic faith. The Prophet did not leave them and their city until his demise. Their virtues have been recorded in traditions—46 : 128 to 151, 162 to 164, 174, 175, 47 : 7,22 The Quran says : As for those who believed and fled and struggled hard in Allah's way, and those who gave shelter and help —these are the true believers. They shall have forgivenes and honourable provision—8 : 74Q. Arabs : Islam will return to Hejaz in latter times as a servant recoils to its hole—1 : 111. Arabia is for Islam—23 : 217. No two religions in Arabia—23 : 147 ; 34 : 13Qa. There will be no polytheism in Arabia—23 : 229 ; 44 : 179 ; 36 : 151. Don't hate the Arabs—47 : 19. Prophet will not intercede for a hater of Arabs—47 : 20. Their destruction before the Hour—47 : 21. Aslam : Prophet prayed for their security—47 : 6. Their friend is Allah and His Prophet—46 : 7. Ashja'a : Thier friend is Allah and His Prophet—47 : 6. Asad : This is a powerful tribe who are fierce in battle and faithful . 47 : 22. Azd : They are army of Allah—47 : 13 and they are trustworthy —47 : 22. Ash'ars : They are also fierce in battle and faithful—47 : 22. Dausees : There is no good in them—47 : 18, East : Majority of the eastern people are infidels—48 : 2. Calamities will appear from the east—48 : 3. The eastern people are hard hearted and harsh—48 : 4. Foreigners (non-Arabs) : Some of the non-Arabs are more faithful to the Prophet than some Arabs—46 : 167. Gefar : Prophet prayed for their forgiveness—47 : 6. 2571. The Jews and Christians.

The Jews and the Christians who are the followers of the Prophet Moses and Christ respectively are primarily meant by the Quran and Hadis to be the people of the Book. There were prophets previous to Moses and Jesus Christ and they had followers but as they are now generally extinct, they find no special mention. The Jews got the revealed book Torah, and the Christians the Gospel (Injil) according to Islam, but as the Quran revealed to the last Prophet Muhammad contains all the teachings of the Torah and the Gospel (both known as the Bible), and as Muhammad is the World Prophet, and in view of the fact that alterations and interpolations have been made in the Bible, the Jews and Christians should follow now the Quran and Muhammad (P.H). Some of the verses of the Quran and the traditions relating to the Jews and Christians are given below :—Don't believe the people of the Book, nor disbelieve them but say : We believe in Allah, and in what has been revealed to us, and in that which was revealed to Abraham etc. 3 . 83Q. Certainly you will find the most violent of people in enmity for the believers to be the Jews and the polytheists, and you will certainly find the nearest in friendship to the believers to be those who say : We are Christians ; this is because there are priests and monks among them and because they do not behave proudly—5 : 82Q. There will remain hatred among the Christians themselves up to the Resurrection Day—5 : 14Q. The Jews and Christians will believe inIslambefore Jesus's death after his second advent. The Quran says. And there will remain no people of the Book but will certainly believe in this (Islam) before his (Jesus) death—3 : 159Q. Those Christians who say "Jesus is Allah" are polytheists - 5 :17Q. The true Christians will always prevail over the unbelievers. The Quran says : O Jesus !.....I will make those who follow yon above those who disbeileve upto the day of Resurrection—3 : 53Q. They made alterations in the Torah and Gospel—3 : 70Q ; 5 : 13Q. The Christians look Jesus as God—18 : 102Q. Whoso amoug these will believe will enter Paradise (2 : 62Q), and whoso disbelieves will enter the fire—1 : 16, 17. Don't believe but in him who follows your religion—3 : 72Q. O you who believe ! do not take the Jews and the Christians as friends ; they are friends of each other ; and whoso amongst you takes them for a friend, then surely he is one of them—5 : 51Q. The Muslims will fight in latter days with the Jews—39 : 35, 9 : 136. Act in opposition to the Jews—3 : 76. Don't first salute the Jews and Christians—5 : 35a. Don't imiate the Jews and the Christians—5 : 23 : 6 : 30. The Muslims in latter days will strictly follow the Jews and Christians inspite of instructions of the Quran to the contrary—1 : 112 ; 39 : 30.

Let us all stand on a common platform saying : "We shall not serve any but Allah, we shall not associate aught with him ; some of us shall not take others as lords besides Allah—3 : 63Q.

1. Abu Hurairah reported that the Prophet said : The people are the followers of the Quraish in this matter. A Muslim among them (people) is the follower of a Muslim among them (Quraish), and an infidel among them is a follower of an infidel among them.[2572] —Agree !.

عن ابى هريرة ان النبى صلعم قال الناس تبع لقريش فى هذا الشان مسلمهم تبع لمسلمهم وكافرهم تبع لكافرهم* (متفق عليه)

2. Jaber reported that the Apostle of Allah said : The people are the followers of the Quraish in good and evil.—Muslim.

عن جابر ان النبى صلعم قال الناس تبع لقريش فى الخير والشر* (مسلم)

3. Ibn Omar reported that the Prophet said : This affair[2573] will continue among the Quraish so long as there remain even two of them.

عن ابن عمر ان النبى صلعم قال لا يزال هذا الامر فى قريش مابقى منهم اثنان * (متفق عليه)

4. Muwayiah reported : I heard the Apostle of Allah say : Verily this affair is among the Quraish. Nobody will go hostile to them but Allah will turn him upon his face so long as they establish the religion.

عن معاوية قال سمعت رسول الله صلعم يقول ان هذا الامر فى قريش لا يعاديهم احد الا كبه الله على وجهه ما اقاموا الدين * (البخارى)

2572. The Quraish are the foremost in matters of religion, either in the religion of Islam or in infidelity. In other words, the Muslims among the Quraish are foremost among the Muslims in the world in matters religious, and the infidels among the Quraish are also the foremost in infidelity among the infidels of the world.

2573. This affair means the affairs of the goverment and administration. This is a prophecy that the Quraish will rule even if there remain two of them living in the world. This is conditional upon the Quraish establishing the religion of Islam and following it. This is corroborated by the next tradition.

5. Jaber-b-Samorah reported: I heard the Apostle of Allah say: Islam shall not case to be glorious up to twelve Caliphs, everyone of them coming from the Quraish. And in a narration: The affairs of men will not cease to decline so long as twelve men will rule over them, everyone of them coming from the Quraish. And in a narration: The religion will continue to be established till the Hour comes; or twelve Caliphs, everyone of them coming from the Quraish, will rule over them.[2574] — Agreed.

6. Ibn Omar reported that the Apostle of Allah said: As for the Gefar tribe, Allah has forgiven them; and as for the Aslam, Allah has saved them; and as for Usayyah, they are rebellious to Allah and his Apostle.[2575] — Agreed.

عن ابن عمر قال قال رسول الله صلعم غفار غفر الله لها واسلم سالمها الله وعصية عصت الله ورسوله * (متفق عليه)

2574. It seems from this hadis that Islam will flourish up to the 12th Caliph all coming from the tribe of the Quraish. This takes us to the Khilafat of Walid, the Ommeyyade. It appears, however, that Yezid and his successors did not rule with justice and equity and strictly according to Islamic Shariat. Hence different interpretations arose out of this tradition. The Shias say that this applies to spiritual matters. The Caliphs, according to them, are the following:—Hazrats Ali, Hasan, Hussain, Zainal Abedin, Muhammad Baqer, Ja'far Sadeq, Musa Kazem. Ali Reza, Muhammad Naqi, Ali Taqi, Hussain Askari and Muhammad Mehdi. The Sunni learned men put forth some interpretations. Firstly, this tradition was uttered in the sense that Islam will be firmly established, though not political unity, during these twelve successive Caliphs from Abu Bakr up to Walid. Secondly, these 12 Caliphs would be just and pious not necessarily one following the other. They may cover the period from Abu Bakr up to the Resurrection Day.

2575. Gefar, Aslam and Usayyah are the names of the tribes. The Gefar used to steal the commodities of the coming pilgrims coming to Mecca. The Prophet prayed for remission of their sins. Aslam did never act in opposition to the Prophet. Hence the Prophet prayed for their safety. The Usayyah killed some Quran readers at Bir Ma'unah.

7. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said : The Qursish, the Ansars, the Juhainah, the Muzainah, the Aslam, the Gefar and the Ash'ja' are friends to one another. They have got no friend besides Allah and His Prophet.—Agreed.

عن ابى هريرة قال قال رسول الله صلعم قريش والانصار وجهينة ومزينة واسلم وغفار واشجع موالى ليس لهم مولى دون الله ورسوله - (متفق عليه)

8. Abu Bakrah reported that the Apostle of Allah said : The Aslam, the Gefar, the Muzainah and the Juhainah are better than Banu Tamim, than Banu A'mer and the allies of Banu Asad and Gatfan.[2576] —Agreed.

عن ابى بكرة قال قال رسول الله صلعم اسلم وغفار ومزينة وجهينة خير من بنى تميم ومن بنى عامر والحليفين من بنى اسد وغطفان - (متفق عليه)

9. Abu Hurairah reported : I continued to love the Banu Tamim since I heard the Apostle of Allah say about them of three things. I heard him say : They will be the severest of my followers over Dajjal. He narrated : And their Zakat came and so the Prophet said : These are the Zakats of our people ; and there was a female prisoner from them near Ayesha. He said : Set her free, because she is of the progeny of Ismail. —Agreed.

عن ابى هريرة قال مازلت احب بنى تميم منذ ثلث سمعت من رسول الله صلعم يقول فيهم سمعته يقول هم اشد امتى على الدجال قال وجاءت صدقاتهم فقال رسول الله صلعم هذه صدقات قومنا وكانت سبية منهم عند عائشة فقال اعتقيها فانها من ولد اسمعيل * (متفق عليه)

Al-Mukhtar was at first ostensibly religious but later on he turned a butcher of men. He ostensibly espoused the cause of Imam Hussain in order to caputure Khilafat. He killed Abdullah-b-Ziyad, the number which Hajjaj killed deliberately. It reached one hundred and twenty thousands. Tirmizi narrated it. Muslim narrated in the Sahih : When Hajjaj killed Abdullah-b-Zubair, Asma'a said : Verily the Apostle of Allah narrated to us : Verily there will be a great lair among the Saqif and a great destroyer. As for the great liar, we have seen him ; and as for the great destroyer, I don't take you but him. 2578

2578. The Prophet had previous knowledge by revelation of the future evil doings of the tribes of Saqif, Banu Hanifah and Banu Umayyah. In the Saqif tribe, there was born Hajjaj-b-Usuf whose murders numbering more than 120000 and cruel atrocities have been recorded in history. In the Banu Hanifah tribe, Musailamah claimed prophethood and raised the standard of revolt against Islam. In the Banu Umayyah, there were born Ubaidullah-b-Ziyad and Yezid who fought against Imam Hussain and had him murdered in the battle of Kerbela.

25. Nafe' reported: Two men came to Ibn Omar during the trial of Ibn Zubair and said: Verily the people did what you see, and you are the son of Omar and companion of the Apostle of Allah. What prevents you to come out? He said: What prevents me is that Allah made unlawful the blood of my brother Muslim. They said: Did not the Almighty Allah say: And fight with them till there remains no rebellion? Ibn Omar said: We indeed fought till there remained no rebellion and the religion was for Allah, and you wish to fight till there remains rebellion and the religion becomes other than for Allah. —Bukhari.

CHAPTER XLVIII

2580. Syria and Yemen

Syria and Yemen have been dealt with in the article of the previous section.

1. Abu Hurairah reported from the Prophet who said: The inhabitants of Yemen have come to you; they are the softest in hearts, the most lenient in minds. Faith is Yemeni; and wisdom is Yemeni;[2581] and conceit and boast are in the owners of camels; and tranquility and gravity are in the owners of sheep. —Agreed.

عن ابى هريرة عن النبى صلعم قال اتاكم اهل اليمن هم ارق افئدة والين قلوبا الايمان يمان والحكمة يمانية والفخر والخيلاء فى اصحاب الابل والسكينة والوقار فى اهل الغنم * (متفق عليه)

2. Samra reported that the Apostle of Allah said: The source of infidelity is towards the east;[2582] and conceit and boast are in the owners of horses and camels; and the owners of tents are the inmates of fur-houses, and tranquility is in the owners of flocks. —Agreed.

عنه قال قال رسول الله صلعم راس الكفر نحو المشرق والفخر والخيلاء فى اهل الخيل والابل والقداديس اهل الوبر والسكينة فى اهل الغنم * (متفق عليه)

3. Abu Mas'ud al-Ansari reported from the Prophet who said: From this place (from the direction of the east), calamities will appear.[2583] Harsh tongue and hard-heartedness are in the dwellers of fur-houses,

عن ابى مسعود الانصارى عن النبى صلعم قال من ههنا جاءت الفتن نحو المشرق والجفاء وغلظ القلوب فى

2581. Faith and wisdom will be found at all times among the inhabitants of Yemen. They will not be lacking in these two qualities. The last sentence means that the wealthy class will be proud and boastful and the poor will be meek and peaceful.

2582. Infidelity and revolutions will begin from the countries to the east of Arabia, such as the evils of Dajjal, Gog and Magog, etc.

القداديين اهل الوبر عند اصول اذناب الابل والبقر في ربيعة ومضر - (متفق عليه)

4. Jaber reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Hardness of hearts and harsh tongue are in the east, and faith is in the inhabitants of Hijaz.[2585] —Muslim.

عن جابر قال قال رسول الله صلعم غلظ القلوب والجفاء في المشرق والايمان في اهل الحجاز * (مسلم)

5. Ibn Omar reported that the Prophet said : O Allah ! give us blessing for our Syria, and give us blessing for our Yemen. They said : O Apostle of Allah, and for our Najd ? He said : O Allah ! give us blessing for our Syria ; O Allah ! give us blessing for our Yemen. They said : O Apostle of Allah ! and for our Najd ? I (narrator) think he said at the third time : There will be upheavals there and trials, and the horn of the devil will appear there.[2586] —Bukhari.

6. Anas reported from Zaid-b-Sabet that the Prophet looked towards Yemen and said : O Allah ! turn their hearts and 2584. They were the Beduin desert Arabs who lived far away from towns and who owned innumerable cows and sheep.

2585. Hijaz includes the towns of Mecca, Medina, Tayef and the towns attached to them. This land comprising these towns is called Hijaz (that intervenes) because it is the intervening place between Najd and Tahamah.

2586. Najd is a high tract of land that is attached to Hijaz in the west and Iraq in the east. The Prophet refrained from praying for Najd as there will be born therein men of devilish characters who will destroy everything and as calamities will appear there. Probably Najd has been meant as the east as in the previous tradition.

7. Zaid-b-Sabet reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Happy is Syria. We asked : O Apostle of Allah, for what ? He said : Because the angels of the Merciful are spreading their wings over it.[2588]

عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ ثَابِتٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم طُوبٰى لِلشَّامِ قُلْنَا لِاَيِّ ذٰلِكَ يَارَسُولَ اللّٰهِ قَالَ لِاَنَّ مَلٰئِكَةَ الرَّحْمٰنِ بَاسِطَةٌ اَجْنِحَتَهَا عَلَيْهَا ـ (اَحْمَدُ وَالتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

8. Abdullah-b-Omar reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Soon a fire will come out from the direction of Hazramaut (or from Hazramaut).[2589] It will gather the people together. We asked : O Apostle of Allah! what do you enjoin on us ? He said : You should take to Syria.

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم سَتَخْرُجُ نَارٌ مِنْ نَحْوِ حَضْرَمَوْتَ اَوْ مِنْ حَضْرَمَوْتَ تَحْشُرُ النَّاسَ قُلْنَا يَارَسُولَ اللّٰهِ فَمَا تَاْمُرُنَا قَالَ عَلَيْكُمْ بِالشَّامِ ـ (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

9. Abdullah-b-Amr reported : I heard the Apostle of Allah say : Soon there will be migration after migration. The best of the people of the world will stick to the place of refuge of Abraham.[2590] And in a narration: The best of the people of the world will mostly stick to the place of refuge of Abraham, and the 2588. In other words, Syria is a place under special protection of God.

2589. The narrator had doubt about the exact word uttered by the Prophet. Hazramaut is the eastern part of Yemen. War will break out in Hazramaut or near about it, and it will spread up to Mecca and Medina. The people of the latter towns have been advised to take shelter to Syria at that time.

The fire will gather them together with apes and swines.[2591] It (fire) will pass the night with them when they will pass the night, and it will take a mid day nap with them when they will take the mid-day nap.[2592]

10. Ibn Hawalah reported that the Apostle of Allah said : There will be soon a turn of affair that you will be well regulated armies, one army in Syria and one army in Yemen and one in army Iraq.[2593] Ibn Hawala said : Have a choice for me, O Apostle of Allah, if I overtake them. He said : You should have resort to Syria, because it is the choice of Allah out of His earth. His chosen ones out of His servants will take refuge to it.. If you are unwilling, then take resort to Yemen and take drink from your fountains, because the Almighty and Glorious Allah entrusted me with Syria and its inhabitants.—Ahmad, Abu Dawud.

عَنِ ابْنِ حَوَالَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم سَيَصِيرُ الْأَمْرُ أَنْ تَكُونُوا جُنُودًا مُجَنَّدَةً جُنْدٌ بِالشَّامِ وَجُنْدٌ بِالْيَمَنِ وَجُنْدٌ بِالْعِرَاقِ فَقَالَ ابْنُ حَوَالَةَ خِرْ لِي يَا رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ إِنْ أَدْرَكْتُ ذٰلِكَ فَقَالَ عَلَيْكَ بِالشَّامِ فَإِنَّهَا خِيَرَةُ اللّٰهِ مِنْ أَرْضِهِ يَجْتَبِي إِلَيْهَا خِيَرَتَهُ مِنْ عِبَادِهِ فَأَمَّا إِنْ أَبَيْتُمْ فَعَلَيْكُمْ بِيَمَنِكُمْ وَاسْقُوا مِنْ غُدُرِكُمْ فَإِنَّ اللّٰهَ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ تَوَكَّلَ لِي بِالشَّامِ وَأَهْلِهِ * (أَحْمَدُ وَأَبُو دَاوُد)

11. Abu Darda'a reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Verily 2590. Place of Abraham's refuge is Syria. It is the place of second migration as the peoples will take shelter there from the turmoils of wars.

2591. This signifies that the infidels who will remain in the land will be like apes and swines in habits and characters.

2592. In other words, they will be constantly engaged with the fire of war.

2593. In other words, there will be three independent kingdoms.

عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمٰنِ بْنِ سُلَيْمَانَ قَالَ سَيَأْتِي مَلِكٌ مِنْ مُلُوكِ الْعَجَمِ فَيَظْهَرُ عَلَى الْمَدَائِنِ كُلِّهَا إِلَّا دِمَشْقَ * (أَبُو دَاوُد)

714w. Shuraih-b-Obaid reported : The people of Syria were mentioned near Ali (Allah be pleased with him), and it was said : Curse them, O Commander of the Faithful. He said : No ; I heard the Apostle of Allah say : There will be Abdals 2594 at Syria and they will be forty men. Whenever one of them will die, Allah will replace a man in his place. Rain will fall on their account and there will be victory over the enemies on their account, and punishment will be repelled from the inhabitants of Syria on their account. —Ahmad.

عَنْ شُرَيْحِ بْنِ عُبَيْدٍ قَالَ ذُكِرَ أَهْلُ الشَّامِ عِنْدَ عَلِيٍّ رَضِيَ اللّٰهُ عَنْهُ وَقِيلَ الْعَنْهُمْ يَا أَمِيرَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ قَالَ لَا إِنِّي سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَقُولُ الْأَبْدَالُ يَكُونُونَ بِالشَّامِ وَهُمْ أَرْبَعُونَ رَجُلًا كُلَّمَا مَاتَ رَجُلٌ أَبْدَلَ اللّٰهُ مَكَانَهُ رَجُلًا يُسْقَى بِهِمُ الْغَيْثُ وَيُنْتَصَرُ بِهِمْ عَلَى الْأَعْدَاءِ وَيُصْرَفُ عَنْ أَهْلِ الشَّامِ بِهِمُ الْعَذَابُ * (أحمد)

715w. A certain companion reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Syria will soon be conquered. When you will be given choice of places therein, you should take to a city named Damascus, because 717w. Omar may Allah be pleased with him) reported that the Apostle of Allah said: I saw a pillar of light coming out from underneath my head rising upwards till it rested at Syria.[2595] —Baihaqi.

2595. This signifies that Islam will be firmly established in Syria.

CHAPTER XLIX.

2596. Wais Qarni

Wais-b-A'mer popularly known as Wais Qarni was the greatest of the Tabeyins according to a saying of the Holy prophet. He was born at Qarn in Yemen and lived during the life time of the Holy prophet but did not see him. He accepted Islam in his native land but was deprived of the company of the Holy Prophet owing to his constant engagements in the service of his old mother who did not grant him permission to leave her in her old age. Still he took Islam so earnestly and followed its teachings so faithfully that he shortened his needs in the world and led such a dedicated and poor life that he was known in Yemen as a mad man till he was found out by the second Caliph Omar after a long enquiry. In the pilgrim season, the great Caliph began to enquire about him from the pilgrims of Yemen beginning from the time of the Prophet till he was found out during his rule. According to the instructions of the Prophet, Hazrat Omar presented him the Prophet's gown. He died, it is reported, in the battle of Nahawand (or some say in the battle of Siffin).

His piety, renunciation, self-denying practices and deep attachment for the Holy prophet are well-known. When he heard that one of the Prophet's teeth was broken in the battle of Uhud, he broke at first one of his teeth ; but when he could not know the actual tooth of the Prophet broken, he broke all his teeth. He used to live on date seeds that lay on the streets and put on the rags after wash that were gathered from here and there. In short, he passed his whole life since his acceptance of Islam as a devotee of comlete renunciation of the world.

1. Omar-b-al-Khattab reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Verily a man will come to you from Yemen. He is called Wais. He does not leave Yemen but for his mother. There was leprosy on him. He invoked Allah and so He removed it except the place of one dinar (or dirham). Whoso among you meets him, let him seek forgiveness for you. Another narration: He said: I heard the Apostle of Allah say: Verily the best of the successors is a man called Wais. He has got a mother, and there is leprosy on him. Pass by him and let him seek forgiveness for you. —Muslim

2597. Miracles of Prophet's companions.

In this chapter some miraculous acts of some companions of the Holy Prophet have been shown. These acts have been included in the Mishkat as they took place with the movements of the companions with the Prophet in his struggles and difficulties. See note 2468 in which possibilities of miraculous feats have been dealt with.

1. Anas reported that Osaid-b-Huzair and Abbad-b-Bishr talked with each other near the Prophet on an urgent affair of theirs till one hour of the night passed away in an intensely dark night. Thereafter they came out from near the Prophet to return, and there was a little staff in the hand of each of them both. The staff of one of them gave out a flash of light for them till they walked in its light, till when the path parted from them, the staff of another of them gave out a flash of light. Each of them walked in the light of his staff till he reached his house. —Bukhari

2. Jaber reported : When there came (the battle of) Uhud, my father called me at night and said : I don't find myself but martyred among the first of those who will be killed out of the companions of the Prophet, and I shall not leave after me dearer to me than yourself except the person of the Apostle of Allah, and I have got debt due from me. So pay it and leave instruction for properties for your sisters. We got up at dawn while he was the first martyr. I buried him with another in a grave. —Bukhari

عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ لَمَّا حَضَرَ اُحُدٌ دَعَانِي

3. Abdur Rahman-b-Abi Bakr reported : The Companions of Suffah were a poor people. The Prophet said : Whoso has got meal for two, let him take a third man ; and whoso has got meal for four, let him take a fifth or a sixth man ; and Abu Bakr came with three and the Prophet went with ten, and Abu Bakr took supper near the Prophet. Then he stayed till the night prayer was prayed. Thereafter he returned and stayed till the Prophet took supper. He came after a portion of the night had passed away as Allah wished. His wife said to him : What has prevented you from entertaining your guests ? He said : Have you given meal to them ? She said : They refused till you come. He became angry and said : By Allah, I shall never give him food. The woman took oath not to give him food, and the guests also took oath not to give him food. Abu Bakr said : This is from the devil. So he called for food and ate and they also ate. They did not begin to raise up a morsel but to make increase therefrom from its bottom. He said to his wife : O sister of Banu Feras ! what is this ? She said : O Joy of my eye ! it has increased now three times more than that. So they ate and he sent it to the Prophet. It was mentioned that he ate therefrom.

5. Abu Khaldah reported : I said to Abul Aliyah : Anas heard from the Prophet. He said : He served him for ten years and the Prophet invoked blessing for him. He had a garden which yielded fruits twice every year. There were therein flowers which ushered forth an air of musk.
